Debora Nichols Receives GCMH Choice Award

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has selected Debora Nichols as the Employees' Choice award recipient for August 2000.

Nichols has been employed at GCMH for almost eight years as the hospital's wellness coordinator. "Her job is not easy, getting people to be motivated about their health, but she shares her knowledge of wellness in such an uplifting way that it makes getting and staying healthy fun," stated a co-worker.

"It feels wonderful to be appreciated and recognized for my work. I am thrilled to receive this award," Nichols said.

Nichols has a bachelor of science degree in health science, with minor degrees in biology and sociology, and holds certification as a health education specialist. She is also a certified massage therapist in the Nurturing Touch private practice. Additionally, she is an adjunct instructor in the massage therapy curriculum at Garrett Community College and a guest faculty member in the emerging health curriculum at Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland.

Nichols' interests include hiking, reading, music and dance, and aromatherapy.

STUDENTS MAKE A DIFFERENCE - In observance of Make-A-Difference Day, Route 40 Elementray School third graders in Sharon Ashby and Nancy Klink's classes decided to collect pennies to donate to the Dove Center, the resource for victims on family violence in Garrett County. The project continued throughout the 1999-2000 school year. The children told their teachers that they enjoyed working on the project, wrapping the pennies, and tallying the totals. The amount donated to the Dove Center was $90. Shown in the picture are, in front left to right, Ryan Bailey, Matt Rowley, and Travis McFarland. In the back row are Elizabeth Walker, Maura Jones and Megan Wiley.

Basic Financial Statements Class Offered At GCC

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett Community College is offering a class for individuals who need an understanding of the various financial statements encountered in small business operations. The three-session course, which begins Wednesday, Oct. 11, will be taught by Sheryl MacLane. During the nine-hour course, the following financial statements will be reviewed and interpreted: balance sheets, sales projections, cash flow analysis, income statements, and break-even analysis.

The class will be held in Room 301 of the Continuing Education and Training building at the McHenry campus. For registration information, please contact the GCC Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3080.

SHS Graduates Recognized For AP Achievement

Four graduates of the Southern High School class of 2000 were recently named AP Scholars by the College Board in recognition of their exceptional achievement on the college-level Advanced Placement (AP) examinations. Only about 13 percent of the more than 700,000 students who took the AP examinations in May 2000 performed at a sufficiently high level to merit such recognition, according to a College Board spokesperson.

At SHS, Stephanie Forman and Elizabeth Sauder qualified for the National AP Scholar Award by meeting the minimum requirement of completing three or more AP examinations, with grades of 3.0 or higher.

Marianne Peracchio and Jennifer Sanders qualified for the AP Scholar with Honor Award by earning an average grade of at least 3.25 on all AP exams taken, and grades of 3 or higher on four or more of these exams.

Students take AP examinations in May after completing college-level courses at their high schools. The College Board recognizes several levels of achievement based on the number of yearlong courses and exams (or their equivalent semester-long courses and exams).

Most of the nation's colleges and universities award credit, advanced placement, or both based on successful performance on the AP exams. More than 1,400 institutions award a year of credit (sophomore standing) to students presenting a sufficient number of qualifying grades. There are 33 AP examinations offered in 19 subject areas, each consisting of multiple-choice and free-response questions.

The College Board is a national nonprofit membership association dedicated to preparing students for and connecting them to colleges. Founded in 1900, the association is composed of more than 3,800 schools, colleges, universities, and other educational organizations. Each year, the College Board serves over 3 million students and their parents, 22,000 high schools and 5,000 colleges through major programs and services in college admission, guidance, assessment, financial aid, enrollment, and teaching and learning. Among its best-known programs are the SAT, PSAT/NMSQT, Advanced Placement Program, and Pacesetter.

Water Usage At Courthouse On The Rise Again

Officials from the town of Oakland cautioned the Garrett County commissioners this week that the water usage at the county courthouse is again drastically increasing. Last summer, the courthouse usage jumped significantly, causing some controversy between the two governmental entities, as the town charged the courthouse for the extreme usage, but the county officials contended that the readings were wrong.

The issue was brought to resolution over time, with the town lowering the bill somewhat and the commissioners conceding that there was some unexplained overusage of water in the building. A new meter was also installed at the courthouse.

Asa McCain, mayor of Oakland, informed the commissioners Tuesday that the town's water department has contacted the Garrett County General Services Office on two occasions to alert officials to the excessive increase. Randy Sharpless, the superintendent of the town water department, told the commissioners that he had informed Gary Mullich, director of General Services, about the increases.

"On March 1, the usage for the previous month was 364,000 gallons," Sharpless said. "When I took the reading on June 2, it was up to 545,000 gallons. As is our policy, I alerted the county office about the increase."

Sharpless said that the reading on Sept. 6 showed a usage of 692,000 gallons, and again General Services was notified.

The town officials said a faulty cooling tower in the courthouse air conditioning system could be the culprit.

The commissioners asked Mullich if he had received such reports, and he said that he had, but that he wouldn't categorize the in-

THE PULITZER PRIZE-WINNING PLAY SEASCAPE, written by Edward Albee and involving some obviously intriguing characters, will be presented this weekend at Our Town Theatre in Oakland. The show dates are Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, with all performances beginning at 8 p.m. Director Jane Avery said the play shows an absurdist's look at life. "On a sand dune, two humans and two sea lizards converse about the unfolding of their societies," Avery said. "It has humor and lots of message." The play is recommended for adults and older teenagers, she noted. The costumes were designed by Ronda Smith and Carol Peracchio, and Ben Sincell designed the set. Reservations for tickets, which are $5, can be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640. Avery announced today that Friday's performance is sold out. Closed Bridge Issue Discussed Again By Town, County Officials

The Third Street CSX bridge in Oakland, closed since July, was again the topic of discussion between town and county officials Tuesday. In an ongoing effort to find the resources to rebuild the condemned span, Oakland town council members and Mayor Asa McCain recently asked the commissioners to reallocate $300,000 of the federal bridge appropriations fund to the town to help with replacement costs. The commissioners said Tuesday that they will not do so, as the money, allotted annually, is already spent for this year.

Each year, the federal government allots money to each state for road and bridge repairs or construction. Thirty percent of the state's share is divided among the counties, depending on need. Each county submits a list of projects and the state officials decide how much money will go to each jurisdiction. Money also comes in to cover inspection costs for each bridge. Three of these bridges are in Oakland.

The commissioners explained that several bridge projects are already under way, and that this year's state money (approximately $300,000) has long since been earmarked for the projects. These projects are the repair/reconstruction of the bridges on Avilton and Accident-Friendsville roads, and the bridge that crosses over to Bayard, W.Va. Each project has been subject to a lengthy application pro-

Plans Finalized For Kick-Off Of 33rd Annual Autumn Glory Fest

The 33rd annual Autumn Glory Festival will officially begin at the kick-off reception, to be held at the McHenry House at Wisp Resort on Wednesday, Oct. 11, beginning at 7 p.m. The event is hosted by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

The Honorary Golden Ambassador will be named during the reception, as well as a new feature involving the coronation of the queen and princesses, and this year, for the first time, a king and princes.

At the reception, "King and Queen Autumn Glorious the 33rd" (Audrey Shipe and Michael Fratz) will be formally crowned, with a fanfare performed by high school horn players. (Also to be crowned are princesses Amanda Pagenhardt and Leigh Ann Schefft and princes Brian Cathell and Jaime Bosley. See separate story.) Entertainment will follow, including music, dancing, a "court jester," and other highlights.

Included in this year's meal will be the popular peeled shrimp bar, according to a chamber spokesperson.

This year's reception is being co-chaired by Wendell Beitzel, chairman of the county commissioners; Asa McCain, mayor of Oakland; and Karen Myers, the chamber's first vice chair.

Tickets are $175 per couple or $115 individually. All those attending the kick-off will become Autumn Glory Festival Golden Ambassadors and will be entitled to several benefits, including reserved bleacher seating at the parade and free admission to both the Grand Ole Opry/Banjo Competition and the Official Maryland State Fiddle Championship.

Tickets may be obtained from the chamber of com-

GBI De... Locate Missing Child And Youth

Continued efforts of Garrett Bureau of Investigation detectives pursuing developments in last week's alleged kidnapping of a toddler from a Mtn. Lake Park day care facility have resulted in the location and safe return of the 16-month-old child, as well as the arrest of her 16-year-old mother on an abduction charge.

The pair were located by GBI detectives and personnel from the Garrett County Department of Social Services last Thursday, Sept. 21, at the Frederick area residence of Lisa Renee Sweitzer, 33, the older child's mother. Sweitzer had been arrested in Frederick by GBI detectives two days previously in connection with the Monday, Sept. 18, kidnapping incident.

Both children have been returned to Garrett County. The 16-year-old is charged with abduction of a child under 16 years of age and her case is being processed by the Department of Juvenile Justice. The younger child has been placed back into foster care.

Sweitzer, who faces a charge of kidnapping, was released from the Garrett County Detention Center Friday after posting bond.

Blood Supply Critically Low; Donors Needed

Responding to continued high demand for blood and blood products across the country, the American Red Cross Blood Services region serving the local area has reissued an emergency appeal for donors, its second such appeal in three months.

"During July 2000, Red Cross Blood Services distributed 4% more blood products than in July 1999, and in August 2000, distributions were 14% greater than in August 1999," stated Ted Mazza, senior director, Donor Services, Greater Alleghenies Region of the Red Cross. "Coming off the summer season, with decreased collections, blood regions across the country are appealing for 'new blood.'

"Each year, just 5% of Americans donate blood, while about 40% of us can give blood," he noted. "Yet by the time we're age 72, about 95% of us will receive a blood transfusion. That's why we need 'new blood,' people who have never given blood before, to join those whom we call upon time and time again in meeting increasing patient need."

Mazza explained that the

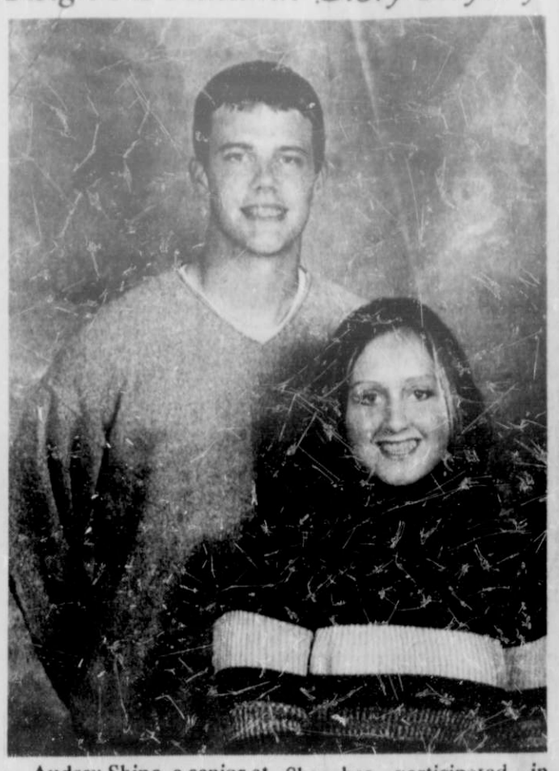
...chael Fratz To Reign As Autumn Glory Royalty



Audrey Shipe, a senior at Southern High School, and Michael Fratz, a senior at Northern High School, pictured, will be crowned as Autumn Glory royalty at this year's kick-off reception, slated for Wednesday, Oct. 11, at the McHenry House at Wisp Resort. The event, hosted by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 7 p.m.

Fratz is the first "king" of Autumn Glory, a new feature of the festival. Another addition this year will be princes being named along with the traditional princesses. The princesses are Leigh Ann Schefft and Amanda Pagenhardt, and the princes are Brian Cathell and Jaime Bosley.

A coronation ceremony will take place at the kick-off event, followed by special entertainment. (See separate story.)

Audrey Shipe is the daughter of James and Mary Ann Shipe, Oakland. Throughout her four high school years, she has been a member of the marching band as a clarinetist and, this year, as co-drum major and section leader. She also plays with the concert band, stage band, and winter percussion. She is a long-distance runner with the school's track and field team, and in her junior year was nominated for a Maryland Fine Arts Scholarship. She has been selected for Who's Who Among American High School students for four consecutive years, and has consistently maintained honor roll status.

At Southern, Audrey was also a junior varsity and varsity cheerleader for three years. In VICA, on the opening and closing team, she has held the positions of secretary and treasurer. She has participated in three Ecumenical Youth Ministry productions, and has been a dancer and gymnast for nine years. Upon graduation next spring, Audrey will go to a four-year university, with plans to major in exercise physiology.

Swallow Falls House Leveled By Fire Wednesday

A fire of unknown origin, discovered when a neighbor heard an explosion, destroyed a single-family house near Swallow Falls yesterday afternoon. Some three dozen volunteer firefighters from Oakland, Deer Park, Terra Alta, and Deep Creek fire departments responded to the 2:39 p.m. alarm and found the house, occupied by Ken Reams, fully engulfed in flames.

The alarm was originally described as an explosion at the house, located at 212 Bert Reams Road behind Swallow Falls Store, but it was learned later that the explosion was caused by the fire that had most likely been burning for some time. Deputy State Fire Marshal Steve Wendling concluded that the fire originated in the kitchen near the chimney, but a specific cause has not yet been determined.

The fire was brought under control in about 15 minutes, but the loss was estimated to be $70,000. Fire units remained on the scene for about three hours.

Also responding was the Southern Rescue Squad and an Allegheny Power Company crew. There were no injuries reported.

ABC's Jim McKay Will Be AGF Parade Grand Marshal

Jim McKay, long-time host for ABC Television's "Wide World of Sports," will be the grand marshal for the Grand Feature Parade of the 33rd annual Autumn Glory Festival, according to a release from the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. The parade will begin at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 14, in downtown Oakland.

McKay, who now appears as television anchorman for coverage of events such as the Kentucky Derby and the British Open Golf Championship, has received 12 Emmy awards for his sports broadcasting and writing. He has also reported for 11 Olympic games.

In 1990 he was the recipient of the first-ever Lifetime Achievement in Sports Award from the academy. He has also received the Peabody Award, George Polk Memorial Award, and numerous others. In 1998 he was awarded the Olympic Order, the highest

Officials Issuing Urgent Reminder: Drivers Must Stop For School Buses

When a school bus on the roadway is displaying its red flashing lights, all traffic must come to a complete stop no fewer than 20 feet away. This law has been repeatedly broken in Garrett County since the beginning of the school year, according to Commissioner Ernest Gregg, who discussed the topic at this week's county staff meeting.

"We are going to have a terrible tragedy if this continues," Gregg said. Art Refosco, director of transportation at the education board, had informed Gregg of the increasing incidents.

The reports of drivers violating the law were also heard at a recent meeting of the Garrett County Traffic Safety Advisory Board. In the first 17 days of school, a single driver who picks up children along Rt. 219 counted 14 violations, according to Gregg. A transportation department spokesperson said yesterday that at least one serious accident was narrowly avoided in the Arrowhead Market, Deep Creek Lake, area recently.

"The driver literally closed the doors on a little boy's face because she saw a driver not only failing to stop at the lights, but actually passing on the right side of the bus," she said. "These are the sorts of stories that keep the staff here awake at night."

Measures being taken at the transportation department include some rerouting of bus routes, chiefly along Rt. 219. The changes will allow for only right-side entries/exits. With this alteration, the children will not have to cross the street to board the bus, and will be on the right side of the

For the past two years, Jaime has served as co-captain of his family's Relay for Life team. He lives in Oakland with his parents, Jim and Mary Lynn, and brother Cory. His mother was the Autumn Glory queen in 1972.

Global Education Center Unveiled At Garrett CC

A Global Education Center has been established by Garrett Community College to provide services for GCC students from other countries, as well as Garrett County students who are interested in studying abroad. A Global Education Committee, consisting of students, staff, faculty, and administrators, assists GEC coordinator Darlene Reed in this effort.

Many students from a variety of countries express interest in beginning their college studies at small community colleges like Garrett. GCC currently has seven international students—four from Estonia, two from Canada and one from Germany. Another six students from Estonia are expected to enroll in January for the spring semester.

"Our first job with an international student is the same as with any student," Reed said. "We make them feel welcome and make their transition into college as smooth as possible. We provide factual information on GCC and the surrounding area, and acquaint them with GCC and Immigration and Naturalization Service requirements specific to an international student. Once they decide to apply, and have met all requirements, we continue to help them to obtain their visas and provide them with information on what to expect at a U.S. port of entry."

Once the international students have arrived at the college, the GEC assists their continuing efforts to meet INS regulations so they can maintain their F-1 student status. The GEC also assists international students with matters including INS regulations involving U.S. driver's licensing, and employment, and provides peer mentors. Working in conjunction with Frostburg State University's International Education Center, the GEC also endeavors to provide activities specifically designed for international students.

One of the obstacles for all non-commuting students is housing, and an affordable housing alternative is host family living. The GEC is currently assisting prospective international students in finding host families for the spring semester. Anyone interested in hosting an intenational student, or who has questions on how an international resident can become a student at GCC, may contact the GEC at 301-387-3010.

LEARNING RESPECT AND RESPONSIBILITY - The equestrian program at Maryland Salem Children's Trust is used to promote compassion and respect for life, along with responsibility. Salem provides care, shelter, and education for children in need.

Public Invited To Open House At Salem Trust

The public is invited to attend an open house at the Maryland Salem Children's Trust planned for Sunday, Oct. 8, 2-5 p.m. Tours of the children's homes, shelter care, and Salem School are scheduled, along with exhibits and a brief presentation. Refreshments and sale items will also be available.

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust, located off Lower New Germany Road in Garrett County, provides residential care, education, and emergency shelter services to children in need. The agency began operation at its present location in November 1979, after having operated for 22 months in Huntingtown.

Although preference is given to Garrett and Allegany County residents, children between the ages of 6 and 18 from throughout the state are served by Salem. The program stresses a family atmosphere, teaches social skills, encourages responsibility through work, and promotes "compassion and respect for life" through an equestrian program.

The Salem School, a non-public education program approved by the Maryland State Department of Education, provides Intensity V special education services for students with learning disabilities, serious emotional disturbance, multiple handicaps, or limited cognitive ability.

A short-term transition program is also offered to students who are experiencing difficulty in their public school placements.

The Shelter Care Program, opened in February of this year, provides a safe and highly structured environment to children between the ages of 8 and 15 who are in crisis, in transition to a longer-term program, or in need of temporary shelter. The stated goal of the program is to teach children the necessary social skills to prepare them to be successful in the placement to which they are sent. Shelter staff members assess each child and make recommendations for placement alternatives to the referring agency.

Salem has "sister" programs in New Hampshire, Russia, Germany, Israel, Uganda, Namibia, and India. To learn more about Salem and its work with children in need, persons may call 301-689-8176, or visit the home during the annual open house on Sunday, Oct. 8.

Ceremony Officially Launches Health Center Construction

The ground breaking for the new Garrett County Community Health Center, which will house all local Health Department services, was held yesterday, Wednesday, at the construction site, off Memorial Drive. The Garrett County Commissioners, joined by Health Officer Rodney Glotfelty and staff, welcomed representatives of state and federal agencies, legislative leaders and their representatives, and local officials to Oakland for the event.

The general contractor for the $4 million facility will be Edward D. Wilburn, McHenry, who was also at the ceremony. Completion of the two-story, 42,000-square-foot office building is scheduled for October 1, 2001.

Health Department services are currently provided at six separate locations throughout the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park area. "The bringing together of all these interrelated services at one central location will result in tremendous budgetary and operational efficiencies to the department," said Glotfelty. He also noted that confusion which currently exists as to where a specific program is located will be eliminated.

Referrals of consumers to related services within the department will be expedited, eliminating the need to travel across town to several different locations, as is now the case. The location of the facility off Memorial Drive in an expanding medical service corridor that includes Garrett Memorial Hospital, Glotfelty continued, will offer added convenience for consumers of county health services.

The Oakland building site is located in proximity to other county, state, and private non-profit agencies, facilitating the expanding partnerships that have been developed in recent years to provide needed community services to citizens.

"The construction of a first class community health facility such as this would not have been possible without the vision and leadership of our county commissioners," Glotfelty stated, noting that the designation of over $500,000 in local funds by this board indicated a "strong commitment to the project" and aided in the acquisition of the state and federal grants and loans that comprise the bulk of the funding package.

The state is providing $895,000 for the project in the form of a Mental Health and Addictions Community Development Bond through the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. $400,000 in federal grant funds are also being provided through the Community Development Block Grant Program, administered by the Maryland Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Finally, the bulk of the financing, $3,063,700, will be provided through a 30-year low interest loan from the USDA's Rural Development Loan Program.

All three county commissioners noted their pleasure in awarding the bid to local general contractor Wilburn, who recently has overseen construction of a number of projects in the county, including the Maryland State Police barrack, the Discovery Center at the Deep Creek Lake State Park, Uno Restaurant, and the Garrett 8 Cinema.

The use of reliable local subcontractors such as Arnold Brothers Construction for the earth-moving activities and Doerr Construction for the plumbing, electrical, and mechanical work assures that the bulk of the construction money will stay in the community, a project spokesperson said.

Philip Silkey, LLC, AIA, project architect, will assure conformance with design plans during the construction phase of the project in coordination with Gary Mullich of the county's general services department. Silkey worked on the Garrett County Vistors Center and Foodland Fresh shopping complex in McHenry. His most recent project was the Brew Pub building overlooking Deep Creek Lake in McHenry.

During the design of the Community Health Center building, John Sanders of Highland Engineering, Oakland, will perform the civil engineering work on the project. He has also been retained as the project engineer during construction.

OFFICIALS DIG IN - Construction of the long-awaited Garrett County Community Health Center is now officially under way. At a ceremony yesterday, Wednesday, state and local dignitaries broke ground at the facility site off Memorial Drive. General contractor Edward D. Wilburn, McHenry, targets October 2001 for completion of the 42,000-sq.ft. facility. Paul Sarbanes; County Commissioner Wendell Beltzel; Oakland mayor Asa McCain Jr.; Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer; Peter Wesp, Maryland Department of Housing and Urban Development; County Commissioner Fred Holliday; Wilburn; Sen. John Hafer; County Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Del. George Edwards; and Dr. William Pope, deputy health officer.

Staff Leaders Hold Regular Monthly Mtg.

The staff leaders of Garrett County offices met with the county commissioners Tuesday to give the regular monthly reports. While several items discussed Tuesday are reported in separate stories in today's issue, some other highlights of the meeting follow.

Health Department

Health Officer Rodney Glotfelty reminded the staff of Wednesday's ribbon-cutting of the new consolidated health department office (see photo and story). He also reported that 11 cases of rabies have been confirmed in the county, and that all pet owners are urged to have their animals vaccinated against the disease.

The West Nile virus was discussed briefly. Glotfelty said that two birds in Maryland were apparently killed by the virus. One was found in Columbia, and the other farther east in the state. The health officer said there have been no confirmed cases in the western part of the state, but that residents should be on the look-out for dead birds.

"If you find a dead bird, you should probably call the health department so we can have it checked," Glotfelty said. "Keep in mind, though, that we can't check bird skeletons for the disease, and if a bird has tire tracks down its back, it most likely didn't die from any virus."

A large number of dead birds were found at a dumpster along Maryland Highway early this week. Glotfelty said they were being tested for the virus, although he expects that some other factor caused their demise.

"If there is any sign of the virus in Garrett County, we will alert the public immediately," he said.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg mentioned that moldy birdseed can be deadly to birds. He recommended the thorough cleaning of all bird feeders, as many have become moldy because of the wet weather.

General Services

Gary Mullich, director of the General Services Department, announced that the county's surplus equipment auction will be held this Saturday, Sept. 30, at the roads department garage from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Mullich also announced that the newly formed animal control advisory board will hold its first meeting on Oct. 13 at 3 p.m. at the commissioners' office.

Community Action

Duane Yoder, president of Garrett County Community Action, announced that the ground-breaking ceremony for the child development center at Overlook North will take place on Thursday, Oct. 5, at 10 a.m. at the housing development. The center has been a part of the housing development plan since its inception, and Yoder said he is pleased that the construction is starting.

Yoder reported that Head Start is currently serving 190 children, a number that is down somewhat from previous years. He said he felt the income guidelines are outdated and need to be increased to allow the program to serve more children.

Roads Department

Fred Polce, superintendent of county roads, reported that 26 miles of road have been paved this season, with the goal of 35 most likely being met before winter. This is in comparison, he said, with five miles paved last year.

He and Brad Frantz, director of emergency management, noted that the annual winter preparedness meeting in the county is slated for Oct. 16 at the Maryland State Police barrack in McHenry.

Ruth Enlow Library

Cathy Ashby, director of the Ruth Enlow Library, reported that the past year's circulation number was 221,000 items, which indicates a sharp increase from last year's rate.

Also gaining in popularity at the library are the summer reading programs, which attracted large numbers of citizens and tourists.

"They might have been even a little too popular," Ashby said, "especially on the one morning when 150 people were constructing drums in the library."

However, the programs will indeed be continued, she said, with plans to compensate for growing participation.

She reported that to date, $83,000 has been raised for the Grantsville library project.

United Way Of Garrett Co. To Start Campaign

The newly formed United Way of Garrett County is initiating its first official fund drive, according to a report from Harry King, executive director of County United Way. Businesses, organizations, and individuals will be receiving letters asking for financial support of programs developed by local non-profit agencies addressing local human needs.

Pledge cards will be enclosed in the letters, and persons may return these cards in pre-addressed, postage-paid envelopes, also enclosed. The United Way of Garrett County has set an $81,000 goal for this year's drive. The proceeds from the effort will be distributed among the American Red Cross, Big Brothers Big Sisters, Boy Scouts of America, the Dove Center, Mountain Glade Adult Day Services, Garrett Cooperative Ministry, Garrett County Community Action Committee, and Garrett County Habitat for Humanity.

The local United Way also supports programs by the Garrett County Lighthouse, the Garrett County Literacy Council, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Hospice of Garrett County, Maryland Salem Children's Trust, the Salvation Army, and the Western Maryland Catholic Charities.

When filling out the pledge card, a donor may specify which entity he or she wishes to support.

Ken Perrin, the secretary of the United Way of Garrett County, has volunteered to chair this first fund drive. For more information about the effort, persons may contact Perrin at 301-334-3151.

It Can Be Deadly...

A few days ago one of Garrett County's bus drivers was forced to close the front door of her bus on one of her young passengers, an action that quite possibly saved the child's life. Just before the child stepped through the open doorway and onto the pavement, the alert driver fortunately saw in her mirror a car from the rear that was in the process of passing the bus on the right, directly where the child would have stepped off the bus. All the while, her red warning lights were flashing.

Readers will notice a letter on this page from Arthur Refosco, director of transportation for the board of education, who writes about this very topic – drivers breaking the law and seriously risking the welfare of our children by passing school buses that are in the process of loading or unloading passengers. Refosco is asking all drivers to obey this law, and also for witnesses to these violations to report them to the authorities.

We join with him, our bus drivers, the members of the Traffic Safety Advisory Committee, parents, and every other concerned citizen in this plea.

To drivers, know that this is a costly offense in that it automatically places points against one's license and can result in a large fine, not to mention the much higher potential cost of killing a child and having to live with that.

To witnesses, make sure that the following information about such an incident is recorded, if possible: a license number, description of the vehicle and driver, and the date, time, and location of the incident. The Maryland State Police have a simple form that can be filled out by witnesses to this crime. We recommend that the board of education send a copy of this form home with every single student in the county, with a request that the child's parent place the form in his/her glove compartment.

Our fast-paced society breeds more and more impatience, and that impatience can be deadly. Which is more precious: a few minutes saved in one's schedule, or the life of a child?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Because of an increased number of motorists in Garrett County violating one of the most serious "rules of the road" — passing school buses that have stopped to pick up or discharge children — the Garrett County Board of Education's Transportation Department is urging all citizens to contact the law enforcement authorities if they witness such an offense. Without stating all of the legal ramifications, most people know that it is unlawful to pass a stopped school bus with its red lights activated. While bus drivers do what they can to record license numbers and report these violators to the police, their main concern is the safety of our children, which usually involves their full attention when loading and unloading the school bus.

If you see someone passing a stopped school bus, please do all you can to get the license number of the vehicle, location, date and time, and then report this information to the proper authorities. Your input will remain confidential, and hopefully we can put a stop to this deplorable wrongdoing.

To the Editor:

I currently live in Michigan, but subscribe to my hometown paper, The Republican. I write in regard to the letter sent in by Randy and Shelby Fink.

When I found out my sister could not send my nephew to the Head Start program because of their income being too high, I was outraged. As an expecting mother. I am glad I do not live in Garrett County any longer.

Michigan does not go by the people's income, if it's low or high. They go by what is important — the children's education.

I thought our system cared about the education of all of our children, not just a selected few.

If they are denying children like my nephew, why are they still soliciting other parents (of "correct income")?

Did it ever occur to them that these parents either choose to have their children at home with them or with other family members? Or possibly they do not value their children's education as much as they should.

It sounds to me that they are looking to enroll only those children of welfare income or similar to that.

If there are openings, they should be happy to receive children of parents who value this benefit. It's difficult for families with a combined income of even $25,000 to make it today. Who are they trying to fool? Our system is a vicious one. "Middle-income America" is funding the programs that support the welfare system and then are being shut out of them. People who pay taxes should decide what's best for the children, not the federal government.

We're getting the message. Thanks for your support.

Beth Housley

To the Editor:

Last week in these pages you published a letter blasting "the liberals" of today who stand "against freedom." The writer angrily wondered why anyone would be against freedom —with good reason if the opposite of freedom is slavery. However, in the political sense, the opposite of freedom is not slavery. The opposite is equality. When the two ideals conflict, a liberal will chose equality, a conservative will chose freedom. Both are arguably good causes.

For example, back in the 1860s a war was fought because of political differences. Southern plantation owners fought for the freedom to do as they pleased with their property. Lincoln and the North fought to place federal government restrictions on the southern states, with equality for enslaved Africans as an eventual result. I am amused to see Lincoln used as the standard bearer for conservatives when he was so clearly a liberal.

Corporations were allowed great freedom in the late 1800s. Mark Twain derisively labeled this era of robber barons and sweat shops as the "Gilded Age." Liberal restrictions can, of course, go too far. Prohibition attempted to force equality on America by casting out alcohol from our lives. It did not work. Freedom prevailed and prohibition was rescinded.

In a perfect society, both sides work in harmony, because each side cannot exist without the other. There is no freedom if all do not have similar opportunity. On the other hand, over-attempts to level the playing field can stifle progress. There must be a balance, with each ideal respecting the value of the other.

We do not have a perfect society, of course, and the confusion is enhanced by the fact that economics has become entwined with political idealism. Here the multiparty system breaks down. We are a totalitarian society when it comes to economy—we are ruled by capitalism. That is why both major party candidates are having trouble trying to sound different from each other. Many voters feel that Big Corporate America is really controlling the show. Do we want corporations to have more freedom?

Average citizens might never get the system back because we love our national and personal wealth greater than heaven and earth. We are kids in a candy store the size of the planet. Ironically, it is because of our wealth that we have become bloated, fearful and bitter. We cannot go forward together in the pursuit of happiness until true compassion and respect replace greed and self-interest and we learn to compromise.

Yours,
Richard Hill

To the Editor:

Letters were recently sent to area businesses and organizations in Allegany, Garrett, and Mineral counties by the Tri-Towns Emergency Medical Services soliciting funds for their recent purchases of two new ambulances at a cost of $300,000.

The Tri-Towns EMS is no different than other volunteer organizations in the area. They all have fund drives to provide money for their everyday operation. However, the Tri-Towns EMS receives allocations from the state of Maryland, Allegany County, and offers subscriptions for the residents they serve. This is in addition to the money collected from donations and services provided. Unlike the volunteer fire service, they charge for their services.

We think it's entirely unprofessional for any organization to solicit funds from businesses and organizations out of their service area. This practice could deprive funds that volunteer organizations serving that area may need to remain in existence. If this practice is allowed to continue, business and organizations will be flooded with such requests, and all volunteer organizations will suffer.

Prior to the recent letter, another letter was sent to businesses and residents of Garrett County served by Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad soliciting funds. Southern Rescue, in a very professional manner, contacted the Tri-Towns EMS requesting that they refrain from soliciting for funds in their service area. The Tri-Towns EMS apologized. However, the practice continued with a recent mailing.

Area business, organizations, and individuals are encouraged to donate to those volunteer organizations in their areas, which provide you service. If they have a surplus of funds and they wish to donate to more than one organization, then the choice should be theirs and not be influenced by a letter from an out-of-area organization.

Thanking you in advance,

Chamber president Ken Wishnick said the kick-off reception is vital to the success of the Autumn Glory Festival since many activities either do not generate revenue or are not self-sustaining.

Festival donations, in any amount, are welcome and should be made out to the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, 15 Visitors Center Drive, McHenry, MD 21541.

Closed Bridge

cess mandated by the state. To place the Oakland bridge project ahead of these others is not feasible, the commissioners said.

Even if the bridge project were to be funded chiefly by state money, the application process involves a design phase followed by the engineering phase, finally reaching construction. If all aspects of the process go smoothly, the shortest time period to reconstruction is 18 months, according to Dwight Emory, county engineer.

Councilman Jay Moyer asked if the project could be expedited because of safety concerns. The closed bridge requires drivers to go to the Second Street, Oak Street intersection, where sight lines are somewhat hampered. The hill on the new Oak Street Bridge could become hazardous in winter, the officials noted. There have been a number of fender-bender accidents at that crossing since the Third Street bridge closing. Drivers are also continuing to complain about the long wait at the light when attempting to go across Oak Street on Second.

Moyer pointed out that emergency vehicles are also hampered by the detour.

Emory said the safety concerns would not accelerate the procedure, in his opinion. All projects funded by federal/state allocations must go through the same process, he said.

The Third Street bridge was deemed unsafe by state inspectors in July and was ordered closed. CSX, the railroad corporation, actually owns the span, which was built in the mid-1800s. CSX officials have said that they will rebuild the span, but only to its original 19th century specifications, which means a single-lane, 6,000 pound-limit bridge. If the original reconstruction is not acceptable, then the CSX corporation has reportedly stated that it will contribute $200,000 to a rebuild project.

McCain said he felt it would be a shame to build just a single-lane bridge again when there may be opportunity to have a safer, two-lane span, as well as a pedestrian walkway.

McCain asked about the possibility of the town garnering a low-interest loan, with the notion of paying it back with future federal bridge money. The commissioners voiced their doubt about such an arrangement, as most such funding does not work that way.

However, the mayor discussed the proposed arrangement with Tim Magrath of Senator Sarbanes' office, and Magrath said it could possibly be done. However, McCain noted, the commissioners would have to sign a written document stating that they would indeed allocate the federal bridge money to the town in the next year to pay off the loan.

In regard to the 18-month minimum process, McCain said he feels the permits and other items needed for the application could be accelerated, perhaps completed in six months rather than 18.

The entire cost to rebuild such a bridge is just under $500,000, the commissioners said Tuesday. Gregg said he felt 18 months was far too long to wait, and that the county, town, and CSX should try to come up with funds locally to rebuild the bridge quickly.

McCain said in an interview yesterday that he would still like to have the bridge put on the list for the federal bridge funding. After Autumn Glory, he said he plans to meet with Magrath, Sarbanes, Emory, and state highway officials to discuss ways of speeding up the process.

Commissioner Gregg reiterated in a later interview that he wants to pursue the project locally, with all entities contributing to the fund. He said the town of Oakland has yet to "put anything on the table" to help pay for the project, and that he is urging the mayor and town council to show that they are willing to do so, in writing.

STORIES OF THE HOUSE

The column a few weeks ago about working on my house stirred responses from various readers. One wrote me a long, lyrical, and even slightly elegiac letter about her own efforts to transform a structure into a home. Neighbors, husband and wife, who are engaged in just such a transformation invited me to supper. We shared commiserations and encouragements.

The wife told of a co-worker who had opined how romantic it must be to renovate an old house. Whether she had said so to her co-worker, the wife said to her husband and to me, "Anyone who says such a thing has never done it." Renovating an old house is, in fact, romantic, but in the same way a shipwreck is romantic.

Robinson Crusoe and The Swiss Family Robinson are both great stories, but they are infinitely easier to read than they are to live.

I began telling romantic stories of my particular shipwreck. There was the time when friends were having a candlelit supper with me while a hole gaped from the ceiling. One guest, a scientific researcher, espied something lying on the table. He picked it up as he would a laboratory specimen. "This looks like a mouse skeleton," he observed dispassionately.

With a little more emotional energy he then said, "In fact, it is a mouse skeleton." Our eyes all wandered to the ceiling. We laughed, and went on with our supper. And the folks at the local seed and feed wonder why I buy so much "Blue Death," which I have found to be far and away the best rat and mouse bait.

I have lived in this house for 16 years, and only had central heat installed eight years ago. The house had stood here for 170 years without central heating, I had reasoned, who was I to be the one to install it?

The first winter I was here there was also no insulation in the house. I heated the place with a single woodstove. During a cold snap I made the mistake of staying away overnight. The pipes froze. Inside the house was just as cold as outside. I, wearing full winter gear, sat by the stove burning nearly red hot, and I was still in danger of frostbite.

The freezing of the pipes was nothing, however, compared to the thawing of them. When I got home from church one Sunday the house was flooded. After the clean-up I was without indoor plumbing for several months since I had decided to use the occasion as an opportunity to put in a new bathroom. During that period I employed a five-gallon bucket fitted with a toilet seat.

When I tell you what I did next, you will wonder what in the world I was thinking of. What can I say? I was young then? I didn't really have any sense?

I gave a dinner party. When asked what to do about the necessary, my plumber pointed out that, while there was no water to the toilet, that the drain from the toilet was unaffected. He told me to put a bucket of water by the toilet and to flush manually. I did that, removed the lid from the toilet tank, and instructed my guests, in general terms, on the procedure.

One guest, on flushing the toilet, managed to pour the water into the feed line to the toilet. The pipe had been cut in the kitchen, through which it traveled from the cellar to the second floor where the bathroom was. The effect of pouring water into the feed was that as the rest of us sat at table in the dining room a three-quarter inch gush of water shot across the kitchen as if someone were standing there with a garden hose. For some time thereafter, my dinner party was convulsed with laughter. The person who had been using the toilet was much amazed and a little chagrined.

One of my guests was a British diplomat who later became press secretary to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II. I have fantasied from time to time whether Her Majesty might ever have asked her press secretary, "Did anything interesting happen to you while you were in America?" I imagine the glint in his eye, as he might have replied, "Now that you mention it...."

Drivers Must

road when they disembark. However, not all routes are being rerouted this way, and drivers are cautioned to be alert to the flashing lights of school buses.

The transportation department spokesperson noted that if a school bus pulls completely off the road and the driver activates the turn signal only, cars are not required to come to a stop. Additionally, vehicles approaching a stopped bus from the opposite direction on a divided highway do not have to stop. In all other cases, all drivers must stop for school buses loading or unloading students.

Gregg announced another step that can be taken by citizens. A form is available that residents may fill out when they witness a driver violating the school bus law. If a person sights such an event, he or she should make note of the car's color, make, year (if possible), and, most importantly, tag number. The date, time, and location of the violation should also be noted on the form.

The completed form can be mailed to the Maryland State Police. From there, it will be mailed to the home of the person to whom the violating car is registered. Although no legal step will be taken from that point, at least the violator will know that he/she is being watched, Gregg said. The form is considered a written motor vehicle warning from the state police.

Should a driver be charged by a police officer for the violation and found guilty of it, points are put on the violator's driver's license, and a costly fine can be levied against him or her.

These forms are available at the commissioners' office at the courthouse, or from the Maryland State Police barrack in McHenry.

Four Arrested After Deer Park Burglary

A local business owner apprehended a burglar inside his Deer Park gas station early Sunday morning, and, although the perpetrator was able to flee, the Garrett Bureau of Investigation arrested a suspect and three alleged accomplices yesterday.

At approximately 3:15 a.m. James Sebold was awakened by the sound of breaking glass at Sebold's Service Station, located along Main Street. When he got up to investigate the noise, armed with a gun for self-defense, he found one burglar, suspected to have been Joshua Everett White, 19, Oakland, inside the service station. Sebold was able to detain the suspect at gun point for a short time, but the burglar was able to get away as Sebold was contacting the police to respond.

Following a three-day investigation, Detective Clark Warnick and fellow GBI and Garrett County Sheriff's Office personnel arrested White and the alleged accomplices. Each subject has been charged with second degree burglary, attempted theft, malicious destruction of property, and conspiracy. White has been released from the Garrett County Detention Center on a $50,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner, while Charles Eugene Estill III, 18, Oakland, Richard Allen Gordon, 19, Bayard, W.Va., and Ryan William Sutton, 18, Mt. Storm, W.Va., were released after each posted a $5,000 bond.

W.Va. Man Kicks Out Window Of Police Cruiser

A Mt. Storm, W.Va., man was arrested early Tuesday morning in the Deep Creek Lake area after a driving while intoxicated (DWI) traffic stop that reportedly led to his kicking out the window of a Garrett County Sheriff's Office police cruiser.

Shawn Christopher Simmons, 26, faces a number of charges stemming from the incident, which began unfolding at 2 a.m. when his vehicle was observed speeding and weaving along Garrett Highway near Mountain View Drive. DFC Robbie Zimmerman pulled the 1984 Buick off to the side of the road, and spoke with Simmons and conducted a series of field sobriety tests. The suspect allegedly refused to cooperate for part of the testing process, and was arrested for DWI.

After securing Simmons in the back seat of the police cruiser, the deputy pulled onto the highway to transport him to the Garrett County Detention Center in Oakland. At that point Simmons reportedly grew combative, and started kicking about in the vehicle, breaking out the rear passenger side window. The deputy stopped the cruiser, but before he and an assisting state trooper could restrain the suspect, Simmons allegedly kicked and damaged the vehicle's console, a Sheriff's Office radio, and a CB radio.

Simmons has been charged with DWI, negligent driving, speeding, failure to drive right of center, two counts of felony destruction of property (over $300), one count of misdemeanor destruction of property (under $300), disorderly conduct, failure to obey a lawful order, and resisting arrest. He has been released from jail after posting a $1,500 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

EARLY RIBBON CUTTING HELD — In order to express gratitude to the State Highway Administration for its assistance in the restoration of Oakland's historic train station, an early ribbon cutting ceremony took place Friday, coinciding with the SHA's annual tour of the county. The official opening of the building is set for Oct. 7, but Mayor Asa McCain said he wanted to take the opportunity of recognizing the leaders of SHA while they were in town. The group toured the station, which is very near completion. Pictured from left in the front are Senator John Hafer, Parker Williams (SHA administrator), McCain, and Delegate George Edwards. In the back, same order, are Commissioners Wendell Beitzel and Fred Holliday, Fred Crozier (SHA district engineer), and Commissioner Ernest Gregg. Photo by Glenn Tolbert

Dear Heavenly Father,

Two years have passed since
Shane's been gone,
So cruelly taken from our midst.
Mourned by pain that never recedes
As though yesterday, sorely missed.

Someone, someday, will let us know
What happened on that fateful morn.
A conscience cleared to make a stand
To heal the hearts so cruelly torn.

This prayer I plead and send on high,
Grant the closure denied by lies.
Let us finalize on to grief.
And from despair at last arise.

Amen

With eternal love,
Mom

"MTN. LAKE PARK DAYS REVISITED" is the name of a special event that will be held in that town on Sunday, Oct. 8, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the historic Amphitheatre ticket office, located at the corner of G and Spruce streets. The office will be open during those hours and will display numerous old photos of the town and its colorful history as a Chautauqua/cultural/religious community in the late 1800s and early 1900s. The above photo was taken in front of the ticket office, with Mayor Paul Shockey receiving a copy of a new, self-guided tour brochure of the town from Karen Wooddell, chairman of the town's historic committee.

Mountain Lake Park Observer

by Dan Whittelsey

Remember to keep Sunday, October 8, from 3 to 5 p.m. open. There will be a presentation of "Mountain Lake Park Days Revisited" at the Amphitheater Ticket Office, located at the corner of G and Spruce streets, the entrance to the Historical District. The ticket office will be open and will display a number of photos and drawings from "Days Gone by in Mountain Lake Park."

A pamphlet titled "A Self-Guided Tour of the Historical District" was prepared by Karen Wooddell and Shirley Munford. The art work was donated by Cynthia Wooddell Snowie, a professional illustrator.

The Historic District includes homes south of Route 135 and north of Route 135 that were built in the late 1800s and early 1900s.

The historical committee was able to obtain background information on the various homes from the present owners.

The next town meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 6 p.m.

MLP Crime Watch Meeting Scheduled

The Mountain Lake Park Crime Watch will meet next Tuesday, Oct. 3, at the town hall, beginning at 6 p.m. Lou DiCarlo, councilperson and coordinator of the Crime Watch, invites all interested residents to attend.

A film titled "Stolen Identity - Crime of the Millennium" will be shown at the meeting. "This is a shocking film," DiCarlo said, "but one that every property owner should see."

Persons may telephone DiCarlo at 301-334-8222 for more information.

The Garrett County Office of Solid Waste And Recycling issued a reminder to residents and property owners of Garrett County that their yellow 2000 refuse permits will expire on December 31. The new, blue 2001 refuse permits will go on sale on October 2.

Customers must display the blue 2001 permit on their vehicle windshields to dispose of refuse at any collection site as of January 1, 2001. The 2001 permit will be valid from date of purchase through December 31, 2001.

Applications for the 2001 permits are available at the landfill, all six refuse collection sites, and the Garrett County Courthouse. Applications may also be downloaded via the Internet at www.co.garrett.md.us. The permit cost remains at $20 for the first vehicle and $10 for each additional vehicle in the household.

Persons may complete the application and mail it with a check or money order to: GCSW, 3118 Oakland Sang Run Road, Oakland, MD 21550. Individuals may also come to the main landfill, located 3.5 miles north of Oakland and 2 miles south of Bray School Road, to purchase permits. The hours of operation are Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Greater Alleghenies Region, which serves donors, hospitals, and patients in a 100-county area, has just one-third of its desired inventories of type O positive and A positive on hand, which is about one day's supply. Rh negative blood types, including O negative, the universal blood type, are at just a 1½ to 2 days' supply.

He said that increased demand has been largely linked to the country's aging population, adding that while persons age 65 and older comprise 13% of the population, they use 25% of all blood units transfused.

The ARC bloodmobile will be collecting blood at St. Peter's Catholic Church parish hall in Oakland on Friday, Oct. 6, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and at the Friendsville fire hall on Friday, Oct. 20, from noon to 6 p.m.

To give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age or older, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Mazza added that people can donate blood every 56 days.

TERRA ALTA

LIBRARY NEWS

Terra Alta Public Library has just received a selection of juvenile paperbacks. These are on the shelf and ready to check out. The books vary in style — classics, gothic, fiction, and new editions. This donation was given by Linda Alkire.

Two different book campaigns will be held in October. "Books are Fun" will be on display the first two weeks of October. Discovery toys will be on display the last two weeks of the month. Both of these companies sell books, which entitles the library to receive free books. The books can be seen at the library and then they are ordered.

The library will begin its annual book sale on November 1. These books are of a wide variety, from the earliest readers to adult, and are economically priced.

Recently donating books, periodicals, and pamphlets have been: Lori Himelrick, Ben Dobeck, Hattie Hull, Linda Graham, Penny Kelly, Ann Williams, Cleta Frantz, Mary Spahr, James and Lilly Spamer, Deborah Ward, Linda Alkire, John Bowers, Gertrude Satterfield, Ruth Sines, Jeannie McGinnis, Bea Kelly, Shirley Williams, Sharon Roy, Lorrie MacAngle, Melissa Stonesifer, Debra DeWitt, Juanita Gardner, Becky Harriman, and Bonnie Messenger.

Library hours are Monday, 4 to 8 p.m. and Tuesday—Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

SENIORS MEET

The Union District Senior Citizens met Sept. 14 for a covered dish lunch and program at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Twenty-one members and five guests were present. Opening devotions were presented by Bernadine Bachtel, who used three poems, "Safe Journey," "Autumn," and "Talk to the Shepherd," and then read John 15:7 and closed with prayer.

There are 25 members planning to attend the Preston senior picnic to be held Oct. 14 at Big Bear Lake. Kingwood seniors will be serving buckwheat cakes on Friday, Sept. 29, for their center, beginning at 9 a.m. and concluding at 1 p.m. Plans are being made locally for a November shopping trip. There is also in the planning a tea to be held Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 1:30 p.m., at the Aurora United Methodist Building, at which time Senator Jon Blair Hunter will be present. In addition to making a presentation, he wishes to meet the public.

Facts concerning the rewritten EMS levy to be presented to the Preston County electorate were presented to the group by Keith Douglas. This levy would give additional funding to county fire and ambulance units.

Shirley Parsons shared a reading regarding Labor Day. Door prizes went to Thelma Stemple and Janice Tackett. The candy jar was won by Wilma Mae Teets. Several games of bingo concluded the meeting.

WHITCOMBS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Whitcomb, Greensville, S.C., arrived in Amboy on Aug. 1, where they visited with Mrs. Whitcomb's father and step-mother, Paul and Erma Gnegy.

The big trip began Aug. 7, when they headed west, visiting friends in Charleston, stopping in St. Louis to ascend the Arch, then visiting with Mr. Gnegy's son, Everett Gnegy, and his wife in Liberty, Mo. They then continued on, visiting with friends in Kansas, and finally arriving in Plainville for a visit with Mr. Gnegy's daughter, Kathryn Beckley, and her family.

At this juncture, they had a late-night collision with a cow in which the cow was killed and the motor home damaged. They visited with friends, and made a trip to Pioneer Village, Minden, Neb., and to the center of the 48 states, Lebanon, Kan. The RV then repaired, they began the return trip, stopping in Ohio to visit relatives, and then on to Brownsville Junction, Maine, for a visit with Ralph and Thelma Farrar, Mr. Gnegy's son-in-law and daughter. Return was made via Pennsylvania, Seaford, Del., where they visited the Gnegy's nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Henline, and Annapolis, Md., to visit Mr. Gnegy's Aunt Pauline Beeghly.

A visit to Mt. Jackson, Va., with Mrs. Gnegy's sister, Betty Brinegar, and family, was made before return to West Virginia on Sept. 20. During the journey, they visited 17 states, many museums, and places of interest, as well as friends and relatives. The Whitcombs plan to leave this week for their home.

To thank Senator Hunter for his support and interest, everyone is invited to a special gathering following the senior October meeting at the Aurora memorial building at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 10.

At 7 p.m. that same day, the Historical Society will provide a slide presentation titled "The Role of the Country Store in Aurora."

A surprise birthday party for Joann Helton was planned by her children, James of Hawaii, Kacie Tall, and Billy of Maryland, and all of whom were present for the Friday night, Sept. 22, party, which was attended by family and friends from the area. Mrs. Helton had visited friends and family in her old home area in Maryland last week.

Jim Bolyard of Amboy was admitted last Monday to Monongalia General Hospital for heart catheterization. Because of unforseen complications, he had emergency triple bypass surgery. At this time, he remains a patient there for further tests.

Junior Slaubaugh of Horse Shoe Run collapsed at church on Sunday and was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, but later released.

J. Rogers Fike, pastor of the Maple Spring Church, has been a patient at Ruby Memorial Hospital for the past week, where he is receiving treatment for an unknown infection resulting from a supposed insect bite received during his recent hunting trip in Africa. He is reportedly some improved at this time.

Visiting recently in Aurora with Pastor Joe Robinette, his wife Penny, and their children were Mrs. Robinette's parents from War, W.Va.

Thursday visitors and luncheon guests of Wilda Stemple and her sister, Beatrice Dean, at Aurora were Mrs. Stemple's friend, Mary Sherman, and her mother, Edith Lilley, of Ripley, Maine.

After being closed for a week following the death of Earl "Curly" Moats, Fairlea Restaurant is again open for breakfast and lunch, with Betty and Sheila Moats continuing its operation.

A new business is being prepared for opening, possibly Oct. 1, in the location of the former Whitie's on U.S. 50, east of Aurora. This will be a convenience store and fuel station operated by Joe Bishop.

Oakland Man Arrested For Alleged Assault

An Oakland man faces a charge of second degree assault after he allegedly struck his brother at their residence Saturday morning, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Reuben James Everett, 19, Oakland, allegedly struck his brother, David Alan Everett II, in the head with his fist when his sibling allegedly threatened to harm their mother. David Everett was intoxicated at the time of the incident, according to the police report, and the injury he sustained from the blow required treatment at the emergency room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Reuben Everett, who was reportedly not intoxicated at the time of the alleged assault, was later released from the Garrett County Detention Center on his own recognizance.

In other sheriff's news, Donald Maitland Teagarden, 37, Oakland, was arrested on a second degree assault charge Saturday morning after a domestic altercation at his residence. He allegedly grabbed his spouse by the arm and neck and reportedly choked her. Alcohol was not cited as a factor in the incident, and Teagarden was later released on his own recognizance.

Michael Lynn Sisler, 36, Oakland, was arrested by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation on Sept. 18 after an investigation into alleged sexual misconduct that reportedly spanned a two-year period. He faces two counts each of child abuse, second degree assault, and third degree sexual offense.

SPECIAL ATHLETES TO COMPETE - A group of Garrett County's Special Olympics athletes have been practicing to take part in a bicycling contest to be held in Sykesville on October 7. They will compete against 50 other cyclists varying in age and ability in 50 meter and 1,000 meter races. They have been training for 10 weeks by riding 1½ hours per day with head coach Chad Brown and volunteers Matia Vonderbilt, Melissa Mellinger, and Christine Brown. In the photo above are the cyclists who have been part of the training squad, along with volunteers. From left are Coach Brown, Vonderbilt, Cheryl Frantz, Andrew Brenes, Shannon Forrester, Keith Platter, Darrell Friend, and Mellinger. In the photo below, the team members who will compete in Sykesville are Keith Platter, Shannon Forrester, and Andrew Brenes. Anyone interested in volunteering to help with any Special Olympics events or activities may contact Chad Brown at 301-895-3793. Photos by Jeremy Carr Sisler was released from jail on a $5,000 bond.

Ernest Wayne Welch, 37, Oakland, was arrested on a charge of failure to remain at the scene of an accident which stemmed from a Sept. 17 incident along Maryland Highway near Swanton Road. Welch is accused of striking a vehicle traveling in front of him with his Chevrolet El Camino, then leaving the area without stopping. The driver took down the license plate number of the vehicle that struck her car, and deputies later located a matching vehicle at Welch's Gorman Road residence that bore damage consistent with that incurred by the victim's vehicle. After his arrest, Welch was released on his own recognizance.

George David Moore, 23, Oakland, was arrested on a second degree assault charge stemming from a Sept. 13 incident at the apartment he shares with his mother. Moore, who had allegedly been drinking, reportedly hit and kicked the woman, and destroyed a table and a number of items in the kitchen. He was later released from jail when he posted a $500 bond.

James Loman Paugh, Swanton, was arrested on Sept. 9 after a domestic altercation at his residence. He allegedly came home after drinking and beat his wife, and broke a bedroom door and several other items at the home. Deputies summoned to the scene reported observing a broken telephone receiver hanging in a tree in the front yard, and broken flower pots strewn about the yard. Paugh, who was charged with second degree assault, was released after he posted a $2,500 bond.

Krisna Das Twigg, 20, Pa., was arrested at 4 a.m. Sept. 8 after a deputy observed two vehicles bearing Pennsylvania tags driving through the lot of Garrett Automotive, located along Garrett Highway near Mayhew Inn Road. As the business had been burglarized in the past, the deputy attempted to stop the vehicles to speak with the occupants; he managed to stop Twigg's Honda Passport, and arrested him for DWI. A vehicle search uncovered a bag of suspected marijuana and a pipe bearing suspected burnt marijuana residue, and additional charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia were filed. Twigg was subsequently released from jail after he posted a $1,000 bond.

grams of the Transportation Equity Act of the 21st Century (TEA-21), and building and strengthening U.S and Canadian relationships along the Continental 1 corridor."

"Harder brings a vast amount of knowledge and experience to our effort," commented Continental 1 president Glenn Miller. "Her knowledge of U.S./Canada trade and travel issues, along with her five-year involvement with our efforts, makes her a natural for this position. Her appointment completes the reorganization and expansion of many of the local U.S. Route 219 associations into Continental 1 as a central organization with multi-state and Canadian representatives."

Harder formerly served as the director of regional development for the Buffalo—Niagara Partnership, a regional chamber of commerce with 3,500 member firms located in Buffalo. She was educated at the State University of New York at Buffalo, receiving a bachelor of arts degree in economics, and at the John Heinz III School of Public Policy of Carnegie-Mellon University (Pittsburgh), where she graduated summa cum laude with a master of science degree in public management.

Reservations for the annual meeting, which include lunch, must be made by Friday, Oct. 6. To make a reservation or for further information on Continental 1, interested persons may call the organization's headquarters in Ridgway, Pa., at 1-800-458-0175, or Moe at 301-334-3448.

AMONG THE GUESTS at last week's open house of the Garrett County Addictions Service office in Oakland were the Garrett County commissioners. Several events were held at the clinic in observance of National Alcohol and Drug Abuse Recovery Month. The theme of the observance is "Recovering Our Future: One Youth at a Time," which focused on treatment of adolescents. Pictured from left above are: Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Fred Herath, program director; and Commissioners Fred Holliday and Wendell Beitzel. Herath said that anyone interested in learning about all of the services provided by Addictions Service are invited to stop by the office, located at 221 South Third Street, this Friday, Sept. 29, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Refreshments will be available. Persons may also contact the office by telephone at 301-334-8115.

Pickup Truck Strikes Tree, Injuring Two

Two Pennsylvania residents were taken to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland following an accident yesterday, Wednesday, on Big Run Road. Daniel L. Campbell Jr., 32, Connellsville, a passenger in the 1985 Toyota pickup truck, was transported by medevac helicopter, and driver Brent Ross Biller, 32, also of Connellsville, was transported by Northern Rescue Squad. Bittinger VFD also responded.

Tfc. J. LeMay of the McHenry barrack of Maryland State Police reported that the vehicle was eastbound on Big Run Road, east of New Germany Road, at 4 p.m. when Biller apparently lost control on a sharp curve, ran off the roadway, went over a steep embankment, and struck a tree.

None of the injuries were not serious and no charges were filed at the time, police said. Investigation is continuing.

Charged With Possession

Mitchellville resident Lynn Cuthbertson was charged by police with possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia when she was stopped for a seatbelt violation while traveling near the 16-mile marker on I-68 September 20 at 1:45 p.m.

Huskies Still Unbeaten After 27-13 Victory Over Indians

Some quick reflexes on the part of Jeremy Frazee helped spark the Northern High Huskies to a 27-13 victory over visiting Berkeley Springs Friday night on the Accident gridiron. The split end dove dove into the end zone to recover a teammate's fumble and turn certain disaster into a Husky touchdown, and, manning his cornerback post, picked off a pass on the NHS 1-yard line that quashed a likely Berkeley Springs scoring drive.

A senior, Frazee has emerged as one of several team leaders who are helping the young NHS squad establish a name for itself through clutch plays, a fine running game, and an impenetrable defense—the sum of which has resulted in a 3-0 record for Northern so far this season.

"Jeremy came up with several big plays, just as he's done in each game so far," NHS head coach Phil Carr commented of his split end/cornerback. "He's our best cover man in the defensive secondary, has made some clutch catches on offense, and does a fine job both ways on special teams. He and guys like Mark Wolf, Toby Gilpin, and Bill Rodeheaver give you everything they've got, and that sets a high standard for the other guys to play up to."

The Huskies got on the scoreboard early in the contest when their five-minute, 72-yard opening drive culminated in Wolf's touchdown run from six yards out. Trey Brenneman connected with the extra point kick, and that score put NHS up 7-0. The Indians knotted the score late in the first quarter when quarterback Mark Rockwell scored on a three-yard touchdown run, which was followed by a successful point-after kick.

Fullback Rodeheaver put the Huskies on top again early in the second quarter with a seven-yard scoring run, and Brenneman's PAT kick made the score 14-7. After the Northern defense stonewalled Berkeley Springs yet again—the Indians' offense managed a total of just four first downs on the night, compared to the Huskies' 17—NHS took a punt and marched downfield on a long drive that appeared destined to end in another touchdown.

Hearts on the Northern side of the field stopped momentarily, however, when halfback Rob Dozier fumbled the ball at the two-yard line at the conclusion of a fine run. Frazee pounced on the ball as it bounced into the end zone, and the quick reaction put the hoped-for touchdown on the board to make the score 20-7 with less than two minutes to go in the half.

Dozier redeemed himself in the third quarter when he scored on a six-yard run, a touchdown that capped a drive that chewed six minutes off the clock. "Rob is getting back into the groove," Carr said. "He's coming off a pre-season shoulder injury that had him out for our first two games, and he's a little rusty. He got better as the night went on, however, and will continue to get better throughout the season."

Frazee killed a potential Indian scoring drive at the 7:41 mark of the fourth quarter. With Berkeley Springs on the NHS 20, the cornerback picked off a pass at the 1-yard line that helped demoralize the opponents.

Berkeley Springs did find the end zone five minutes later when Rockwell hit Jacob Wilson on a 25-yard scoring pass. The Indians then pulled off a successful onside kick, recovering the ball after it brushed a Husky up-man. The Northern grave-digger offense rose to the occasion, however, tossing the visitors back on three straight plays to force a punt. NHS's offense took a knee, and the squad took the 27-13 victory to the bank.

The Huskies' offense gained 321 yards, all on the ground. Wolf led the way with 146 yards on 20 carries, and Dozier gained 119 yards. "Rob ran well for his first game back, but his blocking was what impressed me the most, he sprang Mark for some excellent gains," the Huskies' skipper said afterward.

"Trey Brenneman played his best game so far this year at quarterback, making good reads and getting some good pitches outside to Wolf at just the right moment. Toby Gilpin also put in a great effort on both sides of the line, he's so big and strong that he can dominate a couple of lanes. His positive attitude and growing confidence is providing a good example for the younger kids on the line.

"We showed a lot of improvement on the offensive line Friday night, which had been one of our weak spots," observed Carr. "Our linemen exploded off the ball to hit the defenders lower and harder, pushing them back repeatedly. We ground out four or five yards at a time consistently—our first punt didn't come until the fourth quarter. We still have a ways to go, but the improvement we showed over the course of one week made it clear to our guys what they're capable of with hard work. If we can continue to improve we'll really have something before too long."

The NHS defense turned in another strong performance, with Wolf's 17 tackles leading the way. Included in that tally was a crushing hit on the second half's opening kickoff that elicited an audible gasp from the stands and threatened to send the Berkeley Springs return man in search of an orthodontist. "We know from last year there are folks who come to our games just to watch Wolf hit," stated Carr. "He sure gave them one to remember with that one." Fellow Husky Rodeheaver contributed nine tackles to help shut down the Indians' offense.

Northern's next match-up comes during a Saturday afternoon Mountain Athletic Conference contest at Turkeyfoot. "The Rams are a carbon copy of the three teams we've played so far, especially Berkeley Springs," Carr said. "Their quarterback, senior Nathan Bungard (5-11, 150) likes to roll out and throw on the run. He was their starting running back last year, so he's a good, tough athlete who has the mentality of a runner." The dangerous field general marshals a Turkeyfoot offense that runs out of a wing-T formation, using misdirection through

"WHO LET THE DOGS OUT?" is the question this Berkeley Springs ballcarrier must have been asking as he was being buried by Northern High School's "grave-digger" defense during Friday night's 27-14 NHS win in Accident. Flattening the Indian with a crushing tackle is the biggest dog of them all, 310-pound Northern noseguard Toby Gilpin (#79), as fellow Husky pack members Malcolm Simmons (#7), Bill Rodeheaver (#30), Bryan Lenhart (#71), and Mark Wolf (#32), as well as three unidentifiable teammates, get in on the play. One of Northern's touchdowns is being celebrated in the below photo. The score came just before the first half ended, when split end Jeremy Frazee (#24) alertly pounced into the endzone to recover a fumble by Rob Dozier (#23, at right), made just as the halfback was about to cross the goal line. The 3-0 Huskies will travel to Turkeyfoot (Pa.) this Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. Mountain Athletic Conference contest with the 1-3 Rams.

Defense Paves Way For 7-0 Ram Victory Over Grafton

Another outstanding defensive effort by the Southern High School varsity football team, coupled with just one touchdown from the offense in the first quarter, led the Rams to a 7-0 victory last Friday night over a formidable Grafton team on the West Virginians' field. It was the second win in a row for Coach Fred Gregg and his squad, who are now 2-1.

Jeremy Hayhurst accounted for all seven of the Rams' points when, on a third and two with the ball on their own 19-yard line, he broke through the Grafton line on an inside reverse and raced 81 yards to record what would be the game's only touchdown. He then successfully booted the extra point to give Southern a 7-0 advantage with 4:24 remaining in the first quarter.

The rest of the contest was a defensive standoff, which featured a crucial stoppage by the Ram defense in the second half on a fourth down and inches situation.

Grafton went for three points with a field goal attempt late in the third period, but the kick was no good.

The Rams out-gained Grafton (1-4) in total offense by a 238-123 margin, with Hayhurst leading the rushing. The senior fullback amassed 126 yards on a dozen carries, while tailback Steve Skipper added 65 yards on 18 attempts.

Pacing Grafton's offensive effort was Mike Keener, who finished with 78 yards on 22 carries.

"We played very well defensively," Coach Gregg said. "We didn't control the line on offense the way we did the previous week (in a 35-6 rout of Musselman), but we controlled it well enough when we had to.

"Mental toughness, particularly in crucial situations, is the foundation for success, and we've been harping that to our players from the first day of practice," he continued. "We were very happy with their demonstration of mental toughness again this past week."

Gregg said that the Rams remain "reasonably healthy," although there were a few new ankle sprains sustained in the game. "A few players are questionable for this week, but overall we're in pretty

Maddawgs A&B Squad Wins; C Team Ties Reds

The Northern Maddawgs Pee-Wee Football League teams hosted the GFC Reds Saturday at Northern High School, and the A&B team came away with a convincing 32-19 victory, while the C squad held onto its undefeated status by notching a 26-26 tie.

The A&B Maddawg unit got off to a good start against its Red counterpart by drawing first blood when Kyle Meyr scored on a five-yard run, which was followed by Josh Duckworth's successful conversion run. The Reds made the score 7-6 prior to the end of the first quarter when Greg Dolly ran the ball in from 14 yards out.

Northern exploded for a pair of touchdowns early in the second period on scoring drives that concluded with a four-yard touchdown run by Jared Lapp and a Ryan Winebrenner 15-yard rushing TD, respectively. The second score was followed by a successful conversion run by Lapp, making the score 20-6. The Reds answered with a pair of rushing touchdowns of their own, as Matt Richards rumbled for 47 yards, which he followed with his own conversion run, and shortly afterward Richards ran in for a score from one yard. The half ended in a near-deadlock, with the Maddawgs up by a 20-19 margin.

The Northern defense stepped up its effort in the second half to shut down the Reds' offense for the remainder of the way, while the Maddawgs' offensive unit continued to roll up the points. Zach Fratz scored on a 24-yard end-around run in the third quarter, and in the final period Jason Doerr scored on a four-yard rushing touchdown for the final 32-19 margin.

The Maddawgs' fine defensive effort was led by Jared Rodeheaver, who tallied six unassisted tackles and also shared six tackle assists with his teammates. Meyr notched two unassisted tackles and shared eight tackle assists.

Although the C team didn't claim an outright victory, the squad held on to its undefeated record by virtue of a 26-26 tie with its Reds' opponent. Aarron Lapp led the way for the Maddawgs with three touchdowns, and teammate Zach Watkins accounted for one touchdown and two extra points. Kameron Kamp also helped spark the defensive effort with a fumble recovery.

The Northern Maddawgs program will play host to the Cresaptown Eagles Saturday night at NHS. The last home game on the schedule will get under way with a 6 p.m. kickoff.

Jets Remain Undefeated In Youth League

The Jets rolled over the Redskins, 40-19, in an Oakland Youth Football League game played Saturday to remain undefeated and atop the standings in the NFL Division with a 5-0 record. The second-place Ravens (4-1) crushed the Raiders (1-4) in the other game, 32-0. The Redskins are winless at 0-5.

In the NCAA Division, the Gregg's Pharmacy Mountaineers also remained unbeaten (5-0) by whipping the Rinker Construction Nittany Lions, 48-20. In other games, the First United Buckeyes stopped the Oak-Mar Development Bears, 48-30, the Gonder Insurance Tigers defeated the previously undefeated Team One Terps, 34-25, and the F.O.P. Fighting Irish topped the TCI Cougars, 34-14.

Following the Mountaineers in the standings are: Terps and Tigers, both 4-1; Buckeyes, 3-2; Lions, 2-3; Irish and Bears, 1-4; and Cougars, 0-5.

Both Steeler Squads Downed By AES Patriots

Both Northern Steeler units were defeated by the AES Patriots in Cumberland Area Youth Football League action Saturday at Northern High School. The scores were almost identical as the Division I Steeler team fell by a 30-14 margin, while the Division II Northern squad was downed by a score of 33-13.

Both contests featured exceptionally long scoring plays. The Patriots Division I team scored on runs of 80, 46, 39, and 20 yards, all of which came in the first half. The Northern unit scored twice in the fourth quarter, when Robert Stark connected with Chris Fickes for an 82-yard touchdown pass, which was followed by a Eian Wooden's successful conversion kick. Wooden scampered 28 yards for a rushing touchdown later in the period to conclude the scoring.

Northern's Jeremiah Wilt, Anthony Lewis, and Eric Johnson were credited for their strong play on defense.

The Division II contest was more of the same, as the Patriots scored five touchdowns before Northern broke into the scoring column. Over the first three quarters the Patriots reeled off 72, 53, 39, 9, and 1 yard touchdown runs. The Steelers answered those scores late in the third quarter when Corey Carr carried the ball in from three yards out and Casey Kamp ran in the conversion point. Northern's Kamp then scored the game's final points in the fourth stanza on a 16-yard touchdown run.

The two teams will meet again Saturday in Westernport.

good shape," he said.

The Rams will need all of their players and another gutsy effort if they are to continue their successful run this week, as they host undefeated Allegany (3-0), a team Gregg believes is as good as Keyser, which handed the Rams a 33-0 loss in their season opener.

"This is a typical Allegany team," he said. "They're very big, very physical, well drilled, and they have an excellent line. They've obviously spent a lot of time in the weight room.

"They set the example for what we want our team to be," he added.

The Campers run a power-oriented, no-frills wing-T offense, with plenty of weapons in the backfield, including senior fullback Shannon Miller (5-10, 180), junior halfbacks Blake Hillegas (5-10, 170) and Robby O'Brien (5-6, 135), and quarterback Ryan Strother (5-10, 160).

"Miller is an excellent runner, and Strother runs the team very well," Gregg said. "They are a run-oriented team, although they did throw the ball 14 times last week (in a 47-38 win over Sidwell Friends), which was sort of a surprise."

The Alco backs have a big line in front of them, which includes an outstanding lineman in senior Jonathan Sharon (5-8, 215), who happens to be a cousin of Ram starting quarterback Josh Sharon.

"We'll have a little inner-family rivalry here, because Sharon is also one of their top linebackers," Gregg said.

Another top player in the linebacker corps is junior Chad Jacovino (5-9, 180).

Gregg said he and his staff do not have any major surprises in their game plan for this week. "We believe that we should stay with what we do best, which has served us very well the past two weeks," he said. "We'll try to control the ball as much as possible and simply go out and play as hard as we can. That's really all we can ask of the kids."

The 7:30 kickoff will be preceded by the annual SHS Football Hall of Fame induction ceremony (at about 7:15), which will feature five new inductees.

"The weather is supposed to be perfect Friday night, so we hope we will have a big crowd in the stands," Gregg concluded.

reverses and other trickery to try to throw opposing defenses off its trail.

Other key Ram players the Huskies have to be ready for include one of the MAC's top receivers, senior Andrew Wass (6-4, 180). "We've found that a zone defense works best for us, and we think our secondary can pull together and play as a unit to handle Wass," remarked Carr, adding that if the Huskies find themselves in man-to-man coverage, 6-1 cornerback Brandon Kamp will likely be assigned to the tall split end. Turkeyfoot also yields a large tight end, senior Dan Lytle (6-3, 230), who often moves back into the backfield to provide some extra blocking and carry the ball as well.

The Ram line is anchored by a last name familiar to Husky fans from last year, Amos Rugg (6-0, 270), the squad's best tackle on both sides of the ball. The senior is first cousin to former Northern standout Marcus Rugg, who has been redshirted by the Frostburg State University Bobcats after sustaining a broken leg earlier this collegiate season. The ex-Husky's younger brother, junior Herschel Rugg (6-0, 185) is the team's best linebacker and also plays guard on the offensive line.

"Turkeyfoot plays a 5-3 defense, just as Berkeley Springs does," Carr said, adding that the Rams' first-year head coach, Jeff Conn, was the program's defensive coordinator prior to taking over the team's reins this season.

The Huskies enter the contest fairly healthy; Dozier will start at halfback, although his continuing recovery from a shoulder injury will once again preclude his defensive work. Lineman Josh Swandol is listed as "probable" with a deep shoulder bruise, with the final determination slated to be made today. Lineman Jason Moore, sidelined last week with a deep shoulder bruise, will suit up for play, but split end and secondary defender Ethan DeVore will be out once again as his slow recovery from an opening-game knee injury progresses.

"We're looking for a good match-up, and if we can get through this week and keep our guys healthy, we'll have two weeks off to rest up for the second half of the season when we'll be facing the toughest part of our schedule," commented Carr. "We hope to have a good crowd join us for the game and cheer the guys on."

The travel time from NHS to Turkeyfoot is 30 minutes, less than a sojourn to Oakland would require. From Keysers Ridge, fans of Big Blue should take westbound U.S. Rt. 40 for approximately six miles before turning north on Pa. Rt. 523. Continue north for approximately five miles to Turkeyfoot High, located in Harnedsville, Pa.

Frostburg State To Honor Carr

Northern High School varsity football and baseball head coach Phil Carr will be honored at the eighth annual Jim Anderson Memorial Baseball Breakfast on Saturday, Oct. 7, at the Maplehurst Country Club. The FSU alumn will be presented with the Frostburg Baseball Alumni Coach of the Year Award for his accomplishments at the Huskies' helm last year.

Carr guided Northern's baseball squad to a 13-5 record and a playoff appearance last spring, a success that came on the heels of the football program's 10-0 regular season record and playoff contest. In a good-natured poke at SHS head coach Jim Bosely, his summer dugout partner with the Garrett American Legion baseball team, Carr said that one of the Huskies' biggest achievements this past diamond season was the double win over county rival Southern.

A 1983 graduate of Northern High, where he was a multi-sport letterman, Carr went on to play baseball at Garrett Community College and FSU, where he earned a degree in 1987.

Former Fort Hill baseball and football standout Mike McMillan will also be honored at the breakfast. McMillan is the longtime head baseball and football coach at McDonogh School.

DNR Proposes Late Waterfowl Hunting Seasons

Proposed dates and bag limits for the upcoming late waterfowl seasons have been selected by Sarah Taylor-Rogers, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, and have been submitted to the United States Fish and Wildlife Service for final approval.

The hunting of non-migratory Canada geese, also known as resident Canada geese, is the only proposal pertaining directly to hunting in Garrett County. The proposed late hunting season for resident Canada geese in western Maryland, including the entirety of Garrett and Allegany counties, is Nov. 15—24, Dec. 9—Jan 13., and Jan. 15—Feb. 15. The proposed bag limits are two geese per day for the first two periods, and three geese per day for the third period.

The number of resident Canada geese currently stands at approximately 70,000 and continues to increase. This large and growing population is the cause of numerous complaints regarding public safety and depredation. Further liberalization of hunting methods and harvest strategies can be expected with the completion of the USFWS's Resident Canada Goose Environmental Impact Statement next year, according to Taylor-Rogers.

To hunt waterfowl in Maryland, hunters must possess a valid Maryland hunting license (except those persons who may hunt without a license, such as landowners hunting on their own property). Every hunter must have in his or her possession a Migratory Bird Harvest Information Program Permit (HIP), a Federal Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp (youth hunters under 16 are exempt), and a Maryland Migratory Waterfowl Stamp (not required for state residents over age 64).

Possession of a HIP permit is required of all hunters that hunt migratory birds, including those who are exempt from possessing an annual hunting license (landowners and lifetime hunting licensees). The free HIP permit and $6 state waterfowl stamp are available from Maryland sport license agents and at DNR regional service centers. Hunters may obtain Federal duck stamps at U.S. Post Offices, National Wildlife Refuges, and some Maryland DNR sport license agents.

Nontoxic shot is required while hunting waterfowl and coots. Federally approved nontoxic shot includes steel, bismuth-tin, tungston iron, tungsten-polymer, tungsten-matrix, and tin shot. The official nationwide waterfowl shooting hours are from 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset.

For more information on hunting in Maryland, persons may consult Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 2000-2001, which is available free of charge from Maryland sport license agents at retail stores and DNR Wildlife and Heritage offices. Additional information is available on the DNR website at www.dnr.state.md.us/huntersguide.

HOOKS SECOND IN MD. FISHING TOURNEY — Jordan T. Roaring Knob Raceway Park

Last weekend at Roaring Knob started out on Friday night with the finish of the Sept. 9 race which was cancelled because of fog. This race was the last point race of the season, and when fog caused the Sept. 9 race to be called, the only races completed were the Late Model feature and the first Pure Stock 20-lap feature.

The evening started out with a few heat laps for each class, then moved on to the Classic Lite (Dwarf) division. Ron Nestor of Ligonier, Pa., started from the pole, but that was quickly taken away as John Cogar of Fairmont, W.Va., moved ahead in the first lap. Unfortunately, Cogar brought out the caution and his night was done. Lynn Knepper of Somerset, Pa., took over from there and went on to take the checkered flag. The top five finishers were: Lynn Knepper, first; Bob Bolin, second; Ron Nestor, third; Jeff Barclay, fourth; and Jeff Claycomb, fifth. Those finishing the top 10 in points for the year were: Eric Hay, first; Jeff Barclay, second; John Cogar, third; Mike Hay, fourth; Lynn Knepper, fifth; W.L. Stile, sixth; Ron Nestor, seventh; Frank Dunkle, eighth; Jeff Davis, ninth; and Billy Bauer, tenth.

In the E-Mod race Bob Bennett of Morgantown, W.Va., started out on the pole and ended his night in the second spot. Bennett lead the first six laps as Vic Vandergrift of Lake Lynn, Pa., took over from there and went on to take the win. Following Vandergrift were Bob Bennett, second; Doug Glessner, third; Rick Smith, fourth; and Steve Wilson, fifth. The top 10 finishers for the year were: Wayne Jordan, first; Brent Trimble, second; Vic Vandergrift, third; Buck Goodwin, fourth; Mark Baylor, fifth; Shaun Davis, sixth; Dana McIntyre, seventh; Rick Smith, eighth; Alan Malone, ninth; and Bud Cutlip, tenth.

In the Pure Stock second 20-lap feature the field was inverted from the finish of the first race. The drivers received double points for this race, making for an exciting race as the cars that are normally in the front were now in the rear of the field. As the race got underway, Chuck Bloom of Uniontown, Pa., took the lead and held strong for the first half of the race. But from there Bart Tressler of Confluence, Pa., took over for the win. Following Tressler were Jim Bendishaw, second; Greg Hauger, third; Curt Hager, fourth; and Bob Nelson, fifth. The top 10 point finishers for the year were: John Redshaw, first; Jim Bendishaw, second; Greg Hauger, third; Jim Byers, fourth; Scott Spade, fifth; Scott Herring, sixth; Bart Tressler, seventh; Jim Shaffer, eighth; Bob Nelson, ninth; and Marshall Coleman, tenth.

The top five finishers of the 4-Cylinder feature were: Dave Summers, first; Jason Boncoski, second; Dave Gabbert, third; Louie Orris, fourth; and Frank Spade, fifth. The top 10 finishers for the year were: Dave Summers, first; Jason Boncoski, second; Frank Spade, third; Mike Simpson, fourth; Willie Robinson, fifth; Louis Orris, sixth; Sonny Crayton, seventh; Kevin Pifer, eighth; Thomas Simpson, ninth; and Jeff Pennington, tenth.

The top 10 points finishers for the year in the Late Model division were: Scott Miles, first; Jeff Ferguson, second; Jeff Thomas, third; Chad McDougal, fourth; Mike Benedum, fifth; Gary Tonkery, sixth; Mel Minnick, seventh; Gary Sisson, eighth; Bob Neratka, ninth; and Wally Stock, tenth.

Also Friday night three eliminator races were run, the Late Model, E-Mod, and Classic Lite (Dwarf) divisions. In the Late Model division 20 cars started with the top five finishers being Jeff Ferguson, first; Tom Myers, second; Andy Anderson, third; Scott Miles, fourth; and Mike Benedum fifth.

The E-Mod division started with 17 cars, the top five being Rick Strickler, first; Rick Smith, second; Dave Groves, third; Shaun Davis, fourth; Quint Milburn, fifth.

In the Classic Lite division there were 17 cars to start with Mike Hay finishing first; Jeff Barclay, second; Bob Bolin, third; Lynn Knepper, fourth; and Frank Dunkle, fifth.

In the 4-Cylinder main feature the finishes went as follows: Dave Summers, first; Kevin Pifer, second; Jason Boncoski, third; Mike Simpson, fourth; and Mike Lewis, fifth.

The Pure Stock cars also ran the heat race for their Saturday night feature. Saturday came with cloudy skies, but everyone was ready to run. The heats were run in every class, and the Pure Stocks took the track with 17 cars to start. Scott Bochok of Cheswick, Pa., took the finish by a hair over Wayne Jordan of Dilliner, Pa. The race had one brief caution for rain, but the track was dried off with the help of drivers and fans alike, and racing got underway again. Rounding out the top five in the race were Greg Hauger, third; Charlie Bittinger, fourth; and Bob Nelson, fifth.

As the Late Models took the track, only a few laps were run before the rain began to fall again. Officials waited to see if it was to be a repeat of the shower before, but that was not the case.

As the rain fell the drivers and track owners got together to see what should be done. They all decided to call the race, and it is rescheduled for Fri., Oct. 20, and all rain checks will be honored. The gates will open at 6 p.m. and the races will begin at 8 p.m. The remainder of the races will be run that night—Late Models, E-Mods, and Classic Lites. For more information, drivers and fans may check the track's web site at www.roaringknob.com.

The Rock Allegany County Speedway

Rock Entertainment promoters Bob and Donna Salathe successfully ended their first season of racing at both The Rock in Cumberland and at the Bedford (Pa.) Speedway.

Next year Bedford will return to Friday night racing, and The Rock will run Saturday nights. Both tracks will open in April.

There were all new track champions at The Rock this season. The Super Late Model champion was Doug Horton of Morgantown, W.Va., and the Limited Late Model champion was Jim Deneen of Hyndman, Pa., who won eight out of 12 feature races.

Quint Milburn of Frostburg won the first UMP Modified championship at the Cumberland track and is also the Maryland state champion in that class.

Matt Sponaugle won the Stock track championship at The Rock and will move up to the Limited Late Models next year.

Southern Girls Blank Huskies; Now 5-0 In WMIL Standings

A fifth victory and a fourth shutout were recorded by the Southern High School girls' varsity soccer team when the Rams blanked cross-county rival Northern, 3-0, in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League contest last Thursday evening at the Cove. It was the second straight win for the Rams over the Huskies, who met each other in a tournament at Bishop Walsh High School the previous Saturday.

The victory improved the Rams' overall record to 5-1 and upped their perfect WMIL mark to 5-0, while the Huskies dropped to 3-4 overall and 2-2 in WMIL standings.

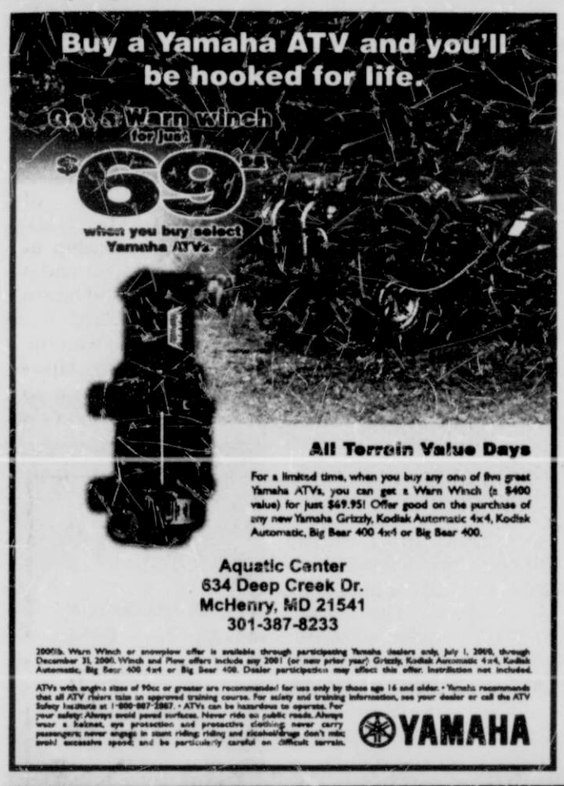
Holly Sauder, another of Southern's outstanding freshman recruits, doubled the score with an unassisted goal about 13 minutes later, and senior Charlena Reeves concluded the scoring for the match when she connected for a goal off an assist by Megan Burner with 13:18 before halftime.

The second half was a scoreless tie. The Rams finished with a 22-12 advantage in shots on goal, with Ashley Warnick making 14 saves for the Huskies and Becky Martin stopping eight shots in recording her fourth shutout of the season. The Rams dominated in corner kicks, 9-0.

Southern will play again next Tuesday evening at Keyser. Northern's next match will be Friday, Oct. 6, at home against Fort Hill.



Ram Booters Lose Heartbreaker To Campers In Double Overtime

A penalty kick late in the second overtime period by Allegany's James Smith yielded a heart-breaking 2-1 Western Maryland Interscholastic League loss for the Southern High School boys' varsity soccer team last Thursday evening in Oakland. It was the third loss in four starts for the Rams, who once again outshot their opponents and led in corner kicks, but lost the match.

Aaron MacGray of Allegany scored the only goal of the first half when he put an unassisted shot past Southern keeper Chris Menker at the 28:55 mark.

Brian Cathell evened the match for the Rams with 23:40 remaining in regulation time when he scored off an assist by Ryan Ewing.

The second half ended in a 1-1 score, forcing the first 10-minute sudden-death overtime, which yielded no winner. Only 1:53 of the second overtime remained when a pushing foul in the penalty box was called against Southern on a direct kick play by Allegany. Smith sent the PK ball into the left side of the net past the outstretched Menker to give the Campers their third win in as many starts, and a 2-0 mark in the WMIL.

The Rams were to have played at Beall on Monday, but that match was postponed a second time because of heavy rain. They will host Bishop Walsh next Tuesday night and play at Northern on Friday, Oct. 6.

Soccer Referees Needed; Clinic May Be Slated

Persons desiring to obtain certification as soccer referees are asked to contact Jim Hart, Mountaintop Soccer Association referee coordinator, as soon as possible to indicate their desire so arrangements can be made to hold a local Maryland state certification clinic.

Hart said that the MSA needs additional referees for its youth program, which continues to grow. The certification clinic is held over a weekend, which will be scheduled for sometime in the near future if there is enough interest expressed.

Hart can be reached at 301-334-4835.

Huskies Remain Unbeaten With Wins Over Salisbury, Westmar

The undefeated Northern High School boys' varsity soccer team upped its record to 4-0-1 with a pair of victories this past week, including a 3-0 blanking of visiting Salisbury last Thursday and a 4-1 drubbing of host Westmar on Tuesday.

The Huskies were outshot by the Elks of Salisbury by a 23-19 margin, but Northern keeper Woody Kenner played an outstanding match, as he stopped all 23 of those shots.

Meanwhile, senior striker Ron Lipscomb led the Husky offense with a pair of first-half goals, and Eric Durst tacked on an insurance goal in the second half.

Lipscomb's first score came just over four minutes into the match when he headed a corner kick by Mike Fletcher into the net at the 35:50 mark.

He doubled his team's total on the board when he took a feed from Andy Fike and put the ball into the net with 10:50 remaining in the first half.

Durst's goal was unassisted, and was recorded with 17:06 to play in the match.

Both teams finished with five corner kicks. Jesse Hoover was credited with 13 saves for the Elks, who dropped to 2-3 with the loss.

The Huskies also scored three goals against Westmar on Tuesday before the Wildcats finally put one on the board with less than four minutes remaining, but Andy Fike responded with yet another Husky goal with just over a minute left to conclude the scoring.

After nearly a quarter of scoreless defensive play, Guy Beitzel put the Huskies up 1-0 with a goal off an assist by Andy Bowser with 20:08 remaining before halftime.

The score was unchanged until about 14 minutes had expired in the second half when Lipscomb put a shot past Brandon Kimble, the Wildcat keeper, at the 26:25 mark.

Eric Durst made it 3-0 about 13 minutes later with an unassisted goal with 13:29 left in the match.

Westmar's lone goal was scored by Travis Beeman off an assist by Derek Moore with 3:51 on the clock, but Fike responded with an unassisted goal with 1:05 remaining.

The Huskies finished with a 27-23 edge in shots on goal, with Kenner being credited with 19 saves and Kimble recording 20. The Wildcats had a 4-3 edge in corner kicks.

The loss dropped Westmar to 3-4.

The Huskies will go after their fifth win this evening at Petersburg, and then not play again until Friday, Oct. 6, at home against Southern.

OAKLAND AREA BUSINESS OWNERS REGARDING TRI-TOWNS EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES FUND RAISER

Tri-Towns EMS serves the Westernport, Luke and Bloomington areas. Please support your LOCAL volunteer ambulance service.

For clarification, Southern Garrett Rescue Squad serves the Oakland area from Corinth to Mt. Zion Road, to the north, up to Rt. 219 at Deep Creek Lake bridge. During weekdays Southern is also alerted in a "dual dispatch" to areas just north of the bridge along with Northern Rescue.

Northern Rescue services areas north of the Deep Creek Lake bridge, including Accident and Grantsville, and extends down Savage River Road to Murrell's bridge.

We have asked Tri-Towns to limit their fund raising to the areas they service primarily, but they persist, despite a letter of apology they wrote to our board of directors, May 2, 2000, in which they state, "...sincerest apologies...no intent to infringe...mailing error."

BUSINESS OWNERS BE AWARE!!!

Dear Board of Directors:
It has come to the attention of this Board of Directors that your fund raising letter has been mailed to areas within the first due territory of Southern Rescue Squad. This is an unacceptable practice which may impair our fundraising ability in that area. We request that this practice be stopped immediately.
Your prompt response would be appreciated.

Dear President Betz,

We are in receipt of your letter dated April 25, 2000 concerning our 2000 fund drive letter. We offer our sincerest apologizes if our letter reached persons living in the Southern Garrett first due response territory, we certainly had no intent to infringe on your area. Again we request that you limit your fund raising to the areas you serve. In March and April you mailed membership letters to residents in Deer Park and Swanton. On April 25th, 2000 we asked that this practice be stopped immediately. Your written response clearly stated "...sincerest apologies...no intent to infringe...mailing error". Your persistent mailing into the Oakland area shows that your apologies are worthless.

Year 2000

Dear Sir or Madam,

LIVES DEPEND ON YOU ! Please Read this letter in its entirety.....

Your business and the service you provide are important to the citizens of the community, as are the citizens to the survival of your business. We too are important to the citizens of our community. Tri-Towns Emergency Medical Services is a group of dedicated VOLUNTEERS who have responded to emergencies in the communities of Barton, Bloomington, Luke, Piedmont, Westernport and the surrounding area for 25 years. We are proud of our heritage. As those who served before us, we have maintained a "Cutting Edge" mentality. Ensuring our citizens the best possible chance of survival in an unexpected medical emergency, or traumatic accident. Again, we are maintaining the cutting edge; we are upgrading our ambulances to better serve the citizens. We sponsor hoagie sales, sell raffle tickets and perform other fund raising activities, unfortunately, these fund raisers result in low income, and are very labor intensive. This year, Tri-Towns is on a pace to respond to some 1,200 calls for help. Each call takes an average of 2.5 hours to complete, usually requiring at least a three-person crew. In addition, our EMT's and Paramedics must attend training to maintain their certification as required by local, state and federal standards. Our fundraisers are important to our survival, but we need our members time when there is a call for help. If our members spend their available time raising funds, they may not be available when an emergency call is received. We have recently taken delivery of two (2) new ambulances at a cost of $300,000.00. We have to make, and sell a heck of allot of hoagies to pay this bill, and we will work to raise the needed money. You can help us now ! We are asking you to consider this opportunity to give something back to the community that supports you everyday. You can make a donation supporting the Volunteers, relieving our Emergency Medical Technicians and Paramedics of some of the fund raising burden, enabling them to devote more time to saving lives. We understand you have to make a living too. Any contribution you are able to give will be most helpful, and of course greatly appreciated.

Our service is only as good as the tools we have to apply our skills and knowledge. Lives are at stake and YOU have the ability to make a difference. Please send your contribution to the above address, in care of the "New Ambulance Committee". We, will ensure every donation is properly recognized and an appropriate thank you published publicly. Thanks for making Tri-Towns EMS a recipient of your kindness, and compassion.

Sincerely yours. Volunteering for our community.

Your friends, neighbors and relatives of the Tri-Towns Emergency Medical Services

GCC Netters Sweep Two, Swept Thrice Themselves

The Laker volleyball squad of Garrett Community College unleashed straight-set sweeps of Howard and Penn State-Mt. Alto this week, but in turn suffered straight-set defeats at the hands of Frederick, Southern Maryland, and arch-rival Allegany. The loss on the Trojans' home floor was a particularly hard-fought affair, for although the Lakers took a beating in the first set, they bounced back to almost take the next two. The week's action gives Garrett an overall 6-4 record.

The week began with a visit to Hood College, where GCC fell in straight sets to Frederick by scores of 15-2, 15-5, and 15-6. The freshman duo of Mimi Harvey and Lauren Stillwagon scored eight and seven points, respectively, and Stillwagon went a perfect 7-for-7 with one ace. Sophomore Jessica Saturday was 13-for-15 on attacks with five kills, and classmate Crystal Kimble had five assists on 21 sets while Kimble had six assists on 21 sets.

Saturday in Columbia, GCC swept Howard by scores of 15-12, 15-5, and 15-9. Sophomore Melissa McKeever paced the victory by going 18-for-18 from the service line for 13 points and four aces. Harvey was 10-for-11 on serves, 5-for-5 on attacks with three kills, and Kimble had one ace in going 21-for-25 on sets with seven assists. Stillwagon had a pair of aces and converted 12 of 18 sets for assists, while sophomore Tameka Graves went 14-for-25 on attacks with 10 kills. Sophomore Mia Leone tallied four kills.

The Lakers other outing on Saturday resulted in a pair of losses to Southern Maryland by scores of 15-4 and 15-9. Kimble went 6-for-6 on serves and 17-for-20 on sets. Graves went 10-for-15 on the attack with a pair of kills.

Garrett traveled to Cumberland Tuesday for a triangular at Allegany. The Lakers were downed by their Trojan hosts in straight sets, 15-7, 15-11, and 16-14. Kimble was 16-for-18 on serve with two aces, 50-for-60 on sets with 18 assists, and notched three kills. Saturday was 20-for-24 on the attack with 13 kills, and stymied the Trojans at the net with three blocks. Graves turned in a 20-for-27 performance on attack with 10 kills.

GCC rebounded to sweep Penn State-Mt. Alto in 15-6, 22-20 sets. Kimble converted 52 of 60 sets and had 16 assists, while Saturday was 20-for-21 on attack with eight kills. Leone had 12 service points, Graves had 10 kills, Stillwagon tallied seven assists before a crowd that included some of her former classmates from Allegany High, and Harvey notched six kills.

Garrett's published slate shows another busy week of travel ahead for the Lakers. GCC is slated to visit Prince George's tomorrow, Southern Maryland Saturday, and Westmoreland (Pa.) Monday, where the squad will take part in a triangular that will include Penn State-McKeesport. The Lakers travel to CCAC-Boyce on Wednesday, for a three-way that will include Penn State-McKeesport once again.

Southern Netters Downed By Beall, Westmar Wildcats

A tough week of volleyball action has passed for the Southern High School varsity squad. The Rams dropped a heart-breaking five-game marathon at Beall Monday night, then won their first game at Westmar last night before falling to the Wildcats over the next three straight battles. The action gives SHS a 2-5 record (0-5 in the WMIL), and the Rams will be idle until Wednesday evening when they are slated to host Bishop Walsh in Oakland.

Southern took the early lead Monday by claiming a 15-13 opening match victory, but Beall roared back to take the second contest by a 15-3 margin. SHS struck back in turn by taking the third game, 15-13, but Beall rebounded with a 15-10 victory in game four. The final game was as close as it could get, and the Mountaineers took it in a nail-biting finish by a final tally of 17-15.

Laura Johnson scored 14 points and tallied eight kills for the Rams, and Heather Boyce had five kills. Beall's Sarah Dotson had a big night, accumulating 25 service points, 21 attacks, and 10 kills.

Southern's junior varsity squad crushed the Mountaineer hosts during its match-up, rolling up scores of 15-2 and 15-8. Brianna Byers led the way with nine points, while Beall's Laura McKenzie scored six points.

Last night's battle in Lonaconing appeared to be unfolding in much the same way at the beginning. The Rams struck first with a 15-13 win, and the Wildcats answered with a 15-5 victory. The similarities ended there, however, for the tide had turned for good and SHS went on to fall by 15-10 and 17-15 margins.

Aimee Parrack scored seven service points for Southern, while Johnson and Holly Harris tallied seven kills. Kristen Rollman contributed seven assists. Westmar's Krissy Bever amassed 17 service points and three kills, while teammate Stacey Langham had 13 points, six kills, and three aces.

Just as at Beall, Southern's jayvee players faired better than their elder Rams. SHS won both contests, 15-11 and 15-2, as Stephanie Niner accumulated six service points as opposed to seven points for the Wildcats' Katie Harvey.

Husky Netters Split Contests With BW, Beall

The Northern High School varsity volleyball team got off on the right foot this week, sweeping host Bishop Walsh in three straight Monday evening, but last night's home contest against Beall resulted in a 3-1 Husky defeat. NHS's record is at 3-4 (1-3 WMIL) going into a match-up tonight when Fort Hill visits the Igloo in Accident.

The Huskies took no prisoners Monday, as they mounted 15-5, 15-6, and 15-11 victories. Nicole Sisler and Malia Collins led the way as each NHS netter scored 11 points, while Sisler added four aces and three kills and Collins also contributed three aces and three kills. Colleen O'Rourke's eight points led the hosts.

NHS also swept the junior varsity contest in a 15-1, 15-8 rout. Jodi Frantz tallied nine points for Northern, and teammate Molly Wolf added five points and three aces.

Last night on their homecourt, the Huskies fell prey to the Mountaineers in the first two games, 15-10 and 15-1, but rebounded to take the third outing by a wide margin, 15-7. Beall snapped back with a 15-1 win to take the fourth game and the match victory.

Heather Lander's four points paced Northern, along with three kills each supplied by Collins and Charlotte Flockhart. Ashley Lease paced Beall with 19 attacks and three kills.

NHS's jayvees won their first match, 15-10, but dropped the next pair by scores of 15-11 and 15-8, to make their overall record 5-2 on the year. Frantz had seven points for Northern, and Amber Corwell had the same tally for the guests.

Following tonight's tangle with the Sentinels in Accident (6 p.m. JV and 7 p.m. varsity starts), the Huskies are slated to travel to Hyndman, Pa., for a Monday night match-up with the Hornets.

youth the DJJ is serving and their peer groups back home. It provides a change in their whole environment, and that unfamiliarity can be helpful because it makes them start anew and get out of old ways of dealing with problems. New ways of looking at life could help get them into new patterns of behavior."

Herman indicated that he hoped the new program would lead to new job opportunities here in the county. "This could strengthen Garrett County and western Maryland as a venue for additional DJJ facilities and therefore more state jobs becoming available here. These are good jobs, with state pay, benefits, and retirement."

Math Dept. Trip

Math department chairperson Dr. Nancy Priselac gave a presentation on a recent trip to Japan, where she led a small GCC delegation that participated in the weeklong ninth International Conference on Mathematics and Education (ICME). The Garrett group presented a program titled "A Multimedia Enhanced Mathematics Program," which focused on incorporating all five senses in learning via the use of technology.

Over 50 nations were represented at the event, which took place in the Tokyo area, and over 200 participants were in attendance; among those were Priselac, GCC math faculty member Mary Downton, and GCC math student Angela Sessa. Garrett has already been invited to make a presentation at the 10th annual ICME, slated for 2002 in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Enrollment Report

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, presented the fall enrollment report. "We're very pleased that our enrollment figures are holding steady while most other colleges are experiencing a decline in enrollment," she commented.

As of last week the 2000 head count stood at 691 students, while last year's figure at the same time stood at 686. The current FTE figure stood at 242.93, while last year's FTE was 242.55. Herman noted the publicity efforts of Joan Crawford in recruiting new students for the college.

Financial Report

Herman presented the financial report, which as of Aug. 31 reflected that the college had committed 16.4 percent of its 2001 fiscal year budget. Even spending would be 16.7 percent of the budget. The operating cash forecast is extremely strong. Cash flow is projected through June at a $171,009 ending cash amount in the college's favor.

GIEC Project

Herman reported that the Garrett Information Enterprise Center project would be going out for re-bid in early October, and he said he hoped that a ground-breaking could take place in the spring.

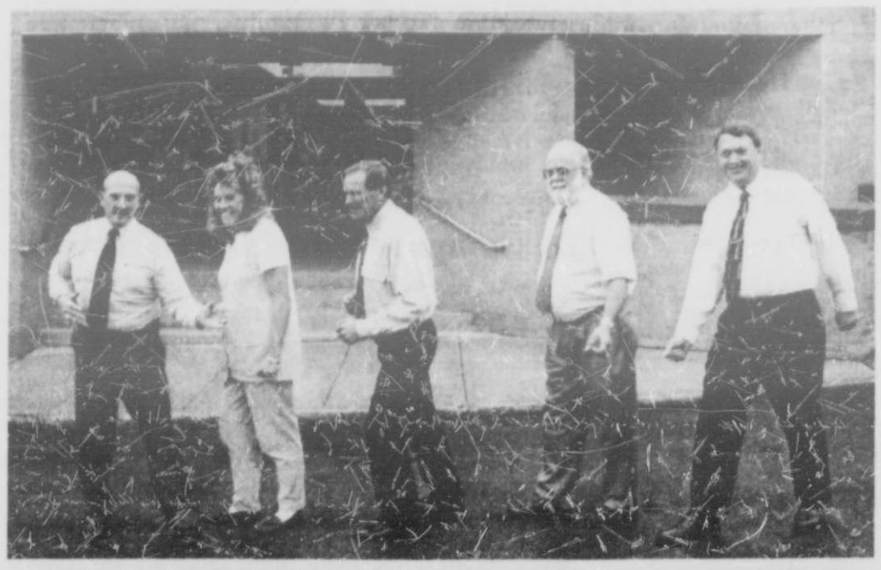
Garrett Community Concert Band of GCC

Over 600 persons attended the first performance of the Garrett Community Concert Band of GCC, Herman said. "It's wonderful that the band is under our banner, just as the GCC Pipes and Drums have been for years," the college president said. "This gives our music program more exposure, and we hope it can expand as it becomes more dynamic. The community loves music, and has a lot of talent that our residents are willing to share."

Herman saluted the efforts of Jerry McGee, who has agreed to lead and direct the new band. The next performance will be Sunday, Oct. 15, at the college auditorium.

Next Meeting

The next meeting of the GCC board of trustees is slated for Tuesday, Oct. 17.



PUTTING A HEALTHY FOOT FORWARD - The benefits of walking are widely recognized by health professionals and laymen alike. A regular brisk walk has been recommended to control weight, strengthen lungs, and improve heart function. Garrett County's public officials have been marching to that healthy beat and will continue to do so, they say. In the photo, stepping along in style are, from left, county commissioner Ernie Gregg, Garrett County Health Department dietician Amy Ritchie, commissioners Wendell Beitzel and Fred Holliday, and county health officer Rodney Glotfelty. Ritchie, who coordinates the health department's Walk-A-Weigh program, signed Gregg and Beitzel up this week as participants. Holliday has been taking part in the Walk-A-Weigh program, which awards "heart" patches as "milestones" to be displayed on a special sweatshirt earned for the first 25 miles covered. "Fred Holliday is one of our success stories. He's up at 5 a.m. each morning and walks 2-2½ miles. He's modified his eating habits and lost 22 pounds," Ritchie pointed out. Glotfelty also has paced his way to better health, lower weight, and a stronger heart, she added. "Rodney was the second male to finish last year in the Lions Club Autumn Glory 5K Run/2 Mile Walk," Ritchie said. This event will be sponsored again this year by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Clubs on October 14. Photo by John McEwen

Nursing Home Residents' Rights Marked Oct. 1-7

The inherent dignity of nursing home residents will be affirmed by family members, facility staff, ombudsmen, and advocates who will mark National Residents' Rights Week, October 1-7. This week is designated as a time to reflect on the unique quality of the individuals who live in long term care facilities, their personal histories, their preferences, and what each person needs to enhance the quality of his or her life.

This 20th recognition of Residents' Rights Week will focus on communication as central to the human experience. "Through communication we learn about others and ourselves. We learn what is important to one another. We affirm each other's existence and we transmit necessary information," said June Heselbach, ombudsman for the Area Agency on Aging.

Communication, Heselbach noted, is "essential" to maintaining the rights of all people and is "critical" to the more than 2½ million people who live in long-term care facilities. "Communication plays a crucial role for residents on many levels. Residents' rights can be affirmed only if the residents, their families, friends, and the staff who care for them know what those rights are and why they are important," Heselbach said.

The care plan developed will meet a resident's needs only if there is ample opportunity for all parties to interact and communicate clearly with one another, Heselbach pointed out. She also spoke of the need for nursing home staff to listen to the concerns of those who voice complaints.

"Many of the rights guaranteed to residents involve communication and should be emphasized," Heselbach stated.

Residents' rights include:

the right to participate in planning care and treatment;

the right to receive services which accommodate individual needs and preferences;

the right to send and receive mail unopened;

the right to communicate freely and privately with visitors;

the right to have access to a telephone for private conversations; and the right to participate in groups of choice.

"During this time we reaffirm that the basic human rights of all residents of long-term care facilities cannot be compromised, and that residents deserve the highest quality of life possible. Residents' Rights week is also a time to honor the family members, staff, advocates, and residents themselves who work to promote and ensure these rights," Heselbach concluded.

For more information, persons may contact Heselbach at 301-334-9431, ext. 142.

Lasik Eye Surgery Examined By Fed. Trade Commission

Lasik, one of the newest procedures for vision correction, is surgery to a very delicate part of the eye. Hundreds of thousands of people have reportedly had Lasik, which in most cases has been very successful. But the procedure is not appropriate for everyone, according representatives of the Federal Trade Commission and the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

Spokesmen from these groups released a report recently advising that a person get a "clear picture of what one can expect" before signing up for the procedure. Before one can weigh the risks and rewards of Lasik, the FTC lists the following things a person should know:

- One should be at least 18 years old and in good health.
- One should not be pregnant or nursing.
- One should not be taking certain prescription drugs, such as Accutane or oral prednisone.
- One's eyes must be healthy and onee's prescription stable.

A spokesman for the FTC also warns that a person undergoing the surgery, may not get the "perfect vision" that he or she was hoping for. "That's because 20/20 does not always mean perfect vision. And if you have Lasik to correct your distance vision, you'll still need reading glasses when you're around age 45," he stated.

A person may also need to return for additional surgery, called "enhancements," to fine-tune his or her vision. "Remember that Lasik is too new to know if there are any long-term ill effects beyond five years after surgery and the procedure cannot be reversed," he concluded.

Cooking School Slated For Folks With Diabetes

People with diabetes in Garrett County will have a chance to learn how to prepare "good-tasting and healthy" foods at the new "Dining with Diabetes" information and cooking school, sponsored by the Maryland Cooperative Extension, Community Action Area Agency on Aging, and Head Start programs.

People with diabetes, as well as their family members or caretakers, are encouraged to attend the classes which will be held every Tuesday beginning October 3, 6-8 p.m. at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland. The classes are free but spaces are limited, so interested persons are advised to enroll by calling 301-334-6960 by September 29.

According to the National Diabetes Information Clearinghouse, diabetes is a common but serious and costly disease in the United States. Currently, 10.3 million people are diagnosed with the disease, and 798,000 new cases are diagnosed per year. It is estimated that 15.7 million people or 5.9 percent of the population have diabetes.

"Diabetes poses a major public health problem, but much of the health and economic burden of the disease can be prevented with early diagnosis and proper care. Dining with Diabetes is aimed at helping Garrett County families lead more healthy and productive lives," a program spokesperson said.

"Safe Return" Helps To Deal With Alzheimer's

Through a grant received by the Alzheimer's Association, some families in Garrett County who are in need of financial assistance to enroll a relative with Alzheimer's disease in the Safe Return Program may be able to get help in paying the $40 lifetime registration fee.

From now until December 31, limited grant funds will be available to enroll in Safe Return Garrett County residents with Alzheimer's disease whose gross income is not more than $29,744 (150% of the state of Maryland median income.)

The Alzheimer's Association's Safe Return Program provides personalized identification bracelets and other identification materials and stores a person's contact information in an national computerized database. The program enables police, community service agencies and private citizens to identify people with Alzheimer's disease who have wandered and help them return home.

Nearly 60% of people with Alzheimer's disease will wander at some point during the course of their illness. They may be searching for someone or something familiar, such as a friend or where they once lived or worked. They may need something, such as food, water, a bathroom, or companionship, but be unable to communicate their needs.

Individuals with Alzheimer's disease are at increased risk for harm when they wander because of adverse weather conditions, heavy traffic and people who prey on the helpless. Some have died from exposure only a short distance from their own doorsteps.

Ninety-eight percent of the individuals who wander away from home but are registered in the Safe Return program are found and reunited with their families within 48 hours. The safe return rate drops to 43 percent among those who are not registered in the program.

To inquire about financial assistance to register a person in the Safe Return Program or to learn more about how to prevent or reduce the likelihood of wandering, persons may call the Alzheimer's Association, Western Maryland Chapter, at 1-800-696-6830 or visit the web site at www.alzwmd.org

•The council reviewed an issue tabled last month. It had been requested that the town become trustee for the Hamill Cemetery. The council voted not to do so, in part because the cemetery lies outside the town limits.

•The culvert leading to the mill race in the park has been opened. The Army Corps of Engineers will run a transit to determine elevation.

•There was discussion of the recent dinner for the Maryland Municipal League, which was held in the community park. The event was designated a success by the mayor and council.

•A 25 cu. ft. refrigerator has been ordered for the community building.

•Treat or treat night will be October 27, 6-8 p.m.

•The town clerk was asked to gather information on making a Kitzmiller flag with the town insignia on it.

The next town meeting will be Monday, Oct. 30.

MTN. LAKE PARK

The town meeting was held Wednesday, Sept. 27.

•The council adopted and approved and adult use ordinance for the town.

•Glenn Tolbert updated the council on what he is doing regarding zoning problems and contacting residents.

•The mayor and council discussed a couple of town lots and will have some surveying done.

•The council talked about a zoning hearing scheduled on Oct. 12 regarding a request from a resident to have apartments in her house.

•The town has purchased the machinery to be used for storm work.

•There was discussion of ways to insulate and improve the town buildings and several changes to be made in the garage.

•The mayor has asked the town attorney to draft a sidewalk ordinance.

•A report was given by Karen Wooddell on the Mtn. Lake Park walking tour and Autumn Glory-related activities. Work continues on the ticket house.

The next town meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 10.

HISTORY COMES TO LIFE each year for visitors to the Springs Folk Festival in nearby Springs, Pa. This 43rd annual event is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6-7, at the Springs Fairgrounds. The festival will include tastes of Pennsylvania Dutch cooking and mountain melodies played on dulcimers. Skills and craft will be demonstrated, such as log-splitting by Harry Doerr (above). New this year will be fly-tying techniques presented by David Welling, who said he took up this hobby to fill cold winter afternoons when he is thinking about nicer weather and being outdoors fishing. The Springs Folk Festival is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The cost is $5 for adults, $2 for children 6-18, and free for children 5 and under.

NGCRS Slates Open House, Block Parties

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad will be hosting its annual open house and block parties, with the second to be held this Saturday, Sept. 30, at the Accident station (fire hall pavilion).

The open house with tours and many demonstrations will begin at 1:30 p.m. Demonstrations and information will be provided for the following: glucometer testing (blood sugar level) with diabetes brochures; blood pressure screenings; breast cancer self-exam demo; tuberculosis information; cardiac monitoring; automated external defibrillator and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (PR); thumper (mechanical CPR) demo; children's demos; ambulance rides and tours; poster coloring and display; and free handouts.

The event is open to all within the service area, as a "thank-you" to the community for its ongoing support toward the rescue squad in accomplishing its mission.

A community picnic meal will begin at 3:30 p.m., followed by entertainment provided by the band Country Express. A flyer about the block parties is being distributed throughout the elementary schools in each respective area. Parents are encouraged to bring their children to learn about the rescue squad, and to become familiar with some of the equipment should its use become necessary. Door prizes will be given.

A third block party is also scheduled for the Friendsville area on October 21. This will be held at the Friendsville fire hall, and radio personality Carson Yoder will provide the entertainment.

For more information, persons may call Pat Bowser at 301-746-5576.

CHURCH REDEDICATION SET — Underwood United Brethren Church will mark 125 years of ministry this Sunday, Oct. 1, when the public is invited to join with church members for a rededication of the church building. Among the special activities will be a gospel music performance by the Willing Servants of Shippensburg, Pa., who are shown above. The day's activities will get under way at 10 a.m. with Sunday school, followed by the morning worship one hour later. A carry-in fellowship meal will begin at 1 p.m., and will be followed at 2:30 p.m. by the Willing Servants performance. (There is no charge for the concert, although a free will offering will be collected.) The day will conclude with the church rededication service, slated for 3:30 p.m. After the church's founding members had been meeting for two years in another location, they dedicated their first home church in 1875. That structure was used until 1937, when it was torn down and the church shown above was constructed and worship began there, which continues to this day under current pastor Rev. David Kisamore. Persons may call the church at 301-334-2950 for further information.

GCC Trustees Discuss New Initiatives During Fall Semester's First Meeting

The Garrett Community College board of trustees discussed a variety of topics during its first meeting of the fall semester recently. The meeting marked the first gathering of the group since a July session at the Savage River Lodge.

Estonians Welcomed

The new Estonian students and their Garrett County host families were in attendance at the closed session of the recent meeting, which included a dinner prepared by the culinary staff of the college. During the open session, board chairman Doug Sites reported that "the host families are very enthusiastic, and the students are very appreciative of all that the college and the community is doing for them."

Among a spate of recent activities that welcomed the group of new students was a picnic that took place in Grantsville. Seventy-nine people were on hand, and among the group were Mayors Gerry Beachy of Grantsville, Asa McCain of Oakland, and John Bambacus of Frostburg, along with Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards.

"The picnic was a great success," board member Sue Beachy remarked. "A lot of people played a part in making it happen, and Lions Club member Rich Towers should be especially commended." Sites added that "the Grantsville Town Park is an excellently maintained facility—the Program Open Space funds that were utilized for the park were dollars well spent. We're very grateful to the town of Grantsville for all they did for us and our new students."

There is a need for host families for the spring semester, GCC president Dr. Steve Herman told the trustees. "We've had 20 serious inquiries from Estonia for the spring semester, and we will accept a maximum of six new students. We do need host families."

Persons who wish further information on hosting an Estonian studend or any visiting international student may contact Darlene Reed of the college's Global Education Center at 301-387-3010.

Juvenile Justice Program

Earlier in the same day as the trustees' meeting, GCC's new Juvenile Justice Program was unveiled during a public relations event at the college. "We have a surprising amount of 17 new students enrolled in program, most of whom are from the immediate Garrett County area," Herman stated. "As the program continues to grow, we expect to attract a good number of students from across the state, as all Maryland residents are eligible for the in-county tuition rate through this unique offering.

"The program is highly distinctive. We utilized professionals in the field who volunteered their time to help us identify those skills and knowledge needed by successful juvenile justice practitioners. We took that information and molded our curriculum around it, so we are confident that our program meets the real-life needs of persons working with adolescents in the DJJ system."

"The value of this program for at-risk youth is that youth centers located in Garrett County put distance between many of the

Three Injured In Fingerboard Road Mishap

A two-vehicle collision along Fingerboard Road Saturday evening resulted in injuries to both drivers and a passenger, as well as charges against an Oakland man, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Jamie Dee Stanton, 18, was traveling east along Fingerboard Road at 1:46 p.m. when his 1996 Isuzu Rodeo struck a 1986 Ford truck operated by Roger Dean Pannell, 54, Oakland. Pannell was reportedly attempting to turn into a private drive when Stanton's Isuzu struck his truck.

Both Stanton and Pannell were injured, as was a 16-year-old passenger in the Isuzu who was reportedly ejected from the vehicle. All three parties were transported by the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital. Pannell and the juvenile were both treated and released, while Stanton was released "against medical advice," according to Emergency Room staff.

Sheriff's deputies charged Stanton with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

An accident in the Deer Park area on Monday, Sept. 18, injured both drivers, one of whom was charged by sheriff's deputies.

Paula Marie Glotfelty, 20, Oakland, was traveling southbound along Sand Flat Road at 7:43 a.m. in her 1988 Oldsmobile Cutlass when she entered the intersection at Maryland Highway. She reportedly did not see an oncoming 1996 Dodge Stratus in the westbound lane of the highway, operated by Heidi Lynn Mason, 42, Swanton.

The resulting collision injured both Glotfelty and Mason, each of whom were transported by Southern Rescue to Garrett Memorial, where they were treated and released. The Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department also had responded to the scene.

Glotfelty was charged with failure to stop and yield to oncoming traffic.

URBAN LEGENDS: FINAL CUT

Rated R - Running Time: 1:40 - Released 9/22/00

Although the producers of Urban Legends: Final Cut seem to be passing it off as a quasi-sequel to their 1998 horror film Urban Legend, I get the impression that they're just trying to capitalize on name recognition by recycling their previous title and grafting it onto a separate vehicle. Apart from one returning minor character and a few cursory references, there is no correlation between the two. Unless you want to count the fact that they're both really, really bad.

While the 1998 film was a clever concept given a mediocre-at-best treatment (a serial killer who bases all of his crimes on urban legends), Final Cut simply uses the idea as a sidebar to a standard slasher plot. Written by newcomers Paul Harris Boardman and Scott Derrickson and directed by composer/editor John Ottman on his freshman outing behind the camera, Final Cut takes place at the prestigious Orson Welles Film School, where film student Amy Mayfield (Jennifer Morrison) is planning to produce a movie like Urban Legend for her thesis project. At the academy, the "Hitchcock Award" is given to the top production each year, and with it comes a $15,000 stipend and a shot at the big time. Since many former students at the school have gone on to successful careers after winning the coveted award, it sparks great competition between Amy and her classmates Toby (Anson Mount), Graham (Joseph Lawrence), and Travis (Matthew Davis), who's considered the favorite.

When Amy begins production, the students participating in her project begin dropping like flies. Her lead actress (Jessica Cauffiel), her director of photography (Marco Hofschneider), and her special effects guys (Anthony Anderson and Michael Bacall) all enjoy the sweet release of death before she gets the idea that her whole production crew, including herself, is scheduled to go down. As usual, we are treated to numerous sinister camera angles and lame plot contrivances to suggest the guilt of just about everyone in the movie, including all of Amy's award competition and even the campus cop (Loretta Devine). For those who enjoy playing the guessing game, I will not reveal who the fencing-masked killer is; besides, the answer is far too absurd to discuss.

This film starts with a horror scene on board a jet liner, featuring some truly malodorous acting; we then discover that it is only a filming project in process and the acting is bad "on purpose." I presume this intentionally schlocky start is director Ottman's attempt to make the rest of the film look good by comparison; however, it serves only to give us a sample of the bad acting that is to follow. One particularly stupid plot element is the appearance of a slain character's long lost brother (played by the same actor, of course), whom no one knew existed, but who instantly joins up with the gang, trying to help solve the murders, looking the same, acting the same, and even shaving the same as his dead sib. You know the writers are running out of ideas when the forgotten twin shows up.

On the plus side, director Ottman has included numerous shots of the college rowing teams practicing (the film was reportedly shot at Trent University in Ontario, Canada), which has nothing to do with the plot, but provides a nice scenic break from the otherwise idiotic proceedings. Also, there is a rather interesting action sequence set inside a coal mine-like amusement park ride, with little plastic miners leering ominously at those trapped inside while the killer abounds. Clever, but not nearly enough. ★½

CROUPIER

Rated R - Running Time: 1:34 - Released 4/21/00
(Original release: 6/25/98)

Only during this time of year, during the late summer dead period, could a mediocre two-year-old movie be re-released and look good among its competition. Croupier, written by Paul Mayersberg and directed by Mike Hodges, is a depressing but well-acted account of an author who researches his topic by getting a job as a croupier (or casino dealer). Hodges's film is dark and brooding, and delivered in novel form, with a constant literary-style narration by its star (Clive Owen), revealing the dark side of life behind the gambling tables.

In Mayersberg's story, Jack Manfred (Owen) wants to be an author, but is having trouble with writer's block. Through his father's (Nicholas Ball) connections, he grudgingly accepts a position behind the blackjack table at the Golden Lion, a London casino. He had done this before when he lived in South Africa, but had sworn not to get involved again. It seems Jack has a problem: he never gambles himself, but is addicted to seeing people lose. Through his narration, we learn that he is fascinated by how many people are willing to ignore the odds and play until they are broke. So his new job provides him with his story. His main character is a croupier named Jake, and he recounts, chapter by chapter, the people and things he experiences in his job. Trouble is, he gets hooked again — and this time, he gets in deeper than he ever intended.

While it features a tense plot and some good performances, Croupier is too dark for its own good. Like the 1998 Matt Damon film Rounders, this film shows us a character who loves what he's doing but doesn't give us enough explanation as to why. Jack's world is positioned so deeply in society's dark underbelly it is unfathomable why he would be so attracted to it, especially when his lover (Gina McKee) is willing to support him until his book is published. The reason could be explained somehow, but neither Mayersberg's script nor Hodges's direction really does the job, and Owen's deadpan style, intended to portray him as the emotionless dealer he is, doesn't help either. The idea is that after accepting the job and starting his novel, Jack "becomes" Jake, and while the former has a strict rule against gambling, his alter ego and main character gets sucked in. Soon he is sleeping with one of his regular customers (Alex Kingston), which is against company rules, and she asks him to participate in a planned cheating operation to pay off her huge debt and save her life. To help her would require ignoring the odds.

Despite my problems with the dark tone and depressing nature of this film, I must admit that there is good work done by Owen, McKee, and Kingston, not to mention several other actors in smaller roles. ★★★½

Oakland Update

by Mayor Asa McCain

Mark your calendars for the official grand re-opening of the train station scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 7, at 7 p.m. You'll have a chance to see what all the activity in our historic structure has been all about, and you'll have a chance to meet "President and Mrs. Lincoln" who were close friends of John Garrett, the railroad magnate after whom our county was named. The Lincolns will be portrayed by professional re-enactors Fritz Klein and Joyce Browning.

And while the Lincolns are in town you can attend a "Tea with Mrs. Lincoln" on Sunday, Oct. 8, 2-4 p.m. in the Good Shepherd Room of St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Tickets are on sale for $3 at the church office. The menu will consist of sandwiches, tea, President Lincoln cake, mints, fruit, and ham biscuits. Tea will be served from 2 to 3 p.m. Following the tea, "Mrs Lincoln" will present a program on the life of Mary Todd Lincoln.

Volunteers are being asked to bring shovels and gloves to help Eagle Scout applicant Brian Crabtree plant trees around town. Anyone wishing to help should meet in the town parking lot at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 30, and Sunday, Oct. 1. Brian is working closely with the Department of Natural Resources to ensure that the right species of trees are planted correctly. Any help on the project in the form of labor would be greatly appreciated.

We're also looking for volunteers to act as hosts and hostesses at the train station Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Sundays from noon until 2 p.m. beginning the weekend of October 7 and going through to the New Year. If you'd like to help out on one or more of these dates and will attend a training session to learn all you'll need to know about the train station, call City Hall at 301-334-2691.

Part of the Autumn Glory celebration that you may not want to miss is the bus ride up to the overlook from the town parking lot on Friday, Oct. 13, between 2 and 6 p.m. at a cost of $1 for children under 12 and $2 for adults, with buses running every 15 minutes. If you haven't seen the view from up on the hill where the tower is located, this is your chance.

We'll have trick or treating along with Mountain Lake Park, Deer Park, and Loch Lynn on Saturday, Oct. 28, 6-8 p.m. Please leave your porch light on to receive trick or treaters. The Oakland/Mountain Lake Park Lions Club's annual Halloween Parade will be held Thursday, Oct. 26. In an effort to keep trick or treat a safe and enjoyable event it will be held the last Saturday of October for every year hereafter in each town. We hope everyone has a safe and happy trick or treat evening.

LIONS' GIFT TO ENHANCE VISION - A closed circuit television magnification system was recently donated to the residents of Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville, by the Lions Clubs of Grantsville, Meyersdale, Pa., Salisbury, Pa., and Confluence, Pa., along with the Regional Eye Center in Oakland. This gift has enabled residents to read and view pictures that they may not have been able to otherwise because of vision problems. The system works by increasing the size of documents to be viewed and then projecting them onto the television screen. Using this devise, residents will be able to see and read newspapers, books, cards, letters, and pictures of loved ones. In the photo above from left are Anthony Lehman, administrator of Goodwill Mennonite Home, Dr. James Jones of the Regional Eye Center, Robert Durst, treasurer of the Salisbury Lions Club, and Jake Horning of the Meyersdale Lions Club. In front are Jim King, the Confluence Lions Club president, Mike McKenzie, Salisbury Lions Club president, and Floyd Dymond, president of the Grantsville Lions Club.

stemmed from a May arrest by deputies in the wake of an alleged domestic altercation.

Dewayne Anthony Holliday, 21, and Carlton Jay Shomo, 18, both of Accident, were each not prosecuted on charges of malicious destruction of property. The pair had been arrested by deputies shortly after a June incident when paintballs were shot at a building in Friendsville.

Ronald Eugene Mitchell Jr., 18, Grantsville, was not prosecuted on charges of disorderly conduct and trespassing that stemmed from his June arrest by deputies. He had allegedly refused to leave a Grantsville property after repeated warnings by the property owner.

Andrew Jay Uhrmacher, 41, was deemed not guilty on two counts of second degree assault, and Jody Lee Emerick, 22, Grantsville, was deemed not guilty of second degree assault. Both of those rulings were handed down by Judge Stakem.

DWIs/DUIs

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) cases were heard in district court recently.

Roman Rudolf Dudok, 28, Texas, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a probation before judgment by Judge Stakem, who also levied a $305 fine and imposed a year of unsupervised probation.

Dwayne Matthew Wakefield, 33, Maryland, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ by Judge Stakem, who also levied a $250 fine and imposed an 18-month probation order.

ROTARY DONATION CROSSES BORDERS — The Oakland Rotary Club provided a donation to Casa de la Mujer, a women's center located in Granada, Nicaragua, that was presented by the Ecumenical Youth Ministry during its recent two-week mission to that Central American nation. Shown from the left in the foreground are Lesbia Ramirez, director of Casa de la Mujer, as she accepts the check from Rev. Chip Lee and EYM chaperon Gloria Salazar; in the background are EYM members Meghan Broderick, Catherine McDonald, Shari Winters, Ronnie Carlisle, and Jamie Bosley; chaperon Jane Nolan; and EYM members Charles Nolan, Jenna Partridge, and A.J. DeLauder. The $300 donation is projected to benefit at least 3,000 women as it is utilized to hire two instructors and provide teaching materials on family planning and health issues.

Bloodmobile Nets 201 Units In Two Visits

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile collected a total of 201 units of blood during two recent visits to Garrett County, with a visit to the American Legion in Oakland on September 1 garnering 122 units, and a September 11 visit to Grantsville resulting in a collection of 79 units.

The Oakland visit, for which there was a quota of 75 units, was held in support of Danny Rumer, retired member of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office staff, who is receiving dialysis treatment and is in need of organ transplantation. A total of 143 persons presented themselves at the visit, but 21 of them had to be deferred for a variety of reasons. There were two first-time donors.

Reaching gallon levels at the visit were: Annette Chapman, Mary Beachy, and Bruce Jachowski, all one gallon; David Peachey, Jo Donaldson, and Judy Bertsch, all two gallons; and Elizabeth Daniels, three gallons.

Local volunteers assisting ARC staff with the visit were: Elizabeth Huxford (site coordinator); David Beard, Artie Dixon, Rosalie Baker, Mary Rodeheaver, Shirley Panther, Rebecca Cogley, Russ McConnell, Barb Sweitzer, Joyce Ridder, Tiddle Wheeler, Connie Coleman, and Junior Ferguson. The canteen was sponsored by the Women's Civic Club of Oakland, Junior Ferguson donated homemade cookies, and the Farmers Market donated fruit and vegetables.

Ninety-three persons responded to the Grantsville visit, 14 of whom were deferred. There were three first-time donors.

Reaching gallon marks were: Mary Yoder, one gallon; Kenneth Buckel, five gallons; Elizabeth Durst and Urie Peachey, six gallons; Marvin Yoder, seven gallons; Marvin Beachy, eight gallons; and Donald Opel, 10 gallons.

Local volunteers assisting with the visit were: Lela Bender, coordinator and greeter; Lila Maust, Lowell Maust, Loretta Morgan, Missy Fazenbaker, Freda Maust, Fannie Beachy, Anna Belle Folk, Ruth Bittinger, and Donna Fiscus.

The next visits of the bloodmobile to Garrett County will be Friday, Oct. 6, at St. Peter's Catholic Church parish hall in Oakland from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Friday, Oct. 20, at the Friendsville fire hall from noon to 6 p.m.

MLP Man Handed Four-Month Term For CDS Offense

A Mtn. Lake Park man was sentenced to four months in the local jail after he pleaded guilty during a recent Garrett County District Court hearing to possession of marijuana, a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

Jonathan Mitchell Jones, 45, was handed a one-year sentence by visiting Judge Paul Stakem, who suspended eight months of that term and also imposed three years' supervised probation. Jones's March arrest by sheriff's deputies followed a traffic stop along Garrett Highway in Accident.

The arresting deputy determined that Jones had handed a bag of marijuana to a passenger in his vehicle as his vehicle was being pulled over. The bag was recovered, and a vehicle search uncovered a quantity of rolling papers between the front seats of the car. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

In other district court news, a Baltimore man who entered a not guilty plea was nonetheless convicted of marijuana possession.

James Uriah Foster III, 52, was handed a 90-day suspended sentence by Judge Ralph Burnett. He had been arrested in May by state troopers who were investigating a complaint of a suspicious man walking along Meyersdale Road north of Grantsville, allegedly looking into houses and parked vehicles. A pipe containing burnt marijuana residue and a packet of rolling papers was found on his person. An additional charge of drug paraphernalia possession was not prosecuted.

Michael Dewayne Thompson, 19, Oakland, pleaded guilty before Judge Stakem to second degree assault and was handed a 30-day sentence, fined $155, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. He had been arrested by deputies in July for assaulting his sister during an argument. Thompson was intoxicated at the time of the assault, according to the charging statement.

Robert Mark Tressler, 40, Friendsville, was not prosecuted on a second degree assault charge that

Correction Noted

The coverage of Garrett County District Court hearings that appeared in the Sept. 14 issue requires a correction. All events regarding the felony theft and destruction of property hearing involving Randy Lee Walters, 18, Oakland, should have referred solely to Walters. Christopher Acheson Beitzel was not involved in that particular hearing, nor the incident that precipitated the hearing, in any way.

Do you sometimes, in spite of yourself, sneak a peek at your reflection as you pass a mirror? Are you perhaps curious as to what others see? That peek may partially answer your questions, but others usually observe us when we are not aware. How do you react to worry...to tragedy? This the true reflection of God in your life.

There are those people who demonstrate a generally jovial attitude. They seem to have a serene countenance, even in the worst of times. They are a true reflection of God as they live love and faith. God's love is perpetuated in their smiles... their eyes.

Worship regularly. Pray often. The Bible tells us we are made in the image of our Creator. May we always be His true reflection.

EVERY PRESCRIPTION IS A "MIRACLE" MEDICINE

When your physician writes a prescription for you, he has selected, from the many thousands of different medicines in our prescription department, the exact one that will help you most. That is why a prescription is usually more beneficial than any over-the-counter medicine.

For, the most important part of any treatment is your physician's ability to diagnose the cause of the trouble. That diagnosis is an extra ingredient which makes each prescription a "Miracle" medicine.

WRONG EXPECTATIONS
Oct. 1, 2000

Background Scripture:
1 Samuel 9:1 through 10:27.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 119:1-8.

There are two different currents running through the Biblical account of Saul becoming the King of Israel. One of them is clearly opposed to the idea of Israel having a king, as in 1 Sam. 8:4-22 and again in 10:17-27, where God is represented as regarding the people's clamor for a king as a rejection of himself. The other point of view is equally favorable to the idea, as in 9:15-17, when God tells Samuel that he has chosen Saul to be king so that "He shall save my people from the hand of the Philistines."

Many Biblical scholars believe that two different written accounts are woven together in these passages with the two points of view remaining unharmonized. Both sources attribute their interpretations as coming from God. In one source, source A, God is favorable to both the monarchy and Saul as king, and in the other, source B, God is negative and accepts the wish of the people with great reluctance. So which of these represents the true will of God?

I believe that perhaps both do and, furthermore, that God may be the source of both, even though they seem to be so in conflict. Often, that is how it is in life: on any issue there may be conflicting perspectives. Many issues are not black-and-white, right-or-wrong. We have to sift through the positives and negatives of various ideas and proposals. Frequently we can see that fault is not always one-sided. Is that the case here?

Pros & Cons

There were definitely positive aspects of having a king to reign over them. The people wanted and needed human leadership. Perhaps judges were sufficient for both spiritual and temporal matters in the days when Israel first arrived in Canaan. But now they wanted a more centralized authority, a kingdom instead of a loose confederation of tribes. There was something to be said for that.

Our country was first governed under the Articles of Confederation, a much more decentralized and weaker form of government than that which replaced it under the Constitution. Americans realized that they would need a centralized government

TV PIPELINE

Former Strangers stars keep busy

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Q: When did Perfect Strangers run, and what have Bronson Pinchot and Mark Linn-Baker done since then? –A.A., Roseville, Mich.

A: Pinchot has been hiding in plain sight since Strangers ended its 1986-93 run on ABC. The actor formerly known as Balki flopped in the sitcoms The Trouble With Larry and Meego (co-starring Jonathan Lipnicki of Jerry Maguire fame); spent a season on Step by Step; and made a bunch of TV movies and features, including It's My Party, The First Wives Club and Quest for Camelot. More recently, the Yale-trained actor returned to the New York stage, where he co-starred with Carol Burnett in Putting It Together and played a thieving troubador in Shakespeare's A Winter's Tale.

In addition to a few movies and TV guest appearances on such shows as Law & Order and Ally McBeal, Linn-Baker likewise has returned to his theater roots. He co-starred with Nathan Lane in the smash Broadway revival of A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum and has a red-hot career as a director as well.

Q: Michael Boatman (Spin City) looks very young in the China Beach reruns on TV Land. How old was he back then? –M. Hood, Colorado Springs, Colo.

A: Boatman was born on Oct. 25, 1964, so he was 23 when Beach premiered in April 1988.

Q: Did the actress who played Shana, Matt's girlfriend on 7th Heaven, use to play Evie on the sitcom Out of This World? –Beverly Waters, Denton, Texas.

A: Yes, Maureen Flannigan, who played Shana, made her TV series debut as Evie Ethel Garland in World.

TUESDAY

IN FOCUS

Even hard-core sports fans will gain a better understanding of baseball and football with The Amazing Science of Sports, a pair of specials airing Tuesday, Oct. 3, on TLC.

Hosted by James Brown, The Perfect Swing features a physics professor explaining the art of slugging. Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa – both known for their record-breaking home run streaks – are also on hand to discuss what a "dinger" is.

In Physics of Football, Baltimore Ravens head coach Brian Billick shows how high-tech tools improve the game.

CIVIC CLUB MAKING PLANS — The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland has a number of irons in the fire as fall approaches, and shown from the left are members Betty Malloy, Nita Roberts, and Jane Hughes as they discuss some of the club's latest projects. Among the tasks at hand are the updating of the forthcoming 2001 edition of the Quick Guide to Garrett County Resources directory; the ongoing preparation of "welcome bags" for new residents; the making of favors and small gifts for local nursing home residents; and continued planning for the annual Autumn Glory Antique Show, slated for Oct. 13-15 at the Oakland National Guard Armory. Once again committee co-chairs Bobby Andersen and Bobbie Henderson will be assisting The Republican with the annual Warm the Children campaign. A new MFWC statewide project will unite the efforts of 74 clubs across the state as volunteers sew and fill "ditty bags" for distribution to residents of Maryland's veterans hospitals and nursing homes. In addition to useful items, each bag will contain a "Thinking of You" card.

Comedienne To Present Show On Alcohol Abuse

Wendi Fox, a nationally acclaimed comic appearing nationwide on her "Alcohol Insanity Tour," will stop at Frostburg State University on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Center Multi-Use Room. Her show is free and open to the public.

For the past eight years, Fox has toured the U.S. as a stand-up comic at colleges and clubs, with appearances on radio and television.

Drawing from her own experience growing up in an alcoholic environment, Fox focuses on why people become alcoholics, the painful family legacies alcoholics create, and ways for those affected to heal themselves.

"I think part of the problem that we have with alcohol and drugs is that we are trying to avoid being human," she says. "We are trying to avoid pain, sadness, and embarrassment, when, in fact, that is a part of evolution."

Fox tries to encourage those hurt by alcoholism to realize that they do indeed have the power to improve their lives and thus "transform a legacy of hurt into one of hope."

The sponsors for this event are the S.A.F.E. Office and BURG. For more information, persons may call the S.A.F.E Office at 301-687-4761.

GETTING AN EARLY START IN COLLEGE - Each year the fifth grade students in Garrett County have the opportunity to spend several days on the campus of Garrett Community College, sampling the courses available to older students. These visits are coordinated through the College and Me program of the Garrett County Board of Education. The first group of students for the 2000-2001 school year to don their College and Me T-shirts and head for GCC were the fifth graders from Broad Ford Elementary School, who were accompanied by their teacher, Virginia Grove. Pam Fike organized the College and Me activities for the Broad Ford students, who took part in a variety of classes, including music, poetry, theater, oil painting, biology, computer technology, and math. Sporting their College and Me T-Shirts, the students are, from left in the front row, Shelly Lee, Carey Rush, Marlena Kelly, Brittany Green, Abbi Smith, and Jordan Steyer. The event opened at 7 p.m. with the singing of a hymn followed by prayer. Lois Shockey of Emmanuel Church then introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Victoria Coleman, who sang "He Touched Me" before talking about her trip to Africa in 1997. Coleman concluded her presentation by singing "The Lord's Prayer."

The business meeting was conducted, which included reading of minutes and roll call. Members of Emmanuel, Mt. Zion, and Jennings churches were in attendance, as were several guests. Antiques
by Ralph and Terry Kovel

Probably the most popular areas of collecting today are pottery and porcelain.

One of the most popular is Roseville pottery. The company opened a plant in Roseville, Ohio, in 1890. It was so successful that they added another plant in Zanesville, Ohio, in 1898. The firm continued making pottery until 1954. Twenty years ago, collectors searched for early wares like the brown glazed pieces that were similar to Rookwood and the hand-decorated sgraffito made about 1906. Collectors now favor the later molded-pottery lines that featured raised flowers. Most patterns were used for vases, jardinieres, planters and, perhaps, matching candlesticks. They were sold to florists and gift shops.

Well-known patterns that picture flowers include Apple Blossom (1948), Bittersweet (1951), Cherry Blossom (1932), Dogwood (1916-1919), Fuchsia (1938), Iris (1939), Magnolia (1943), Sunflower (1930), Water Lily (1943), White Rose (1940) and Wisteria (1937). The patterns are easy to identify because the flowers are realistic. Most pieces are marked with the name Roseville. Be careful, as many copies are being made.

Q: How long have they been making swizzle sticks? I collect them and have some unusual plastic and glass sticks that my father saved.

A: Tradition says the Swizzle Inn in Hamilton, Bermuda, served a tall drink called a "Rum Swizzle." It was served with a wooden stick that was later called a "swizzle stick." Another tradition says the name came from the German word for beating or stirring. The "naming" was about 100 years ago.

Q: My old brush looks like it has an ivory handle. It is marked "Zylonite." When was it made?

A: The American Zylonite Co. was started in 1881 in Adams, Mass. Cylonite was an English plastic-like Celluloid. It was renamed Zylonite when the rights were purchased in the United States. The company made dresser sets, collar and cuff boxes, rattles, piano keys and other products. It was purchased by the Celluloid Manufacturing Co. in 1890.

Paw's Corner
by Samantha Mazzotta

It's October, and with winter approaching, your furry pet may be getting ready for cold weather. Lauren Wagener, of Banfield — The Pet Hospital at PetSmart in Orlando, Fla., has tips on how to handle the transition:

• Shedding is a big factor when seasons change. Brush your pet's coat one to two times every day.

• Pets eat more as the days get cooler, and put on weight against winter's chill. Continue to feed them a balanced diet, but add a bit more to their food dish.

• Give pets their heartworm supplement regularly, and treat for fleas and ticks once a month. Even in winter, there's a risk of exposure to these pests.

• Can't keep your pet off the furniture? Place an inexpensive slipcover or a clean sheet over the sofa or lounge chair to make cleaning shed fur easier.

• Set aside lots of play time! You pet will be inside a lot more now, and always appreciates the attention.

Send your pet tips or questions to Paw's Corner, c/o King Features Syndicate, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, Fla. 32803.

FIREWOOD/FIREPLACE TIPS

Q. This is my first year in a home with a fireplace. When I lit a fire to test it, smoke poured back into the living room even though the damper was open. This is a new house, so I'm sure the chimney is clean. Any insight would be appreciated. — John K., Lithonia, Ga.

A. Your smoke problem may be as simple as a lack of upward air draft. In an unused chimney flue, cold air often settles down near the damper. Since cold air tends to sink while hot air rises, the air in your chimney is pushing downward, reversing the airflow and blasting lighter warm air back into your living room — along with smoke, burning cinders, bits of newspaper and anything else you're trying to burn.

The solution is to warm the air inside the flue BEFORE building a fire, creating an updraft that will draw away smoke and cinders.

Stack the wood and kindling first, then open the damper. Next, roll a couple sheets of newspaper into a tight cone. Light the wide end of the cone and hold it up just inside the flue, moving it from side to side, for about 30 seconds. When the paper is burning brightly and you can see the smoke flowing upwards, the flue is ready. Go ahead and light the fire.

Even though your house is new, I recommend an inspection of the chimney, inside and out, to make sure there are no obstructions or unseen damage. And mark your calendar for a chimney inspection and cleaning late next summer.

• I keep a large paper clamp (the kind used to clip documents together) in my workshop, and use it when sawing large sheets of plywood or paneling. I cut about six inches into the sheet, then put the clamp over the cut. This holds both edges at the same level, and the saw won't bind up as I make the rest of the cut. — Kenneth L., Gatlinburg, Tenn.

• To repair large gouges in furniture, sand an out-of-sight area of the damaged piece and collect the dust in a pie plate. Then, mix the sawdust with white glue and spread the paste into the gouge. The mixture should camouflage the damaged area. — Dan S., Orlando, Fla.

Park Rangers Working Within The Community

Rangers in the State Forest and Park services are working with local communities through the "Ranger at Heart" program. This service directs a portion of outreach efforts toward public relations and the fostering of public-private partnership through this approach.

Each forest and park site has adopted an educational facility, a medical care facility, Special Olympics' projects, or various charities. This involvement within their local communities promotes stewardship of the environment, gains public exposure for rangers and the agency, and helps citizens become more aware of the management and protection of public lands.

The Ranger at Heart program also enables rangers to serve as models for youth, and for park staff to target their energy toward a specific partner.

RANGER RECOGNIZED - Ranger Carole Walker of Deep Creek Lake, who has spent many hours working with Special Olympics projects through the Ranger at Heart program, was recently recognized for her dedication. In the photo above, Chad Brown, director of Special Olympics in Garrett County, presents Walker with a plaque which reads: "Given to the men and women of the 'Ranger at Heart' program for their hours of service and the use of their facilities."

Ranger Carole Walker of Deep Creek State Park was recently recognized by the Special Olympics of Garrett County for her work with that organization. Walker was a bowling coach for the local Special Olympics team and facilitated a training program and recycling programs at Deep Creek State Park, and meetings at the Discovery Center.

In the past, rangers and other state forest and park staff have volunteered hours of service to the local community. In addition to the Special Olympics, other examples include Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Hospice of Garrett County, and educational endeavors, such as the Junior Ranger program. There are also plans for future projects.

The annual Mountain Top College Expo will be held Monday, Oct. 9, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College. This event provides students with a chance to browse possible post-graduate options.

There will be approximately 60 college displays, with persons available to answer questions that the student or parent may have. Also, the armed services will be represented, along with information concerning this possible career choice.

There is also going to be a financial aid workshop to help families take advantage of opportunities to obtain financial assistance. While at the Expo, seniors can register for up to three $500 scholarships.

"The Mountain Top College Expo has often turned out to be just the guiding light that college-bound seniors needed to help get their future off and running," a spokesperson said.

Forest Run At Savage Lodge Benefits Salem

A forest 5K run/walk to benefit the Maryland Salem Children's Trust was held Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 5, at the Savage River Lodge, located along Mt. Aetna Road in the Savage River State Forest. There were 113 runners and walkers who participated in the event, which raised $778 to support Salem's work with children in need.

The proceeds from the event helped Salem to reach its fund-raising goal of $20,000 for the year 2000. Lodge owners Mike Dreisbach and Jan Russell said they were pleased with the turnout and look forward to making this an annual event.

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust — which provides residential, special education, transitional education, and emergency shelter services to children in crisis — has partnered with Savage River Lodge to offer trail rides to guest staying at the lodge.

For more information about Salem, persons may call 301-689-8176.

GAO Says Farmers Not Protected From Anti-competitive Practices

The General Accounting Office (GAO), the investigative arm of Congress, issued a report last week criticizing the U.S. Agriculture Department for not doing enough to protect family farmers from anti-competitive practices of huge agribusinesses, said Iowa Sen. Charles Grassley in a Reuters news interview.

The study prepared by the GAO criticized the USDA's Grain Inspection, Packers and Stockyards Administration for not ensuring small farmers receive fair access to the marketplace at a fair price, Grassley, a Republican, told reporters.

"Independent producers deserve a more vigilant and skillful federal presence on these issues at the USDA and the Justice Department to make sure the farmer—the family farmer—gets fair access to the marketplace at a fair price," he said.

Grassley said he asked the GAO last year to study how effectively USDA has used its authority to protect family farmers from anti-competitive practices in the livestock and meat packing industries.

"I look forward to receiving the GAO report and plan to introduce a bill to require the USDA to fully implement the recommendations within the next year," he said.

Grassley did not elaborate on the GAO findings.

USDA officials said they had not read the report and could not comment. The department has previously said it lacks the authority to take tougher actions against agribusiness concentration.

Farm groups have complained that a series of big mergers during the past two years, including Cargill Inc.'s purchase of the grain unit of its biggest rival, Continental Grain, has hurt growers.

Activist farm groups want a moratorium on all agribusiness mergers.

Earlier this year, lawmakers worked unsuccessfully to pass legislation that would expand USDA authority to prohibit anti-competitive practices throughout agriculture.

IBP Inc., ConAgra Inc., Cargill's Excel unit, and Farmland National Beef control about 80 percent of the U.S. beef market. The same companies, plus Smithfield Foods Inc., control more than half of the pork market.

Separately, the USDA was scheduled to hold an all-day forum in Denver last Thursday about captive supplies in the livestock industry.

Farming In Maryland.....

House Fails To Override Death Tax Veto

Despite a final push from House Republican leaders, Democratic supporters, farmers, and small-business owners, the estate tax lives for another year as the House failed to override President Clinton's veto of legislation ending the punitive tax.

Although "death tax" repeal supporters picked up 11 votes from representatives who were not available to vote on the original bill, 13 Democrats and one Republican changed their votes and sustained the veto.

"It's unfortunate that a plan with such a broad base of support didn't become law," said Pat Wolff, an American Farm Bureau Federation senior director of governmental relations. "Two years ago, not many Democrats would have touched this issue. This year, 65 Democratic representatives voted to end death taxes."

Legislation ending the death tax passed the House June 9, by a vote of 279-136. The Sept. 7 override vote was 274-157 in favor, 14 votes short of the two-thirds majority required.

"Two-thirds of the House did vote to end death taxes, just not on the same day," Wolff said.

House Majority Leader Dick Armey (R-Texas), Reps. J.C. Watts (R-Okla.), Jennifer Dunn (R-Wash.), John Tanner (D-Tenn.), and Neil Abercrombie (D-Hawaii) held a bipartisan press conference before the override vote. Illinois Farm Bureau member Lee Eichhorst also participated and explained why death taxes must die.

"After a lifetime of high input costs and weak commodity prices, these death tax costs are literally the final straw," said Eichhorst.

With a House override, estate taxes would have been reduced by about 15 percent over 10 years, until the tax was completely eliminated in 2010.

Explaining why death taxes hit farmers so hard, AFBF president Bob Stallman urged the House to maintain the work they had done to help ensure farmers will have a legacy to pass on to their children.

"Over 90 percent of U.S. farms are owned by individuals, family partnerships, or family corporations who continually improve their land and buildings with hopes of transferring a successful operation to their sons and daughters," Stallman said. "But when the government comes calling for the cold cash to pay off death taxes, family members are frequently forced to sell the farm, piece by piece."

Armey said before the vote that if representatives failed to override Clinton's veto, Republicans would not be willing to negotiate a scaled-back version.

"We've carried it as far as we can this year," Armey said. "We expect to be back next year. We expect to pass it."

MTBE, Ethanol Bill Unlikely To Move

A key Senate committee approved a bill that would ban methyl tertiary butyl ether (MTBE) and create an alternative fuels program that supporters say could triple the use of ethanol over the next decade. But, Sen. Bob Smith's (R-N.H.) legislation is up against farm-state senators, the oil industry, and time.

While the bill is a boost for the ethanol industry, there are trouble spots, according to Jon Doggett, an American Farm Bureau Federation senior director of governmental relations.

"The bill fails to create a link between ethanol and clean fuels," Doggett said. "In order to increase the nationwide demand for ethanol, its role in reducing air pollution must be recognized."

The measure, passed in an 11-6 vote by the Environment and Public Works Committee on Sept. 7, would phase out MTBE use over four years, allow state governors to waive the federal requirement that reformulated gasoline contain 2 percent oxygen, and mandate that a small but increasing percentage of the nation's fuel come from clean alternative fuels.

When MTBE was linked with contaminated groundwater supplies, Smith and other lawmakers offered legislation that would eliminate the common gasoline additive used to meet Clean Air Act oxygenate requirements. An MTBE phase-out that maintains oxygenate standards would increase demand for ethanol, a corn-derived fuel additive considered the top alternative to MTBE.

In addition to Farm Bureau, farm-state senators, corn growers, and ethanol producers are concerned that the bill does not recognize the role oxygenates, such as ethanol, play in reducing pollution.

"The current RFG (reformulated gasoline) program with oxygen has been a tremendous air quality success," the Renewable Fuels Association said in a statement. "We will continue to work to ensure the legislation will more accurately reflect the air quality benefits of oxygenates and not leave the door open for increased air pollution in our nation's most polluted cities."

The oil industry has denounced the clean fuels program as too pricey.

But Doggett countered that the renewable fuels program will not be costlier for consumers.

"The provision calls for a gradual increase over 12 years for the production of clean alternative fuels, so there won't be any sudden price-hike for ethanol-based gas," Doggett said. "Also, this summer we've seen traditional gas prices jump at an alarming rate in the Midwest, but ethanol prices have remained consistently lower."

An ethanol proponent and member of the Environment and Public Works Committee, Sen. Christopher Bond (R-Mo.) did not support the measure because he said it does not do enough to maintain clean air standards. An additional concern of Bond's is that the bill would allow the Environmental Protection Agency extensive authority to regulate new motor vehicle standards nine years after enactment, a concern Farm Bureau shares.

An additional roadblock to passage of ethanol legislation is the additive's tax-free status, Doggett said.

"Ethanol is exempt from fuel tax and states are concerned that an increase in ethanol use will mean less money to maintain their roads," Doggett said. "But, as we push for more ethanol to be used across the country, we're also seeking legislative provisions to replace that lost revenue."

With the countdown to the final adjournment of the 106th Congress well on its way and numerous spending bills yet to be finalized, passage of Smith's legislation is unlikely.

Sarbanes Spearheading Senate Effort To Help Farmers Recover From Drought

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes has been joined by eight of his Northeast and Mid-Atlantic Senate colleagues in urging the Senate Appropriations Committee to approve an increase in the amount of money family farmers are to receive for their farm commodities.

Last year's drought devastated farmers throughout the country, including those in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic regions. As a result of the low crop yields, the United States Department of Agriculture doubled the amount that farmers could receive in the form of market loss payments, known as loan deficiency payments, from $75,000 to $150,000 for the 1999 crop year only.

For example, with farmers realizing an unreasonably low average of only 85 bushels of corn per acre last year as a result of the drought conditions, the increased USDA loan deficiency payment enabled many farmers to make ends meet after their disastrous crop yields. This year, however, with corn crop yields almost doubling at present, farmers have already reached or will soon reach their $75,000 maximum benefit allowed under current conditions. The senators are asking that Congress approve the $150,000 maximum benefit limit for the year 2000 as well, enabling small family farmers to make ends meet during off years like last year.

"Many producers and agribusiness professionals have expressed concern that the $75,000 limit will prevent producers in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic region from fully recovering their 1999 production losses, especially in light of the continuing trend of decreasing prices," the senators wrote. "With high yields projected for corn and soybeans this year, many producers are expected to hit this limit before the end of their harvest, and some may have already exceeded their limit based on the small grain harvest alone. Restricting farmers to this level, after such a difficult struggle to make ends meet last year, could result in severe long-term harm to the agricultural sectors in our states."

Signing the bipartisan letter spearheaded by Sarbanes were: Senators Arlen Specter (R-Pa.), William Roth Jr. (R-Del.), Barbara Mikulski (D-Md.), Joe Biden (D-Del.), Olympia Snowe (R-Maine), Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), Chuck Robb (D-Va.), and Robert Torricelli (D-N.J.).

FIFTH BEEF CITIZENSHIP AWARD - The Dayton Broadwater Beef Citizenship award was presented for the fifth year at the Garrett County Fair. This award was presented to Rachel Winegardner (left), member of the North Glade 4-H Club, for her participation in beef and beef-related activities and her encouragement to other youth showing beef projects. Seated with Winegardner is Donna Knox, Broadwater family member. Broadwater was a life-long supporter of 4-H and FFA work. His love of beef cattle and agriculture inspired this award for youth at the Garrett County Fair. Winegardner received a certificate, a plaque and a savings bond.

LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS - Each year area youth are awarded Garrett County 4-H/FFA Scholarships by the Garrett County Livestock Association. To be eligible the participants must be active members of the Garrett County 4-H/FFA program; be a graduate of an area high school or equivalent; have been enrolled in a livestock project at least once during 4-H/FFA membership; and have been involved in Livestock Association functions—clean-up, events, fund-raisers, or workshops. This year's winners, pictured from left to right, seated, are: Susan Mayfield, 4th; Stacy Glover, 3rd; Brian Barnard, 2nd; standing, Melissa Upole, 2000 Garrett County Farm Queen; Diana Mayfield, award recipient; Sarah Green, award recipient; and Marcella Moreland, 1st. Catherine Donaldson, award recipient, is not pictured.

Nutrient Management Field Day

The Maryland Water Quality Act of 1998 is now law requiring almost all farmers to develop a nutrient management plan for their farming operation. There are several procedures and skills needed to organize and write a nutrient management plan. As part of the training we are offering an educational event on October 13, 2000 starting at 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Western Maryland 4-H Center near Bittinger.

The intent of the program is to teach the procedures and skills in determining the Phosphorus Index of any given parcel of land. As part of the law, phosphorus will be considered one of the limiting nutrients controlling the application of animal wastes and chemical fertilizers. The amount of phosphorus that can be applied to a crop will be determined by the index level.

Lunch will be provided and reservations are necessary by calling the Extension Office at 301-334-6960 by October 11. Six continuing education credits will be awarded which will be sufficient for nutrient management consultant license renewal.

Eight Steps to Better Hay Sampling

Hay sampling is an important part of quality control for growers and customers. A pinky-sized ground sample analyzed by the lab must represent tons and tons of hay from a field. Because a lab technician can only test what is presented, growers must assure the hay sample accurately represents the stack.

A hay sample must fairly represent the leaf-to-stem ratio as well as the weed composition. Protein and fiber can vary considerably from bale to bale and even within a bale. Therefore, it is very important to follow a definite protocol in hay sampling. The goal is to obtain a representative and randomly chosen sample. Here are some important guidelines for taking samples.

1. Identify a single lot of hay to sample. Lots must be from the same cutting, variety, field; state of maturity and all must be harvested within 48 hours. Do not mix lots.

2. Choose a good, sharp coring device. It should have an inside cutting-edge diameter of at least 3/8 inch and no more than 5/8 inch. The cutting edge should be sharp. Do not use an auger or corkscrew type device which selectively samples leaves.

3. Sample at random. Walk around the entire stack and sample bales at various heights. Do not bias the sample by avoiding some bales and choosing others.

4. Take enough cores. Per lot, sample a minimum of 20 bales (one core per bale).

5. Use good technique. Probe the end of the bale near the center and at least 12 to 18 inches into the bale, being careful not to slant the probe.

6. Handle samples correctly. Combine core samples into a single sample and store them in a sealed freezer bag. Do not expose to heat or direct sun, and send to the lab quickly.

7. Get the right sized sample. The sample should weigh between 1 and 2 pounds.

Many of you will be formulating your feeding ration based on the results of nutrient analysis of the hay. Make sure you're feeding what you have written on the ration sheet.

Acorn Poisoning Alert

Acorn poisoning generally deals its most severe blow in the months of September and early October. It seems that cattle like newly fallen acorns best. If you are grazing cattle in pastures with oak trees, and thus, where acorns will be present on the ground, take proper precautions. Medical signs are a loss of appetite, listlessness, weakness, constipation, followed by diarrhea that may be dark colored or bloody and animals will appear bowed in the back. Animals get weaker and eventually go down. Affected animals may show yellow color, bloody urine and dehydration. There are no specific treatments for this condition other than rumen stimulation (mineral oil and the like) and fluids for dehydration. Treatment for down animals is rarely successful, while early treatment of cases is helpful. If possible, the removal of animals from the source of poisoning will greatly reduce the loss and increase the success rate of treatment. A prevention ratio of 10 to 15 percent calcium hydroxide in a high protein feed is helpful. It may take about 4 pounds of this mix per cow per day and 2 pounds per day for younger animals. If acorn poisoning is a threat cattle should, perhaps, be removed from the pasture where oak trees producing acorns are present or be fenced from these wooded areas when acorns begin to fall. Again, acorn poisoning won't occur until acorns start falling, but prior to that time the acorn crop should be assessed and a plan devised to prevent death losses.

Local National Guard Trains At Camp Dawson

Members of the Det. 2 243rd Engineers CSE of the Maryland Army National Guard and the Det. 1 121st Engineers of Oakland traveled to Camp Dawson in Kingwood, W.Va., for training on September 16-17.

Troops reported to their armory on Friday, Sept. 15, to prepare and load vehicles for their movement on Saturday morning. Once arriving at Camp Dawson all troops set up squad tents and prepared for the training mission. The training for Det. 2 243rd consisted of movement of heavy equipment to Camp Dawson and operator training, as well as road improvements.

Some of the detachment's troops participated with the Det. 1 121st Engineers as enemy forces, as they trained with the units' APCs (Armored Personnel Carriers) in movements and operations. All training missions were carried out during the adverse weather conditions. As darkness fell, troops continued to train and prepare for their movement back to the Oakland armory on Sunday. After arriving in Oakland, all equipment and personal gear had to be cleaned and secured, and reports and mission statements had to be completed before troops could be dismissed for the day.

The next training dates for the units is scheduled for October 21-22, at which time they will be taking the annual physical fitness test and rifle qualifications. Units will also take part in the annual Autumn Glory parades on October 12 and 14, and be present at the food and display area in downtown Oakland.

Anyone interested in joining the local unit of the Det. 2 243rd Engineers may call local recruiter Sfc. Divens at 301-334-9794 or the armory at 301-334-3200.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Lesa Whittemore participated in a 20-mile run around Mt. Vernon, Va., recently. She unfortunately injured her knee, which went out at the 13-mile marker, so she couldn't take any more running steps. It was a long 7-mile walk to the finish line. She still did not finish last. A friend, Janet Beyca, also participated in the 5-mile race.

Last week, I failed to include a news item. Two weeks ago Lesa Whittemore visited her family in Las Vegas. Her mother has made great progress in her battle against cancer. On her recent doctor's visit the report was very good, which did not surprise me, since I always believed she will beat it. Besides visiting her family, Lesa attended her 20-year class reunion, which she said was a blast, as she saw a lot of friends she had not seen for a long time.

The most exciting thing around the Sussman home last week was when two monarch caterpillars hatched into full-fledged butterflies. Since the weather on Sunday was wet and cold, we did not set them free for their maiden flight all the way to Mexico, which will be a very long one.

Can you believe our monarchs fly all the way to Mexico? How many families with young children do the monarch thing? It is so simple. You just go to a nearby milkweed patch and find a few good green, gold, white, and black striped caterpillars. Pick a nice fresh stalk of milkweed with live leaves, and hopefully a bud of flowers. Then put the caterpillars in a container. The caterpillar eats the leaves, then when the butterflies hatch they can get some nectar from the flowers. When the time is right, free them. Watch them fly away.

Our butterflies did their work-out (stretching their wings, and starting to learn how to move their wings). They then climbed up the stalk. I guess my girls released our biggest one this Monday morning before going to school. Marci Glotfelty took one of her family's caterpillars to a lady in the nursing home. It did hatch, but the lady still kept it for a bit longer. It is hard to let them go. She wants another one. My girls found a good new one on the way home from church on Sunday. We took the long way home and stopped by a milkweed patch on Legeer Road. Caitlin spotted a fine specimen.

By the way, I did something I really dreaded for a long time, which was to attend a service in the new church. It was not as bad for me as I feared. It is nice and more fancy than the old one. At least we have our old beautiful stained glass windows. During the children's session, Mere and Eric Maxim did a tough job for elementary school kids when they read aloud the gospel lesson, taking turns with Pastor Pat. They never even stumbled at all, which was very good, maybe even better than many adult lay readers who sometimes stumble, including myself.

In spite of Sunday being so misty and rainy, you couldn't help being impressed at the developing autumn colors, including a couple of small maple trees in brilliant red on Legeer Road. A beautiful dark red vine climbed around a tree on Foxtown Road above a bed of golden grass. I am glad our maple tree is not further developing other than just the outer end turning yellow and red. In another three weeks it will be a big orange flame shaded by patches of red, yellow, and a small green patch. Just now it is still mostly green.

The worst thing is, just about all the wildflowers are gone. There are a few Queen Anne's laces, the most humble wildflowers, and wild asters. That is a puffy bunch of tiny flowers, wither purple or white tiny flowers, with a little yellow center. They are not impressive close up, but they make the glades beautiful en masse, especially mixed with clumps of golden yellow dead grass, and especially on a day when the patches of water reflect the cobalt blue of the sky featured around nice autumn weather.

So far this fall it is the same as summer (cool with lots of rain). It fits my mood, unfortunately. I never so dreaded the first snowfall as much as this year. I think it will come the first week of November, just in time for Election Day and my birthday. If we get it before Election Day, I think it would boost Gore's chance of winning the election. Everyone I talked to has a strong preference. I never really talked to anyone who is really enthusiastic about George Bush Jr. and certainly not enough to go out in a snow storm to cast a vote for him.

I guess I had better watch for a harsh letter to the editor next week about my liberal tendency. I am not afraid of a little criticism, as I have complete confidence in myself to duel with anyone. That gives me the first good laugh for me all day.

Anyone want to debate me about the greatest athlete in the 20th century? Just a little more humor for a few of my fans who like that sort of thing.

"Hollywood" Ted just called me and complained that I did not put something in the column about him a few weeks ago. He still hangs out among "The Beautiful People."

A large crowd was among the packed church for Pastor Pat's ordination at Moorefield, W.Va., Sunday evening. On Sunday morning in church, a whole pew was filled with her family and friends. About 25 people from Emmanuel attended the ordination service. I am looking forward next Saturday to her installation as our pastor. She expects our former pastor, Louise Knotts, to be present. Louise is a good friend of hers and has given her much encouragement in her ventures of becoming a pastor. I certainly miss Pastor Louise, especially in recent days when my life has hit a bumpy stretch. Even though I have just recently gotten to know Pastor Pat, she was and is a big comfort for me. By the way, now is the time for my past friends and former students to get in touch with me and maybe they can help me get through this new crisis that has hit me hard and will probably just get worse.

Saturday afternoon, September 30, the new Emmanuel Lutheran Church will be dedicated. Please plan to worship with us as we celebrate this important event in the life of our congregation. Pastor Pat will be installed as pastor of this parish during the service. A reception will follow at the Bittinger fire hall.

A joint parish service to celebrate Appalachia Sunday will be held on Sunday, Oct. 1, at Emmanuel at 10 a.m. Fellowship will follow the service.

A big weekend out for the girls occurred when Margaret Wagner, Ellen Housley, and Ann Hershberger and daughters visited with Michelle Geis at Blacksburg, Va. They celebrated Michelle's 21st birthday and Ann's 40th birthday. They also attended the October Fest at Mountain Lake, where they were joined by Michelle's friends, Todd Kelly, Katie Reynolds, and Kestra Miller. Believe it or not, Ellen won a polka contest! Where did she learn to polka? Not in Bittinger! We used to do a lot of square dancing, but I do not recall any polka dancing.

Emmanuel Lutheran's Sunday School will begin October 15. A back-to-Sunday school day will be held Sunday, Oct. 8, with a breakfast for Sunday school students and their families.

"LONG DISTANCE" LEARNING is taking on a literal meaning this year at Garrett Community College as students from Estonia acquire both a college education and a lesson on life here in America. Several sophomore class members have served as volunteer mentors since fall orientation, assisting the new students as they learn their way around the McHenry campus and become familiar with faculty and other students. The Estonian students and their mentors have attended several picnics, one hosted by GCC president Dr. Steve Herman along Deep Creek Lake, and the other at Grantsville Park in the company of a delegation of visiting Estonian officials. The Estonian student/mentor pairs are shown above. In the front row are, from left, mentor Gretchen Baker and Estonian student Tatjana Kravtsuk, and Estonian student Kalle Tarrasepp and mentor Patrick Forster. In the back row are mentor Amy Tressler and Estonian student Keit Parks, and Estonian student Marina Kravtsuk and mentor Jessica Saturday.

Auditions For Play Sylvia Slated At OTT

Audition dates have been announced for the Our Town Theatre (OTT) production of Sylvia, according to Jane Avery, artistic director. Six actors ranging in age from 15 to 60 are needed for the show, she said.

Auditions will be held in the OTT basement on Sunday, Oct. 1, from 3 until 5 p.m., and on Monday, Oct. 2, from 7 until 9 p.m. If auditioners cannot make either of those times, they may schedule a special session with Avery.

The show will be presented on Nov. 8-12 and 15-19. The Sunday productions will begin at 2 p.m., and all other shows will start at 8 p.m.

The story revolves around a middle-aged couple who have moved to New York, Avery said.

"The husband brings home a dog that he found in Central Park — the dog is played by an actress," Avery explained. "Sylvia, who is a mixture of lab and poodle, becomes a bone of contention between the husband and wife, and hilarious and touching complications ensue.

"The show is great family fare," she added, "and it will be a lot of fun to direct."

Questions concerning auditions and/or the production should be addressed to Avery at 301-334-5640.

"A Funny Thing..." Will Open FSU Theatre Season

The hit musical comedy A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum will open the University Theatre's 2000-2001 season at Frostburg State University on Friday, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. Additional evening performances are slated for Oct. 7, 12, 13, and 14 at 8 p.m. A Saturday matinee is set for Oct. 7 at 2 p.m. All performances will take place in FSU's Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

With credits by Stephen Sondheim, along with television/radio personalities Larry Gelbart and Barry Shevelove, this throwback to vaudeville is, according to the New York Times, a "glorious old-fashioned farce that...celebrates everything that man holds dear but can't deny himself: lust, greed, vanity, ambition; in short, all of those little failings that make man human."

Set in Rome, circa 200 B.C., the audience meets Pseudolus, the laziest slave in Rome, who will do anything to earn his freedom. "The fun begins when he is left in charge of his owner's young son, who has fallen madly in love with a beauteous young virgin in the house of Lysuc. The youth promises Pseudolus his freedom if the slave can arrange the boy's marriage to the lovely virgin before his father returns. Of course, Pseudolus agrees and havoc ensues," stated an FSU spokesperson.

Information about and reservations for this and future productions can be obtained by calling 301-687-4145 between 1 and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Season Discount Cards are available for $21, a value of four shows for the price of three. Tickets are $7 for non-students and $3 for students.

Nationally Juried Art Exhibition To Open At FSU

The exhibition represents the best of the 270 slides submitted for consideration from artists representing 28 states, from as far away as Maine, Florida, California, and New Mexico. Media of many different forms were accepted, including fiber, oils, watercolors, acrylic, soft sculpture, carved glass graphite, ceramics, photography, and coiled basketry.

Local artists selected to have works exhibited include Jackie Brown, Cindy Crites, Frank DeCosta, Steve Fiscus, Robert Llewellyn, Beth Piver, Robyn Price, Wini Redick, David C. Smith, and Emily Wittman. Jurors were John A. Rasmussen, Ph.D., executive director of Maryland Art Place in Baltimore; Scott Cawood, metal sculptor and blacksmith; and Catherine Moreland, executive director of the Delaplaine in Frederick. Allegany Arts Council board member Ann Townsell is chair of the Wills Creek Survey.

Purchase awards total nearly $4,000, and cash awards are $1,000 for Best of Show; $600 for second place given by the Allegany Arts Council; $250, third place, Gary Horowitz Award; $300, Kim and Marion Leonard Award for Promoting Artistic Expression; and $100, Western Maryland Watercolor Society Award for watercolor.

The exhibition will hang in the Roper Gallery in the Fine Arts Building on the FSU campus through Wednesday, Nov. 8. The opening reception will be Oct. 8 from 2 to 4 p.m. Juror John Rasmussen will present the awards at 2:30 p.m. Special guests will be Speaker of the House Casper R. Taylor Jr. and James Backas, executive director of the Maryland State Arts Council.

The exhibit and reception are free and open to the public.

Regular hours for the Roper Gallery are Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For more information, persons may call the Allegany Arts Council at 301-777-ARTS (2787).

FreeState Health Program Pulling Out Of County

FreeState Health Plan, a subsidiary of CareFirst Blue Cross/Blue Shield, is cutting back its participation in the state of Maryland's health insurance coverage program, according to Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer. FreeState is the largest participating managed care organization (MCO) in Garrett County, Glotfelty said, with more than 2,000 people enrolled through the Maryland Children's Health Program (MCHP).

This does not mean that the local individuals will no longer be covered. There are two other MCOs in the county, the health officer said.

FreeState will apparently continue to serve the Baltimore area, but will end its coverage in the rest of the state on Jan. 1, 2001. The state will send out letters to individuals currently enrolled in FreeState to give them the option of switching to another MCO.

"There is another MCO established here, and we hope most people will be able to keep the doctors they have now," Glotfelty said. He said there are actually two MCOs in the county, although one does not have the participation of very many local physicians yet.

"The state will be scrambling to get some more MCOs here, I think," Glotfelty said. Of the nine MCOs in the state, only two currently serve Garrett County. Most of the organizations stay in urban areas, the health officer said.

Glotfelty said there has been controversy over the rates paid to MCOs from the start. CareFirst Blue Cross/Blue Shield has reported that it expects losses

THERE WERE NO HOLDS BARRED for this young participant in the Drane House Celebration Pie-Eating Contest, held Saturday in Accident, along with a number of other fun activities. The celebration, hosted by the Accident Cultural and Historical Society and the town council, marked the 200th anniversary of the Drane Family Settlement. A variety of entertainment, games, and demonstrations took place throughout the day. The weather could not have been more perfect for the event, with the sun shining brightly and the temperatures pleasantly cool. GBI Det... Jail Suspected Counterfeiters

The Garrett Bureau of Investigation, working in conjunction with the Secret Service of the U.S. Treasury Department, arrested three county residents Monday on allegations involving the counterfeiting of U.S. currency. Several local businesses were reportedly victimized by the trio's activities.

Carrie Lynn Cosner, 22, Accident, faces three counts of uttering counterfeit currency, one count of possession of counterfeit currency, and two counts of misdemeanor theft. Timothy David Hare, 29, Oakland, is charged with one count each of manufacturing counterfeit currency and possession of counterfeit currency, and Leslie Allen Bittinger, 34, also of Oakland, faces a single count of possession of counterfeit currency. All three have been released from the Garrett County Detention Center after posting respective bond amounts — $10,000 for Cosner and Hare, $1,000 for Bittinger — that were set by a district court commissioner.

The events began unfolding Monday when GBI detectives apprehended Cosner in the wake of a report from the Oakland Dollar General store, where she was allegedly attempting to pass three $20 counterfeit bills. After taking Cosner into custody at the store, detectives recovered approximately $1,100 worth of counterfeit currency from her car.

The GBI was then informed that the Arrowhead Market in the Deep Creek Lake area and the CVS Pharmacy in Oakland had recently received several $50 and $20 counterfeit bills in the course of regular customer transactions. "The 'bills' had a light greenish color and lacked a number of the characteristics of genuine currency," Sheriff Dick Sanders said later, and GBI detective Jeff Murphy added that the "'bills' were printed off a computer, and didn't look that good."

Investigative leads were developed after Cosner's arrest that led to a joint GBI/Secret Service search of World Wide Wireless, a Deep Creek Lake-area business owned and operated by Hare and Bittinger. Additional counterfeit currency that had been shredded and computer equipment believed to have been used to manufacture the "bills" were seized at the business, and Hare and Bittinger were arrested a short time later at their residences.

GETTING IN THE SPIRIT - Looking very much like the early Accident area settler, James Drane, another Accident area resident, Commissioner Wendell Beltzel, definitely got into the spirit of the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the first settlement in Accident held last Saturday at the Drane House. Mr. Beltzel is seen here standing behind a figure of James Drane, cut out by Clark Kolb and painted by Angela Maust. The Drane House, painstakingly renovated in the early 1990s, was the home of James and Priscilla Drane in 1800. The Accident Cultural and Historical Society and the town of Accident threw the anniversary party, which was complete with singing, fiddle music, children's games, a prayer service, and the laying of a wreath on the Drane burial sites in the nearby cemetery.

State DOT Officials Provide Information On Road Projects

Officials from the Maryland Department of Transportation were in Garrett County recently to discuss ongoing and upcoming projects for the area listed in the draft six-year capital transportation plan for fiscal years 2001 through 2006. Statewide, the overall program is slated to expend a record $8.6 billion over the next six years.

"When we invest in transportation, we invest in Maryland's future," said deputy secretary of transportation Beverly Swaim-Staley, who presented the agency's program to the board of county commissioners and assorted citizens, officials, and county employees. "This is the most ambitious transportation program in our history, and will enable us to expand our transit systems, add capacity to our road network, and undertake major customer service improvements at Baltimore-Washington International Airport. This program will serve as a tool for Smart Growth and a catalyst for economic development throughout the state."

Bear Creek Bridge

Over $18 million will be directed to a total of 14 transportation projects in Garrett County over the next six years, an increase of approximately $4 million from last year's program. One of those 14 projects, the replacement of the U.S. Rt. 219 bridge over Bear Creek and Fish Hatchery Road, is described as 70 percent complete, and construction on the overall $4.4 million project should finish this coming spring. Motorists are traveling on the new bridge while crews continue removing the old bridge and put the final touches on the new bridge.

Oakland Bypass

Development and evaluation of the proposed Oakland bypass is ongoing, and the project planning phase has concluded for the 2.4-mile route.

Public Invited To "Grand Reopening" Of Oakland's 1884 B&O Train Station

The public is invited to attend the "grand reopening" of Oakland's 1884 B&O train station on Saturday, Oct. 7, at 7 p.m. The station has been the center of a total restoration effort, the culmination of years of work by the town council and numerous volunteers.

The work has included archeological investigations of old paint chips to ensure that the station was done in original colors. Another historically accurate project involved the slate roof. Workers obtained the new slate from the Virginia mine where the original material was cut. The slate was then placed on the building's turret and complex, sharply angled roof.

As part of Saturday's activities, guests will be given the chance to meet "President and Mrs. Abraham Lincoln," portrayed by professional re-enactors Fritz Klein and Joyce Browning. The Lincolns were reportedly close friends of John Garrett, the railroad magnate after whom the county was named.

Lane S. Duda of Mountain Lake Park will perform a song he wrote titled "Come Up To The Deep Creek." Following some opening remarks by Oakland mayor Asa McCain, the doors will be formally opened for the public to tour the restored facility.

While the Lincolns are in town, the public will also have the chance to have tea with Mrs. Mary Todd Lincoln on Sunday, Oct. 8, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Good Shepherd Room of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. Tickets are on sale for $3 each at the church office.

Commissioners Agree To Support Adventure Sports Center Project

The plan for an $11 million adventure sports complex in the McHenry area has received a promise of monetary support from the Garrett County commissioners. The fiscal authority this week agreed to allot $250,000 per year for five years in capital for the complex, and $100,000 per year for operations and maintenance.

The plan has been developed over the past two-plus years by the Adventure Sports Center board of directors. The board was successful in obtaining 501-3c status (non-profit) from the state in order to pursue the venture. James Hinebaugh, director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department, made the pitch for the funds Tuesday. He maintained that the complex will benefit the local area in a number of ways.

"The creation of an International Adventure Sports Center in western Maryland reflects the belief that the long-term economic welfare of this area is invariably linked to a balanced, diversified economy encompassing agriculture, industry, and outdoor recreation," Hinebaugh wrote in the development project description. The document states that the four-season environment in the county, as well as the topography, allows for the development of a "viable destination focus" of outdoor adventure sports.

The non-profit board of directors includes developers who are aiming at the purchase of Wisp Resort. The board has received a land donation of 550 acres near the resort where the center is to be located. While much of the financing of the center will be from the private sector, the board is currently seeking "start-up" money from not only the commissioners, but also from state and federal entities.

"If we can get all the right partners to agree to take part, we will develop a fully integrated sports center, along with a performing arts center and other amenities," Hinebaugh said. Employment, a strengthened tax base, and private sector economic development were among the positive aspects described.

The planned facilities include five primary structures. They will house an adventure sports center and climbing tower, the Adventure Sports Hall of Fame and Museum, an ice skating/in-line skating rink, an indoor pool (natatorium), and a sports field house.

Venues are planned to accommodate on site over 20 different activities, such as a Nordic ski course with lights and man-made snow, a family snow play area, and a recirculating whitewater course. An indoor arsenal soccer field is also included in the plan. The Wisp skiing operations are projected to be an integral part of the center activities, Hinebaugh noted.

The developers also hope to offer training in various adventure sports at the center location, but then direct the participants to private local companies, such as the rafting businesses, to actually engage in the activities.

"We want to enhance the economy for [illegible]," Hinebaugh said. "If we work

Garrett County 4-H Member Wins Second Place In National Contest

Garrett County resident Jeremiah Guard took second place honors in the National 4-H competition held recently in Layfayette, Ind. In his category, lawn and garden tractor, Guard demonstrated his skill and knowledge in both written and practical contests.

A senior at Northern High School, Guard earned the right to challenge the tractor skills of other contenders from across the nation by capturing the first place standing on lawn and garden tractors in the statewide 4-H competitions on August 25 at the State Fair in Timonium. Guard traveled to Indiana with other Maryland 4-H members who had gained the first place standing in their particular areas of expertise.

"The national competition had four parts to it. There was course driving, parts identification, diagnostics, and a written section," Guard explained, adding that he found the competition to be rigorous, but a "good experience."

A member of the Snowy Creek 4-H Club, Guard said he has his sights set on a career in agriculture after completing his education. He lives in Friendsville with his parents, Wanda and Dorsey Guard.

AT LAST, THE STATION'S NEARLY READY — The restoration project of the Oakland train station is nearly complete, much to the delight of those who have worked toward this end for so long. The grand 'reopening' celebration is slated for Saturday, Oct. 7, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend to see the vast improvements at the historic structure that originally opened in 1884. Pictured as they help beautify the grounds are, from left, Bill Ashby, Willie Thomas, and Roger Thomas. The fire truck in the background was not dousing any flames, by the way. It was being used to install a flue. See story for details of Saturday's event.

MCC, MEMBERS SPAN STREAM, DECADES — Maryland Conservation Corps (MCC) crews from around the state have been working in Garrett County recently, carrying out projects that will help preserve our natural resources for years to come. Longtime residents may be interested to learn that the MCC is modeled on the Depression-era Civilian Conservation Corps, which built a number of park and other public facilities around the county that are still in use today. The MCC provides its members with a variety of outdoor work and learning experiences, and each member receives a $4,725 award to help further his or her education upon completion of the 11-month program. Several local residents, all members of the Potomac-Garrett MCC crew, are shown here as they construct a 50-foot bridge that will carry hikers and bikers across a Swallow Falls State Park stream. Pictured from the left above are Toby Upton of Oakland, a 2000 Southern High School graduate; Potomac-Garrett crew supervisor Patti Glotfelty of Accident, who designed the bridge; Zach Rawe of Grantsville, a 1998 Northern High School graduate; and Nick Glotfelty of Oakland, a 1999 SHS graduate. Rawe and Glotfelty are shown below in the foreground as the crew lifts telephone poles, which were donated by Allegheny Power, into place to check the measurements.

Mtn. Lake Sets Train Station And AGF Events

The Mountain Lake Park's historic committee has planned special events to coincide with the reopening of the Oakland train station this weekend and with next week's Autumn Glory Festival.

The first Mtn. Lake Park event will be held on Sunday, Oct. 8, from 3 until 5 p.m. at the ticket office, which is located at the corner of G and Spruce streets. The historic structure, once the ticket booth for the park's former amphitheater, has been refurbished.

On display inside the booth will be a variety of photographs taken during the heyday of the park. Also available at the ticket booth will be directions for a self-guided tour of the historical district of Mtn. Lake Park.

The music duo Allegheny (Susan Weisbrod and Richard Kusy) will provide entertainment. Punch and cookies will be served.

The second offering at the park will coincide with Autumn Glory. The self-guided walking/driving tours will take place on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 9 a.m. until noon, and again from 3 until 6 p.m., and on Sunday, Oct. 15, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

On both days, a guided tour aboard a horse-drawn wagon will also be offered. There will be a small admission fee for riders. This tour will be from 3 until 6 p.m. on both days, and will begin at the town hall, located at the tennis courts near the intersection of on Allegheny Drive and Rt. 135.

Keystone Financial Supports Early Child Education, Homeownership

Keystone Financial Bank has announced two contributions to the Garrett County Community Action Committee, to be used to encourage the building of a community partnership to improve the readiness of children to enter school and to expand the nationally recognized First Time Home Buyers Partnership.

Kris Baronner and Sandi Winters of Keystone recently presented checks of $9,818 and $8,750 to Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County schools, and Duane Yoder, Community Action president.

"Keystone strongly believes that preparing children to enter school ready to learn is a necessary element for a successful learning and education experience," said Baronner, Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) officer for Keystone.

According to Yoder, the money will be used to help conduct training on operating and monitoring school readiness activities for early child development, and for child care providers administering preschool programs.

"There is a great opportunity for child care and early child development workers to have a big impact on the preparation of children for school. I believe Keystone's contribution is a real step in helping our community do an even better job," said Teets. "Garrett County has a reputation for working together. This will help us work with pre-kindergarten staff, Head Start personnel, and child care providers to implement and administer programs that provide high quality child development practices."

Pam Nelson, Community Action vice president, said the funds for the home ownership program will pay for the first-time homebuyers classes operated by Community Action. This is a continuation and expansion of the partnership between Community Action and Keystone to increase the number of persons owning their homes in Garrett County, Nelson said. She noted that over 100 people take the home ownership classes each year, and that there have been over 125 families who have obtained affordable home mortgages over the past several years as a result of the partnership.

Keystone Financial and USDA's Rural Housing Service are the key partners to making the program work, she said.

"We really want to get to the level where 80% of the households in the county own their own homes. Currently we are at 78%," Nelson said.

KEYSTONE HELPING CHILDREN, FAMILIES — Substantial monetary donations were recently made to Garrett Community Action from Keystone Financial Bank. Over $18,000 has been donated, with the funds earmarked for improving local early education programs for preschoolers, and for bolstering the successful first-time home-buyers program. See story. In the photo, standing left to right, are Duane Yoder, Community Action Committee president; Sandi Winters, Keystone market leader; Dr. Don Forrester, director of elementary education for the Garrett County Board of Education; Linda Hamm of Keystone; Pam Nelson, vice president of Community Action's community services and family development; Kris Baronner, Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) officer for Keystone; and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools. Two Men Remain In Hospital After Saturday Mishap

Two local men remain hospitalized after a Saturday night two-vehicle accident along Rock Lodge Road between Mosser and Accident-Bittinger roads. Scott Allen Beitzel, 20, Oakland, is listed in stable condition by the med-surg unit of Cumberland Memorial Hospital, while Donald Duane Beitzel, 38, Grantsville, is listed in good condition at Ruby Memorial Hospital Center in Morgantown, W.Va. A juvenile who was riding in Donald Beitzel's truck was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and released.

According to Garrett County sheriff's deputies, who continue to investigate the accident to determine if charges will be necessary, Scott Beitzel was traveling southbound on Rock Lodge Road at approximately 11:44 p.m. when his 1999 Mercury Cougar failed to negotiate a turn one mile north of Mosser Road.

The car crossed the center line and struck an oncoming 1997 Chevrolet pickup truck operated by Donald Beitzel. The collision forced the truck off the road, and it struck a tree and reportedly burst into flames. Emergency personnel from the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department, and the Northern Garrett and Southern Garrett rescue squads responded to the scene.

Donald Beitzel and his juvenile passenger where both transported to Garrett Memorial, and the elder patient was subsequently flown on to Ruby Memorial. Scott Beitzel was flown from the accident scene directly to Cumberland Memorial. Charges are pending, according to investigating DFC Robbie Zimmerman's report.

Charges were filed in connection with an accident the previous evening, Friday, after a head-on collision on Garrett Highway south of Oakland.

John Eaken Kauffman, 34, Silver Spring, was traveling southbound along Garrett Highway at approximately 8 p.m., without having turned on the headlights of his 1978 Chevrolet Cheyenne pickup truck. As Kauffman approached the intersection where Wes White Road meets the highway and then continues on as Paul Friend Road, a 1990 Pontiac Grand Am operated by Paul Neven Petersheim, 49, Oakland, entered the highway from the west.

The Oakland resident was unable to see Kauffman's unlighted truck approaching in the darkness, and his car was struck. Petersheim was transported by the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial, where he was treated and released. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Kauffman, who was not injured, was charged with negligent driving and driving without the proper use of his headlights.

DWI Arrests

Several persons were charged by deputies with driving while intoxicated (DWI) or driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs this week. They were: Dennis Michael Stump, 33, Oakland; Susanne Louise Alt, 31, Swanton; Maurice David O'Malley, 30, Pittsburgh; and Sandra Jean Sabulsky, 40, Harwick, Pa.

DCL Policy And Review Board Slates Meeting

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board has slated its next regular board meeting for Monday, Oct. 9, at 6:30 p.m. at the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center in DCL State Park. The session is open to the public, and comments will be accepted.

The agenda includes review and action on the draft conservation easement prepared by the Department of Natural Resources that will be applied to lands sold to adjoining lakefront property owners during the upcoming land sale. A second discussion topic will focus on the ongoing formulation of the Recreation and Land Use Plan for the lake, which, when adopted, will guide DNR's future management of the lake.

Further information on the meeting can be obtained by calling Paul Durham, manager of the DCL Recreation Area, at 301-387-4111.

Dark Forest Haunted Hayride Benefits Area Literacy Program

Dark Forest, A Haunted Hayride, will take place at Bietschehof Farm on Friday and Saturday nights during October. A joint venture between Puzzley Run Folklife Center and the Western Maryland READS Alliance, the event will benefit the literacy program which targets children from kindergarten through 12th grade.

"The haunting will begin appropriately enough on Friday the 13th and will last from 8 to 11 p.m.," said coordinator Jean Durst. In addition to October 13, hayrides will also be offered at the same times on October 14, 20, 21, 27, and 28, and on Halloween night.

Hayriders will be welcomed in the barnyard and invited to visit the animals before proceeding to wait for hayrides on the second floor of the 1880 Dutch barn, decorated for the autumn season. Wagons will be pulled by farm tractors through the Dark Forest, which will be populated with "ghosties and ghoulies and things that go bump in the night," Durst said.

Visitors are encouraged to dress in costume to add to the Halloween atmosphere. Refreshments will be available. Tickets are $5 for everyone 12 and over and $2.50 for ages 4 to 12.

The Western Maryland READS Alliance, directed by VISTA volunteers operating out of Frostburg State University, is a literacy program benefiting students from kindergarten through grade 12. The alliance volunteers assisted in the creation of the "spooky" sites along the hayride trail and will help "haunt" the forest.

Bietschehof can be reached by traveling west from Grantsville on Route 40 or east from Keysers Ridge, turning north onto Zehner Road and proceeding to Hetrick Road and the signs to the folklife center.

Kitzmiller Slates Fishing Rodeo, Fly-Tying Demo.

Autumn Glory activities in Kitzmiller this year will add a new dimension to the Garrett County celebration of fall. In addition to tours of the museum, crafts, and apple butter making, Kitzmiller will offer a free fly-tying demonstration and a fishing rodeo on Friday, Oct. 13, 4-6 p.m.

The fishing rodeo will coincide with the Department of Natural Resources' stocking of the North Branch of the Potomac River at Kitzmiller with trout.

Fly-fishing enthusiast Bill Ferry will demonstrate his skill at fly-tying and oversee the fishing contest. Participants will be divided into four age groups: 7 and under, 8-10, 11-14, and 15-18. Prizes will be given for the first fish caught, the largest fish, and the smallest fish. Entrants will receive T-shirts.

Health Program

of $11 million this year. Earlier this week state health officials announced that the MCO rates will go up 5.7% next year.

Garrett County has been successful in enrolling eligible children from working families in MCHP. The program gives full health benefits, at no cost, to qualifying children up to age 19 and to pregnant women of any age. Benefits for children include doctor visits, hospital care, immunizations, prescriptions, dental care, and more, Glotfelty said. Eligibility is based on family income. A family of four without health insurance can earn slightly over $2,800 a month and still be eligible.

With the help of many local agencies and employers, the Garrett County Health Department was second in Maryland in enrolling the largest percentage of eligible children, the health officer noted.

"Thirty-nine percent of all Garrett County children are eligible for MCHP," Glotfelty said. He also noted that the state now has plans to increase the eligibility next year to include all children in families earning up to 300% of the federal poverty rate. This will include far more families in the county.

The health department will continue to enroll eligible children in the program, Glotfelty said, while working with the state, FreeState, and county providers to ensure a smooth transition to other MCOs.

For more information on how to enroll or how to change from FreeState to another MCO, persons may call the health department at 301-533-0001 or the Maryland HealthChoice help line at 1-800-977-7388.

Exciting News...

The announcement by the Garrett County commissioners this week that they intend to support the development of an adventure sports center in McHenry to the tune of $250,000 per year for five years for capital expenditures, plus another $100,000 per year for operations and maintenance, is welcome, exciting news. The benefits of such a facility for Garrett County are numerous.

The center will become a destination point for thousands (rather, hundreds of thousands) of persons who enjoy participating in the various adventure sports. This influx will obviously greatly benefit local restaurants, hotels/motels, shops, and service establishments.

Adventure sports is an exceedingly clean, non-polluting "industry," which cannot be said for many others. Most involved in adventure sports have a great love and respect for the environment to begin with, so there will be opportunity to enhance the beauty of what is already here.

This facility, along with the Adventure Sports Institute of Garrett Community College, could make Garrett County the world's focal point for adventure sports, the benefits of which cannot even be estimated.

The new facility will provide many new jobs for our local residents, something that is desperately needed here on the mountaintop.

A complaint that is repeated often is that our young people "don't have enough to do," something with which this writer simply does not agree. But the new adventure sports center will certainly provide plenty for them to do. Plans include a climbing tower, an ice skating/in-line skating rink, a natatorium (swimming pool), and a sports field house for indoor soccer and various other sports. Outside there will be a cross country ski course with snow-making equipment, a family snow play area, and a recirculating whitewater course. These will be open and available to the general public, not just for tourists.

We laud this decision by Commissioners Gregg, Beitzel, and Holliday because it is one of vision and of hope, and one we believe is of crucial importance to the future of Garrett County.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to welcome all the Autumn Glory visitors to the largest garbage dump in Maryland — Garrett County. This is thanks to realty rentals, greedy slumlords, and county commissioners with their heads in the sand.

These people do nothing to take care of the problem with the bears that they wanted, and the garbage that the bears have scattered over the county. The county officials do nada. These landlords should not be allowed to rent unless they properly provide bear-proof garbage containers. If they rent seven bedrooms, they should have seven bear-proof garbage cans.

The process they have now stinks as bad as their garbage.

To the Editor:

With Halloween approaching us, I would like to make a suggestion regarding the Oakland Halloween parade. Kids love this time of the year, and providing them with safe and fun activities is very important. However, I have attended the parade for the past two years with my children, and I have been very disappointed in the way that the event is conducted. A huge mob of people (parents and children) are hustled through the streets of Oakland with no organization at all, as unidentified judges attempt to sift through the crowd, randomly giving prizes. Then, at the end of the parade, a very long line of tired parents and restless children forms at the fire hall to obtain a Halloween treat.

Why not make this a well organized, annual event that both children and parents will look forward to being a part of? After all, the more family events available to our citizens, the better. However, as the event is now, many parents do not want to bother.

My suggestion is that participants are divided into age groups. For example: 1) infants; 2) 2-4 year-olds; 3) 5-7 year-olds; 4) 8-10 year-olds; and 5) 11-13 year-olds. Provide certain designated prizes to each group, such as: Scariest, Funniest, Prettiest, and Most Original. Have each age group meet in a designated spot in the large parking lot next to the fire hall. A group of judges will move from group to group, choosing the winners. Each group will have a "supervisor," who will be responsible for getting the group together and distributing a treat to each child. This would eliminate the long line at the fire hall at the end of the parade.

The road would only need to be closed in the vicinity of the fire hall, and spectators could gather in that area. The winners from each group would be designated with a ribbon or button of some sort. After the judging, the "supervisor" of each group would help them form a line. The groups would then form a parade around the vicinity of the fire hall and Naylor's. Parents will have the option of walking with their children if they prefer. The line will make it easier for spectators to view the costumes of each child. The groups would give each child a better chance to be seen, and to win a prize. As it is now, I don't think many of the children even know what is happening.

I realize that this type of organization would require a number of volunteers. However, I feel that there are many parents, such as myself, as well as many community members, who would be glad to assist with such a family-focused, community event.

Sincerely,
Heather Hanline
Oakland

To the Editor:

August 2000 was a very busy month for the county's domestic violence and sexual assault resource center, the Dove Center. The staff saw 36 new victims of domestic violence and five new victims of sexual violence. Six adults and 15 children were sheltered during the month, for a total of 250 bednights!! Over the last weekend of the month, representatives from the staff and the board worked at the Western Maryland Truck Show as the show's coordinators generously donated the proceeds to the Dove Center. In September 2000, the board of directors said farewell to outgoing officers who have worked diligently in the past year, and welcomed new officers. The new officers along with the other members of the board of directors are preparing for the year ahead.

As preparation for the new year begins, the staff of the Dove Center continues to serve victims of domestic violence and sexual assault 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Included in the long list of victims are children — children who witness violence in their homes, children who fear for the safety of a parent while they try to concentrate in the classroom, children who are sexually abused by a trusted adult as they are tucked into bed at night, children who are learning methods of relating through what they live. As a community, these incidents do affect us all. Not even those who are fortunate to provide a safe home environment for their children are immune to the effects of violence: The traumatized child may play soccer on your child's team, sit next to your son in school this year, or date your daughter tomorrow night.

There is so much work that can be done in every community to combat crimes involving domestic and sexual violence. If you have or considered supporting the mission of the Dove Center, but didn't know what you could offer, here are some important needs:

1. The board of directors has several vacancies because of a change in by-laws expanding the board to 15 members. If you can make the donation of time and offer expertise in a field such as mental health, medicine, financial management, government, media relations, law enforcement, or legal issues, please submit a letter of interest to the Dove Center. If you have expressed interest previously, please consider resubmitting a letter. If you reside in a remote area, please consider applying, as we would like to have representatives from many regions of the county.

2. If you don't want to formally join the board, we could certainly use your expertise as a member of a committee. We have vacancies on the finance, program, development (fundraising), personnel, and public relations committees. If you would like additional information on any of these committees, please contact the agency or a member of the board.

3. Look over the list of needed items in their newsletter and fill a request. Even items as seemingly small as washcloths and towels are well utilized by those who have left their homes with nothing. The shelter is primarily funded and staffed through grants, many of which do not include provisions for these types of personal items.

4. If you have another idea, just contact the Dove Center for advice. (For my daughter's 6th birthday, we collected toys and coloring supplies for sheltered children in lieu of gifts for Leah.)

As many of you know, the Dove Center has had its struggles through staffing changes and gaps in grant funding as the agency worked at finding its "fit" in the county. We are ready for the new year!! We would like to thank the private citizens, committed staff, organizations, agencies, and community groups who have supported the center unconditionally. If you know of someone living in an abusive relationship, please encourage a call to the center. We have expanded and enhanced our services to victims. We would also like to remind all citizens that the regular meetings of the board of directors are open to the public. Please consider a donation of time. For additional information about the Dove Center, its programs, or ways you can help, please contact us at 301-334-9000. We encourage input from the community — our agency is here to serve you.

Respectfully,
Erica Mowbray, Secretary
Dove Center Board of Directors

To the Editor:

My family resides in a nice quiet part of Mtn. Lake Park. We have several cats as pets, all of which have their shots and are either spayed or neutered. We are responsible pet owners and these cats are like members of our family.

There are several homeowners in the neighborhood who have expressed their dislike of cats. That is their right to not like them and choose not to own them. It, however, does not give them the right to shoot and kill a family pet. That is what happened to one of ours, and just a few feet outside of our backyard. I don't know who did this, and I probably don't want to.

We've had people complain that the cats kill birds. This is so, it's the natural order of things. Birds eat worms; should we shoot the birds to save the worms? The number of birds caught by my cats is only about 1 to every 30 moles, mice, and chipmunks. These rodents make tunnels through your yard and eat your flower bulbs. Doesn't it make a little sense to let the cats help you rid your yard of these pests?

The bigger point here, really, is the fact that there is a town ordinance which makes it illegal to fire a gun in the town of Mtn. Lake Park. This includes air rifles and BB guns. Our cat was shot with what appears to be a .22. This shot could have easily ricocheted off a rock and hurt or even killed one of the many children in our neighborhood. I do not want to have to watch a neighbor bury a child, as I had to watch my children bury their pet.

Please, whoever did this, think about what you did and what could have happened, and please don't take that chance again.

together to build this thing, we're all going to reap the benefits of it."

In addition to attracting more tourists to the area, Hinebaugh said the complex will be of great benefit to the local residents.

"As a father of young kids, I look at this from a somewhat selfish point of view, too," Hinebaugh said. "Our children need more places to go where they can engage in healthful activities. We desperately need the natatorium for our young swimmers. Right now they travel to Terra Alta, W.Va., to train. And we've heard from arsenal soccer parents about the need for a regulation field on a number of occasions. These local needs could be met at the center."

Commissioner Ernest Gregg added that he thought it was a shame that there is no ice skating rink in Garrett County.

"Of all places, we certainly ought to have ice-skating here," Gregg said.

Commissioner Fred Holliday said he approved of the location.

"It's right in the middle of the county where everyone can get to it. That's fair," Holliday said.

Greig Johnson, proprietor of the Arrowhead/Uno's complex and the Garrett 8 Cinemas, was present Tuesday and voiced his concern about the possible use of public funds. He said he felt such developments are often best left to the private sector.

"We could have a charged atmosphere here if the cash flow became sluggish [at the center]," Johnson said. He said the request for county funds should come along with an extensive business plan. "I'm just not sure the county is willing to have tax dollars put into something that is not proven profitable," he said.

Hinebaugh countered Johnson's concern by explaining that about 95% of such a plan has indeed been completed, with debt service costs determined at various figures, projected costs and revenue pinpointed, and other specifics worked out. He said the plan is available for the public to see. Costs for the viability study were allotted two years ago by the county.

"If we didn't think this center was absolutely doable, we wouldn't ask for these county funds," Hinebaugh said. He also stated that the earmarked money from the county only becomes "actual spending" if the board of directors can bring together the entire funding package. Presently, state and federal funding avenues are being explored. Hinebaugh said the commissioners' commitment will greatly strengthen the possibilities of obtaining other money.

The first construction on the site is to begin next spring, if all pieces of the plan come together, Hinebaugh said. It is hoped that the complex will be well under way within five years, after which it is expected to be self-sustaining.

Commissioner Wendell Beitzel said the commissioners have studied the plan for a long time, and that they agree the economic benefits of the center are worth the county's expenditure.

"The state owns the lake now, but people come up here to it and use our private enterprise amenities," he said. "This center will bring people, too, which will add to our economy and our tax base."

Warm The Children Campaign Beginning Earlier This Season

In an effort to provide adequate clothing for Garrett County's needy children before the snow begins to fall, the staff at The Republican newspaper is initiating this year's Warm the Children campaign earlier than in previous years. Organizers hope to finish the effort by Dec. 1, according to Mary McEwen, program coordinator.

This is the fourth year that the newspaper staff has spearheaded and coordinated the campaign. The purpose of Warm the Children is to provide new winter clothing to the area's needy children, from babies to teenagers. Advertisements asking for monetary donations appear in the newspaper (see today's issue for this year's first such ad), and the donated funds are then used to buy clothing and footwear for children in need.

The participating stores this year are the J.C. Penney catalog store in Oakland and the Ames department store in Frostburg. Recruited volunteers will accompany selected families in choosing clothing and footwear from these stores. The bill is paid by the collected funds at the newspaper. Up to $80 is spent on each child.

Since there are no overhead costs and the advertising is in-house, every penny of every donation goes toward the purchase of the winter items.

Lisa Broadwater is coordinator of the program in Grantsville, managing the volunteers who will accompany families to Ames. To volunteer to be a shopper at Ames, persons may call Broadwater at 301-895-5827 or 301-746-8223.

Assistance in the southern part of the county is being provided this year by the Civic Club of Oakland. To volunteer as a shopper at Penney's, persons should call Bobby Andersen, volunteer coordinator, at 301-334-4459. Andersen and Bobbie Henderson are working together, along with other Civic Club members, to recruit the volunteers, provide information to them, and arrange the family-volunteer matches.

"Bobby and Bobbie provided invaluable help last year, and we are so appreciative that they are continuing to assist in the program," McEwen said. "The Civic Club of Oakland is a great organization, and we're so pleased to be working together."

The children to be served are selected through a special process, McEwen said, with help from volunteers in the school system and the Department of Social Services (DSS), among others. However, persons who wish to be served by the program are asked not to call the schools, the DSS, the coordinators, or the newspaper office.

"The last thing we want for our volunteers is for them to be bogged down with phone calls as a result of our campaign," McEwen said. "If a child is going to be chosen to apply for the program, his or her parents will be notified soon via a letter. Even then they are only placed on a list. We must make decisions based on the donations coming in and the financial situation of the applying family. Calling for the service actually jeopardizes that family's chances of being a recipient of Warm the Children.

"On the other hand," McEwen continued, "in the past, some families to whom applications were sent never returned them. Those who receive the applications are encouraged to fill them out if they are experiencing financial difficulty this year. There is always the chance that next year, or some year, they will be better off and perhaps will then be able to serve as volunteers or donors themselves, if they wish."

Over $16,000 was raised last year, and about 180 children were served. Each year the donations have increased. Each week, donors will be noted in a thank-you ad (unless they specify otherwise), with the final full-page ad at the end of the program mentioning all donors and volunteers. Those contributing funds are also invited to make the donations in memory or in honor of loved ones. The advertisement for the donations can be found in this section of today's issue.

press dubbed Matty the "Christian gentleman," and the public ate it up.

Not everyone loved him, of course. Jealousies arose — some imagined, but many based in reality. His aloof, reserved manner was sometimes taken for arrogance or vanity, and he did have a high opinion of himself. Mordecai Brown, the outstanding right-hander for the Cubs and Matty's chief rival, sniffed at Mathewson's "lordly entrance" into a game. Wife Jane sometimes even had to defend him against charges of priggishness and prudery, saying he was a "good man" but not a "goody-goody." She was right. Matty knew bourbon from rye, enjoyed a cigar or pipe, used his fists effectively, and chewed out um-pires appropriately. A superb chess and checkers player capable of playing several opponents simultaneously, he was also a shark at cards.

A master card-counter who could be unbeatable, Matty once drew a $500 fine (10 times the usual amount) from his manager, the irascible John McGraw, who thought Matty was using his superior intelligence to take advantage of unsuspecting teammates. Matty paid the fine out of respect for McGraw. In fact, they formed one of the odd couples in baseball history — the cultivated, modest star pitcher respected and even loved by nearly all, and the crude, foul-mouthed manager despised by most outside the Giant organization and proud of it. Yet they got along so well that McGraw, who had no children, considered Matty his son, and the Mathewsons named their son John Christopher. That Matty could evoke such warm feelings in McGraw might qualify him for sainthood.

Matty the pitcher, Matty the hero — Eddie Frierson brings them to life at Our Town Theatre on October 20 and 21. Tickets to the performance are $5, and fans and non-fans alike may make reservations by calling Our Town Theatre at 301-334-5640 and leaving a message on voice mail stating the desired performance; reservations will be confirmed through a return call. In addition, people wishing to make reservations on-line may e-mail ourtowntheatre@mindspring.com and receive confirmation via return e-mail.

Matty: An Evening with Christy Mathewson is supported by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency funded by the state of Maryland and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Western Maryland Band Tourney Will Again Be Among AGF Events

The 23rd annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, sponsored by the Southern Garrett Band Boosters and hosted by the Southern Garrett Marching Band, will once again be among the many events of the 33rd annual Autumn Glory Festival. The tournament, which will feature a number of high school bands from the tri-state region in field show competition, will be held Saturday, Oct. 14, at the Southern High School athletic field along Dennett Road, beginning at 6 p.m.

Among the bands scheduled to participate in the tourney are Northern Garrett, Westmar High of Lonaconing, Central High School of Martinsburg, Pa., Frankfort High of Short Gap, W.Va., Allegany High of Cumberland, Preston High of Kingwood, and Keyser High School. The Southern Garrett Band will perform in exhibition.

Awards will be presented in Groups I, II, III, and IV for best overall band and runner-up in each, plus first-place specialty awards, including Best Percussion, Best Drum Major, Best Band Front, Best Marching and Maneuvering, and Best Music.

Admission to the tournament is $6 for adults, $3 for students, and free for children ages 5 and under. For more information, persons may contact Sheila Edwards at 301-334-9344.

A complete schedule of Autumn Glory Festival events can be found in this publication, on the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce website at www.garrettchamber.com, or via e-mail at info@garrettchamber.com.

Garrett Concert Band To Present AG Festival Show

The Garrett Community Concert Band, under the direction of Gerald McGee, will present a concert as part of the 33rd annual Autumn Glory Festival. This will be the group's first concert since its official affiliation with Garrett Community College.

The performance will be given on Sunday, Oct. 15, at 2 p.m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium. There will be no admission charge.

The group is composed of musicians from Grantsville, Oakland, Accident, Cumberland, and Keyser, W.Va. Music to be presented will include John Philip Sousa marches, such as "Washington Post" and "Thunderer," as well as Celtic suites, folk songs, and a medley of Johnny Mercer's show music.

The band will also repeat some of the "oom-pah" tunes from Thursday's Oktoberfest concert at the Oakland fire hall.

The public is invited to attend the free presentation. Refreshments will be available for purchase. For more information, persons may call 301-387-6315.

Two Third-Place Trophies Won By Northern Band

The Northern Garrett High School Marching Band placed third in two competitions Saturday, while the Southern High School marchers took fifth and seventh place. The shows were held at Allegany and Westmar high schools.

In the fourth annual Tournament of Bands Preview of Champions, held at Allegany, eight bands competed in Group I. Central Martinsburg took first with a score of 86.85. Second place was won by Windber High School with a score of 79.4, and Northern took third with 78 points. Southern earned a score of 73.3, coming in seventh.

"This was one of the toughest shows to date, and the competition was heavy," said Richard Clever, director of Southern's band. "We showed improvement over the afternoon show [at Westmar]. Our goal is to improve at each performance."

At Westmar in the afternoon, the 2000 Marching Classic Invitational was held, with five bands competing in Group I. The top three bands were the same as in the Allegany show, with respective scores of 84.6, 79.15, and 77.15. Southern placed fifth with a score of 73.9.

This Saturday, Northern will travel to two shows in nearby Pennsylvania.

Southern will compete in the Cavalcade of Bands at Frederick High School and the Roof Garden Festival of Bands at Somerset High School, both slated for Saturday.

OTT To Honor High School Band Members

Our Town Theatre has declared Thursday, Oct. 12, to be High School Band Night. To thank the young musicians for their dedication, theatre volunteers will offer a free dinner to all members of the high school bands participating in the Fireman's Parade that evening.

"We know how hard these kids work," said a spokesperson for the theatre. "Some of them come directly from practice to the parade without any time to grab a meal, so we are contributing free dinners and a place to change, relax, and get warm. Sometimes we get so wrapped up in other activities that we forget about our young musicians who are certainly our county's ambassadors to numerous events throughout the region. We want these young people to realize that we appreciate them and all of their efforts, so feeding them is the least we can do."

The theatre will start serving meals at 5:30 p.m. All high school band members are invited.

Cast For OTT's Play Sylvia Is Announced

Our Town Theatre will produce A.R. Gurney's comedy Sylvia in November. The cast for the show has been announced, and is as follows: Tom Peterson, Carol Peracchio, Matt Eary, and Chelsea Stuck. Director Jane Avery will be assisted by Melody Neve, and Ben Sincell will design the scenery and lighting.

The show will run from November 8-12 and 15-19. All shows will begin at 8 p.m. with the exception of the Sunday performances, which will start at 2 p.m. General admission is $5 per person, and reservations can be made after October 21 by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640.

According to Avery, the show will delight adults and older children (of 10 and above). The play involves a middle-aged couple who have just moved to Manhattan after 22 years of child raising in the suburbs. The husband brings home a stray dog named Sylvia, who is a street-wise mixture of lab and poodle. Sylvia becomes a bone of contention between the couple; to the husband she represents an escape from the frustrations of his job and the insecurity of growing older. To the wife, Sylvia is a rival for the husband's affection. The marriage is put in serious jeopardy, until the couple learns to compromise and Sylvia becomes a valued part of their lives.

OTT is planning several events dealing with pets, especially dogs, during the month of November. The theatre also plans to donate one evening's proceeds to the Garrett County Animal Shelter. For more information about the production, persons may call the theatre at the number noted above.

Simon To Give 10th Annual AGF Organ Recital

Organist Geoffrey Simon will present his tenth annual Autumn Glory Festival concert at St. Mark's Lutheran Church. His performance, slated for Oct. 13 at 7 p.m., will coincide with Friday the 13th, the anniversary of J.S. Bach's death, and a full moon.

The presentation will include Bach works that have been adopted by television and movie makers in the production of horror films. Bach died in 1750, making this year the 250th anniversary of his passing.

Among the pieces in Dr. Simon's program will be Barber's Adagio for Strings, used by director Martin Scorcese in the movie Platoon, Saint-Saens' famous Danse Macabre, and the D minor Toccata, now associated with Captain Nemo of 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

The only "inferno" piece composed for the organ is to be included in Simon's program, he said. It is "Introduction and Inferno," written by the German Romantic-era composer, Sigfrid Karg-Elert.

Wagner's "Good Friday Spell" from the opera Parsifal will be played, as well as Mussorsky's "The Old Castle," a piece depicting the resting place of the fabled Dracula.

Simon will also play Bach's brief musical portrayal of the ancient Minotaur's abode in his Little Harmonic Labyrinth. And, as has become traditional in these Autumn Glory recitals, Simon will invite the audience to join in the singing of well-known hymns.

Simon is the organist and choirmaster of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Bethesda and conductor of the Library of Congress Chorale. In additional to presenting this annual concert in Garrett County, he has visited Oakland as accompanist and baritone soloist with the Garrett Choral Society.

APPRECIATING KITZMILLER'S RESOURCES - Residents and visitors, young and old, took part in the Kitzmiller's Potomac Watershed Weekend event Saturday, Sept. 23. The children were challenged by the blind-folded walk through a maze of things found in nature. By touch, they had to identify the objects along the maze. At left is one youngster fingering the bark of a birch tree is the maze. "Is it a paper towel roll?" she asked. Educator and author Dr. Melvin Brown, who taught in the Kitzmiller School more than 50 years ago and created the town's botanical gardens, lectured and presented a slide show to the adults. The slides depicted the building of the windmill, the mill race, and plantings of trees, flowers, and shrubbery by students from grades 1-12. In the photo above, Dr. Brown leads a tour of the botanical gardens, pointing out various species of trees. Below are some of the children who worked on pine cone bird feeders to be hung around the park. Spreading peanut butter on the pine cones can be a messy but tasty job, they found. From left are Josh Nesselrodt, Justin Nesselrodt, and Destiny Lee.

THE WAY OF THE GUN

Rated R - Running Time: 1:59 - Released 9/8/00

I have never been thrilled by the work of actor Ryan Phillippe, having witnessed his appalling turns in such bad movies as Cruel Intentions and I Know What You Did Last Summer. While Phillippe is probably the weakest link in The Way Of The Gun, he is leagues better here than I have ever seen him. Perhaps it is the overall quality of the film and the expertise of his writer/director and his many talented co-stars that bouys him up to their level. Written and directed by Christopher McQuarrie, who won the Best Screenplay Oscar for 1995's The Usual Suspects, the film is tense, gritty, and extremely violent, with first-time director McQuarrie clearly emulating the style of such edgy filmmakers as Sam Peckinpah, Quentin Tarantino, and Martin Scorsese.

The story revolves around a pregnant woman named Robin (Juliette Lewis), who is acting as a surrogate mother for wealthy couple Hale and Francesca Chidduck (Scott Wilson and Kristin Lehman). Apparently, the couple is perfectly capable of producing their own child, but the spoiled Francesca is unwilling to do so, and they are planning to pay Robin $1 million to have their baby. As she approaches her due date, her story is overheard by petty criminals Parker (Phillippe) and Longbaugh (Benicio Del Toro), who decide to kidnap Robin and her precious cargo and hold them for ransom. They cross the Mexican border and hole up in a seedy motel, followed by Robin's two bodyguards (Taye Diggs and Nicky Katt), Chidduck's vigilante friend Joe Sarno (James Caan), and his buddy Abner (Geoffrey Lewis), all loaded to the teeth and out for blood. Also along is Robin's only friend, Dr. Allen Painter (Dylan Kussman), Chidduck's estranged son, who must perform the delivery under the most harsh circumstances. After some gunplay at the motel, the action culminates at a rundown adobe village where Robin's delivery occurs amid a hail of bullets between several factions. All are interested in the baby and its earning potential, but could not care less about the welfare of the mother (except inasmuch as her health determines that of her unborn infant).

This film is certainly not for the faint of heart, and probably not for any woman currently expecting a child. It's definitely a guy film, with lots of blood and guts, plenty of Mexican standoffs, and a good old fashioned shootout at the end like something you'd see in Butch Cassidy And The Sundance Kid (except in this film we're not afforded the luxury of a freezeframe before the bloodshed). But it's extremely well acted and well-shot, and the screenplay is toughly engaging, raising the tension steadily throughout the film. Phillippe and Del Toro are convincing in their roles as a couple of guys with nothing to lose, and their innovative, leaderless collaboration is fascinating to watch. Lewis is as convincing here as she was in Natural Born Killers, once again showing her immense talent as a woman on the edge. And Caan, Diggs, and Katt are also gritty and believable throughout. Joe Kraemer's original music adds a lot to the proceedings, ratcheting up the tension whenever necessary. For a first-time directing effort, The Way Of The Gun offers a tantalizing look at McQuarrie's promising new career. ★★★★½

HIGHLANDER: ENDGAME

Rated R - Running Time: 1:27 - Released 9/1/00

The title "Endgame" bears a vague implication that this may be the final appearance of the Highlander series; however agreeable that notion may be, I wouldn't bet on it. I must admit I'm quite ignorant of the long running series, but from what I've read, this film disregards many major story elements established by the climaxes of its several prequels and therefore doesn't claim to be upholding any sense of chronology, so there could be more such films to come. This is unfortunate, because I'd really rather not have to sit through another one of these ponderous, self-reverential quasi-epics again.

Following (or not following) the story structure established by the original 1986 Highlander movie, which has led to several sequels and a short-lived TV series, Endgame resurrects the saga of some immortal Scotsmen, among them Connor MacLeod (Christopher Lambert), Duncan MacLeod (Adrian Paul), and Duncan's wife Kate (Lisa Barbuscia), who seem to be engaged in a killing game against Jacob Kell (Bruce Payne), with whom Connor has a grudge dating back to the 16th century. Jacob, who once was Connor's friend, had Connor's mother burned at the stake for witchcraft. While grieving over his scorched mother, Connor killed an unarmed priest who was approaching him from behind and whom he took for an assailant. This priest was Jacob's father figure, and the altercation led to the bad blood between the two men which has lasted until the present. The fact that they are immortal means that they can, and have been, killed over and over again through the centuries, but have "difficulty dying." They have remained enemies just as Connor and Duncan have remained friends. (It is not made clear whether Connor and Duncan are brothers, cousins, or simply two guys from Scotland with the same last name; I'm sure devotees of the series know their true relationship.)

This film, directed by Douglas Aarniokoski and written by Joel Soisson, based on a story by Gillian Horvath and long-time Highlander writer Bill Panzer, is about as muddled as it could be. A dazzlingly confusing mishmash of earnestly-filmed period scenes, yawningly choreographed modern-day kung fu/machine gun combat, and good old-fashioned Braveheart-style Scottish swordplay, it jumps relentlessly back and forth between the present time and every century in between, giving us an idea of the various conflicts that have shaped the relationship between all the above named characters. I'm sure Highlander fans will get more out of it than I did; however, for one who is not familiar with the series, I daresay it is indistinguishable from a really bad dream, where things make sense only in the immediate context of the present scene. Director Aarniokoski should have put forth more effort to make the film newcomer-friendly. Although the many period scenes are generally well shot and well-accoutered, the acting is rather spotty, featuring an aging, tired-of-this-part Lambert looking like Phil Hartman and sounding like Tom Waits, and a youthfully rugged Paul providing adequate energy in his well-worn role. Between Payne's Bond-villain style overacting and Barbuscia's inability to read a line convincingly, they stink up every scene they're in.

Thanks to its motley collection of story elements, settings, and acting styles, leaving this film is like getting off an amusement park ride you never wanted on in the first place: you're tired, confused, a little sickish, and several parts of your body ache. And you're not sure what that weird smell is. ★★½

THE ORIGINAL KINGS OF COMEDY

Rated R - Running Time: 1:55 - Released 8/18/00

Since Spike Lee is one of the most respected black directors of all time, and one of my favorites, it seems surprising that he is at the helm of The Original Kings Of Comedy, which is basically just a straightforward film of a comedy concert by four prominent black comedians. It's not that Kings is a bad film, but it could have been directed by anyone; Lee seems overqualified.

The film's content is mainly just the onstage antics of emcee Steve Harvey and his guests, D.L. Hughley, Cedric the Entertainer, and Bernie Mac, who each do about 20-30 minutes with Harvey appearing in between, at a live concert filmed in Charlotte, North Carolina, last February, part of the phenomenally successful Kings Of Comedy tour which has swept the nation in the past few years. They don't cover any astoundingly new material, but do get plenty of laughs from their nearly all-black audience, discussing such things as their grandmothers' behavior in church, their favorite kind of music, the differences between blacks and whites, and sex. The material is definitely aimed at black audiences, but there is plenty to please everyone as long as one is not offended by profanity, which is used heavily by all four comedians. The only bit I actually found offensive was Mac's section on the virtues of good old-fashioned child abuse when the kids act up. I can agree that child rearing has become more challenging in recent years than in the old days when a swat on the butt was the most common form of discipline, but hitting a kid on the head with a hammer and leaving a bump is just not funny to me. Also in his set was about 10 minutes on the importance of the M-F word in black vocabulary, featuring a hypothetical conversation containing the word used in every sentence. I'm not personally offended by the word; I just thought the bit was boring and uninspired.

The set is quite extravagant in the immense Charlotte Coliseum, decorated with huge crowns and other kingly things, and Lee's use of roving cameras in the house catches the favorable reactions of the audience members during the entire film. In between the sets are short, candid scenes shot backstage to help us get to know the comics in a more personal way. It is during these intimate scenes where Lee's style is more clearly evident, using settings such as a basketball court or a poker game, along with inventive camera angles and editing to give a spontanaeous feel.

Overall I would say that one's enjoyment of The Original Kings Of Comedy would depend on one's tastes in stand-up comedians. Not being of the African American persuasion, I could not clearly identify with a lot of what these guys were saying, but I still got a chuckle here and there. ★★★½

Tenacious Ram Defense Contains Campers, 14-7

Taking on the role of a true dark horse in area high school football are the Southern High Rams, who surprised most fans a few weeks ago with an impressive 35-6 win over highly touted Musselman, but more than matched that feat last Friday night by upsetting previously undefeated Allegany, 14-7, in Oakland.

It was the third straight win for the Rams, who many thought would be 0-4 at this point in their season. Southern's schedule, which includes a number of 2A schools, is considered one of the most difficult in the area.

Coach Fred Gregg, his staff, and the players executed a near perfect game against the heavily favored Campers, particularly on defense, as Allegany came into the contest having scored a total of 131 points in its first three games (nearly 44 points per game), but was held to just seven by the Rams. The tenacious Ram defense also held the visitors to just one first down in the second half and a total of five for the game.

Southern also finished the game without a single penalty called, with the exception of a kickoff that went out of bounds at the two-yard line.

Senior quarterback Josh Sharon led the Ram offense by scoring both of his team's touchdowns and by picking up crucial first downs on several third-and-long situations. His first score came on a third and goal from the Campers' seven-yard line with 1:10 left in the first quarter, as he broke several tackles and scored by just breaking the plane of the goal line with the ball in his outstretched hands. Jeremy Hayhurst booted the extra point.

The touchdown was the culmination of a 71-yard, 11-play drive on the Rams' first possession. It featured a 15-yard first down pass from Sharon to Josh Fitzwater on a third-and-10 from Southern's 46-yard line, and a 14-yard run by Jeremy Lear that gave the Rams a first down at the Camper 11.

The Campers knotted the score at 7-7 when Blake Hillegas broke loose for a 62-yard touchdown run midway through the second quarter. The five-play, 77-yard drive featured a key six-yard run by quarterback Ryan Strother on a fourth-and-two from the Campers' 32. The conversion kick by Billy Orndorff tied the score with 6:05 left in the first half.

The Rams opened the second half with another drive that included a 20-yard pass from Sharon to Lear, which gave them a first down at the Allegany 40. But two plays later, the Rams fumbled the ball and it was recovered by Alco's Bryan Hare.

The ensuing drive by the Campers was short-lived, as the Rams held them at midfield on a fourth-and-two play when junior Brad Palmer nailed Allegany running back Shannon Miller at the line of scrimmage.

Southern then resumed its drive to the end zone, traveling 51 yards on 10 plays. Included was a crucial 10-yard pass from Sharon to Jon Collins on a fourth-and-seven play from the Allegany 23. Sharon scored two plays later on a seven-yard carry. Hayhurst's second successful conversion kick gave the Rams their 14-7 advantage with 1:36 left in the third quarter.

Allegany had three more possession the rest of the night, but failed to record a single first down.

Hayhurst led the Rams' rushing effort with 71 yards on 19 carries, while Sharon recorded 53 on 14 attempts and Steve Skipper picked up 45 yards on 14 carries. Sharon also completed three of six passes for 49 yards.

Hillegas paced Allegany's ground game with 92 yards on nine carries, 62 of which were recorded on his touchdown run. Miller added 53 yards on 15 carries.

Leading the Ram defensive unit were Palmer and Toby Tasker, who recorded 10 and nine tackles, respectively.

Since the loss to 33-0 loss to Keyser, the Rams have allowed an average of just over four points per game in their last three outings.

The result gave each team a 3-1 record.

"This was a total team effort," said Coach Fred Gregg. "Since our loss to Keyser we have played as a unit. Our kids seem to rise to the occasion at just the right time. They pick each other up and don't get down on each other when they make a mistake.

"We obviously played very well defensively against a powerful offensive team," he continued. "I give all the credit to the players and our defensive coaches — Tim Foley, Jay Stewart, and Dan Anderson."

For the first time this season the Rams will be the favorite going into Friday night's game, as they are scheduled to travel to Kingwood, W.Va., to take on the Preston Knights. However, Coach Gregg is wary of the Knights, despite their unimpressive 1-4 record.

"Preston's schedule is probably even a tougher schedule than ours, if that's possible," he said. "They are definitely not a weak team, and I think they probably are considering us as one of the few teams on their schedule that they think they can beat. Plus, historically, it has always been a tough place to play. So we have to go into this game with the same preparation and same mental intensity that we have had the past three games, or we will probably lose."

Among the Preston players that Gregg is most worried about is Matt Liston, a 6-2, 185-pound junior running back and defensive end. "he is literally one of the best high school players we've seen anywhere," said Gregg, "and apparently he is also just a real great kid."

Liston is a key player on the multi-faceted offensive unit, along with junior running back Stanley Moore (5-6, 165) and senior back Patrick White (5-7, 165).

"They really like to mix it up offensively," Gregg said. "They run, they throw... We have to be ready for everything."

The Knights' 5-2 defense is led by Liston at end.

"Our biggest concern this week is that the kids will let down," Gregg said. "It's hard to stay emotionally high all the time. We look at our schedule and realize that every team on there can beat us. But our job is to believe that there's not a team on there that we can't beat. We still have a lot of work to do to get our team where we want to be."

Friday's kickoff at Preston is slated for 7:30 p.m.

RAMS RAM CAMPERS - It was a huge victory on the Southern High School athletic field Friday night when the Southern Rams upset the undefeated Campers of Allegany High, 14-7. Carrying the ball in the above photo is Southern quarterback Josh Sharon, who scored 12 of the Rams' 14 points, and fired a couple crucial passes that were key to the victory. Below, senior fullback Jeremy Hayhurst takes off to record some of his 71 yards for the evening. The Ram defensive unit held the Campers to a total of five first downs and seven points, approximately 37 points below their per game average. Steelers Tame Wildcats In 27-0 Shutout

The Northern Steelers of the Cumberland Area Youth Football League throttled the D&D Wildcats in Westernport Saturday. Quarterback Robert Stark tossed a pair of touchdown passes to go with scoring runs by Jeremiah Wilt and Ian Wooden, who followed up on his own 68-yard return of a recovered fumble by taking a handoff and carrying the ball across the goal line for a one-yard score.

Northern got on the board for the first time in the second quarter when Stark hit Darrick Lowdermilk for a 28-yard scoring strike. A successful point-after pass attempt from Stark to Robert Fontaine made the score 7-0, a lead Northern took into the halftime locker room.

Wooden scooped a Wildcat fumble in the third quarter and romped 68 yards before being brought down short of the goal line. A short time later he scored on a one-yard plunge, then kicked the extra point to make the score 15-0.

Stark struck again in the fourth quarter by launching a 36-yard touchdown pass that Lowdermilk gathered in for a score, then later Wilt rumbled 39 yards on the ground to account for the final 27-0 margin.

Stark finished the day with four completions in just five attempts for a 118-yard tally. The Steeler defense was paced by aggressive play by Tyler Warn, Chris Baker, and Chris Fickes.

The 3-2 Steelers are slated to host 5-0 Ridgeley this Saturday at Northern High School.

Huskies Wreak Havoc On Rams' Homecoming To Take 34-6 Win

With the bright afternoon sun shining on dappled hills to provide a perfect setting for Turkeyfoot's homecoming celebration, the Northern High School football team played the spoiler Saturday in routing the Rams by a 34-6 margin. The Huskies made the contest a rather painless affair for their opponents, going for the quick kill by taking a 27-0 halftime lead on their way to upping their record to 4-0.

"It was a team effort, and we had excellent production from a number of people," NHS head coach Phil Carr commented afterward. "Our young offensive line keeps improving, and led the way to 298 yards rushing, while our defense didn't give up a first down until just over two minutes to play in the game. We need to continue playing like that to make a run for the playoffs."

Halfback Rob Dozier, playing in only his second game after coming off a pre-season shoulder injury, rolled up 96 yards on 18 carries, scoring one touchdown in the process. Quarterback Trey Brenneman worked the outside option scheme to score a pair of second quarter touchdowns, and for the contest he carried the ball 11 times for 52 yards. Workhorse runner Mark Wolf was sidelined early in the second quarter with a nagging leg injury after he had already amassed 51 yards on nine carries, and second string halfback Cheston Bachtel stepped in to gain 47 yards on 10 carries. Bachtel also intercepted a pass on defense and special team member Lee Yoder blocked a punt, and each of those plays led to Northern touchdowns.

NHS got on the board early in the first quarter when Dozier took his one-yard plunge into the end zone to make the score 6-0. Bachtel sparked Northern's second score when, prowling the secondary in his free safety assignment, he picked off a pass on Turkeyfoot's second possession and returned the ball 12 yards to the Rams' 30-yard line. Wolf capped a scoring march with a five-yard run to give the Huskies a 12-0 lead.

In the second quarter, Turkeyfoot's defense attempted to adjust by keying on NHS's inside running game, which was rolling up gains of four or five yards seemingly at will. While the Rams were concentrating on stopping fullback Bill Rodeheaver, quarterback Brenneman took to the outside on a pair of scoring runs, one from one yard out and the other a three-yard scamper. With a successful conversion run by Wolf and Brenneman's connection on a point-after kick, the Huskies took a 27-0 lead into the halftime locker room.

The third quarter was relatively quiet until Yoder blocked a Ram punt late in the period. The Huskies recovered the ball on Turkeyfoot's four-yard line, and a couple of plays later Bachtel carried the ball across the goal line from the two. Brenneman's extra-point kick made the score 34-0 with one second remaining before the fourth quarter began.

Carr called off the hounds in the final period, giving his second stringers their time in the sun. Turkeyfoot's initial first down of the day came with 2:17 remaining in the contest as the Rams began a scoring drive that resulted in a 15-yard touchdown pass from Nathan Bungard to Andrew Wass with only 22 seconds to go. The inevitable onside kick was snagged by NHS up-man Jason Moore, and the offense kneeled on the ball to close out the contest.

The Huskies led in first downs, 20-6, and in total offense, 320-105. The Northern defense gave up only one first down on the ground and held the Rams to just 27 yards on 23 carries. Carr noted the fine defensive play of linebacker Bill Rodeheaver and defensive end Trey Brenneman as key to the stonewalling effort.

The unbeaten Northern unit is idle this week, and will use the break to heal injuries and scout out remaining opponents. The Huskies host Bishop Walsh (1-5 at this point) on Friday, Oct. 13. Coach Carr's scouting report of the Spartan squad will appear in next week's paper.

Maddawg Squads Split Pair With Cresaptown Guests

The Northern Maddawgs Pee Wee Football League C team took a convincing 26-7 victory over Cresaptown Saturday, while the A&B Maddawg squad fell to Cresaptown by a 45-18 margin.

The C team's 19-point victory was sparked by two touchdown runs by Aaron Lapp, and one scoring run each by Zach Watkins and Austin Tombley. Watkins and Kameron Kamp also provided extra-point scores. The win gave the C squad a 6-0-1 record.

The A&B team did not get onto the scoreboard until the third quarter, at which point the Maddawgs were already down by a 32-0 tally. The Maddawgs' first score came on a 16-yard run by Jared Rodeheaver. Northern put two more touchdowns on the board in the final period on two long runs. Jason Doerr reeled off a 30-yard scoring scamper, and Ryan Winebrenner reeled off a 25-yard touchdown run. Cresaptown added 13 points in the fourth quarter to reach its 45-point tally. The loss left the A&B unit with a 2-5 mark.

Both Maddawg teams are slated to travel to Romney this Saturday for their final regular season game, and the C team will play in a Pee Wee tournament the following day in Allegany County.

Oakland Youth Football League Results Noted

No teams in the NCAA Division (contact) of the Oakland Youth Football League remain unbeaten, as the formerly undefeated Gregg's Pharmacy Mountaineers were edged, 38-35, by the Team One Terps on Saturday.

In other games in that division, the Gonder Insurance Tigers rolled over the Rinker Construction Nittany Lions, 39-7, the First United Buckeyes whipped the winless TCI Cougars, 34-7, and the F.O.P. Fighting Irish topped the Oak-Mar Development Bears, 32-19.

There is now a three-way tie for first place in the division standings, with the Mountaineers, Tigers, and Buckeyes all sporting 5-1 records. The Terps are 4-2, followed by the Lions and Irish at 2-4, the Bears with a 1-5 mark, and the Cougars 0-6.

In the NFL Division of the league (flag), the Jets remained undefeated with a hard-fought 14-6 win over the second-place Ravens, and the Raiders edged the Redskins, 31-25, in overtime.

LEMLEY MEMORIAL TOURNEY RAISES $10K — The Al Lemley Memorial Golf Tournament took place at the Oakland Country Club recently, as 18 four-person teams competed to raise approximately $10,000 for several local volunteer and non-profit community service organizations. Seventy-six local businesses and individuals donated funds and prizes for the charitable event. These photos show the donation checks presented by tournament organizer Jeanne Lemley, who designated the proceeds to benefit these organizations. The above left photo shows Lemley, left, presenting a $3,000 check to Kathy Greaser, director of development for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation. To the right, Mike Phillippi, chief of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, accepts a $3,000 check; below left, Lemley presents a $1,500 check to Pat Bowser, member of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad; and below right, Lemley presents a $1,500 check to David Moon, chief of the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad. The event also included a 50/50 drawing, which resulted in a $1,348.50 tally for the charity effort and an identical winnings share for Swanton resident Frances Sweitzer, shown at the bottom accepting the check from Lemley. The third annual Lemley Memorial Golf Tournament was, according to its organizers, "a tremendous success."

Local Business To Again Sponsor Donate-A-Ski

Customers of High Mountain Sports last year donated almost a tractor trailer full of used winter sporting goods to various charities through the Donate-A-Ski/Donate-A-Board Program. Customers are invited to bring any skis, boots, bindings, or snowboards to High Mountain Sports, Deep Creek Lake, and receive a tax deduction.

"Last year most of our customers donated their unsold equipment from the annual Autumn Glory Ski and Snowboard Swap. Most people were very enthusiastic about this program, so we have continued it this year," said High Mountain Sports co-owner Steve Green.

Snowboards, boots, bindings, and clothing were in high demand during last year's Snowlink.com's Donate-a-Ski/Donate-a-Board program. One snowboard company, Sims, heard about it and made a generous donation to kick off the 2000 program, which will run Oct. 7 through Dec. 31.

Sims donated 50 boards, 100 pairs of boots, and assorted children's and adult clothing, all in good condition, some of it new. That equipment and clothing will be used by charitable groups for their winter recreation and racing programs.

"Donate-A-Ski/Donate-A-Board is designed so that individuals can get rid of snow sports stuff they don't use any more, and know that it will be appreciated. If you donate your used snow sports equipment and clothing to Donate-A-Ski/Donate-A-Board, it will go to charitable sports causes, such as the Special Olympics and the Snowboard Outreach Society," Green explained.

Last year, over 90 tons of clothing and gear were collected, evaluated, then donated to 22 charitable organizations, including 71 Special Olympics chapters in 25 states. Other organizations that received items last season were United Homes for Children, Charlotte Central School, Boot Strap High School, Youth Enrichment Services, and Challenged Athletes.

Donate-a-Ski/Donate-a-Board is sponsored by Snowlink, Outdoor Life Network, and COULOIR magazine. The program is conducted through the SIA Foundation, which is supplying major funding and organizational support. The SIA Foundation is the charitable arm of SnowSports Industries America (SIA), McLean, Va. SIA is the national, nonprofit, member-owned trade association of more than 800 competing snow sports product manufacturers, suppliers, and distributors working together to promote and develop the snow sports industry.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the fourth year, The Republican is asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is The Republican Newspaper's WARM THE CHILDREN FUND?

The Republican newspaper's Warm the Children Fund is, basically, neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds will be used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administrates the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special core of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. Those selected for applications will be receiving them soon. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will soon be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Volunteers will take the families shopping either through the J.C. Penney catalog store in Oakland or at the Ames in Frostburg. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, jeans, long johns, boots, or other needed winter items, spending up to $80 per child. Bobby Andersen and Bobbie Henderson, along with members of the Civic Club of Oakland, are coordinating the Penney's volunteers. Lisa Broadwater, the office manager of the newspaper's Grantsville location, is coordinating those who will shop at Ames.

How can I help?

We need two things: volunteers and donations. To volunteer as a shopper at Penney's, please call Bobby Andersen at 301-334-4459. To volunteer as a shopper at Ames, please call Lisa Broadwater at 301-895-5827 or 301-746-8223. For general information, you may call Mary McEwen, program coordinator, at 301-334-3963.

THE REPUBLICAN

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children Fund.

Please make your donations before Nov. 30, 2000. Those collected after Nov. 30 will be saved for next year.

AN OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE against the area's top-ranked team was produced by the Southern High School boys' varsity Tuesday night in Oakland, as the Rams unseated the highly touted Bishop Walsh Spartans with a dominant, 5-0 victory. Pictured above are Rams Riff Browning (#6) and D.R. Parsons (#2) ganging up on BW's Eric Periozzo. Also visible in the photo for the Rams are #10 Brian Cathell, #9 Bryan Schwalm, and at far right background, Dustin Slider. Pictured below is Southern's Chad Panther (#5), also in direct competition with Periozzo, the Spartans' leading scorer. The Rams, who were embarrassed by the Spartans by a 9-1 score just a few weeks ago, also defeated Fort Hill and Allegany this past week. They will attempt to avenge another early season loss this Friday when they travel to the Cove to take on the Northern Huskies. Photos by John McEwen.

FRESHMEN POWER - The Southern High School girls' soccer team recorded a major victory last night in Oakland by topping the powerful Bishop Walsh Spartans, 3-1, and thus avenging the team's only loss of the season. Much of the Rams' success this year is because of the inflow of a highly talented group of freshmen who have accounted for the majority of scoring this year. SHS Boys Defeat Sentinels, Campers; Stun BW Spartans

After losing three of their first four matches this season, the Southern High School boys' varsity racked up three impressive victories in a row this past week, all of which were against Cumberland teams and two of which avenged earlier losses to the same teams. The Rams defeated host and Western Maryland Interscholastic League foe Fort Hill, 3-2, in overtime last Thursday at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland, recorded a 5-3 WMIL win over Allegany at Greenway on Saturday, and then knocked Bishop Walsh from the ranks of the unbeaten in Oakland on Tuesday with an outstanding 5-0 win.

The Rams had lost to Allegany in double overtime, 3-2, the previous Saturday in Oakland, and had endured a 9-1 thrashing at the hands of the BW Spartans back on September 9 in Cumberland. Bishop Walsh came into Tuesday's match with a 10-0 record.

The victories improved the Rams' overall record to 4-3 and their WMIL mark to 2-2. They will get a chance to avenge yet another loss this Friday night when they play at Northern.

In last Thursday's match against Fort Hill, the Rams won the first half of action with a pair of goals, the Sentinels won the second half with two goals, and Southern finally put the match away with a sudden-death goal in the overtime period.

Southern's Chad Panther put the first goal of the match on the board when he scored off a feed from Chris Remley midway through the first half (19:14).

Southern Girls Mash Vikings Before Upsetting Bishop Walsh

Two more victories were recorded within 24 hours this week by the Southern High School girls' varsity soccer team, including a huge 3-1 win at home last night over Bishop Walsh, the area's top ranked team. The Rams came into that match having rolled over host Keyser, 8-1, Tuesday.

The pair of victories upped the Rams' record to 7-1, and the win over BW avenged their only defeat of the year, a 2-0 loss to the Spartans last month.

Five different players scored for the Rams against Keyser on Tuesday, as Southern dominated the entire match, out-shooting the Golden Tornados by a lopsided 29-4 margin and leading in corner kicks, 13-3.

Brittany Naylor put the first goal in the net for the Rams off an assist by Robbin Gregg with nine minutes left in the first quarter.

Keyser tied the score when one its four shots, this one by Lacy Rohrbaugh, got by Ram keeper Becky Martin just 18 seconds after Naylor's goal. Getting an assist on the play was April Konka.

Freshman Justine Pagenhardt put the Rams on top for good when she drilled home a pass from Jenny Hickman at the 9:49 mark of the second quarter. Then Hickman scored off a feed by Sabrina Scheffel with 1:03 left in the half to give the Rams a 3-1 halftime lead.

The third quarter was a disaster for the home team, as the Rams scored three goals in a span of less than four minutes, and two more in the final couple minutes of that period.

The first two of the quarter were scored unassisted by Scheffel, another Ram freshman, at the 16:59 and 15:40 marks. Gina Reeves than scored with 13:08 remaining off an assist by Gregg. Naylor added an unassisted goal with 2:19 left, and Reeves put her second goal of the night in the net with 1:43 left on the clock.

The fourth period was all defense.

Tosha Likin was credited with 16 saves for Keyser, which dropped to 2-10 on the season.

The biggest win to date this season was the 3-1 defeat of powerful Bishop Walsh last night, a team that came to Oakland sporting a 9-1 record. But not only did the Rams defeat the favored Spartans, they dominated play from the opening kickoff.

The Rams finished with a commanding 25-9 advantage in shots on goal, while each team finished with five corner kicks.

BW's Alison Earnest tied the score about eight minutes later with an unassisted goal at the 15:43 mark.

Burner struck again for the Rams with another unassisted goal on a direct kick with 8:43 left in the half to give her team the lead for good.

Getting an insurance goal for the Rams was Gina Reeves, who headed a ball into the net that was crossed to her by Casey Taylor with 3:21 left in the half.

The Rams continued their offensive pressure throughout the second half,

Southern Girls Successfully Defend Area Championship

The reigning 1A state champion girls' cross country team of Southern High School successfully defending its area title again this week by placing first in the Area Invitational Tuesday afternoon on their home course at Broadford Park.

The Rams finished with 49 team points to top nine other teams, while Hampshire placed second with 62 and Frankfort was third with 82.

Melissa Durst, who finished third in the state meet last year, paced the Rams, along with freshman teammate Natalie Domenick, as the two finished third and fourth, respectively. Hampshire sisters Susan and Jennifer Davis placed first and second, with times of 18:50 and 19:04, well ahead of the rest of the field. Durst's time was 21:21, and Domenick recorded a time of 21:40.

Southern's Amber Stewart, Stephanie DiSimone, and Emily Cosner rounded out the top five for the team by placing 13th, 14th, and 15th, respectively.

Fort Hill finished in fourth place as a team with 90 points, followed by Allegany with 105, Keyser with 112, Pendelton with 172, Westmar with 177, and Beall and East Hardy with incomplete scores.

Meanwhile, in the boys race, Southern finished seventh in the team standings with a score of 149. Westmar won the boys' title with a score of 55, Fort Hill was second with 71, and Hampshire placed third with 75.

Beall's Ryan Foster claimed individual top honors by completing the course in 16:16, followed by Hampshire's Shane Ruggles in second (16:35) and Sid Bittinger, an all-state runner for Westmar (16:54).

Keyser placed fourth as a team with 92 points, followed by Frankfort with 135, Beall with 141, Southern, Allegany with 207, and Pendelton and East Hardy with incomplete scores.

In the junior varsity races, Hampshire won the boys' race, 17-38, over Southern, while Southern captured the girls' event, 20-35, over Keyser.

In the Fort Frederick/Queen City Striders Invitational, held Saturday at Fort Frederick State Park in Big Pool, the Southern girls placed fifth among 12 teams, while the boys finished 12th among 13 teams.

Durst again paced the SHS girls with a ninth place time of 21:35, followed by Domenick in 12th place with a time of 21:52. DiSimone and Steward placed 42nd and 43rd, respectively, and Erin Lucas was 62nd among the 122 runners.

Leading the Southern boys was Matt Frederick, who placed 63rd, while Tony Cerrito was 66th, Steve Eiswert placed 79th, and Coy Ware was 84th. There were 143 in the boys' race.

SHS GIRLS REPEAT AS AREA CHAMPS - The Southern High School girls' cross country team has dominated the sport in the area for a number of years, and continues to do so this year, as the Runnin' Rams won another Area championship Tuesday afternoon on their home course at Broadford Park. Pictured below left is Southern's Melissa Durst, who placed third in the Maryland state championships last year, and was third Tuesday in the Area meet with a time of 21:21. Placing in fourth place right behind her was teammate Natalie Domenick, a freshman, in 21:40. Above right, from left, are Southern's Stephanie DiSimone, Amber Stewart, and Emily Cosner, who placed 14th, 13th, and 15th, respectively. There were 55 girls in the race, representing 10 area schools. The Rams placed first with a team score of 49, followed by Hampshire with 62. Photos by John McEwen.

SHS Boys

The Campers tied the score at 2-2 with 27:15 remaining in the match, with Aaron Clark recording a goal off an assist by James Smith.

Parsons put Southern back on top with a goal just 22 seconds later off a feed by Remley, but Camper Nathan Markey tied it at 3-3 with a goal off an assist by Chris Bloskey with 18:14 left.

Parsons then responded with his two goals, the first off an assist by Panther at the 14:40 mark, and the second unassisted just two minutes later (12:39).

The Rams finished with a 17-16 edge in shots on goal, while Allegany had a 5-4 lead in corner kicks.

Menker was credited with 13 saves in goal for the Rams, and Jon Poland earned nine for the Campers.

The loss dropped Allegany to 4-3.

Even though the Rams' overall play has been far more impressive of late, few area fans believed they had any real chance of toppling undefeated Bishop Walsh Tuesday night. But from the opening whistle the Rams dominated play, consistently beating the Spartans to the ball and, on defense, repeatedly turning away the BW attacks.

The game ended with Southern holding only a 25-22 advantage in shots on goal and a 4-3 deficit in corner kicks, but outstanding defensive play by sweeper Bryan Schwalm, fullbacks Dustin Slider and Brandon Heselbach, and keeper Chris Menker did not allow a single score by the usually high-power, high-scoring BW machine.

Offensively, it was Clement Chauzat who led the Rams, as he came off the bench and ultimately finished the night with a hat trick.

Chauzat scored the first of his three goals at the 15:21 mark off an assist by Brian Cathell to give the Rams a 2-0 halftime advantage.

An unassisted goal by Chris Remley just about 12 minutes into the second half (28:02) gave the Rams a 3-0 lead, and Dustin Slider made it 4-0 less than seven minutes later (21:24) with a goal off a pass from Ryan Ewing.

A powerful direct kick by Chauzat from about 35 yards out hit the hands of BW keeper Kevin Youngblood, but slipped through his fingers and into the net to conclude the Rams' scoring with 17:45 left on the clock.

Menker earned the shutout in goal with 14 saves, while Youngblood was credited with 15 saves.

The Rams, coached by Tom Powers and Mel Menker, lost their season opener, 3-2, to cross-county rival Northern in Oakland on September 5, and will attempt to avenge that defeat this Friday at Husky stadium. They will host undefeated Beall next Tuesday.

The loss dropped Fort Hill to 1-5-1 overall and 0-3-1 in the WMIL.

The Southern junior varsity won the preliminary match, 4-1.

The Rams never trailed in Saturday's return match against Allegany, but the contest was tied at 2-2 and 3-3 before Don Parsons scored a pair of goals late in the second half to guarantee the Southern victory.

Southern took a 2-0 lead with an unassisted goal by Chad Panther at the 36:30 mark and a goal by Clement Chauzat off a feed by Parsons with 29:52 remaining in the first half.

Alco's T.J. McCullough cut the Rams' lead in half with an unassisted goal at the 21:44 mark.

but there was no more scoring by either team. Becky Martin had five saves in goal for Southern, while Kelli Amoroso was credited with 15 for the Spartans.

The match against Bishop Walsh was the first home contest of the season for the Rams, who have begun a five-match home streak. They will host Frankfort next Monday and entertain county rival Northern next Wednesday, with the kickoffs set for 7:30 p.m.

Husky Booters Top Vikings, Then Lose First To Berlin

The boys' varsity soccer team of Northern High School upped its record to 5-0-1 with a 4-0 victory over host Petersburg last Thursday evening, but saw its unbeaten streak stopped with a 3-2 loss to visiting Berlin Tuesday night.

Coach Tom Ables and his squad will attempt to get back into the win column this Friday night when they host county rival Southern in a 7:30 p.m. match. The Huskies edged the Rams, 3-2, in the season opener for both teams early last month in Oakland.

Guy Beitzel scored a pair of goals for the Huskies in their win over Petersburg last Thursday, with his first one coming, unassisted, at the 10:50 mark of the first quarter.

Shawn Fike made it 2-0 with an unassisted goal at the 10:25 mark of the second quarter.

Beitzel put the ball in the net off an assist by Eric Durst with 14:45 remaining in the third period, and then Durst tacked on an insurance goal, unassisted, at the 10:00 mark of the final quarter.

The Huskies dominated play throughout, finishing with a lopsided 26-8 advantage in shots on goal, although the Vikings had a 3-2 edge in corner kicks.

Woody Kenner recorded six saves for the Huskies, while J.B. Watts turned away 20 Husky shots for Petersburg, including a diving save on a penalty kick.

The loss evened the Vikings' record at 7-7.

C. Miller accounted for all three goals for Berlin against the Huskies Tuesday night, rallying his team from a 2-1 deficit for the victory.

After nearly 35 minutes of scoreless defensive play, Shane Mayle put the Huskies up 1-0 with an unassisted goal at the 6:03 mark. Exactly three minutes later, Miller scored the first of his goals, unassisted, to knot the score at 1-1.

Woody Kenner hit a penalty kick for the Huskies at the 32:28 mark of the second half to make it 2-1, but Miller ultimately responded with two more unassisted goals, at the 12:12 and 10:08 marks, to give Berlin the win.

The Huskies trailed in shots on goal by a 29-25 margin, but finished with a 3-2 edge in corner kicks. Kenner had 11 saves in goal, while the Berlin keeper recorded 14.

After Friday's big match with Southern, the Huskies are slated to play at Bishop Walsh next Tuesday.

Workers Needed To Clear Rocks From New Field

There will be a "rockfest" at the new softball/soccer field in Loch Lynn this Saturday, Oct. 7, to ready the fields for both girls' softball and Mountaintop Soccer League (MSA) youth soccer matches. The "event" involves a gathering of volunteers with rakes, buckets, and wheelbarrows to clear the area of rocks.

According to MSA spokesperson Karl Schwalm, all ages are invited, including small children. He said clearing the field of rocks is the final step before seeding the area next week.

The group will work from 1 to 5 p.m Saturday, with Sunday (same time) being the rain date. Schwalm said that persons are asked to bring the above items, as well as gloves.

The fields are located near the Loch Lynn town garage.

Special Olympics Organizing New Sports Programs

The Special Olympics group in Garrett County is now starting several new programs. These include a variety of sports that will give the athletes more options as to what sport they wish to participate in.

One of the newest activities is bocce. This sport is very much like bowling. In this game a small ball is thrown down a lane and then a larger ball is rolled toward it. The closer the large ball gets, the higher the score. This is considered a "lifetime" sport since anyone can participate despite health, age, or disability. There is not yet a facility for this activity.

Also, there will be an aquatics program. The athletes will be taught the basics of swimming and be encouraged to increase their abilities. There will, however, be a limited number of athletes chosen to participate because of a required 2 to 1 ratio of athletes to volunteers in the pool. Practice will take place at the B&R Mountain Resort in McHenry.

Soccer and cross-country skiing are among the other new sports to be offered. Soccer will focus on basic skill drills, and, depending on the amount of interest, a team may be formed that will compete. There will be soccer practices at Accident Elementary School, unless a more central location is needed. The skiing program will consist of several distances to ski, such as the 500 meters, 1 Kilometer, and 4x1 Relays. This activity will be held at Herrington Manor State Park.

Coaches and volunteers are needed for all four sports, and no prior experience is necessary. Bowling, cycling, and downhill skiing are also still offered.

Anyone who would like to participate or help may contact Chad Brown at 301-895-3793 for more information.

NHS Golf Squad Takes 10-Stroke Win Into Region

After the Regional Golf Tournament was rained out last week, the duffers of Northern High warmed up for yesterday's re-scheduled tourney by running away from the opposition with a 10-stroke win during a Monday triangular in Cumberland.

A.J. Thomas led the way by shooting a 1-over par to pace the Huskies to a 172 team score on the Cumberland Country Club links, while Westmar tallied a 182 and Allegany brought up the rear with a 205. Thomas's 37 was good for low-medalist honors, outdistancing a 43 by Westmar's T.J. Laffey, while Mike Ruppenkamp led Allegany with a 46.

NHS's victory gave the squad a 19-5 record heading into yesterday's Regional Tourney at Hagerstown's Black Rock Golf Course, the results of which were not available this morning. The Huskies were slated to square off against Allegany, Beall, Fort Hill, Westmar, and arch-rival Southern.

NHS will host a quadrangular Monday at the Wisp, teeing off at 4 p.m. against Frankfort, Westmar, and Bishop Walsh. The Garrett County Championship Tournament will take place next Thursday, Oct. 12, at the Oakland Golf Club.

Ram Duffers Maintain Cool To Down Keyser

The Southern High School golf team made every stroke count Tuesday as the Rams nipped host Keyser by one stroke at the Polish Pines Golf Course.

Low medalist Nathan Swartzentruber shot a 35 to lead the Rams to their 157-158 victory, as teammates Justin DiSimone and Bryson Meyers carded 40s and T.J. Nine recorded a 42. Keyser's Holcraft shot a 37 to lead the Golden Tornado.

Southern visited the Black Rock Golf Course in Hagerstown yesterday to take part in the Regional Golf Tournament. Rounding out the six-team field were Allegany, Fort Hill, Westmar, Beall, and arch-rival Northern. The tourney's results were not available as of this morning.

The Rams' schedule also includes a visit to Preston today, which will be followed next Thursday, Oct. 12, by the Garrett County Championship match with Northern at the Oakland Golf Club.

Portrayer Of Major League Icon Coming To Our Town Theatre

by Jan Finkel

Christy Mathewson, the greatest right-handed pitcher in National League history, will be appearing at Our Town Theatre for an evening performance on Friday, Oct. 20, and a matinee on Saturday, Oct. 21. Actually, Matty, as his fans, friends, teammates, and opponents knew him, is the title and subject of veteran actor Eddie Frierson's one-man, two-act play, which ran Off-Broadway for several seasons and has been on tour throughout the United States.

Mathewson, the first of five children, was born into relatively comfortable circumstances on August 12, 1880, in Factoryville, Pa. His mother had inherited a bit of money, and his father was what people called a gentleman farmer. Achieving a considerable reputation as both a student and an athlete, Matty went to Bucknell College in Lewisburg, Pa., where he starred in baseball, basketball, and football, was president of his class, sang in the glee club, and belonged to several literary societies. Although he did not graduate, his fame lives on at Bucknell, as the main gate to the campus and the football field each bear his name.

He dropped out of Bucknell and signed a contract to play professional baseball, scandalizing his family. Ballplayers at the time were generally a rough-hewn lot, often of immigrant stock, from farms, slums, and mines, and were not welcome in the better homes, restaurants, and hotels. Matty won over the family, promising his mother not to play on Sunday — hardly a problem because baseball

GCC Netters Return For Homestand Tomorrow After 4-1 Week On Road

The Laker volleyball squad of Garrett Community College took its record to 10-5 this week after facing five opponents on the road, and crushing all but one. Southern Maryland College swept visiting GCC by a 3-0 margin Saturday, Garrett rebounded Monday by annihilating Penn State-McKeesport 3-0 and downing Westmoreland 2-1, and last night the Lakers continued rolling by 2-0 sweeps of CCAC-Boyce and Penn State-New Kensington. The Lakers return to McHenry to begin a four-match homestand tomorrow night against Montgomery-Rockville.

GCC was trounced by Southern Maryland Saturday in LaPlata by game scores of 15-1, 15-4, and 15-10. Crystal Kimble led the Lakers with a 5-for-6 performance from the service line and by going 21-for-31 on sets with three assists. Lauren Stillwagon was a perfect 6-for-6 on serves and converted seven of 12 sets with two assists. Jessica Saturday was 3-for-4 on serves, three of seven on attacks with two kills, and added two solo blocks. Mia Leone was 2-for-2 on blocks, 4-for-4 on service, and had one ace. Tameka Graves was 7-for-11 on attacks and tallied four kills.

The Lakers roared back Monday at Westmoreland by crushing Penn State-McKeesport 15-2 and 15-1. Their other match, against host Westmoreland, began with a 15-13 GCC victory, a 15-12 Garrett defeat in Game 2, and a 20-18 marathon win for the Lakers in the deciding third game.

Against McKeesport, Kimble went a perfect 15-for-15 on service with four aces, and 12-for-13 on sets with nine assists. Saturday was 5-for-5 on service, 5-for-7 on attacks, and tallied four kills and one block. Leone had three kills and a 3-for-3 attack performance, while Graves was 5-for-5 on attacks with four kills. Mimi Harvey went 12-for-12 on serves with three aces, two blocks, and one kill, and Keri Niner was 3-for-3 on attacks with one kill.

Kimble led the Lakers' way to victory against Westmoreland as well, mounting a 12-for-13 service tally with one ace, and going 31-for-39 on sets with 12 assists. Stillwagon had one ace, went 16-for-16 on serves, and was 33-for-47 on sets with 13 assists. Saturday was 11-for-14 on attacks and had eight kills and three blocks. Alison Rose went 5-for-7 on attacks with two kills and three blocks, Leone notched five kills and went 9-for-9 on attacks with nine kills and two blocks. Harvey was 13-for-13 from the service line, 3-for-3 on attacks with one kill, 21-for-32 on passes, and tallied two blocks. Niner was 12-for-15 in serves with two aces, and 15-for-18 on attacks with six kills.

Details of last night's Laker sweeps of CCAC-Boyce and Penn State-McKeesport, each by a 2-0 margin, were not available as of this morning.

Garrett's longest homestand of the year (only four consecutive outings' worth) begins tomorrow evening when Montgomery-Rockville visits McHenry for a 6 p.m. match. Howard will be in town Saturday for a 1 p.m. contest, then CCBC-Essex and Penn State-Fayette will visit Wednesday for a 6 p.m. triangular.

LOCAL ARCHERS MAKING THE MOST OF EXCELLENT EARLY FALL WEATHER

The recent spate of mild weather has given local archers quite a show for the first two weeks of deer season. One of the advantages of hunting the early season can be the weather and this year, so far, it has been outstanding with sunny warm days and cool evenings.

Hunters report seeing most game (and success) in the early evenings, as many of the mornings have been foggy as is expected this time of year.

Bowhunters with nice bucks to their credit include Clarence Collins, who tagged a nine-point near Boiling Springs, John Flanigan with a four-pointer taken near Friendsville, and Darrell Welch with an eight-pointer taken off Sang Run Road.

GROUSE AND SQUIRREL SEASON OPENS THIS WEEK

Maryland's grouse and squirrel seasons open Saturday (October 7) and will stay open through January 31 of next year. Squirrel populations across the state seem high, while biologists are worried that the cold and damp spring season of this past year may have been tough on young grouse resulting in fewer birds.

EARLY MUZZLELOADING SEASON SCHEDULED

The early segments of Maryland's Deer Muzzleloader Season open in October. The first segment takes place on Oct. 19, 20, and 21. The new white-tailed deer, antlerless-only, segment occurs on Oct. 27 and 28 in Deer Management Regions C and D only.

Almost 40,000 muzzleloader hunters take part in the early segments of the Deer Muzzleloader Season. Participation has increased by 12 percent since the first early muzzleloader season in 1994.

The 1999-2000 early segments of the Deer Muzzleloader Season produced a total harvest of 10,969 deer. This number includes 1,002 antlerless deer taken during the two-day antlerless only segment in Deer Management Regions C and D.

FLY-FISHERMEN PREPARE FOR AUTUMN BONANZA

Fly-fishermen are also enjoying the fine weather. We have had enough rainfall to assure fishable levels in area streams and the cooler temperatures are turning the fish on.

Alan Noland of Spring Creek Outfitters reports that they are seeing a reawakening of the hardcore trout fishermen. Action has been good on project sections of the Yough, North Branch, and Savage rivers. We asked Alan for a recommendation on fly patterns and he suggested large attractor type flies for the pocket waters of the North Branch along with bead heads. For the Savage he recommended very, very small cream midge imitations. On last week's Internet fishing report, the DNR featured a picture of an eight-pound, 13-ounce rainbow caught on a beadhead nymph in the Savage River by Carlin Bilch of Pittsburgh.

Anglers should note that on October 1 the project waters of the Casselman and upper North Branch reverted to catch and release status. Stockings on these sections are in progress or will be started shortly.

The Garrett Flyfishers will hold their second monthly gathering of the season next Wednesday, Oct. 11, at the Point View Inn on Deep Creek Lake. The program for this month will be on building split bamboo rods and by Bob Lancaster and Alan Noland.

BIKING SAVAGE RIVER ROAD

This past Sunday, I was cajoled by my wife and friends to participate on a bike ride along the upper reaches of the Savage River. I must admit I was a reluctant participant, having no bike of my own and not having even been on a bike for too many years; but went along as a social adventure. What an afternoon for a ride! Temperatures were in the 70s, the sun was bright, and leaves were beginning their transition to our autumn glory.

Even with a breakdown, the whole epic was a real treat. We parked vehicles in the lot at Big Run State Park and biked about six and a half miles up river and enjoyed an easy ride back. My thanks to Ed and Judy Wetzel for instigating this, and Lynn and Jane Workmeister with Al and Jean Thagard for good company. My dear wife Fern has been after me for some time to do some biking and, if I can count on good times like these, I'll probably do it again.

I must say it is a great way to see the outdoors. The silent mobility provided by the bicycle permits getting close to wildlife without disturbing or prematurely alerting some. For example, we saw a huge raptor that no one was able to identify with certainty. Suggestions were an eagle or maybe red-tail hawk. We saw turkey vultures from a distance, which made me wonder what they knew about us considering my tenderfoot status as a biker.

Husky Netters Swept By Fort Hill, Hyndman

The Northern High School girls' varsity volleyball team weathered a rough week in falling in straight-set sweeps to Fort Hill Thursday and Hyndman Monday. The stumble leaves the Huskies with a 3-6 record.

Opening the week on its homecourt, the Northern squad fell to the undefeated Sentinels by a first-game score of 15-10. NHS quite nearly captured the second contest, but lost in a 16-14 heartbreaker. The wind seemed to be knocked out of Northern's sails at that point, and the Huskies dropped Game 3 by a 15-3 margin.

Malia Collins scored 10 points and tallied two blocks for NHS, while teammate Bridget Frazee contributed four kills. Fort Hill, which upped its record to 7-0, was paced by Jen Vance's 10 kills and Beth Herbst's 15 points.

The Sentinels prevailed in the junior varsity contest as well, downing Northern's jayvees by 15-2, 16-14 margins. Molly Wolf's six points and Jodi Fratz's five points led the Huskies.

NHS didn't seem able to get things in gear Monday night at Hyndman, dropping a 2-0 decision by scores of 15-5 and 15-6. Collins scored four points for Northern, and fellow Husky Amanda Frantz added three points. Hyndman's Amanda Clites led all scorers with seven points.

Hyndman swept the junior varsity match as well, also by a 2-0 game tally.

The Huskies will look to rebound Monday evening when they host the Beall Mountaineers in Accident. A rematch with Fort Hill, this time in Cumberland, follows Wednesday.

League Icon

was played on Sundays in only a few major league cities.

After two years in the minor leagues, Mathewson broke in with the New York Giants in 1900 with less than a bang, losing his first three games. He blossomed the next season, winning 20 games and pitching a no-hitter against St. Louis. After a slight drop-off with a terrible Giants team in 1902, he emerged in 1903 (after marrying Jane Stoughton in March) as the top pitcher in the National League, a position he would hold for 11 years. He retired in 1916 to become manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Under Matty's leadership, the Reds, often the baseball equivalent of Siberia, began to improve steadily. They reached and won the World Series in 1919 — a tainted victory, because their opponents were the infamous Chicago White Sox, eight of whose members were, as the saying of the day went, "laying down."

However bittersweet the win, Matty wasn't able to enjoy it. He had left the team late in the 1918 season to enlist in the Army of the Occupation as a captain in the Chemical Warfare (also known as "Gas and Flame") Division. Dreading the ocean, becoming violently seasick, and contracting the flu, he reached France in a weakened condition. The Armistice and his arrival were almost simultaneous, but for Matty the horror was just beginning. He was accidentally gassed during an exercise, the details of which remain uncertain; whatever happened, the event combined with his already diminished resistance to leave him susceptible to the tuberculosis that would eventually kill him.

Matty returned to the United States in time to observe the 1919 Series (the rumors were flying) and mark his scorecard on questionable plays. He became president of the Boston Braves, but was largely a figurehead because of his steadily declining health. The early 1920s saw Matty trying to stay involved in baseball while struggling to regain his strength. He died at the Trudeau Sanatorium on Saranac Lake, N.Y., on October 7, 1925. He was 45.

The story of Christy Mathewson falls into two inseparable but distinct parts — Matty the pitcher and Matty the hero and icon.

As a pitcher, Matty was extraordinary. His numbers tell one story. His 373 wins tie him with Grover Cleveland Alexander (who joined the Philadelphia Phillies in 1911 and took over Matty's slot as the league's top pitcher) for the National League record. He won 20 or more games 13 times (the 20th-century record, also held by Warren Spahn), including 30 or more four times (1903-05 and 1908. the 20th-century record), reaching 37 (the 20th- century National League record) in 1908. Combining finesse and power, he went for the strikeout when he had to (five times recording over 200), and struck out three hitters for every one he walked. In his greatest performance, the 1905 World Series, he pitched three complete-game shutouts against the Philadelphia Athletics. Using his intelligence and near-photographic memory to prepare meticulously and his pinpoint control, especially of his signature "fadeaway" (or reverse curve, now known as a screwball), to near-perfection, he pitched efficiently, making the batter hit the ball where he wanted him to hit it.

If Matty were pitching today, he would be similar to Tom Seaver and Greg Maddux in his approach to the game. These accomplishments added up to Matty's election in 1936 to the inaugural class of the Baseball Hall of Fame; that heady group of five also included Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner, Babe Ruth, and Walter Johnson. Of the fabulous five, Matty — a casualty of the war — was the only one not present at the dedication and induction ceremonies in July 1939.

As impressive as he was on the mound, Mathewson's stature with the public was even greater. In every sense of the word, he was a hero and an icon, the first that baseball had produced. To begin with, he had the look — tall at 6'1", a chiseled 195 pounds, blond hair, blue eyes, and matinee idol features. Combining that with his gentlemanly demeanor, college background, and reputation for uncompromising honesty and integrity, he was the kind of man that parents wanted their sons to become and their daughters to marry. Matty was so widely respected that umpires, who usually worked games alone, asked his opinion on close plays, confident that he would place honesty over team loyalty. Because of his overall manner, the

Underwood UB Church Marks Rededication

The Underwood United Brethren Church held a special rededication of the church building service this past Sunday, Oct. 1, to mark the 125th anniversary of the construction of the original church structure. The daylong celebration began with a fellowship meal, which was followed by a gospel music concert featuring the Willing Servants of Shippensburg, Pa.

District Elder Rev. Michael Dean of the Fountain United Brethren Church in Keyser, W.Va., officiated at the rededication service. Rev. David Kisamore, pastor of the Underwood UB Church, led the worship segment of the service, and Rev. Michael Mudge, pastor of the Crellin United Brethren Church and a conference superintendent, offered the prayer of dedication following the message.

Dr. Anthony Blair, history professor at Eastern College and an ordained UB minister who is helping establish a church in the Harrisburg, Pa., area, also spoke to the gathering. Kristen Walker and Valerie Kisamore led the congregation in music during the service.

A circuit riding UB preacher named I.M. Underwood founded the Underwood UB Church, the first church Rev. Underwood founded in that area. The church was at one time part of an 11-point charge, meaning that Rev. Underwood served as pastor to 11 churches simultaneously. Rev. Kisamore, the church's present pastor, is the first pastor devoted solely to serving the Underwood UB congregation.

Healthy Living in Garrett County

In Violent Relationships It's Not Only Partners Scarred For Life

by Peggy Santamaria

Steve never thought of himself as a victim of domestic violence. In fact, he said, he didn't even know that term. He was a small child in the 1950s growing up with an older brother, his mother, and a father given to bouts of heavy drinking and battering his wife.

"It was usually ok from Monday through Thursday. But from Friday through Sunday — look out!" Some of Steve's earliest childhood memories were of waiting in fear for his father to return from work on a Friday. When he would hear the footsteps outside signally the imminent approach he would freeze, he recalled.

"You knew that if he'd been drinking he would come in and begin throwing things around and breaking them up. Sometimes he would throw the furniture out of the house and you knew the neighbors saw all this," Steve reflected.

Very early in his life, Steve decided he would never, absolutely never, bring a friend to his house to play. "You just didn't know if he would come home and start in, and you didn't want anyone to know that you had a family like this," he said.

Another memory that is clearly etched in Steve's mind is of a time when his father stabbed his mother's leg with a fork. "Then they gave me and my brother money to go to the movies. I sat there during the whole movie praying ... that's all I did the whole time. I was praying the she would still be alive when we got home."

In addition to the physical attacks, verbal abuse escalated as Steve's father grew more enraged. "He would call my mother the most horrible things. I think a lot of his anger came from a hatred he had of his own mother, who abused him," he said.

One night Steve recalled lying in bed and hearing the "sickening" sounds of his mother being battered and thrown against a wall. It was all too much for the child, who ran to his older brother's room to seek help. "He was hiding under the bed!" Steve reported in a tone that still echoed the disgust he felt at the time. He was 8 years old.

In the morning, following an episode of violence, no mention was ever made of it by his parents or his brother. "I couldn't figure out if they were all crazy or if I was. I was just a little kid but I wanted say, 'Hey, don't any of you remember what went on here last night. What's happening?'"

At an age when most little boys think of the future in terms of next Saturday, Steve was longing for a time when he could be out on his own. "Of course I had never heard anything about the cycle of violence but I did know from a very early age that I did not want to repeat any of the behaviors I was seeing at home," he said.

But where were the role models for Steve? What men could he look up to and pattern his behaviors after? How should men treat women? "I had no one to teach me, so I just made it up in my imagination, using what I saw on TV and what I saw at other kids' houses. I was always pretending and trying to be what I thought other peopie wanted me to be."

Asked if was he abused as a child or a victim of violence, Steve's answer is no. "My father never touched me or my brother. It was between him and my mother. They wouldn't hurt us."

Medical Forum
by AREA HEALTH PROFESSIONALS

The following is the first of a two-part article on breast diseases and breast care.

DISEASES OF THE BREAST
by Ihor A. Zakaluzny, M.D.

Diseases of the breasts in women are not uncommon, and may cause significant distress, both physical and emotional. Most breast problems are due to benign, nuisance-type disorders. However, each lesion or complaint needs to be individually evaluated, and treated, for each patient.

Assessment begins with the history of the problem, and determination of the patient's past medical history and risk factors for certain breast diseases. A physical examination is performed, including a general examination, and then a detailed breast and axillary (armpit area) examination. Mammograms, or X-rays of the breasts, and ultrasound studies of the breast (where sound waves rather than radiation are used for imaging) might be ordered to aid in determining the diagnosis. At times, a needle might be inserted into a breast lump to remove a small amount of tissue for microscopic analysis. A formal biopsy, where the lesion or lump is removed using local or general anesthesia, may need to be done to determine the exact nature of the problem.

Two of the most common benign breast problems are fibroadenomas and breast cysts (also called fibrocystic changes or lesions). Fibroadenomas are solid, but completely benign, firm, and distinct lumps of the breasts, and are typically found in women under the age of 30. They do not progress to cancer, but are generally removed to ensure that they are, in fact, benign fibroadenomas. Differentiation of fibroadenomas from cancer cannot always be made without removing them and examining the tissue under a microscope.

Breast cysts also feel like lumps in the breast, and tend to be uncomfortable or even painful, and tend to be found in women over the age of 30. Cysts are caused by cyclical stimulation of the breasts by ovarian hormones, and cysts will come and go. Aspiration, where a needle is inserted into the cyst or lump to remove the fluid contained within the cyst, often will make the cyst disappear. Breast pain is a common complaint and is usually caused by cystic changes within the breast tissue. Many times, no specific cysts can be found in the breasts on examination, but it is presumed that the cystic changes are too small to cause a specific lump. Sometimes, no specific cause of chronic breast pain can be identified. Treatment for breast pain may include heat and/or ice, anti-inflammatories (such as ibuprofen), well-supporting bras, and patience.

Breast discharges from the nipple are not uncommon, and most discharges are due to benign diseases. Even bloody discharges are more often due to benign disorders than to cancers. All discharges need to be evaluated.

Alzheimer's Group Releases New Info.

The Alzheimer's Association has recently published several new fact sheets concerning the genetics of Alzheimer's disease, an experimental Alzheimer vaccine, and a research project involving estrogen.

The publication About Genetics and Alzheimer's Disease reflects current knowledge about Alzheimer genetics, an area identified as one of high interest to the public. The fact sheet deals with heredity and genetics influencing the risk of developing Alzheimer's and the possibility of testing for the genes associated with increased risk of Alzheimer's.

The publication was prepared by the association in consultation with Dr. Richard Mayeux of Columbia University.

Facts About AN-1792, The Alzheimer Vaccine, contains information about an experimental drug that stimulates the immune system. AN-1792 is a modified form of the protein fragment beta amyloid 42, which makes up most of the amyloid plaques that are a hallmark Alzheimer abnormality.

Scientists at the Elan Corporation developed the compound based on the theory that treatment with beta amyloid might activate the immune system to recognize and attack these pathological accumulations.

A fact sheet about PREPARE (PREvent Postmenopausal Alzheimer's with Replacement Estrogens) discusses a study being sponsored by the U.S. National Institute on Aging, a division of the U.S. National Institutes of Health, which is taking place at 20 Alzheimer research centers nationwide, including Johns Hopkins Bayview Medical Center in Maryland.

PREPARE will be investigating whether estrogen replacement therapy can delay or prevent memory loss and Alzheimer's disease in women who have a parent, sibling, or child with Alzheimer's.

To request a copy of the fact sheets regarding Alzheimer genetics, the Alzheimer vaccine, or the estrogen study, persons may call the Alzheimer's Association, Western Maryland Chapter, at 1-800-696-6830.

MAYORS RENEW PLEDGE - As the date nears for the annual Autumn Glory 5K Run/2 Mile Walk, Kitzmiller mayor Nancy Brady and Mountain Lake Park mayor Paul Shockey renew a pledge to keep moving forward for health. The competitive run/walk event is sponsored by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club to raise funds for sight programs. Brady, who works for the Garrett County Health Department, is a spokesperson for the Walk-A-Weigh program. Last year, each mayor signed an agreement to participate in each other's activities and support these program. Brady, who will again complete in the Lions Club's Run/Walk event, urges all Walk-A-Weigh participants to come out and join her. "We will be giving each Walk-A-Weigh member an Autumn Glory leaf to commemorate this contest," she said. The 5K Run/2 Mile Walk will be held at Broadford Park on Saturday, Oct. 15, beginning a 8:30 a.m. The first 150 entrants will receive souvenir race sweatshirts. For more information, persons may call 301-334-4287 or 301-334-8122.

U.G.L.Y. Contest Seeks Applicants

The Multiple Sclerosis Society is organizing the 21st annual U.G.L.Y. Challenge, sponsored by Barcardi Limon, and is inviting beverage distributors to participate. "U.G.L.Y. is the acronym for someone who is absolutely beautiful. U is for understanding, G is for generous, L is for lovable, and Y is for young-at-heart," explained Carlos Mir of the Maryland Chapter of the MS society.

Establishments which hold a beer, wine, or liquor license may sign up. Once registered, establishments will host a variety of fund-raising promotions and receive an U.G.L.Y survival kit featuring "How to's" to help plan for the events matching their customer's interest. To register, persons may call the Multiple Sclerosis Society at 410-527-1770 or toll free 1-8-FIGHT-MS.

The donations from each fund-raising event will help provide direct programs to those diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis on the Eastern Shore. Some of these programs include counseling, respite care, education and therapeutic programs, a lending library, and a medical equipment loan closet.

"With the support of events such as this, we hope to move closer to end the devastating effects of multiple sclerosis," Mir said.

The purpose of the U.G.L.Y campaign is to educate the public about MS and to involve the business community in a partnership with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Maryland Chapter.

Tired of Other Dealers Saying YOU'RE UPSIDE DOWN?

In Memory of My Husband, Earl C. Kight

We should be sharing this day together,
Like all the birthdays before.
Holding each other close,
Cherishing every word.
With cards that say "I love you"
And silly souvenirs.
Memories of our life together
Still unleash a million tears.
Our favorite song on the radio,
The mention of your name.
The dreams I awake from each morning
All take me down memory lane.
One day soon we'll meet again,
No more tears will cloud my eyes.
And we'll spend eternity together
In that mansion in the sky.

Oct 5, 1939 - Sept 6, 1999

Happy Birthday, Honey,
I will always love you.

•The Town is in the last phase of securing a lease with the Corps of Engineers for a portion of corps-owned land adjacent to the Friendsville Community Park. The park master plan includes the development of a paved walking trail, additional soccer fields, and a picnic pavilion on this portion of leased property.

•Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle participated in a series of meetings with elected representatives and a guided tour of several historic sites in Washington, D.C., recently. This activity was sponsored by Montgomery County executive Doug Dougan.

•Until accurate ownership of the lots in the Steele Cemetery is determined, no additional lots will be sold by the town. When availability of unsold lots is established, all sales will be handled through clerk-treasurer Sara Sines at Town Hall.

•Several local youth, including Andy Rodeheaver, Brian Eggleston, Tim Eggleston, Clint Suter, and Evan Frazee, presented a petition to the mayor and town council, which contained over 200 signatures in support of the development of a "skating park" at the Friendsville Community Park. They stated that there is a large number of local youth who need a safe location where they can rollerblade, skate, and skateboard. The council will check with the Maryland Municipal League and the town's insurance carrier to determine the feasibility of developing such an area at the park. The boys were commended for all of their hard work in support of their request.

•Barry Savage, a representative of Adelphia Cable, informed the mayor and town council that cable services are to be upgraded over the next several months. Adelphia has requested a franchise agreement with the town, and the mayor and town council are gathering information to determine the advantages and disadvantages that would result if such an agreement were approved.

•The street committee will investigate the possibility of diverting storm water run-off, which is entering basements along Second Street.

Ulino Selected To Who's Who

Alison Jane Ulino, a junior at Southern Garrett High School, has been included in the 1999-2000 edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students. Only five percent of all high school students receive the annual award, and approximately 20,000 schools are represented across the nation.

Ulino is a co-captain of the Southern varsity girls' soccer team, is an honor roll student, and has served as Student Council representative for the past three years. She has also volunteered in numerous community events and was a member of the Pandora's Box health education drama troupe. She lists hiking, swimming, and winter sports among her other interests.

Ulino is the daughter of Robert M. Ulino and Mary Jane Berry of Mtn. Lake Park.

RAM Notes

•The date of Fall Sports Homecoming has been changed to Saturday, Oct. 28, following the game with Tucker County on Friday, Oct. 27.

•Teachers have been introduced to a web site called "e-homeroom," which can be used as a means of opening the lines of communication between students, parents, and teachers. Information will be given to parents and students in the near future.

•Southern High School will host a Critical Friends visit on October 30 and 31. This is done in connection with the Co-nect, which is our partner in Comprehensive School Reform Design.

•A student may call 301-334-3086, which is the direct line to the attendance office, 24 hours per day if he or she needs a code 13 because of an emergency absence or late arrival to school.

•In German fairy tales, do the characters "live happily ever after"? Students in Mrs. Lambert's German IV class are finding out that some of the themes and problems that characters faced in the Grimms' fairy tales are still prevalent in German culture. After reading various fairy tales and analyzing them for themes and problems encountered by the characters, the class is researching on the Internet to find out how these themes and problems are occurring in Germany today. The students also plan to produce Powerpoint presentations, revealing the results of their research and as a culminating, creative project to write a modern-day version of the fairy tale they read, basing it on the theme or problem they researched.

•Sandy Sutton, Outreach worker from the Garrett County Health Department, was a guest speaker for the CPA Affective Education class. Some topics covered were tips for teens about alcohol, Fatal Vision goggles, and fetal alcohol syndrome.

•The National Honor Society at Southern High School held its first meeting of the year on September 13. National Honor Society officers for the 2000-2001 school year were elected. They are: Jared Fike, president; Justin Disimone, vice president; Elisa Beck, secretary/treasurer; and Elizabeth McDonald, historian. New member nominations were sent out this week to a record 37 students from the junior and senior classes. Congratulations to all. The next meeting will be held on October 4 at 8 a.m.

•Physical fitness testing among all students enrolled in physical education classes took place on September 26. With the help of Kendra Todd from the Garrett County Health Department and the AmeriCorps volunteers, students completed a battery of fitness testing. Five components of fitness were evaluated: muscular strength, muscular endurance, flexibility, body composition, and cardiovascular endurance. Students work daily in physical education to improve their personal fitness level. The ultimate goal is to reach optimum health for each individual. A post-test will be administered in December to measure their improvement.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE
by Stephanie Brenneman
Reporter

The September meeting was called to order by President Steve Knepp. Katlyn Jones led pledges. Levi Green gave the treasurer's report, and Stacy Holler read her secretary's notes and called roll. Our Clover Buds were dismissed to work on their monthly project. We have three new members in our club this month: Ryann, Allison, and Steven Friend.

The Garrett County Fair was one topic of discussion. During the week of the fair we had a club dinner, with 25 members and 23 adults in attendance. Everyone had a great time, even though it was raining that evening. Our booth at the fair got third place and our float got first place. The club extends a special "thank you" to Millie Hutzel for all her help with the float.

Our club community project of mowing the graveyard was completed by Eli, Levi, and Aliza Green in August, and Nikki Moreland and Barry Upole in September. Eli Green reported about his experience at the State Fair in the tractor drivers contest. Stacy Holler went to the State Fair to see the lamb show.

Demonstrations were given by Sara Holler about her market lamb, and Sarah Brenneman on how to make a wire tree. The Clovers Buds then gave a demonstration on personal hygiene.

COUNTRY KIDS
by club reporter

The Country Kids 4-H Club met September 19 at the Deer Park Community Center, with pledges led by Katie Welch. On October 8 there will be a bike ride at 2 p.m. at Ohiopyle. The members will meet at Little Sandy's at 1 p.m. If it rains, the bike ride will be held at October 22.

On October 29 there will be a hay ride at the Pysells' farm at 2 p.m. There will be a cook-out after the ride, and every one is asked to bring a covered dish.

October 8-13 is National 4-H Week. Andrew Harvey is making a banner, and Sarah Pysell will check to see if the club can use the window at J.C. Penney for a display. 4-H Sunday is October 8, and the club will meet at Sara Rexrode's church along Chestnut Road.

The members discussed Autumn Glory. Anyone who wants to carry a leaf in the parade is asked to call the extension office at 301-334-6960.

The livestock dinner will be on October 7 at 5 p.m. at the 4-H stage. Everyone is asked to bring a salad or a dessert and to phone the extension office to give the number of people attending.

The beef tickets must be handed in by October 25 to Debbie Bernard or to the extension office.

The next meeting will be held at the Pysell farm.

THE REPUBLICAN

Garrett County SKIES

by Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

THE SUN — In October, sunlight hours each day drop from 11.75 to 10.5 at the end of the month. The sun's mid-day peak height decreases from 47 to 36 degrees (45 degrees is halfway up). Sunrise times don't change much (from 7:13 a.m. at the start to 6:45 a.m. at the end) owing to our shift to Standard Time on October 29. Sunset times fall back nearly two hours (from about 7:05 p.m. at the start to 5:20 p.m. at the end of October). October 31 is one of the ancient cross quarter days, marking the middle of fall. (Groundhog Day, May Day, and August 1 are the other cross quarter days.)

THE MOON — October opens with the moon as a slender crescent low in the western dusk. A few days later the evening moon is half full (looks like a "D"). This shape of the moon offers the best views of the moon's craters and mountains with binoculars and telescopes. The moon is full on the night of October 12-13. This is the Hunter's Moon, which like September's Harvest Moon offers extra evening moonlight the next few nights. The moon appears near the planet Saturn on the evening of the 15th and near the bright planet Jupiter the next evening. A week after full, the moon mainly shines in the morning hours. On October 20 the moon appears half full at dawn (then looks like a backwards "D"). On October 27, the moon swings from the morning to the evening side of the sun. In the last two days of October, the crescent moon appears near Venus low in the western dusk.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS — Our five nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine more steadily than the twinkling night stars. But if a planet appears very close to the horizon or if it's windy, even the planet's light may flicker. Three of the five bright planets can be seen on October evenings. Early in the evening the brilliant planet Venus appears as the first bright point of light low in the western dusk. Late in the evening the bright planet Jupiter and Saturn become prominent low in the east. Jupiter is the lower and brighter of the twosome.

OCTOBER'S BEST SIGHTS — In October the fall evening groups become prominent in the eastern sky. Low in the northeast is the bright yellow star Capella, which stays in evening view through the spring. To the right of Capella is the 7 Sisters or Pleiades star cluster, resembling a tiny starry dipper (not to be mistaken for the larger Little Dipper, always in the north). The Summer Triangle with its white-blue star Vega still draws attention in the west. On moonless nights the Milky Way can be seen running across the Summer Triangle.

OCTOBER ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES — Each Sunday the Frostburg State Planetarium has two free public presentations at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m., lasting about an hour. The October feature is "Mysteries of the Planets," a look at the fascinating worlds that orbit our sun. The planetarium is just off the front lobby of Tawes with nearby convenient parking.

The Cumberland Astronomy Club will have its monthly meeting on October 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the LaVale Public Library. All interested sky gazers are welcome. Several club members are residents of Garrett County, including the vice president, Gus Johnson of Swanton.

Dr. Bob Doyle directs the planetarium at Frostburg State. Since the mid '70s, Doyle has been writing sky columns for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask a sky question, call the FSU planetarium at 301-687-4270 and press 4. Doyle also hosts "SkyWatch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs on weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM, Frostburg State's radio station that transmits at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and at 96.3 FM around Oakland. Dr. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

Jennings Randolph Lake Improvements Senate-Approved

The U.S. Senate has recently passed, by a vote of 85-1, legislation which would enable the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to provide funds for the design and construction of new recreational facilities on the Maryland side of Jennings Randolph Lake, according to Senators Paul Sarbanes and Barbara Mikulski. The measure was included as part of the Water Resources Development Act of 2000, which provides for improvements to the nation's ports, rivers, and harbors.

There are currently five recreational sites at Jennings Randolph Lake, including a campground, boat launch, and picnic area on the West Virginia side of the lake. The only recreational opportunity on the Maryland side is a boat launch, which became operational two years ago.

Jennings Randolph Lake is located on the North Branch of the Potomac River in Garrett County and Mineral County, W.Va. Construction of a dam which created the lake was authorized by the Flood Control Act of 1962 and was completed in 1982. The dam is one of the largest east of the Mississippi River.

"With both visitations and boating use rapidly increasing at Jennings Randolph Lake, I am committed to seeing that we provide the opportunities to enhance the Maryland side with needed recreational facilities," said Sarbanes.

"This funding is a great start in making the lake more accessible for Marylanders to enjoy its beauty and benefit from the new recreational facilities," said Mikulski.

The Maryland senators reported that they have been strong proponents of efforts to enhance the Maryland side of Jennings Randolph Lake. In 1996, they sponsored legislation for joint management and law enforcement at Jennings Randolph Lake between the states of Maryland and West Virginia. In addition, they worked to provide federal funds for the completion of a paved access road on the Maryland side. Previously, the only paved access to the Jennings Randolph Lake recreational area was by crossing into West Virginia and entering the lake area through that avenue, which created an additional drive time of approximately 40 minutes, they noted.

EXPRESSING APPRECIATION - At a recent town meeting in Oakland, Mayor Asa McCain and wastewater supervisor Jay Moyer presented Lorraine Colville with a certificate of recognition regarding her late husband, Jim Colville, who had been an employee of the town, working in the wastewater department more than seven years. Jim died suddenly in August. The council members expressed their sympathy to Mrs. Colville and noted that Jim was "quite an asset to the town and will certainly be missed by all." The mayor stated that in memory of Jim, the town will buy an engraved brick to be placed in the sidewalk of downtown Oakland in the spring. In the photo, from left are Moyer, Mrs. Colville, and McCain.

SALEM EARNS NUTRITION AWARD - The Maryland Salem Children's Trust was recently awarded a Certificate of Achievement for Nutritious Meals by the Maryland State Department of Education at the yearly regional administrative meeting for non-profit private schools and residential child care institutions. Salem was recognized for creating menus that are "well-planned, creative, and that meet the established nutrition guidelines." Salem was the only organization out of all that participated in the School Meals Initiative review that met the USDA Federal Nutrition Standards. Pictured from left are Salem School cook Linda Sines, MSDE staff specialist Linda Miller, and Clare Cooper, food service/nutrition coordinator at Salem. The public may visit the school and residential programs at Salem at its annual Open House scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 8, 2-5 p.m. Food and sale items will be available, along with tours of the children's homes, grounds, and Salem School, horsemanship demonstrations and pony rides for children (weather permitting). Salem is located off Lower New Germany Road. For information, persons may call 301-689-8176.

Christmas Child Project Will Be Held Again

Garrett County residents will once again have the opportunity to make Christmas better for children around the world by being part of Operation Christmas Child, a ministry of Samaritan's Purse. Doug Stephens, a member of Boy Scout Troop 22, will serve as a local contact for Operation Christmas Child.

Each year through the Operation Christmas Child project, Samaritan's Purse unites thousands of individuals, families, churches, and groups in sending gift-filled shoeboxes to hurting children in troubled parts of the world, Stephens explained. Last year over 3.1 million shoeboxes were distributed to children around the world.

Stephens volunteered to be the Garrett County relay coordinator last year as part of his Eagle Scout project. This year he would like to surpass the 1,500 shoeboxes filled with hygiene items, toys, and school supplies distributed to children in such places as Bosnia, Nicaragua, Kosovo, and Mexico that were collected last year. To accomplish this, he is asking churches, schools, youth groups, and anyone "who wants to experience the joy of giving" to join in the project by contacting him to receive full instructions and an orientation packet. The shoeboxes will be transported around the world by Russian airplanes that were originally designed to carry and drop bombs. Wrapped shoeboxes should be taken to the distribution center in Keyser, W.Va., by November 18 or dropped off at the J.C. Penney catalog store in Oakland, where volunteers will take them to the distribution center.

It costs $5 for shipping, handling, and literature for each shoebox, Stephens said. When possible, the person putting the shoebox gift together should choose the age and sex of the recipient, wrap the package, and include a check for $5 made out to Samaritan's Purse.

Persons wanting to get involved may contact Stephens at 301-334-8647 or e-mail oz_66@hotmail.com, or contact Rev. Michael Dean at 304-788-5108. Literature about Operation Christmas Child is available at the J.C. Penney store in Oakland

by Dan Whittelsey

October 8, the date you have been waiting for. "Mountain Lake Park Days Revisited." Tour guides will be released to visitors, so, homeowners, put on your best face for Sunday. See our display advertisement, and invitation in this newspaper, for all the details.

Mayor Paul Shockey has been very supportive of the historic committee. They have done an excellent job. Karen Wooddell has been the spearhead of this effort. Shirley Munford has been very supportive. Ann Proudfoot has also contributed time and good advice. Ever present and helpful has been Susan Weisbrod, with her magical guitar and her brother, Richard Kusy. They will be supplying music for this opening event.

The interior of the Ticket Office has been cleaned and painted by inmates from the local jail. They did a very good job.

One contributor not living in Mountain Lake Park is Cynthia Wooddell Snowie. Cynthia is Karen's step-daughter. She is a professional commercial illustrator living in Bellingham, Wash. She is active in Canada and Maryland, serving such goals as cancer and social services. Thank you, Cynthia, for your contribution to "Mountain Lake Park Days Revisited."

At the last meeting of the town council, Mayor Shockey threw out the idea that we may need a sidewalk ordinance. I do not think this is a good idea. I lived in NYC and served on many civil action juries. The worst, and it seems the most unreconcilable, cases seemed to be personal injury on sidewalks. The store owner is responsible for seeing that the sidewalk is not hazardous. I believe the same laws exist in Maryland. The point is that these types of cases can be ruinous to parties involved because of the high claims filed. This could be very damaging to a Mountain Lake Park homeowner, especially if the ordinance is not well crafted. Do we really want to place our residents as such risk?

I suppose at some time in the distant future a sidewalk ordinance will be required. In that case I would feel it would be apparent that a lawyer from Baltimore or Annapolis who had extensive experience in arguing such cases in court should be retained to write the ordinance.

The town council meets on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 6 p.m. at the town hall.

Commended In Merit Program

Principal Lynn H. Bell of Southern High School recently announced Elizabeth L. McDonald has been named a commended student in the 2001 National Merit Scholarship Program. A Letter of Commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), which conducts the program, will be presented by the principal to this scholastically talented senior.

Some 34,000 Commended Students throughout the nation are being recognized for their "exceptional academic promise. Although they will not continue in the competition for Merit Scholarship awards to be offered next spring, Commended Students placed among the top 5 percent of more than 1 million students who entered the 2001 Merit Program by taking the 1999 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

"The young men and women named Commended Students have demonstrated outstanding academic potential by their performance in the very competitive Merit Program. In a nation that values excellence, it is important to publicly recognize the attachments of scholastically talented young people and the schools that nurture their development. We hope this recognition will help broaden the educational opportunities of Commended Students and serve as encouragement to all students to develop their abilities to the fullest," a spokesperson for National Merit Scholarship Corporation commented.

Funds Awarded To Grantsville's Tutoring Project

The Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. Grantsville After-School Program recently received a grant from the Stanley P. Smith Family Foundation. The grant allows the after-school coordinator, Karen Wood, an opportunity to provide special tutoring to those students in need of individualized instruction. Wood tutors students who attend Grantsville Elementary School and Northern Middle School.

Program director Linda Green noted benefits derived from the funding. "Without the generous assistance from the Stanley P. Smith Family Foundation, Mrs. Wood could not provide both group and individual assistance. Does it make a difference? Most certainly," Green said.

She cited an example of the benefits of the program to a middle school student whose grades went from failing to a C average. "This success was a cooperative effort between the staff at the middle school and Community Action."

BIOTECHNOLOGY TOPIC IN AG LAB - Bringing opportunities to learn about the many uses of agricultural products, the Ag Lab rolled back into Garrett County recently. Scheduled to spend four weeks here, the mobile classroom will visit several school sites. The photo above was taken last week when the Ag Lab visited Crellin Elementary School. Lab teacher Wayne Buckingham (center) is explaining the steps to follow in one of the experiments the students will work on. In the background are Crellin principal Keith Harvey (left) and Garrett County school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets. Students from Crellin, Kitzmiller, and Swan Meadow visited the Ag Lab while it was at the Crellin site.

Ag Lab Mobile Classroom Visiting County Schools

Garrett County students once again have the opportunity to get some hands-on learning experience in the visiting Ag Lab. Sponsored by the Garrett County Farm Bureau and the Garrett County Board of Education, this mobile classroom will spend four weeks in the county, visiting several school sites. The lab subject for 2000-2001 is Biotechnology, Food, Fiber, and You.

Last week the Ag Lab was on site at Crellin Elementary School, where it hosted not only students from Crellin but also from Swan Meadow and Kitzmiller.

Lab teacher Wayne Buckingham led the students though experiments using foods, fungus, and fibers, along with exploring the role of genetics in agriculture. Some of the students made cottage cheese using a process that causes the casein to curdle.

The Ag Lab curriculum included soybean investigations to help students learn more about this multi-purpose vegetable, Buckingham explained. Using the scientific method, the children experimented with both petroleum-based and soybean crayons.

The students also attempted to "spin" and dye wool. The fibers were colored with a Kool-Aid mixture. In addition, they experimented with the fungus yeast, watching it react to different conditions.

The students also were introduced to the use of genetics to improve agriculture. Buckingham provided the students with some hands-on activities dealing with the role of chromosomes and genetic inheritance.

First United To Again Sponsor Festival Parade

The Grand Feature Parade is among the major highlights of the annual Autumn Glory Festival, and once again First United Bank & Trust is the official sponsor of that event for the 33rd annual festival, slated for October 11-15. The Grand Feature Parade, which will be marshaled this year by ABC Television personality/anchorman Jim McKay, will be held in downtown Oakland on Saturday, Oct. 14, beginning at 1 p.m.

This is the 11th year that First United has sponsored the Grand Feature Parade, according to Ken Wishnick, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce president. "Most everyone in Garrett County is involved in this parade in some way," he said, "either as a participant, sponsor, spectator, or a supporting member of a contributing organization. We certainly appreciate First United's faithful support for the largest and most attended event of the festival."

Wishnick noted that First United has also purchased Golden Ambassador tickets to the festival's kickoff reception since its beginning.

The chamber president noted that over 50 float entries for the parade had been received by mid-September, and that there has also been an increase in the number of bands and other units for the 2000 parade.

For more information and/or a free festival brochure, persons may contact the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, 15 Visitors Center Drive, McHenry, MD 21541; telephone 301-387-4386; e-mail at info@garrettchamber.com.

FIRST UNITED CONTINUES SPONSORSHIP - For many years First United Bank & Trust has sponsored the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, and this year is no exception, according to Ken Wishnick, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. The parade, which is the largest, most attended event of the four-day festival, is scheduled to step off in Oakland at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 14. Pictured from left above are First United CEO Bill Grant, Oakland community office manager Kathy Knotts, and Wishnick. See story for details.

Road Projects

the state has selected the "hybrid" option as its preferred alternative pending federal approval. The hybrid option includes at-grade intersections at Memorial Drive and Dennett Road.

With a total cost estimate of $40 million, the project is nearly ready to enter the design phase. State Highway administrator Parker Williams told the gathering that "a very small portion of the bypass is not in the Priority Funding Area [as designated for Smart Growth purposes]. We will have to seek a Smart Growth exception to move ahead into the design phase." Garrett County Planning Office director John Nelson commented that the town of Oakland is planning to annex the entirety of the at-grade intersections at Dennett Road and Memorial Drive, which will bring those areas into the PFA and therefore minimize the Smart Growth issue at those locations.

"If everything goes without a hitch, and design begins next summer, we're looking at two years of design and three years of construction to follow. The best case scenario would mean it would take five years to complete the bypass," said Williams. There will be more informational meetings regarding the bypass project should it move ahead, he added.

Corridor Study

A $766,000 multi-state study is looking at the possibility of locating a north/south interstate highway corridor somewhere in the region. Several potential alternates are currently being investigated in western Maryland in a very preliminary sense. They are: the Rt. 219 corridor or the Meadow Mountain corridor through Garrett County; the Rt. 220 corridor through Allegany County; the Rt. 522 corridor through western Washington County; and the I-81 corridor through eastern Washington County. A recommendation of a preferred route could come as early as next spring, Williams said.

"West Virginia and Virginia have been working with us as we investigate this project further. Pennsylvania has come on board just recently. To be successful in securing the federal funding we need, we'll have to keep the four-state team together to show we have regional support for the corridor concept."

Maintenance

System preservation issues involving maintenance and upkeep were addressed by SHA district engineer Fred Crozier, who outlined 11 projects totaling $12.4 million. Three projects have recently been completed: the resurfacing of Garrett Highway from the Deep Creek Lake Bridge to north of Bumble Bee Road, at a cost of $735,000; the installation of the pedestrian bridge over the Little Youghiogheny River near Oakland's Oak Street, at a cost of $77,000; and the restoration of the historic Oakland Train Station, set to be dedicated this weekend, at a cost of $504,000.

Currently in the construction process are: the resurfacing of I-68 from west of the Rt. 546 bridge to the Allegany County line, at a cost of $3.4 million; the resurfacing of Garrett Highway from Rt. 50 to Gortner Rod., at a cost of $1.4 million; the reconstruction of the intersection of Bittinger Road and North Park Road at the Northern Garrett Industrial Park, which began within the last month and should be completed next summer at a cost of $1.34 million; and assorted wildflower plantings and other landscaping improvements to the median strip of I-68, at a cost of $178,000.

Several pending projects are slated to get under way next spring or summer: the resurfacing of I-68 from the West Virginia state line to Rt. 42, which should be completed by the summer of 2002 at a cost of $2.86 million; the resurfacing of Garrett Highway from Gortner Road to Monte Vista Road, which should be completed next fall at a cost of $1.2 million; resurfacing and sidewalk replacement along Friendsville's Maple Street from the Youghiogheny Bridge to Rt. 42, which should be complete by next fall at a cost of $541,000; and the retrofitting of sidewalks at two corners of the intersection of Third and Alder streets in Oakland, which should be completed in the summer at a cost of $51,000.

Mass Transit

In keeping with the governor's goal of doubling mass transit ridership statewide, Michael Bartholf, deputy administrator for statewide communications, noted that in western Maryland the bar has been set at tripling rider usage. The state has provided a 37 percent increase in funding for such programs in Garrett County, much of it directed to increasing commuter van service under the auspices of the Garrett Transit Service of the county's Community Action Committee.

A pilot service is under way that connects the northern and southern ends of the county with commuter service. The program's continuation is dependent on the amount of public participation.

County Requests

Nelson presented state officials with the county's "wish list" of transportation projects for consideration as they draft the next version of the capital transportation plan.

Topping the list was a request to prioritize the design and engineering for the Oakland bypass project, which the officials had addressed earlier in the meeting. Nelson also underscored the county's interest in the development of Rt. 219 from the Pennsylvania state line to I-68, which could be the first leg of a north/south interstate corridor in western Maryland. Highway officials said that the route is being studied.

Nelson asked the state to continue evaluating Sand Flat and Glendale roads for SHA takeover, as well as New Germany Road. "We'd like to have New Germany Road most of all," Crozier responded, "but your total request involves over 23 miles of road. You might not like what we propose as a trade, we'd probably be looking at giving you Rt. 135, or Rt. 495, or Rt. 42. We'll continue to discuss the matter."

Planning for improvements to the existing Rt. 219 corridor from I-68 south through the county, including the Accident bypass, was the next request of the county. "The master plan identifies three 'pinch points' along Rt. 219 — Oakland, Accident, and the area just north of Glendale Road," Nelson said. State officials responded that as the Oakland bypass project progresses, the other items will move up the list in priority.

The possibility of construction of a truck climbing lane along Rt. 42 on Elder Hill was addressed when Crozier said, "We've had an informal preliminary study looking for the best place to put a truck lane, but given the low traffic count on that road it would be hard to justify a project like that by itself. It would be an expensive proposition, as there are a number of rock outcroppings and utility poles right along the roadway. Our best bet is to lump it in with the next major repaving project, which will be three or four years down the road."

A proposed sidewalk running east from Southern High School and Mtn. Lake Park was the county's next request for consideration. "We met with the town, and we'd like to take the ditch line on the high school side of Oakland Drive, cover it over with a closed drainage system, and put the sidewalk on top of that," said Crozier. "There shouldn't be any problem getting funds for that."

The intersection of Rt. 495 and Sky Valley Road, scene of an accident two years ago that killed two local residents, is still under evaluation. "We have some preliminary plans for changing the intersection by straightening the curve on the Sky Valley Road approach to give a better sight line. We'd ask the county to put in a portion of the funding for that, and we'd also like to put in acceleration and deceleration lanes on Rt. 495."

The county asked that the intersection of Eighth and Oak streets in Oakland be evaluated for traffic signal installation because of increasing truck traffic generated by the Southern Industrial Park, which generated a short discussion of the potential of traffic lights along Rt. 219 at Mosser and at Glendale roads. "We're looking at putting in full signals during summertime's peak traffic season, which would be converted to blinking lights during the off-season," Crozier said, "but that's still a ways off."

Access for turning trucks at Keyser's Ridge, where the northbound roadway meets Rt. 40, was addressed in light of a proposed BFS truck plaza for the intersection. "We would need to look at the number of trucks that would be using the intersection; my guess is that a full signal would not be required, but we would be concerned about the geometrics of large trucks making turns there. We're not trying to keep the developer out; our concern is about the potential impact to our intersection. We'll continue to study the matter," said Crozier.

Bicycle lanes were addressed, as Crozier said, "While we don't propose to set apart separate bicycle lanes along state roadways, we are looking at installing 'Share the Road' signs, especially along Rt. 50. Also, at one point where that highway narrows to cross a culvert, we're looking at putting in a boardwalk for bicycle usage."

Further details on the state's transportation plans are available on the DOT's web site at www.smarttransportation.com.

Julian McMahon

Q: What can you tell me about Julian McMahon, who played John Grant on Profiler? –Alicia Blake, Chicago.

A: For starters, McMahon joins the cast of The WB Network's hit Charmed this fall as Cole, an assistant district attorney who becomes a love interest for Phoebe (Alyssa Milano).

The 32-year-old native of Sydney, Australia, is the third child of Sir William McMahon, the former prime minister of Australia, and Lady Sonia McMahon. He made his TV debut in a 1989 Australian series called The Power, the Passion, followed by a role in Home and Away.

Stateside, he joined the cast of Another World in 1992 as Ian Rain, a role he played for two years. He and wife Brooke Burns, of Baywatch Hawaii, have one child.

Q: My husband and I agree that Richard Greene played the title role in the Adventures of Robin Hood '50s TV series, but he insists the same actor starred as William Tell in another series about that same time. I disagree. Who is right? –Clara T., Harbor Beach, Mich.

A: You are, Clara. An actor named Conrad Phillips played the title role in William Tell, a syndicated 1958 adventure series filmed in Switzerland. Willoughby Goddard starred as Tell's enemy, Gessler.

Q: Whatever happened to Tony Dow of Leave It to Beaver? –Lisa Anderson, Owensboro, Ky.

A: Dow, 55, is now a very successful director on both sides of the Atlantic. At the moment, he is chiefly involved in the USA Network series Cover Me: Based on the True Life of an FBI Family and a British series called Bob Martin.

Q: I recently saw a wonderful TV movie called True Women with Dana Delany and Annabeth Gish, but was that Angelina Jolie as Georgia? –Genevieve Smith, Pomona, Calif.

A: Yes, that was Mrs. Billy Bob Thornton playing the adult Georgia in that 1997 TV movie.

Q: Who was the actress who played Sophia's sister Angela on The Golden Girls? I have seen her elsewhere and always liked her. –M. Lambert, Covington, Va.

A: Veteran character actress Nancy Walker played Angela. Best known for playing Ida Morgenstern, Rhoda's mom on Rhoda and The Mary Tyler Moore Show, she also made commercials for Bounty paper towels. Walker died of lung cancer in 1992.

In Focus

Farrah Fawcett stars as Lily Malone, a mother coping with the death of her newborn son, in the new TV movie Baby, airing Sunday, Oct. 8, on TNT.

Keith Carradine co-stars as her husband, who also is devastated by the loss and unable to reach out to his family, including their 12 year old daughter (Alison Pill). Just when it seems nothing will make their lives whole again, a baby girl is abandoned at the Malones' door, offering a chance for renewed happiness.

GRANTSVILLE SENIORS ENJOYING ACTIVITIES - The senior citizens of the Grantsville area gather several times each week to share in creative activities and fellowship. Quilting, music, conversations, and exercises are all part of the agenda at the Grantsville Senior Center. Every Wednesday a group of musicians (above left) get together before lunch for some strumming and singing. Maxine Ross and Mary Alice Skidmore (above right) choose craft projects to make for the bazaar each spring. Spring, summer, and fall activities are available to avid gardeners like Harold Bittinger (below left), who weeds the Victory Garden outside the center. Flag Day was marked this year with a flag presentation by Paul Durst, Matt Stieringer, and Wayne Durst of the American Legion Post #214. Every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday the center opens at 8:30 a.m., and lunch is served at noon.

Western Baptist Group To Hold Annual Meeting

The theme for this year's Western Baptist Association annual meeting will be "Come over and help us," from Acts 16:9. The forum will take place October 16-17 at 6:45 p.m. both evenings.

The Monday meeting, scheduled at Pleasant Valley Baptist Church along Route 219 South, Oakland, will open with worship led by the praise team from that congregation. The Rev. Tim Horton, director of missions for Kemper Baptist Association in Mississippi, will be the guest speaker.

The 14 churches of the Kemper Association are missions partners with the Western Baptist Association of 19 Southern Baptist churches in Garrett and Allegany counties, and Mineral County in West Virginia.

Greetings from the 400-church Baptist Convention of Maryland/Delaware will be brought by innovative ministries specialist Ellen Udovich.

LaVale's 'N Praise music group will open the Tuesday evening session at LaVale Baptist Church, 1115 National Highway, LaVale. The Rev. Wally Weeks, pastor of Peasant View Baptist Church, will deliver the annual sermon.

Each night various ministry leaders in the association will share testimonies about work in jails, on college campuses, at county fair grounds, and through youth ministries. Refreshments, fellowship, and time to browse through ministry displays will follow each session.

All members of the churches of Western Baptist Association and the public are invited to attend. For additional information, persons may contact the Western Baptist Association office at 301-729-6966.

ANGEL OF THE MONTH is the name of a new award presented by the Garrett County Department of Social Services Foster Care staff, and the first recipient of that honor is the Opel family of Accident. The award is presented for outstanding contribution to family commitment and caring. "This family has served our department for the last 4½ years," stated a foster care staff person, "and has given above and beyond what was needed. The Opels represent the true spirit of family values." Family members pictured include Jeff, Rose, Andrea, Tina, and Anita.

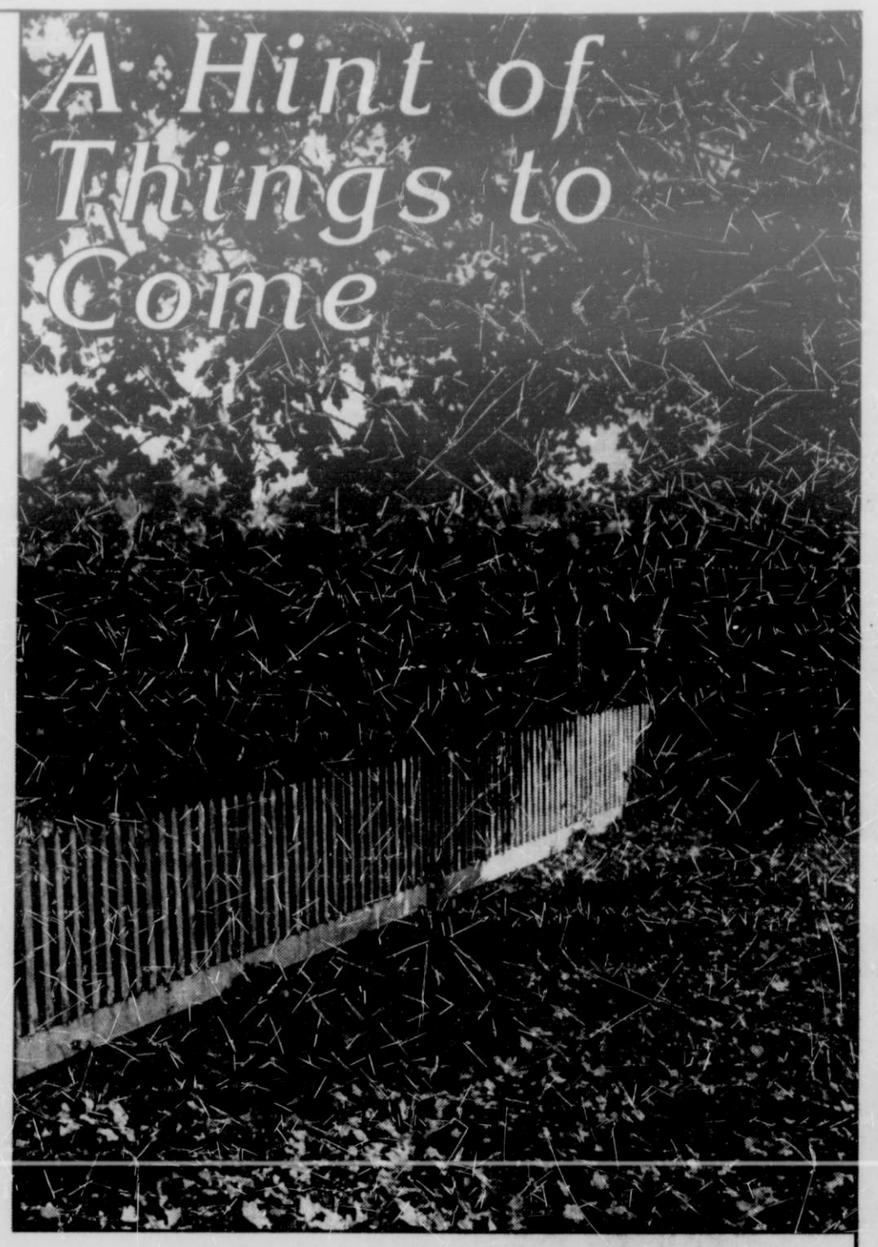
We can probably agree, it is a rare child who will take a parent's word for anything without proof. Our Heavenly Father shares that experience with us, His children. That is why God gives us examples of His miraculous plan that we can see and understand. Autumn is one of those lessons in faith.

As the leaves turn, then fall to the ground where they shrivel and die, they protect dormant roots from winter's chill and nourish the soil as they decay. Though this may seem sad after such a vibrant summer, we know it is part of God's plan. We do not question His wisdom since we know summer will come again.

A Hint of Things to Come



By the same token, we must have the faith to accept those sad times that we are helpless to change, realizing that God's plan for our lives is at work, though we cannot see it immediately. However, experience has taught us that happy times will come again.

Galatians 3:26 tells us..."Ye are all children of God by faith..." Visit your Father as you worship this week...for a hint of things to come. His wisdom never fails.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHAT'S WRONG WITH GOD'S EYES?
October 8, 2000

Background Scripture:
1 Samuel 15:10 through 16:13.
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 55:6-11.

To celebrate my 70th birthday, earlier this year I committed myself to reading the massive masterpiece by my seminary professor, Reinhold Niebuhr: The Nature and Destiny of Man. In one of the numerous lists inspired by the turn of the millennium, it was voted one of the most important of the 20th century.

One of its great themes is the arrogance of human nature, not in that we sin, but that we presume that we are righteous. The whole burden of the prophetic message, Niebuhr writes, "is that there is only one God...and that the sin of man consists in the vanity by which he imagines himself, his nations, his cultures, his civilizations to be divine." On another occasion he said that "not much evil is done by evil men; most of the evil is done by good people who do not know that they are not good."

Is there any greater human arrogance than for us to assume that God sees things pretty much as we see them? This is the seat of Saul's failure—he presumes that God agrees with him! Of course, he didn't say it that way, but that's the way he acted. Note the breezy confidence with which he greets the angry Samuel: "Blessed be you to the Lord; I have performed the commandment of the Lord" (15:13). He has blatantly disobeyed God's command, but he pretends that what he did was just the opposite.

"In Your Own Eyes"

In the midst of this great sales pitch, Samuel

Just as in the past, today's advertisers want to put their message in front of buyers. The places chosen for ads are often unexpected.

From about 1870 to 1900, clocks placed in public spaces, like barbershops or drug stores, were popular with advertisers. The earliest clocks were wooden with a pendulum or a spring-wound mechanism. Later clocks were electric with metal cases or, since the 1940s, plastic cases. The advertising clock is still used, but it might have lights or neon trim. The old, wooden barbershop clock often displayed ads for razors. Many pictured a man shaving. Clocks were rented or loaned to the barbershop.

The Gem Damaskeene Razor clock pictures a man busy shaving. He has a small mirror, shaving mug and brush perched on the arm of a chair. With one hand, he's shaving, while the other hand holds a squirming baby who has grabbed the man's towel. The clock was made by Sessions of Forestville, Conn., about 1910. This rare clock is worth more than $4,000.

Q: I have inherited a marquetry center table from my grandparents. They purchased the table decades ago when a Chicago mansion was being torn down and all of its furnishings sold. The table is in the Renaissance Revival style and is made of walnut with walnut veneers. A faded paper label under the table top is hard to read, but I believe it reads, "George Gilbert, 261 Wabash, Chicago."

A: Mr. Gilbert probably owned a retail furniture store at the Wabash Avenue address. The style of your table was popular during the 1870s and '80s. Many similar tables were made in the Midwest, especially in the furniture-making center of Grand Rapids, Mich. Depending on the workmanship and condition of your table, it should sell from $1,000 to $2,500.

KEEPING APPLIANCES HEALTHY

Q. My 8-year-old refrigerator is beginning to show some corrosion and rust on the door and sides, especially on scratched areas where we slide it in and out to clean behind it. The warranty has expired. Any chance I can repair these rusted areas? — Greg C., Pine Bluff, Ark.

A. Depending on the amount of rust, the refrigerator's surface can be patched up, but I'm a little worried about corrosion attacking other, less visible areas. A damaged coil or failing compressor will certainly negate the amount of elbow grease you plan to put into improving the refrigerator's looks.

Slide the refrigerator out of its nook and inspect the coils and supporting frame along the back for signs of rust. Then, clean away dust and debris from the underside of the fridge and check the coils in that area as well. Look for dripping or pooled water while you're down there, too. If you see any signs of decay or damage, have a technician look at the unit and find out whether it would cost less to repair or replace it.

If your refrigerator has only a few signs of rust, treat repair as you would an old car. Remove the rust with a fine rubbing compound to minimize scratching, then dab touch-up paint over the area to match the refrigerator's color.

Prevent rust on all your large appliances by cleaning them frequently and keeping them dry. Sears HomeCentral actually recommends applying a coat of paste wax, the same used on your car, to repel moisture. And keep a bottle of touch-up paint in a kitchen drawer (away from the kids) to dab on scratches as they occur.

HOME TIPS:

• When you have to put a screw in an area that's too tight for your other hand to get in and guide it, try using a strip of cardboard. Cut it into a narrow piece so that you can hold one end of it, then push the screw through the other end. — Martin V., Ponce, Puerto Rico

• I recycle my barbecue coals to save money. Just pour some water over the coals as soon as you're done cooking, to keep them from burning away. Let them dry, then reuse them next weekend. — John M., Atlanta

Paw's Corner
by Samantha Mazzotta

The kennel crate can be an effective tool for training and housebreaking your dog. Used improperly, however, the crate can be a form of abuse. Here are some tips to help ensure your pet's well-being.

• Do not keep your dog in the kennel crate all day. Four hours is the maximum amount of time a pet should be cooped up. Come home at lunchtime and take him out for a walk, or have someone else do so. (The dog can sleep all night in the crate, however.)

• Take the dog out for a walk immediately, every time you let him out of the crate. Do this consistently to help housetrain him.

• Don't put your dog in the crate just to "get him out of the way." A kennel crate is not a substitute for play time or training time. Make your puppy a priority every evening!

• Use the crate for limited "time outs." All puppies are rambunctious, but if their behavior becomes wild or destructive, place him in the crate for a few minutes until he calms down.

Consistency is the most important training tool in your arsenal. Supervise your dog, do not allow improper behavior — period — and schedule a big chunk of play time every day.

Smith Receives Service Award From Realtors

Ann M. Smith, sales associate with Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, has been selected for the Realtors Community Service Award by the Garrett County Board of Realtors. The recognition is based on her business accomplishments, civic activity, and involvement in the Realtors organization.

Smith has been active in a variety of community service organizations. She is the current vice president of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and served as treasurer for 11 of her 26 years with the organization. She is also a former member of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company and a former emergency services instructor.

In line with her commitment to public safety, Smith coordinated Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty's "Be Fire Safe" campaign for five years. The program arranged for local firemen and firetrucks to visit participating elementary schools in the county, and Smith was on hand during the visits to present a fire safety program and answer questions from the students.

Smith has served on the Garrett Community College Foundation board for 11 years, and has been president of that board for the past seven years. This spring, she was recognized by the college with its Award for Outstanding Contributions to Garrett Community College in recognition of her service to the college as a member and president of the GCC Foundation. The award cited Smith for her role as a "key member of a group of individuals who solicited funds for the initial Private Donation Incentive Program, which raised $250,000 for the foundation, and for her leadership in acquiring over $1 million in endowed funds for scholarship."

Smith has served on the board of directors for the House of Hope for two years, where she currently holds the position of treasurer. She is a former member and officer of the Business and Professional Women's Club, and a current member of the Catholic Daughters organization and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"Ann is an outstanding and truly dedicated member of this community, both within and outside of our office," said Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty broker Robert Huebner. "We couldn't be more proud of her association with us."

"HONOR THE PAST, EXPERIENCE THE FUTURE," was the theme of this year's Preston County Buckwheat Festival, and the Aurora School float depicted that theme as it carried school children through the streets during Saturday's Farmers' Day Parade.

DO YOU "YOO-HOO"? As crowds filed through the livestock tents to get a closer look at the hundreds of hogs, sheep, goats, and cattle that are brought to the festival by county 4-H and FFA youth to show or sell, many saw this market lamb as she decided to help herself to a sip of her owner's soft drink.

W.Va. Highway Agency Updates Corridor H Site

The web site detailing the progress of the Corridor H interstate highway project in West Virginia, which is already under construction along several segments, has been updated by the West Virginia Division of Highways (WVDOH). The four-lane highway will eventually provide travelers with direct access to the interior of West Virginia by tying in with Interstate 66 from Washington, D.C.

Two new web page sections recently added to the site provide information and maps pertaining to the Davis/Thomas section and the Parsons section.

At this time, the Davis/Thomas section of Corridor H routes the four-lane highway between those two towns before it swings to the northeast to traverse the Allegany front just south of the Garrett County line. The web site explains that the state of West Virginia is considering shifting the highway to run north of Davis instead.

The web site's address is www.wvcorridorh.com.

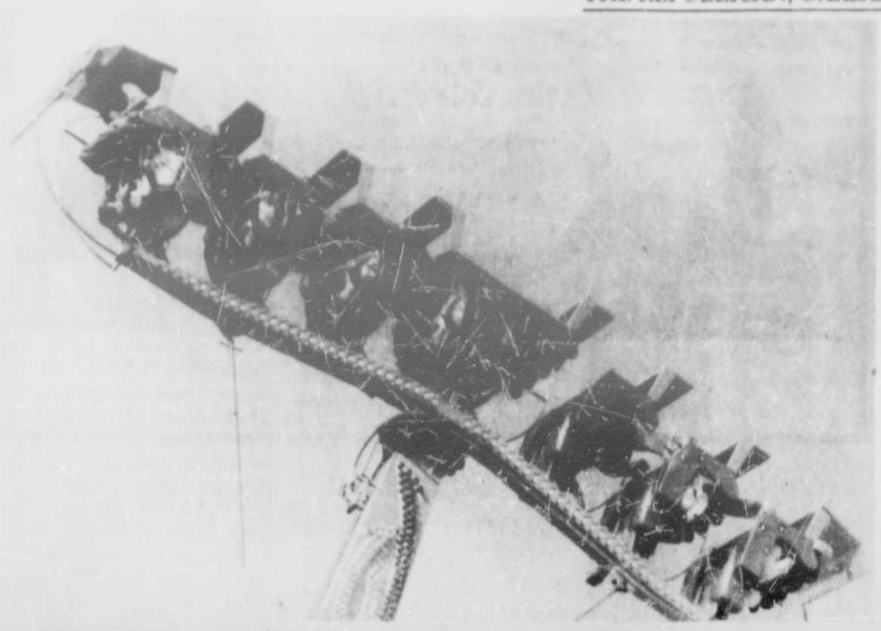
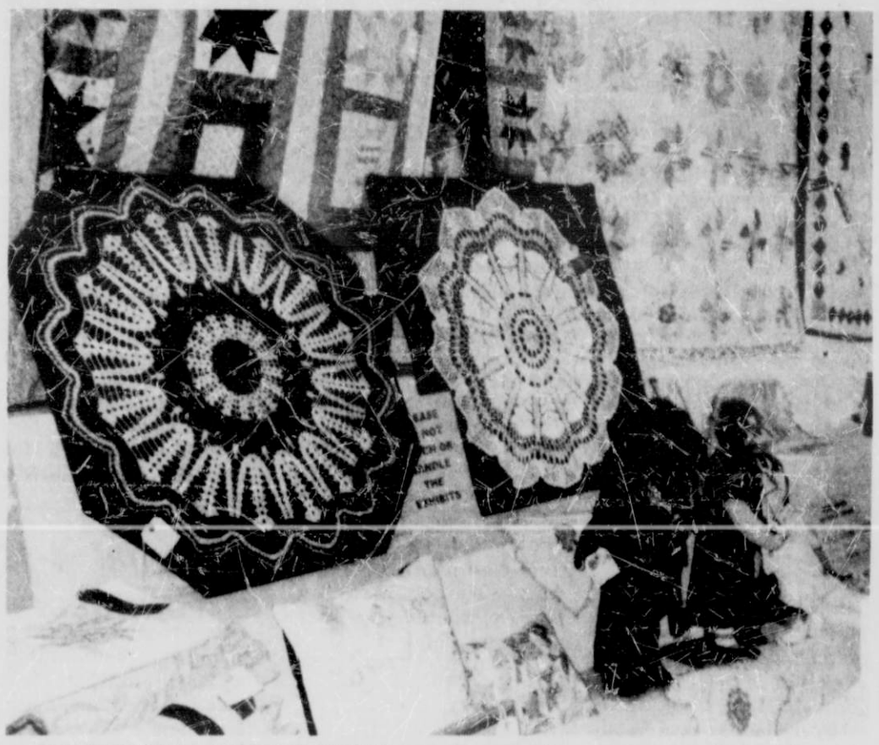
FIFTY-EIGHT YEARS after she was chosen the Buckwheat Festival queen, Masontown native Betty (Boyles) Livengood, pictured above, received her rightful crown. Because World War II was under way in 1942, the year she would have served as Queen Ceres V, it was announced that all fairs and festivals had been cancelled for the duration of the war, in compliance with a request from the Office of Defense Transportation, so that rubber could be conserved. Festival organizers in 1942 intended to honor the then Miss Boyles and her royal court with a Victory Festival as soon as "the war was won," but those plans fell to the wayside. The next festival was in 1946, with Mary (Milisiagle) Goff named Queen Ceres V. In a coronation Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Livengood and her court were recognized, along with the county's World War II veterans in an impressive and emotional ceremony at the Craig Civic Center in Kingwood. Also pictured above (seated on the front of the float above) are the two maids of honor from 1942, Lois Jean (Lemmons) Lennon, left, and Evva Jane (Anderson) Jackson.



NOT FOR THE FAINT OF HEART -- Exciting rides that sent festival-goers head-over-heels were plentiful during the 59th annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival.

JUST A LITTLE OFF THE SIDES, PLEASE -- A sheep shearing demonstration by members of the Preston County wool producers, caught the attention of many passers-by. After the sheep was sheared, the wool was combed and spun into yarn on site, and finished products were also available for sale.



THE MEMORIAL NORTH BUILDING was the home to a vast array of canned goods, homemaker and 4-H displays, artwork, fresh vegetables, hand-crafted items, and more that were on display during the four-day Buckwheat Festival. The mounted dolly on the right is a known blue-ribbon winner that was entered by Betty Uphold of Kingwood.

CO-OP MONTH IN OCTOBER

by Jean Winters

Did you ever stop to think of the importance in your life of the co-op movement? October has been designated as Co-op Month, and this is a good time to take a look at the agricultural idea of co-op. Many brands we know of were begun in that very setting.

During the 1930s and the late 1920s, farmers began to see that they were buying at retail and selling wholesale ... They still are for a lot of their products! The idea of banding together to form either a buying cooperative or a marketing cooperative began to become a reality. By pooling their resources, seeds, fertilizer, and supplies could be purchased at less cost. And so began a number of these supply cooperatives, with the farmer-owners eventually having to find housing for storage of their products and persons to become managers.

Marketing cooperatives were formed for the same reasons: to make a farm profitable. Prior to these cooperative efforts, farmers were left to the whim of the weather, their ability to produce, or even to what people thought they like to eat. Local peddlers furnished locally produced eggs, butter, vegetables, and fruit; but if they had excess, it spoiled. With the event of refrigeration and good transportation, a wider field of marketing opened for the farmer, and they, too, formed cooperatives, farmer-owned and operated.

Today, one will find their products in the stores, a lot under brand names, and it is difficult to tell which may be produced in such manner. There are vegetable and nut, fruit, and milk cooperatives. There are farm supply cooperatives throughout the country, with locally, Southern States Cooperative and Agway being the two known ones.

During this month is a good time for the business world to take a correct look at these businesses. They have often been accused of not paying taxes such as those that privately owned businesses pay. Not so. All of the taxes on profits, except those returned to the farmer-owners, all of the real estate and personal property taxes remain the same.

So when we patronize one of these agencies, we must remember that we are indirectly helping a farmer stay in business. And when we help a local farmer, we help ourselves. Money in local pockets is often spent locally — and isn't it in our benefit to see that some active farms remain? Doesn't everyone like to see fields of crops and nice animals? Don't we appreciate the farmers' business? Farmers hope that we do.

So celebrate this month; find out more about cooperatives and the role they play in the local economy.

PERSONAL MENTION

Rose Ina Harsh accompanied her daughter, Brenda Hartsell, to Ocean City last Wednesday, where they attended a professional training conference.

Although Jim Bolyard returned to his Amboy home last Tuesday, he had to return to Monongalia General Hospital Wednesday evening for further treatment. He was released, and returned to Amboy Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Winters and their daughter Susan of Columbus, Ohio, were visitors with Mrs. Winters' sister and brother-in-law, Hazel and Lewis Durst, at Amboy, and all attended the Buckwheat Festival. They also visited other area relatives.

Linda Snyder and her daughter Rebecca of Amboy attended the West Virginia Conference of 4-H All Stars held September 23-24 at Jackson's Mill. At this time, Mrs. Snyder was inducted into the All-Star organization. She has served as one of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H leaders for many years.

The Women of Faith Conference was held Sept. 27-28 at the First Union Spectrum in Philadelphia, Pa., with leaders including Lucy Swindoll and Barbara Johnson, among others, taking the podium for inspirational messages. Attending from this area were Dorothy Spaid, Clara Spaid, Peggy Spaid, Janet Judy, Thelma Whetsell, and Wilda Stemple.

Farming In Maryland.....

Last Week Saw Improvements For Harvesting

Maryland received significant precipitation early last week. However, according to Ray Garibay, state statistician, as the week progressed temperatures rose slightly and conditions cleared. Garibay said that the drier weather conditions toward the week's end allowed for crops to dry and harvest to resume once again.

Rainfall amounts ranged from 1.9 inches in St. Mary's County to 4.1 inches in Queen Anne's County. The wet weather limited hay harvest in many areas of the state. As a result, Garibay said area farmers are reporting that 4th cuttings of hay are slim, and many are limited to the 3rd cutting.

The rainfall is maintaining the moisture level in the soil with topsoil moisture rating 1% short, 88% adequate, and 11% surplus this week, and subsoil moisture rating 2% very short, 6% short, 84% adequate, and 8% surplus. Temperatures were constistently below average throughout the week.

Corn harvest is running behind schedule this week with 22% harvested for grain, which is 17 percentage points lower than the five-year average. Soybean harvest has commenced this week.

Crop progress for the week which ended Oct. 2, listing the crop and percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average, follows.

Crop harvesting: apples 54, 39, 41, 48; lima beans 72, 62, 95, 84.

Crop progress: corn mature 87, 67, 85, 84; corn harvested for grain 22, 17, 42, 39; corn harvested for silage 76, 53, 81, 82; sorghum turning color 85, 72, 87, 84; sorghum mature 41, 30, 31, 46; sorghum harvested 20, 12, 26, 19; soybeans turned 62, 45, 59, 66; soybeans shedding leaves 32, 20, 40, 41.

Hay harvested: other hay, 4th cutting 57, 40, 71, 56; alfalfa, 4th cutting 75, 55, 50, 71; alfalfa, 5th cutting 10, -, 14, 7.

Crop conditions for the week which ended Oct. 2, listing the crop and percentages for very poor, poor, fair, good, and excellent, are: corn 1, 1, 4, 48, 46; range and pasture 1, 2, 5, 58, 34; sorghum 0, 0, 0, 80, 20; soybeans 2, 7, 17, 48, 26.

4-H Celebrates National 4-H Week And Salutes Volunteers

Persons driving by the Garrett County Extension Office, located along Rt. 135, will notice the 4-H flag flying. This is in celebration of National 4-H Week.

Across the country, 4-H is celebrating National 4-H Week 2000 from Sun., Oct. 1, to Sat., Oct. 7. National 4-H Week, celebrated annually, provides recognition to the 6.6 million youth involved in 4-H programs and the 6.3 million 4-H volunteers.

Pledging their hands to larger service is a key component to the 4-H philosophy of learning by doing. This year, 4-H made a pledge to America's Promise to strengthen youth participation and youth/adult partnerships in order to build an infrastructure in communities, where youth and adults commit to making their communities better places for everyone. 4-H, recognized for its service and volunteer activities, has promoted youth volunteerism through its national PSA campaign "Are You Into It?" In 1999, more than 217,000 youth got involved in volunteerism, service learning, and community service nationwide.

From water quality to recycling to nutrition, more than 170 4-H volunteers in Garrett County pledge their head, heart, hands, and health toward improving their communities and themselves. "By pledging their heads, 4-H volunteers contribute their knowledge and expertise," said Ann Sherrard, Extension educator, 4-H youth development. Whether planning county activities, summer camp, older youth projects, or service learning activities, the skills volunteers bring to 4-H strengthen it and help the young people. "Over and over, volunteers say they concentrate on what they can contribute, yet are amazed at what they gain," said Sherrard. "People enjoy volunteering when they're able to make changes in a community which are needed."

4-H volunteers range in age from 13 to well over 70. Many of them, though not all, are 4-H alumni who wish to give back to the organization that they benefited from. They come from a wide array of economic situations and backgrounds, and share their common interest of youth development.

A variety of 4-H volunteer opportunities are available in Garrett County. For more information, those interested may contact Ann Sherrard at the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Beef Production Tips

Treat for grubs now. November 1 is the cut-off date for treating cattle for grubs. After that date, grubs may have migrated to areas around the spinal cord and esophagus. If grubs are killed after they have moved to that location, they can cause a severe inflammatory reaction, resulting in paralysis or suffocation of the cow. Grubs cause damage to the hide as they cut breathing hole, in the skin of cattle. In addition, they reduce animal performance. Many types of pour-ons are available to treat grubs. They include organophosphates like Warbex, Spot-on or Tiguvon, as well as the new endecticides like Ivomec Pour-On, Dectomax or Cydectin.

Pregnancy check cows at weaning. Open cows should not be carried through the winter, especially this winter with the short feed supply. Cows should be palpated by a veterinarian at weaning to determine pregnancy status. In addition, a good veterinarian can "age the fetus" to give producers expected calving dates for cows. Pregnancy checking costs only a few dollars per cow, especially if it is combined with other management practices. Keeping any cow costs an average of $300 per year. So if you keep an open cow you are giving away $300 without getting any return.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

The first weekend in October for my family was packed with important events that required some tough choices. Caitlin's soccer game on Saturday morning found them winning by a narrow margin of 2-1. Scott Pusateri scored both goals. When I saw Scott and his mother, Jenny McNally, at the Appalachia Service on Sunday at Emmanuel, I told Scott that he was the big star of the game, but Jenny argued no, Caitlin was because she had a key save." It doesn't matter who was the star as they all had fun and did their best.

Caitlin and Mere chose to go with me to a wedding, of course, because little girls love weddings, especially for the brawl of the throwing of the bridal bouquet. As usual, my little girls were in the fight to grab, and Caitlin fought off her cousin Emma Bass, to claim the flowers of my first cousin, Kim Kuykendal Mills. Kim is the daughter of my Aunt Jane and her husband, Willard Adams, from Cumberland. Almost every weekend on Sunday afternoon, their family would come up to visit at the home of our grandparents, Charles and Linnie Buckle, in Bittinger (now owned by Denver Beitzel). Kim and her older sister Jenny were as close with Carol and me as first cousins can be. We would walk the split-rail fence bordering my grandparents' home. We often visited the Brenneman girls, Carolyn, Doris, and Ruthie, who were the teenage daughters of Russell and Mary Brenneman. The Brennemans lived on the next farm and were nice enough to play with little girls. We would also go up to our farm and ride the horses and ponies. Kim once rode my horse, Little Joe, and when he started to canter she panicked and jumped off, in spite of Carol and I urging her to just hang on. As a result of jumping off, she sustained a mild concussion. But we stayed close through our teenage years.

Both Carol and I were bridesmaids at Kim's wedding to Mike Kuykendal. Sadly, after they had two sons, Mike died about seven years ago. Then something wonderful happened to Kim when she fell in love with a man whom she knew for many years from their church and golf course. They had their lovely wedding on Saturday afternoon at the same time as another important event, that being the dedication of our new church and the installation of our new pastor, Patricia Pittsnogle. It was a difficult decision which to attend for my mother as to which might be the more important. Her brothers, Donald Buckle of Roanoke, Va., and Jack Buckle and wife Janet, Bruce and Betty Buckle, from Williamsport, Pa., plus Barry Glotfelty and friend Lisa Sheirer, Frederick, would also be on hand for the wedding. Unfortunately, her brother Wayne and his wife Wilma, due to poor health, were unable to attend. They are now residing in the Washington House in Alexandria, Va.

Both Jenny and I miss the hot debates between Wayne, who is a strong leader in the Democratic Party, and Jack, who is at the opposite end as a conservative Republican. They are both compassionate about their positions, but Wayne much more so. He is proud that he marched with Martin Luther King in the '60s. I have always been very proud of him for that, and I am sorry that I was way too young to join in that march.

But that is off the subject. Kim and her new husband, Phillip Mills, had a big beautiful church wedding with the usual pipe organ and singing. That church was almost as familiar as my own, since I was a bridesmaid in two weddings there and also attended three important funerals for my Uncle Willand and Aunt Jane, as well as Mike Kuykendal, Kim's first husband. Kim was given away by her younger son, David. After a lovely ceremony with the beautiful special music and a moving speech by the groom, we were off to the Cumberland Country Club for the reception, which was very appropriate since Kim and Phil formed their romance on the golf course. It was a lovely setting for a reception, with a big outdoor patio. I got more sun on my face than all summer long, as the sun was pretty scarce in Bittinger this summer. The triplets, Scotty Bass and Elliot and Darryl Glotfelty, kept busy trying to catch bees in plastic cups. The food was divine, especially some miniature Reuben sandwiches. I forgot how much I loved Reubens. The crab balls and stuffed mushrooms were out of this world. I guess I made an absolute pig of myself with the carrot and chocolate cakes. Jenny and I had a good gossip and giggling session. We look forward to spending more time together in the near future. The newlyweds' planned honeymoon to Cancun, Mexico, was thwarted by a hurricane off the coast. I am sure they will find a good alternate plan.

Meanwhile in Bittinger, a big crowd assembled in the new Emmanuel Lutheran Church for the dedication service. I was extremely disappointed to miss a couple former pastors whom I was very fond of, especially Louise Knotts, who was there when I was critically ill, David Rockwood, who is now a pastor in Fairmont, W.Va., and our most recent departed Doug Knupp and his family. They all participated in the ceremony as communion assistants and lectors. Also on hand was a big gang of the Mission Builders who helped with the building of the church. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Bittinger fire hall.

The next day Sunday morning worship was a joint service with our sister churches, St. John's and Zion, to celebrate Appalachian Sunday, which celebrates the traditional culture of our mountain rural region. We take pride in our traditional lifestyle without a big supermarket, as our forefathers grew their own food and canned for the winter, instead of depending on the stores. They loved the art of patchwork quilts. Still this home art is alive and well. I certainly would not trade my quilt on my bed done by my grandmother, Emma Glotfelty — which is the double wedding ring design and was the last one she made — for any storemade. I maybe even prize it more that the log cabin quilt made as a wedding present by Aunt Helen Englar, almost 20 years ago. Back to the service on Sunday, featured were some fine traditional music, including Bob Brenneman on the fiddle, a duet by Pastor Pat and her son Jeremy on the guitar, and Leora Yaste on the dulcimer and harmonica, Keith Pittsnogle joined Linda Buckel and her sister, Lana Roby, in a trio, and a surprise performance on the harmonica by Ferne Beachy.

Helen Englar came up from Westminster with her son Mike so she could attend the church dedication, as well as to check out Courtney's progress in building his new house in the Cove. Courtney made full use of Mike as they worked until dark on the deck. Barry Glotfelty and friend from Frostburg also lent a helping hand on Sunday, with Dale Glotfelty's supervision.

It seems it is common for families in Bittinger to have a family cluster of birthdays, including last week when Ralph, Ethel Buckel, and daughter Judy all celebrated birthdays. Ralph turned 90 years young. Also visiting over the weekend at the Buckels were Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel Jr., Chestertown, Mark and Tammy Buckel, Hershey, Pa., James Buckel and friend Kenneth, Robinsville, N.C., and Judith Perkins, Fayettville, Ark. Sunday visitors were Jerry and Pat Cowser, Bethel Park, Pa., Karen Clevenger, Beth Bicker, Dana Richard and daughter Jordon, Mary Schenk, and Barbara Butler and daughter Evelyn.

Soon we will have our own cluster of birthdays in November, mine being on the 6th, then Caitlin's and Lloyd's on the 19th, his dad's on the 21st, and my Aunt Dot Quaintance on the 13th. Also I believe Ferne Beachy and a lot of other local women will also be celebrating. I can't keep track of them all.

Paul and Bertie Nolder, Baltimore, Bernadette Henson, St. Albans, Bonnie McElroy, Mt, Airy, and Mark Gorman from Cumberland visited with Harriett and Kenneth Buckel over the weekend.

Dr. and Mrs. Neil Anderson from the Chesapeake Bay area were weekend guests of Tina and Bill Buckel.

Ruth DiPaolo visited with Loretta Opel and Ginny Hesson on Monday evening.

Lenny and Torrey Poholsky attended one of the last three "Kiss it Goodbye" baseball games at Three Rivers Stadium on Friday night, with an 8-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs. A large crowd was on hand — 40-plus thousand, but the final game on Sunday drew a crowd of 57,000 in attendance. Mr. Poholsky remembers being there for the opening day, July 16, 1970, when the Pirates played the Cincinnati Reds, with a Reds victory.

New Services At Consortium Aid Job Applicants

The Western Maryland Consortium has undergone some major changes since the change in legislation governing its operations took effect with the July 1 enactment of the Workforce Investment Act (WIA). As a result of the new WIA authorization, the Consortium has added several new services to provide further assistance to local job seekers, including resume circulation, faxing, and photocopying, career information, job leads, job search assistance, job-related seminars, and referrals to appropriate partner agencies.

Job seekers may also be assisted by a Consortium staff member in the development of an individual employment plan that provides a detailed assessment of the applicant's skills, prior work history, and education. Completion of such a plan could result in the job seeker's referral to an in-house training class.

Consortium staff assistance is also available to help persons improve their job search skills, update a resumé, or prepare for future job training by working toward the GED exam or participating in a remedial program. Both self-taught and instructor-assisted approaches are available. A state-of-the-art computer lab is available to provide interested persons with basic computer knowledge and Microsoft software instruction, or to help upgrade basic skills already possessed.

Those still in need of training in order to gain employment after the Consortium's initial services have been utilized may obtain tuition assistance. Such training must consist of short-term, job-specific, cost-effective classroom instruction pertaining to jobs that are in demand in the local area. WIA legislation also authorizes on-the-job training for those deemed appropriate for that service.

The Western Maryland Consortium may also serve economically disadvantaged youth between 14 and 21 years of age by providing basic education assistance in order to help them enter the workforce, as well as pass the GED exam. Work experience opportunities are available as well, along with assistance in the job search, completion of job applications and resumes, and instruction in interview techniques.

Summer employment opportunities for youth must now include not only paid work experience, but also academic and occupational learning strategies, leadership development courses, and access to supportive services, comprehensive counseling, and referrals to community services.

For further information on programs and services available through the new WIA legislation, interested persons may call the Western Maryland Consortium office at 301-334-8136 or 301-334-8445.

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE . . . AUTUMN GLORY? Worry not, festival-goers, the early snow only lasted a day or two and the forecast for the 33rd annual Autumn Glory Festival could hardly be better. Sunny, clear days are expected, with comfortable autumn temperatures. But this past Monday, one would have thought December was already here, as snow blew around all day, sometimes coming down fast and furious. A bit of a squall was caught here on digital by photographer John McEwen. To see it in color, visit our web site at therepublicannews.com. Now, forget the snow. Look at that blue sky and those bright leaves, and dive into Autumn Glory 2000!

Oakland Bridge Placed Higher On State List

The Third Street bridge in Oakland, closed since July, has officially been placed on the list for state funding, as ordered by the Garrett County commissioners this week. The town of Oakland requested that the county fiscal authority put the bridge on the priority list, and the county officials first denied the request.

The change in the decision came after the commissioners and the county roads staff opted to fund one bridge project with local money.

"The inclusion of the Third Street bridge [in the priority list for federal funding] will replace the Avilton-Lonaconing bridge as the number two project priority," wrote Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator, in a letter to the town council. "It is the recommendation of the county roads department to restore the Avilton-Lonaconing bridge (previously the county's number two priority) in fiscal year 2002 with local (county) funds."

Commissioner Ernest Gregg said the funding of the Avilton bridge will save local money in the long run, because the county engi-

Tuesday Farm Accident Kills Oakland Man

An Oakland man died early Monday afternoon as a result of an agricultural equipment accident on his Gorman Road farm, according to the Garrett Bureau of Investigation.

Richard C. Moomau, 38, was filling a silo by himself at approximately 12:15 p.m. when he became entangled in the unshielded power take-off shaft of an Oliver 1550 tractor. An employee of Moomau's, who had been cutting corn in a field at the time of the accident, returned to find the farmer unconscious and still entangled in the PTO assembly. He successfully extricated Moomau immediately by reversing the equipment, but the victim reportedly never regained consciousness.

The Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene and transported Moomau to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. The body was later transported to the State Medical Examiner's Office in Baltimore for an autopsy to determine the exact cause of death.

Moomau's complete obituary appears on page A-6.

Youth Located After Sunday Night Search

A 14-year-old Oakland resident was found early Monday morning in good condition outside a Sunnyside Road residence after he was reported missing from his home Sunday evening.

The boy had left his Mountain Road home at approximately 6:30 p.m., and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office was called to initiate a search three hours later. A team composed of approximately 50 emergency services workers and local citizens had volunteered throughout Sunday night to search for the missing youth as temperatures dipped into the 20s. K-9 units from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Cumberland City Police Department also participated in the search.

The youth was found at approximately 6:30 a.m. and was transported by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was listed in good condition later that same day.

DCL Policy And Review Board Approves Conservation Easement

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board has approved a conservation easement to be placed on all "buy-down" parcels acquired by the state of Maryland in the purchase of the lake. With the easement approved, the state will now send contracts to lake property owners, who will have the option to purchase land contiguous to their property for $.39 per square foot, or about $17,000 per acre.

"I would like to express my appreciation to the policy review board for its hard work and excellent recommendations to finalize this easement language that will ensure natural resource protection, as well as protect the quality of life for those living around Deep Creek Lake," said Sarah Taylor-Rogers, Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) secretary.

The 10 policy board members were appointed several months ago by Governor Parris Glendening. The chairman of the board is John Forman, and the members represent the county, the state, the property owners, the Bass Federation, and the DNR. They have met on several occasions to hammer out this agreement, with local representatives striving to maintain the "status quo" for all

Public TV's "On Location" Show To Feature AGF

Maryland Public Television will have daylong intermittent coverage of the Autumn Glory Festival this Saturday. Rhea Feikin, host of MPT's "On Location" segments, will be in Oakland for part of the festival to cover various events, according to a press release from the station.

Feikin visits locations throughout the state of Maryland for MPT, reporting on festivals, special events, and other happenings. The short segments are aired throughout the day between regularly scheduled programs.

IT WAS A ROYAL AFFAIR at the McHenry House last night, as Audrey Shipe and Mike Fratz were officially crowned Queen and King Glorious and will reign over the four days of Autumn Glory festivities. The king and queen, along with princesses Amanda Pagenhardt and Leigh Ann Schefft and princes Brian Cathell and Jamie Bosley, were treated to a variety of entertainment at the kickoff event. Conducting the coronation was Garrett County Commissioner Wendell Beitzel. King Mike sang an aria, Princess Leigh Ann performed a classical/ballet piece, other music was provided by Len Elswert and the "Royal Hornplayers" (from Southern High School band), and Pandora's Box players provided a musical/dance skit. Look for the king, queen, and court in Saturday's Grand Feature Parade.

Sanitary District To Be Created Near Deep Creek

A sanitary district for about 78 homeowners in the Deep Creek Lake/Meadow Mountain area will most likely be established, by order of the Garrett County commissioners. The commissioners this week agreed with a recommendation of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission to pursue the creation of the district. The record will remain open for the obligatory 10 days, and then the commissioners will officially move to establish the district, barring any overwhelming response against it.

The creation of the district will cost a total of approximately $1.4 million. About $900,000 of that is already secured through grant funding from the Department of the Environment and the Department of Agriculture. The remaining $408,000 will be obtained through a low-interest loan from rural development coffers. This will most likely be paid via an ad valorem tax to the 78 families on the 90 properties in Meadow Mountain, located in the vicinity of State Park and Brant roads.

To help offset the burden to these residents, the Sanitary Commission and the county officials are pursuing the idea of hooking Deep Creek Lake State Park into the system. Currently, the state park has its own system. Improvements have been made to the system recently to accommodate the new Discovery Center, among other developments, but the system

State Prosecutor Looking Into Loch Lynn Allegations

At the request of Garrett County state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch, the Maryland State Prosecutor's Office is preparing to conduct a preliminary inquiry into allegations of misconduct on the part of Loch Lynn town officials. "I'll be coming to Oakland to conduct interviews," state prosecutor Stephen Montanarelli said Tuesday, "and based on what we learn, will be making a recommendation on whether or not to prosecute after that."

The mayor and two council seats will be up for election Nov. 6. A primary election is slated for this Monday, Oct. 16, to narrow the six town council candidates down to four.

DWI Involved In Two Mishaps Early Saturday

Two Saturday morning single vehicle accidents involved drinking and driving violations, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Neither driver was injured in either mishap.

Shortly before 3 a.m. Saturday morning, Travis Wayne Wilt, 21, Aurora, W.Va., lost control of his 2000 Chevrolet truck along Route 219 south of Blue Ribbon Road. The vehicle went into a ditch along the highway, overturned, and reportedly skidded 75 feet on its top.

Wilt was restrained by his seat belt during the skid and escaped injury. He was subsequently charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) and traveling at a speed greater than reasonable and prudent. He was not jailed as a result of the incident.

Later that same morning, Roy William Coleman, 32, Terra Alta, W.Va., was traveling on Fingerboard Road when his 1989 Plymouth van hit a telephone pole at 6:05 a.m. The pole was snapped in half and his van sustained extensive damage, although Coleman was not injured.

Coleman was charged with DWI, and was later released from the Garrett County Detention Center after he posted a $1,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

GROUND BROKEN FOR CHILD CARE FACILITY — The construction of a child care center at Overlook North in Oakland was officially initiated last Thursday with a ground-breaking ceremony on site. The ceremony was in part for the purpose of recognizing the staff of the Garrett Community Action Committee for outstanding participation in the Rural Home Loan Partnership, formed in 1996. Through this partnership, over 70 Garrett County families have achieved the "American dream" of owning their own homes. The partners in the project include Community Action, the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development, and M&T Bank (formerly Keystone Financial). The center is expected to be finished by next year. "The facility has been specifically designed as an early childhood education and development center, and promises to offer Community Action and its partners an outstanding tool to provide early children services," said Duane Yoder, president of the GCCAC. Pictured from left are Tim Taylor, USDA; Deb Swiger and Dawn Eichorn of GCCAC; John (Jack) Walls, USDA state director; Yoder; and Pam Nelson, also of the GCCAC.

New Silver Tree Center Sponsoring Benefit Program

The Silver Tree Inn Restaurant at Deep Creek Lake was purchased in April by Deep Creek Investment and Management Company, LLC, to develop an entertainment complex at the site, according to a company spokesperson. After several weeks of interior and exterior remodeling and equipment upgrading, the complex was completed. The site is now home to Leone's at Silver Tree (a fine-dining Italian restaurant), Larry's House of Blues and Seafood Restaurant, Taste Unlimited Lakeside Banquets and Catering, and the Silver Tree Marine.

In an effort to become part of the Garrett County community, the Silver Tree Center began searching for unique ways to exhibit local support. "Henceforth the birth of the 'Salute to Garrett County' program," the spokesperson said.

Beginning October 15 the Silver Tree Center will begin a new fund-raising campaign to help boost Garrett County organizations, groups, and charities. Everyone who dines at Leone's at Silver Tree or Larry's House of Blues and Seafood Bar, Sunday through Thursday, will be presented with a ballot. Sunday's ballot will represent churches, Monday's ballot is for sports teams, Tuesday's ballot is for all Garrett County schools, Wednesday's ballot is for the arts and entertainment, and Thursday's ballot is composed of local businesses that will compete to raise money for local charities. Everyone who dines at Leone's or Larry's House of Blues and Seafood Bar will receive a 10% discount from his/her check for voting on the nightly ballot. An additional 5% of the check will go to the organization that the diner votes for on the ballot.

The "Salute to Garrett County" is available to all Garrett County groups, organizations, and charities. "We wanted something that would benefit a wide variety of local clubs, not just one specific group," stated Larry Scislowicz, founder of Deep Creek Investment. "The salute covers just about every fund-raising organization out there."

All sports teams, including in-school teams and after-school programs, all churches or church groups, any nonprofit organization, all Garrett County schools, and all clubs that use fund-raising as a way to support their cause may participate, Scislowicz said.

The program will last from October 15 until March 31. All money raised will be distributed at the end of the program at the "Salute to Garrett County" Grand Finale Bash in April. Each category's top fund-raising organization will receive an additional $200 from the Silver Tree Center at the end of the program.

Persons may call Deep Creek Investment and Management, LLC, at 301-387-4394, or the Silver Tree Center at 301-387-4040 for additional information on the program. If a particular organization is not on the ballot, there will be a designated area where it may be written in. This program cannot be combined with any private parties or special functions at the establishment.

The Silver Tree Center is located lakefront, 567 Glendale Road.

STUDENTS BUILD CHARACTER - Students were chosen at Accident Elementary School for being good examples of self-discipline — the character trait being focused on this year. The students who were selected from each class were recognized during last week's Celebration of Learning. They appear in the photo above, standing with school staff members in front of the flag presented to Accident Elementary as the Maryland Center for Character Education School of the Year, 2000-2001. In the photo, in the front row from left are Janessa Beltzel, Alexi Marucci, and Shelby Simmon. In the second row are counselor Katy Fresh, Cody Rodeheaver, Michelle Yommer, Abby Schmuck, and Emily Stanton. In the back row are principal Sandra Nesline, Katrinna Bowman, Kelsey Jones, Andy Beltzel, Emily Rosser, and teacher Maggie Hockman. Andraya Wilt was absent for the picture.

Accident School Earns Character Education Award

Accident Elementary School was recently selected as the top Maryland Center for Character Education School of the Year 2000-2001. Accident was chosen from among schools representing each county in Maryland, ranging from intermediate school to high school as well as two private and/or parochial schools.

Principal Sandra Nesline, teachers Maggie Hockman and Katy Fresh, and Phil Lauver from the Garrett County Board of Education were guests at a luncheon at the Maritime Institute of Technology Training and Conference Center in Linthicum on September 20, along with representatives from other schools.

At the luncheon, Accident Elementary received a flag to be flown for the year and a certificate of registration that is on display at the school. Also at the conference, MCCE winners provided handouts and displays that showed their character education materials, in addition to those sent to the MCCE Recognition Committee.

At Accident last week there was an assembly called "Celebration of Learning" at which each class had one student whom members picked as the best example of a certain characteristict. This year's trait happened to be self-discipline. The selected students received certificates.

Traffic Stop Results In DWI, Drug Charges

An Oakland man was arrested Sunday morning on a driving while intoxicated (DWI) charge, and an additional drug charge was filed when a smoking pipe containing suspected burnt marijuana was found on his person, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

William Earl Gardner, 21, Oakland, was driving on Broadford Road when his vehicle crossed the centerline near Memorial Drive and nearly collided with Cpl. Mike Bittinger's police cruiser. Gardner's vehicle was stopped and he was arrested for DWI, and an ensuing search uncovered the suspected drug material.

As the vehicle was occupied by four persons, the lone deputy attempted to follow procedure in securing the scene for his and their safety. One of the passengers, Jack Alfred Kight Jr., 22, Mtn. Lake Park, refused to cooperate with repeated requests to take a seat well off the roadway, and was eventually arrested and charged with hindering an investigation.

Both Gardner and Kight were later released from the Garrett County Detention Center after each posted a $1,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

In other sheriff's news, a Friendsville man was jailed Tuesday night in the wake of a domestic-related incident at an Old Morgantown Road residence.

Jason Lee Thomas, 29, faces charges of second degree assault and malicious destruction of property filed after an 8 p.m. altercation at the home. An argument with another man there had escalated into a fight, and a piece of furniture and a telephone were destroyed in the altercation. The deputy reported observing blood and bruises on the victim.

Following the arrest, Thomas was released from jail on his own recognizance.

DWI

In addition to the DWI charge reported above, Keith Francis Gilbert, 35, Woodbine, was arrested by sheriff's deputies and charged with DWI this week.

MLP Man Jailed Yesterday For Gun Violation

A Mtn. Lake Park man was arrested yesterday morning by investigators from the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms, with assistance from the Garrett Bureau of Investigation.

Ronald Lee Dolan, 50, was served with a federal warrant charging him with illegal firearms possession after a 7 a.m. search of his 500 Seneca Avenue residence uncovered four handguns and five long guns. Dolan reportedly has a prior conviction on a domestic violence-related charge, which would prohibit him from owning firearms.

Following his arrest Dolan was transported to Baltimore, where he was processed, and as of yesterday afternoon he was still waiting to appear for arraignment in the Federal Court of Baltimore for a bond hearing. Attempts to reach an ATF spokesman for further details this morning were unsuccessful.

Man Indicted By Grand Jury Is Arrested

An Oakland man, indicted by the September Term Grand Jury, was arrested last week, according to Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney. Jason Todd Skipper, 26, has been charged with distribution and possession of marijuana.

Skipper is alleged to have provided the illegal drug to a police informant in March of this year, Welch said.

single count of possession of counterfeit currency, was handed more charges this past Friday. In addition to the previous charge, he is accused of one count each of conspiracy to manufacture counterfeit U.S. currency, obtaining goods or services by uttering counterfeit U.S. currency, and one count of uttering counterfeit U.S. currency.

The charges stem from an allegation that Bittinger used a counterfeit $20 bill in a transaction at the Deep Creek Lake Reel Video store on Sept. 30.

Bittinger was released from jail after posting a $1,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner in regard to the new charges.

YES, BRICKS ARE STILL AVAILABLE — As the long-awaited sesquicentennial sidewalk is constructed in Oakland, the interest in purchasing commemorative bricks is growing, according to Glenn Tolbert, Main Street manager. Persons may purchase bricks engraved with their names or the names of loved ones, and the bricks will be placed in the sidewalk that is being built from the Garrett County Historical Society Museum to the newly restored train station. Workers have labored almost endlessly in the past few weeks to try to finish a major part of the sidewalk before Autumn Glory. To purchase a commemorative brick (the proceeds of which will benefit the entire project), persons must fill out an order form, which can be obtained at the Oakland town hall, the Book Mark'et, or Rudy's. They can also be found on the town's web site at www.oaklandmd.com.

Festival Opportunities...

It's festival time again in Garrett County, which means it is time for a variety of opportunities.

The festival offers the opportunity to raise funds and awareness for many worthy non-profit groups and projects; the opportunity for businesses to make a nice profit over the next three or four days; the opportunity to show off our beautiful county and communities to visitors; the opportunity for many to share their talents with others, be they musical, artistic, or athletic; the opportunity for a homecoming for former local residents and young people away at college; and probably most important, the opportunity to spend some top quality, fun time together with friends, family, and visitors.

Our communities, our county, our state, our country, and our world have many problems, most of them a result of our human imperfections. While it is important to continue to work hard to resolve them, it is equally important to occasionally take some time to enjoy our many blessings; take time to "stop and smell the roses," the cliche goes. A refreshing escape from stress and responsibility, however brief, is therapeutic to both body and soul, allowing one to retackle the problems of life with renewed vigor.

There are many who are responsible for planning and staging the events of Autumn Glory, which also creates considerable stress. But even most of those folks will have opportunity sometime over the next four days to enjoy some of the other festival offerings.

God has provided the beauty of the leaves and the beauty of the land. According to weather forecasters, he is also going to provide near perfect weather for the festival. So let's table our problems for a few days, and let the good times roll.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor (and all citizens of Loch Lynn Heights):

Here is a parable. Its message applies to our town's situation.

A man lives in a small town. He goes to work very early in the morning. On his way to work, he must turn left at an intersection where there is a traffic light. There is not very much traffic at that time of day, so he usually looks down the road, and, if there is no one coming, he stops but does not wait for the light to turn green. The man does this for many months, and becomes more careless as time goes on. Soon he no longer stops at all. One morning, as he rounds the turn, lights flash and a state trooper pulls him over. The man explains that no other cars were nearby. The officer explains that he has still broken the law. Since there has been an increase in accidents due to people running through red lights, the law will be enforced more closely. The policeman gives him a warning, and the man goes on to work.

A few days later, this scene is repeated. The man runs through the red light, and again is stopped by the policeman. This time the man is issued a ticket.

Considering this story, do you think the man will continue to run the red light? Has he learned anything? Is it OK for him to continue doing this because he has done so in the past? Is the trooper picking on him? Should he be mad at the policeman? Why is it sometimes hard for a person to just do the right thing?

If you do not understand how this parable applies to the Loch Lynn town government, read on.

The present mayor and town council are like the man in the story: hardworking, nice-guy types, who sometimes take shortcuts. They have been neglecting to follow some of the rules for so long that they have gotten careless. The laws by which the town must be governed (the town charter) have been used less and less, and in the past two years, hardly at all.

We see in the newspapers that people from many local towns have been reviewing their charters, questioning their leaders, and are making use of their right to see public information. Concerned citizens of our town have made suggestions, have urged the council to get back to doing town business in a correct and lawful way. But, like the man at the traffic light, a warning did not change their ways. Now the town's records are being reviewed by the state's attorney. Are the mayor and council working to correct the problems? Have they begun to follow the charter now? Sorry to say, they continue stubbornly on, ignoring proper procedures and blaming others.

Some council members say, "But this is how we've always done it," and claim that a few townspeople are "picking on them." Some are mad at the folks who are asking questions and requesting to see town documents. If more citizens would attend town meetings, and ask to see minutes of past council meetings and financial documents, a lot more of you would be asking for explanations.

The mayor and council have said repeatedly that they want the people of the town to work together. If they had dusted off their copies of the charter, and had attempted to conduct the town's business properly, they would never have lost the support and confidence of their neighbors.

I urge all citizens of Loch Lynn Heights to be informed, and to vote in the primary election on Monday, Oct. 16, and in the regular election on Monday, Nov. 6. "If you are not a part of the solution, you might be a part of the problem."

Sincerely,
Larry F. Friend

Bridge Placed

neer, Dwight Emory, can design it and build it to the county's specifications, not the federal government's.

"Not that it will be any less safe," Gregg noted. "It will be a sound, safe bridge, and we won't have to wait for the lengthy federal process to get it built and put in place."

The county officials said they are eager to get the Avilton bridge built quickly, as the need is great for residents in that area.

"It's probably a 10-mile jaunt for those folks taking a detour," said Commissioner Fred Holliday.

With the county taking the lead on the construction of the bridge, the work can begin as soon as is possible. The plan is to prepare as much of the project as possible without closing the bridge, and then to close it after school ends next spring. The closure will probably last two months, Holliday said, with the bridge ready for school traffic again next fall.

The priority list now for federal funding is as follows: number one, Bayard-Corona bridge; number two, Third Street; and number three, the Accident-Friendsville bridge. In Pagenhardt's letter to the town officials, he noted that the placement of Oakland's project on the list will not change the time-line for any of the projects. He also noted that the federal funding process is lengthy.

When requesting that the town's bridge be placed in line for federal funding, Mayor Asa McCain stated that he felt he could help expedite the process if the commissioners would agree to the placement. He has reportedly arranged a meeting of county, state, and federal representatives to take place after Autumn Glory is over. The urgency of the bridge replacement is a matter to be considered by the officials. Local residents have voiced their concern and complaints about the bridge closure, as the detour is deemed somewhat risky and awkward.

The bridge was closed in July after an inspection revealed that it was no longer safe for traffic. While the CSX railroad company owns the span, officials there are not agreeable to putting in an improved bridge. They have stated that CSX will replace a bridge similar to the original one built in the mid-1800s — single-lane, with a 6,000 pound weight limit. But McCain and the town council wish to built a safer, two-lane bridge with a pedestrian walkway.

Gregg has maintained that he feels the bridge should be replaced through a local collaboration, with the county and town providing money, along with the possibility of grant funding.

"I still say we ought to do this on our own," Gregg said. The federal bridge specifications are a worry to him, the commissioner said. "I think if we have to build it to the government's specifications that it will obliterate the Water Street intersection. I don't know that for a fact, but it's possible."

McCain, however, has maintained that the town has a working relationship with federal and state officials and that an acceptable bridge design will be pursued. CSX has already agreed to loosen its usual height requirement of bridges, allowing the town the make the bridge lower than the standard 25 feet above the rails.

State Police Lead Fugitive Capture Near Grantsville

Based on information from the Maryland State Police, Justin Milbourne, Grantsville, was apprehended Monday by several troopers working in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources Police. Milbourne, wanted on warrants issued by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, has been sought for several months by local law officers.

Following the information developed by Tfc. B. Bittinger concerning a possible location of the fugitive, Tfc. Clapper of MSP, and officers Cease and Marple of the DNR police, checked the site of a trailer on Bill Beitzel Road. Milbourne and three adult males were apprehended on the site.

Loch Lynn

At the heart of the controversy are concerns first raised in mid-June, when a group of Loch Lynn citizens approached Welch and asked her to investigate whether or not there was a long-term pattern of town charter governing violations on the part of the town's government. "The allegations can be broadly characterized as questionable uses of authority and failure to follow procedures and requirements of the town charter," Welch commented earlier this week.

"Based on those allegations I issued state's attorney's supeonas to obtain documents of the town, which amounted to three boxes of general government records. Based on our review, I sent a letter to Steve Montanarelli on September 28 outlining various complaints we had received that may, and I emphasize 'may,' have some substance." It will be up to his office to determine whether or not any of the allegations require criminal prosecution, she added.

Montanarelli concurred with Welch's statement and elaborated, "If my office decides to recommend prosecution, we would advise the Garrett County state's attorney's office to carry it out, or the state's attorney can send it back to us for the state prosecutor's office to prosecute. If we decide not to recommend prosecution, we give our reasons for that decision to the state's attorney, and it's left up to her to decide whether or not her office will pursue the matter or close it.

"The public will be informed of our recommendation at the time it is made to the state's attorney," Montanarelli concluded, declining to approximate a time frame for his investigation.

In another Loch Lynn town matter, media reports of this morning stated a possible theft of town documents had reportedly occurred from the Loch Lynn town hall earlier this week. That report is apparently false, as town employees stated this morning that all the documents had been misplaced and were subsequently located.

The three boxes of town documents supeonaed by Welch remain in her safekeeping at the State's Attorney's Office per a request by the State Prosecutor's Office.

COLUMBUS DAY

Today is Columbus Day. I know there was an impostor of a holiday observed last Monday by a culture that lives in constant contempt of history. Nevertheless, it was on October 12, 1492, that Christopher Columbus discovered America.

Columbus was a native of Genoa, which is today a city on the northwestern coast of Italy. He was a vigorous man of vision who was inspired by the nautical successes which he observed, growing up in a city that was not just a vital port, but also a major seapower. He was also a man who — as we are fond of saying today — thought outside the box.

We modern and post-modern people think that everyone in the 1490s believed that the world was flat, and that one could sail off the end of the flat earth. That belief may have been widespread, but since 500 B.C., at least, there have been learned debates over the shape and extent of the earth.

Columbus believed in the spherical shape of the earth, and was prepared to stake his life and someone else's fortune on that belief. He needed a sponsor for his expedition. Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain took on that role. They were following the example which their Portuguese neighbors had been setting already for a century, that of daring sea exploration.

The Spanish could well afford to undertake new ventures. They had recently consolidated their kingdom, having driven the Moors (North African Moslems) from their shores. The next 200 years would be the golden era for the Iberians. The French and English would only succeed in imitating them until the 18th century.

The sailing of Columbus to the New World is one of the greatest events of history. The Vikings had made a similar journey nearly half a millennium before. However intrepid were those remarkable men of northern Europe, nothing came of their visit to North America. They came, they saw, they went home. They maintained a colony in Greenland. Iceland was thoroughly settled, but that was it. No one then raced to establish a colony in the lands we call Newfoundland or Nova Scotia.

After Columbus returned to Europe with news of his discovery, the floodgates opened. Five hundred years later a steady flow of Europeans continue to seek the opportunity of a lifetime in the two continents which Columbus found.

True enough, he did not really find what he was looking for. Part of his genius was that, when he found what he was not looking for, he did not go home in self-disgust. He recognized that what he had found was, in fact, a greater thing than that which he had hoped to find. This seems obvious enough to us today. It was not necessarily obvious at that time.

A few years ago I was asked to speak to a Cub Scout den about something or another. It must have been Columbus Day, because I got onto the subject of Columbus. The den mothers grew distressed at my encomia of the great man. They were quick to point out that he had done terrible things.

Columbus did do terrible things, and of several varieties. His vices, however, were those of his age. His virtues were his very own. Even his achievement is minimized by his detractors. "If Columbus hadn't discovered America, then someone else would have," they say. That is the sentiment of those who have accomplished little about those who have accomplished much.

On this day, October 12, every denizen of the Americas — save perhaps descendants of the inhabitants when Columbus arrived — ought to go down on their knees to thank God for Christopher Columbus. We ought to pray to be inspired by his daring and his visions, and to be purged of his failings. We do well to pray too that we and all in our society be purged of the historical revisionism which not only demeans the man, but even trivializes his day.

Mountain Lake Park Observer

by Dan Whittelsey

Our "Mountain Lake Park Days Revisited" turned out to be a great success due to the work of the Historic Committee and the support of the mayor, town council, and community.

The Tour Guide is excellent. The drawing of a map of the area and the location of the historic homes couldn't have been done better. You may obtain a copy at town hall.

Karen Wooddell, my hat is off to you and Shirley Munford. Congratulations.

Shirley Munford has taken in hand a project to develop some of the Southern High students as informed tour guides. The will be instructed on the history of Mountain Lake Park. Shirley is very pleased with the five students she has selected so far. They are Coy Ware, Natalie Domenick, Kristin Shaffer, and Sharon Gallagher.

Delores Hayden told me of a great story. She was instrumental in saving the Ticket Office from destruction. It seems that the owner of the brown house wanted the ticket office removed because the brown house faced G Street, which put the Ticket Office in its front yard. Delores organized a petition against the destruction of the Ticket Office and won. The owner of the brown house then turned the house 90 degrees so that it faces Spruce Street, which it does to this day.

The Ticket Office in the past has had various uses. Both Delores and Willard Hayden held Boy Scout and Girl Scout meetings there. The office has also been used as a polling place for both national and local elections. How about a radio station?

The town council has not made specific plans for the use of the Ticket Office at this time. Certainly it will be used as a museum. There are a number of other activities that could use it and benefit the community.

It would make sense for the mayor to appoint a committee as custodians, define the purpose and usage of the Ticket Office as directed by the town council, and supply funds for maintaining the building. The mayor has already agreed to arrange for water supply. Electricity is already there. Toilet facilities would be next on the list.

In conclusion, it is very satisfying to see a committee of residents become so effective and productive. Take notice, Mr. Mayor, you have residents with a lot of talent ready to carry our projects you feel the community can benefit from.

Board Approves

lake property owners.

The buy-down parcels were once the property of GPU, which sold the lake and the parcels to the state. The decision of what to do with the 1,900 parcels has long been a point of discussion. The agreed-to conservation easement governs how the buy-down parcels can be used, provides for the protection of trees and vegetation on the lake's buffer strip, and includes restrictions on the construction of buildings, improvements, and septic system expansion on the parcels.

Contracts that include a description of the buy-down parcels and a copy of the conservation easement will be sent to lake property owners. The residents on the north and east sides of McHenry Cove will be the first to receive the contracts, according to a release from the Maryland Department of General Services (DGS). The residents will have 60 days to review the contract. If they wish to purchase the property, they must return a fully executed contract, along with a non-refundable deposit of $300, which will reportedly be applied toward settlement costs.

As the executed contracts are returned, field surveying for those parcels will be performed, and residents will then be able to complete the purchase. Land that is not purchased by contiguous property owners will remain the property of the state.

As the sales begin, updated information may be found on the DGS web site at www.dgs.state.md.us.

The money raised in the sales of these parcels will be used by the state to recoup part of the $17.6 million spent to buy the lake, chiefly going toward the $9.8 million spent to purchase the surrounding land.

Wendell Beitzel, county commissioner chairman and member of the policy board, said that although the issues have been complicated, the meetings of the board have gone smoothly, and have been well-attended. State officials are apparently pleased as well.

"The partnership we established with the Deep Creek Lake landowners and the DNR is an outstanding example of how state government agencies and citizens can work together on a common goal," said Peta N. Richkus, secretary of the Maryland DGS.

The next task of the Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board will be to develop a recreation and land use plan in order to direct the future management of the area. The plan is to be completed within one year.

Loch Lynn Will Conduct Primary Election Monday

A primary election will be held in the town of Loch Lynn next Monday, Oct. 16, to determine a slate of four town council candidates to run in the town's general election on Monday, Nov. 6. Polls will open at noon and close at 8 p.m.

Persons seeking a seat on the town council are: Scott Bittinger, Carolyn Corley, Ron Friend, Jim Patton, Stanley Thomas, and David Wildesen. The top four vote-getters in Monday's election will advance to the general election, during which the top two vote-getters will be declared elected to the town council.

Also on the ballot in November will be two candidates for mayor, Larry Friend and Sheila O'Neill, plus two candidates for town treasurer, Robin Beckman and Susan Parsons.

Incumbent members of the town council not up for election this year are Robin Beckman, Sheila O'Neill, and Stanley Thomas.

TWO LEADERS MEET — The grand reopening of the Oakland train station Saturday was marked with an interesting meeting of two politicians, Mayor Asa McCain and none other than Abraham Lincoln, a.k.a. re-enactor Fritz Klein of Springfield, Ill. Mary Todd Lincoln (re-enactor Joyce Browning of Logan, W.Va.) was also present for the ceremonies. The "Lincolns" both spoke about the event and about their lives to the crowd of about 600. The train station is now open to the public on Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., and on Sundays from noon until 4 p.m. Photo by Glenn Tolbert

Carolyn Corley On Loch Lynn Primary Ballot

Among the candidates for town council in next Monday's primary election in Loch Lynn is life-long town resident Carolyn Corley. Along with husband Max, Corley lives on property that has belonged to members of her family since 1930. A retired Garrett County teacher and principal, she has served as director of the Renaissance Learning Center since 1992.

Corley states that she is familiar with grant-writing procedures and has been instrumental in securing grants for Loch Lynn, including those for the after-school program and the Crime Watch program.

A member of the Garrett County and Loch Lynn after-school advisory boards and the Crime Watch committee, Corley also serves as a Crime Watch block parent and a member of the Loch Lynn School Building Committee.

Accident In Kitzmiller Area Injures Woman

A Kitzmiller woman was injured in a single vehicle accident last Thursday evening and was treated at Garrett Memorial Hospital and released that same night, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Kristina Armstrong, 22, was traveling eastbound on North Hill Road near North American Road, about one mile outside Kitzmiller, at approximately 6 p.m. when she lost control of her car on some loose gravel. Her 1995 Plymouth Neon struck a ditch off the eastbound shoulder, then crossed over the road and struck a tree on the other side of the road.

The Elk Garden District Ambulance responded to the scene and transported Armstrong to the hospital. The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene. No charges have been filed in the accident.

Ronald Friend Files For Loch Lynn Council

Ronald Friend has filed as a candidate for a council seat in the upcoming Loch Lynn municipal election, the primary for which is slated October 16.

Friend has resided in Loch Lynn for nearly 25 years, where he and his wife Mary Ann raised their two children. She was a kindergarten teacher at Loch Lynn Elementary School from 1976 until the school closed in 1997.

Employed by the Maryland State Highway Administration for over 25 years, Friend has been the shop chief for Garrett County and also served as the chairman of the Quality Circle group for 10 years.

Friend stated that he "enjoys working with others in a team approach and is looking forward to contributing to the team" if he is elected to the town council.

To my dearest husband
Our loving father and dear son,
Michael R. Beitzel
who went to be with the Lord October 9, 1999

What a worker I might say
Who loved his family in every way
Up at dawn to face the day
What a life he enjoyed this way
Kind and gentle to everyone
If crowns were ever given he deserved one
The emptiness & loneliness is with us still
It's not the same here on this hill
But God knew best and did his will
We love you and think of you everyday
But know certain you're in Heaven to stay
And our goal in life is to meet you someday

Very deeply loved and sadly missed,
Wife Marilyn,
Daughters Michele, Kristy & Trisha,

How you loved the seasons.
You planted in the spring,
house cleaned in the summer,
and gathered the harvest in the fall.
In the winter was the time to just be together and watch the falling snow.
Oh, how you loved life, but most of all you planted the seed of God in our hearts.
Sadly missed by all your children.

Some children know things they should never know and have seen things that a child should never see. They know the color of mother's blood, the sound of her scream, and what terror looks like in her eyes.

REMEMBER THE TITANS

RatedPG - Running Time: 1:53 - Released 9/29/00

From the unlikely pairing of Walt Disney and Jerry Bruckheimer films comes the latest heroic Denzel Washington picture, Remember The Titans. Based on the true story of a black football coach who was transferred to a formerly white school in Alexandria, Virginia, just as the new policy of integration was being introduced in 1971, and, battling serious racial tension, brought the school all the way to the state championships, Boaz Yakin's film offers Washington the second opportunity in the last 12 months to play a historical figure (after his Oscar-nominated part in last year's The Hurricane). Titans has all the excitement, tears, and hard-hitting gridiron footage of any other football movie, and while Washington's performance is a good as ever, it's also the same as ever. The film features good supporting performances by Will Patton and a mixed-race cast of young actors, and tells a triumphant story that should be told. I just wish director Yakin had chosen someone besides Hollywood's leading black actor to star in it.

Through Gregory Allen Howard's screenplay, we learn of the T.C. Williams High School's struggles in the early '70s as a result of forced busing of black students to the school. Not only were the students integrated, however, but the faculty as well; in fact, popular head football coach Bill Yoast (Patton), who is expected to make it to the hall of fame, is replaced by one of the new black teachers, Herman Boone (Washington). Although Boone, having lost his last promotion to an underqualified white man, has no desire to do the same thing to Yoast, he seems as unable to buck the system as anyone else. The powers that be have decided that Boone will be head coach for at least one year, so Yoast is demoted to assistant coach amid the heated protests of his white players and their parents. Luckily, Yoast does not bear the racial prejudice shown by most of his friends; while he is not comfortable with the change, he is willing to accept Coach Boone before anyone else is.

Although the white players at first refuse to play with their new black classmates, or under Coach Boone, it is Yoast who convinces them to roll with the punches. During a long segment that takes place at pre-season football camp, most of the boys learn to set aside their differences and work together. However, when school starts, the pressure from their racist friends, teachers and parents threatens to derail their newfound cameraderie. Meanwhile, Boone is informed that if he loses one game this season, he will be sent packing.

While Denzel Washington is obviously a good actor, I think director Yakin made an unfortunate error in casting him to play this part. Washington has gotten himself into a rut by playing the same kind of hero in almost every film he does, and his performance is starting to come off stale and overly rehearsed. With a few exceptions, Denzel's characters are always intelligent, charming, cool under pressure — and this is no different. Coach Boone is too similar to wrongly imprisoned fighter Rubin Carter (The Hurricane), or paralyzed forensics investigator Lincoln Rhyme (The Bone Collector), or FBI agent Anthony Hubbard (The Siege), or Lieutenant Colonel Nathaniel Serling (Courage Under Fire). His part in He Got Game was a nice transition; convicted murderer Jake Shuttlesworth was a flawed individual, but Washington needs to take more parts that vary from his well-established hero mold. That said, Titans is still a moving story with nice work from young actors Wood Harris and Ryan Hurst, among others, as the young men forced to see beyond skin color. ★★★★

MEET THE PARENTS

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:48 - Released 10/6/00

While I am a fan of both Robert De Niro and Ben Stiller, I must say I am not too impressed with their latest collaboration, Jay Roach's Meet The Parents. The film is a retread of an unreleased 1992 version written by and starring Greg Glienna and Mary Ruth Clarke, directed by Glienna. Apparently, after that 75-minute film failed to sell, Glienna acquired De Niro and Roach as producers, hired James Herzfeld and John Hamburg to soup up the screenplay, and convinced Roach to direct.

It would seem a safe bet, given the success of Roach's Austin Powers movies, the current popularity of Stiller (There's Something About Mary, Keeping The Faith), and the legendary stature of De Niro, but the plot is too similar to Mary to be ignored, and in fact, the likeness tends to point up this film's inferiority to the 1998 blockbuster. In that film, Stiller played the misunderstood nice guy attempting to win the affections of the girl amid various other suitors, and one famous scene had him wrestling with a pampered family dog. In this film it's the girl's parents he's trying to win over, but again, the odds seem stacked against him; he is embarrassed, ridiculed, and abused by nearly everyone despite his good-natured attempt to take all the attacks in stride — and here the beloved pet is a cat. In addition to Stiller's typecasting, De Niro is playing his stock role of the intimidating tough guy, an ex-CIA spy hunter who is also Stiller's prospective father-in-law. The Herzfeld/Hamburg script supplies a few laughs here and there, but nothing compared to Mary.

Just as Chicago male nurse Greg Focker (Stiller) is about to propose marriage to his live-in lover, Pam Byrnes (Teri Polo), she learns that her sister has received the same proposal from her physician boyfriend, and more importantly, their overly protective father Jack (De Niro) and mother (Blythe Danner) have approved the match. As they travel to her home on Long Island for the wedding, Pam coaches Greg to relax and be himself, but as soon as they arrive, trouble starts. First, Greg's bag containing the diamond engagement ring he had planned to give Pam as a surprise is mispiaced by the airline. Then he learns that he's not allowed to smoke during the weekend because Jack sees smoking as "a sign of weakness." Within the first few hours of arrival, his career choice is ridiculed, he breaks the urn containing Jack's mother's remains, and the cat-loving Byrneses discover (from Pam) that he is not a cat man. As the wedding draws near, things go from bad to worse. Greg is suspected of being a pothead, secretly videotaped, and forced to take a lie detector test, all while chawing nicotine gum and trying to retrieve his suitcase.

This film is almost too real to be funny. It is one uncomfortable moment after another — and that is what Stiller does best, but director Roach would have done well to tone it down a bit. Scenes that are supposed to be funny, like the legendary zipper accident in Mary, are just uncomfortable. De Niro is also not playing his role with as much comedic sense as he should; Jack's coldness toward Greg is sometimes funny, but usually just downright mean. And although Pam occasionally has a romantic word or two for Greg, it is often she who gets him into more trouble. The growing sense of Greg against the world becomes too intense for laughs, and the film's inevitable, pat conclusion is not remotely believable because of this. The immense talent of this cast is largley wasted here, although Danner gives a surprisingly real performance as Pam's mother. ★★★½ does not operate in the winter. Sewage is hauled during those months, at state tax money expense, according to the commissioners and to Ron Petrella, administrator of the sanitary commission.

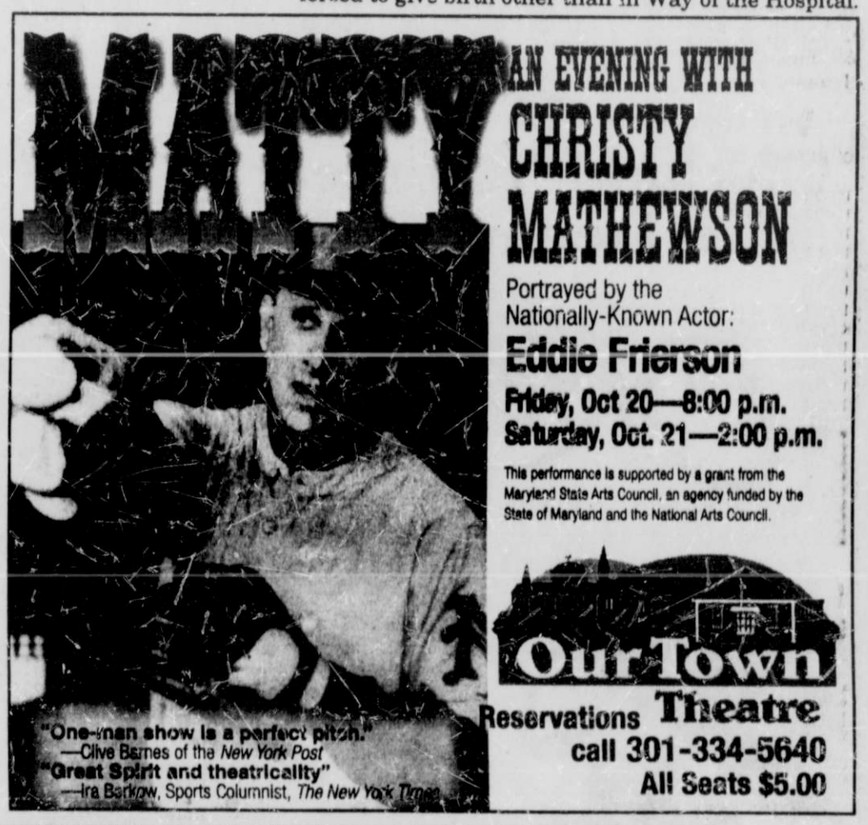
"If the state park would hook in, we would have a win-win situation," said Commissioner Wendell Beitzel.

Previous efforts to entice the state to hook into the local system have been unsuccessful, although the idea is perhaps more inviting to the state than before.

"I'm hopeful that they are more seriously considering the idea this time," Petrella said. If the state agreed to join the system, the 78 ERUs (equivalent residential units) paid for by the residents would be offset by 175 additional ERUs at the park.

Beitzel, who was previously employed as the administrator of the sanitary district, noted that the grant situation for the Meadow Mountain system is "very favorable" for the county and the residents.

Petrella has hosted other public hearings on the issue and reported Tuesday that his office has received no opposition to the establishment of the district.



Huskies Complete Sweep Of Rams; Fall To BW

For the second time this season, the Northern High School boys' soccer team topped cross-county rival Southern, 2-1, Friday night at the Cove. The victory upped the Huskies' season mark to 6-1-1; however, the record dipped to 6-2-1 Tuesday evening when the Huskies were blanked by host Bishop Walsh, 4-0.

The Rams out-shot their hosts by a 27-14 margin and finished with a 3-2 edge in corner kicks, but the Huskies took full advantage of the Rams' losing two of their 11 players in the first half and having to play the rest of the match with only nine. Ryan Ewing and Dustin Slider were benched for the remainder of the match when red cards were issued against them. Rules require that the two also were ineligible for Tuesday night's match against undefeated Beall.

After about 24 minutes of scoreless defensive play, senior striker Ron Lipscomb put the Huskies up 1-0 when he connected for a goal off an assist by Andy Fike at the 16:15 mark.

That was all of the scoring in the first half and for some 18 minutes of the second half, but Mike Fletcher then doubled the Huskies' total with 22:05 remaining when he scored off a feed by Justin Fontaine.

The Rams averted a shutout when Chris Remley took a pass from Chad Panther and scored with 3:24 left in the match, but it was too little, too late.

The Huskies won the first encounter this year between the two local schools by a score of 3-2 in Oakland. It was the season opener for both teams.

HUSKIES TOP RAMS AGAIN - The Northern High School boys' varsity recorded its second victory of the season over cross-county rival Southern this past week, as the Huskies edged the Rams 2-1 in a match Friday at the Cove. Coach Tom Ables and his squad also defeated the Rams in Oakland last month, 3-2, in the season opener for both teams. Pictured above, from left, are Southern's Clem Chauzat, Northern's Mike Fletcher, Eric Durst, and Guy Beltzel, and Southern's Keith Steyer and Riff Browning. Action captured in the photo below is right in front of the Rams' goal. From left are Southern keeper Chris Menker, Josh Stevens and Bryan Schwalm, also of Southern, and Northern's Eric Durst. The win upped the Huskies' record to 6-1-1 and gave them their first-ever sweep of the Rams. Photos by John McEwen.

Goal keeper Woody Kenner stopped 16 shots for the Huskies, while Chris Menker was credited with nine saves in goal for the Rams, who dropped to 4-4 with the defeat.

The second-ranked Bishop Walsh Spartans dominated play against the Huskies in Tuesday night's match, but managed just two goals per half against Kenner and the Husky defense. BW finished with a lopsided 28-6 advantage in shots on goal, while each team had but one corner kick.

It took just 20 seconds for the Spartans to take the lead for good, as Brennan Mullaney hit an unassisted goal moments after the opening kickoff.

Eric Perlozzo then recorded the first of two goals on the night when he put one past Kenner on an assist by Jeff Knight with 24:27 left in the first half.

Kenner turned away several more shots the rest of the half, and the Huskies trailed by just a 2-0 spread at halftime.

Jason Miller gave the Spartans their third goal of the night when he connected off a feed by Juan Leguizamon at the 22:09 mark.

Perlozzo then made his second goal of the night less than two minutes later (20:32), with Leguizamon getting his second assist of the evening.

It was the 12th victory against a lone loss to Southern for the Spartans.

Kenner had 18 saves for the Huskies, while Kevin Youngblood turned away four shots for Bishop Walsh.

The Huskies, who went into the match against Bishop Walsh ranked third in the area standings, will try to get back on the winning track and hand Beall its first loss next Tuesday in Frostburg.

SHS Girls Earn Shutouts Over Frankfort, Northern

Two more big victories were recorded this week by the Southern High School girls' varsity soccer team, as the Rams upped their record to 9-1 with a 5-0 shutout of visiting Frankfort on Monday and then blanked the Northern Huskies last night, 4-0, also in Oakland. The pair of wins stretched the Rams' win streak to eight matches.

Freshman Casey Taylor recorded a hat trick in the victory over Frankfort, while fellow freshman Sabrina Scheffel had a goal and an assist. After a scoreless first half, the Rams scored four of their five goals in a four-minute span early in the second half.

Taylor hit her first of three off an assist by Scheffel with 35:19 remaining in the first half. Less than a minute later, Scheffel scored off a feed by Gina Reeves, and just 25 seconds after that, Kristen Oxford made it 3-0 for the Rams with an unassisted goal at the 34:10 mark.

Less than three minutes later, Taylor put her second goal into the net, this time off an assist by Brittany Naylor, with 31:40 remaining in the first half.

Taylor tacked on an insurance goal off an assist by Charlena Reeves with 10:38 remaining in the match.

The shutout of the Falcons was more than just on the scoreboard, as the Ram defense literally did not allow a single shot on goal by the visitors. Frankfort also had no corner kicks.

Meanwhile, the Rams finished with 32 shots on goal and a record 21 corner kicks.

It was the fifth shutout of the season for Southern keeper Becky Martin, who had no shots to stop in the match. Tessa Forbeck was credited with 14 saves for Frankfort, which dropped to 5-7-3 for the season.

Martin earned her sixth shutout last night against the rival Northern Huskies, as four different Rams scored to hand Northern its fifth loss in 10 matches.

The first half of action was close, with the Rams holding just a 1-0 edge at intermission. That was scored by Casey Taylor off an assist by Robbin Gregg at the 31:26 mark.

The Rams opened things midway through the second half, with Brittany Naylor scoring off a feed by Sabrina Scheffel with 21:54 remaining.

The Rams finished with a 23-10 advantage in shots on goal, while each team had two corner kicks. Martin shared the shutout with fellow keepers Gina Reeves and Alisha Rush, as the three combined for eight saves. Randi Beiler recorded 10 stops for the Huskies.

The Rams will return to action next Tuesday when they host Beall, while the Huskies will not play again until next Thursday at Westmar.

Ram Booters Edged Again By Huskies, Lose To Beall

The boys' varsity soccer team of Southern High School dropped a pair of matches this past week, losing a 2-1 heartbreaker to the Northern Huskies last Friday evening at the Cove (see other story), and then falling to undefeated Beall, 6-2, Tuesday night in Frostburg.

The Rams played the second half against Northern with only nine players, as Ryan Ewing and Dustin Slider received red cards in the first half and thus were also required to miss Tuesday's match against Beall.

The victory by Beall, ranked number 1 in the area, was the Mountaineers' 10th this season against no defeats.

After over 17 minutes of scoreless play, Beall took a 1-0 lead when Darren Johnson scored off an assist by Justin Weimer. Cass Martin then made it 2-0 with an unassisted goal at the 10:30 mark, which initiated a four-goal run before halftime.

Chris Remley cut Beall's lead in half when he scored an unassisted goal with 5:37 to play before intermission, but Neil O'Driscoll and Brady Greig each responded with unassisted scores at the 3:37 and :16 marks, respectively, to put the Mountaineers on top 4-1 at halftime.

Brian Fike put one more goal on the board for the Rams, an unassisted shot with just 1:47 remaining.

The Rams were out-shot only by one, 15-14, in shots on goal, while Beall finished with a 6-2 advantage in corner kicks. Menker had 16 saves for Southern, and Josh Michaels, Eugene Rice, and Travis Johnson combined for 10 saves in goal for the Mountaineers.

The Southern junior varsity was edged in the preliminary match, 2-1.

NHS, SHS Golf Teams Finish In Upper Tier At Regionals

Both of Garrett County's high school golf programs turned in fine performances during the Western Maryland Regional Tournament last Wednesday, Oct. 4, at the Black Rock Country Club in Hagerstown. Northern's golfers finished sixth in the 21-team field, and Southern's duffers played to an eighth-place finish. Bragging rights for the county are on the line this afternoon as the Huskies and Rams go head-to-head at the Wisp at 4 p.m.

NHS turned in a team score of 340, the minimum score necessary to qualify a squad for the upcoming state competition; but only the two top finishers in the region tourney earn the right to go to states, and that distinction was earned by tournament winner Walkersville, which tallied a 314, and Middletown, which carded a 322. Both of those schools are 2A size, as opposed to Northern and Southern's 1A status.

Northern's Greg Speicher shot a 78 to lead the Huskies' effort, and the score qualified the senior for the state tourney. He finished seven strokes off the tournament's low medalist, Middletown's Travis Ausherman, who recorded a 1-under par 71. Rounding out the Huskies' performance was Mark Bergstrom, who shot an 86; A.J. Thomas, who carded an 87; and Kenny Wampler, who turned in an 89.

Southern finished with a team score of 352. Nathan Swartzentruber led the way for the Rams with an 83, which earned him a slot as first alternate at the state competition. Jordan Swerbinsky carded an 85, Justin DiSimone shot an 88, and Bryson Meyers contributed a 96.

Following this afternoon's cross-county matchup, the Rams will close their season with a visit to Keyser tomorrow afternoon. Northern's team season concludes with today's contest.

The Maryland State Tournament lies ahead for NHS's Greg Speicher when he helps represent the Western Region on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 23-24, at the University of Maryland Golf Course. "It's a pretty tough course," NHS golf coach Harv Speicher commented of the par-71 College Park facility. "The 18th hole is exceptionally long, a 450-yard par-4. Greg hits the ball well, though, and he should be able to reach the green in two shots."

At least 16 high school teams and 120 individual golfers are expected to be on hand for the statewide event.

Oakland Golf Club To Host Gower Tourney

The Oakland Golf Club (not the Wisp Golf Resort, as previously reported) will host the Chum Gower Memorial Golf Tournament this Saturday, Oct. 15. The benefit tourney will get under way with a noon shotgun start, and the entry fees of $40 for club members and $60 for non-members will raise funds for the Garrett Community College golf and men's basketball programs. Interested persons may call GCC men's basketball coach, Dennis Gibson, at 301-387-3051 for further details.

Actor Eddie Frierson, author of and sole actor in Matty: An Evening with Christy Mathewson, is coming to Our Town Theatre for an evening performance on Friday, Oct. 20, and a matinee on Saturday, Oct. 21.

Frierson began studying Christy Mathewson, arguably the greatest right-handed pitcher in baseball history, in 1984 and bears an uncanny resemblance to his character — fair complexion, standing 6'1", and weighing 195 pounds. In addition, he was a talented pitcher, leading Highwood High School in Nashville, Tenn., to the state championship in 1977. He then went to UCLA on a baseball scholarship, where one of his teammates was former Pirate catcher Don Slaught. At UCLA he obtained his degree in theatre arts and passed up a baseball career to pursue acting.

Frierson comes from athletic roots. His late uncle, Bob Davies, an All-American basketball player at Seton Hall and one of the great players of the early days of the National Basketball Association, developed the behind-the-back-dribble now used routinely by pre-teen players. Not only a fine player, Frierson was also a successful coach at Santa Monica High School, in just four years guiding his team to two international tournament championships, three consecutive league championships, and the top two seasonal records in the school's history. He points with pride to Tony Tarasco, one of his players, who played for the Baltimore Orioles.

Nevertheless, Frierson is an actor first and last. He has theatre credits in The Matchmaker, Harvey, the Boston Red Sox comedy Bullpen, The Alchemist, and seven of Shakespeare's plays. Film and television work includes credits in Mathewson (for ESPN Classic Sports) Profiler, Cheers, and Days of Our Lives. His crowning work, of course, is Matty, which ran in 1996, receiving a nomination for Best New Play, at Lamb's Theatre (off-Broadway) and has been on national tour.

Frierson through Mathewson introduces his audience to a fascinating array of personalities: New York Giants manager John ("Little Napoleon" and "Muggsy") McGraw; Cubs double play combination of Joe Tinker, Johnny Evers, and Frank Chance; umpires Bill Klem and Hank O'Day; Giants pitcher "Iron Man" Joe McGinnity; baseball commissioner Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis; the pitiable rookie Fred "Bonehead" Merkle; and the unmitigatedly evil Hal Chase.

Frierson and Matty have received acclaim all over the country. One of Frierson's fans is NBC sportscaster Bob Costas, who wrote to Eddie: "It's 100% true that you don't have to be a baseball fan to be completely engaged by Eddie Frierson's performance. He leaves the audience with a real appreciation of Christy Mathewson and the time and place in which he was an authentic American he-

Northern Girls Win Two Before Falling To Rams

The Northern High girls' varsity soccer team picked up a pair of victories this past week before falling last night to host Southern, 4-0, (see other story) as the Huskies handed visiting Fort Hill a 2-1 defeat last Thursday and then shut out host Berlin on Monday, 2-0. The results left the Huskies with an overall record of 5-5.

Kara Kenner gave the Huskies a 1-0 lead against Fort Hill with an unassisted goal midway through the first half. She then fed an attacking Emily Rawe in the second half, who put the ball into the net to give Northern a 2-0 advantage.

The Sentinels cut the Husky lead in half when Bre Walizer scored an unassisted goal with about 12 minutes remaining in the match, but Huskies held on for the 2-1 win.

The Huskies finished with a 12-8 lead in shots on goal, and a 5-3 advantage in corner kicks. Ashley Warnick was credited with seven saves, and Becky Beeman turned away 10 shots for the Sentinels, who dropped to 1-7 on the season.

Rams Survive Late-Game Scare By Preston, Win 20-15

Although a score of 20-15 would not suggest that the winning team literally dominated its opponent, a case could be made for such a description of the Southern-Preston football contest last Friday evening in Kingwood. After building a 20-0 lead by halftime, the Rams committed a couple crucial errors that allowed the Knights to get back into the game and have a chance to win it.

Statistically, the Rams crushed their hosts, as the Southern defensive unit allowed only one first down and the offensive squad finished with a lopsided 316 yards of total offense compared to just 97 for Preston. But three fumbles in the second half allowed the Knights to put a pair of touchdowns on the board in the fourth quarter and make it a close contest on the scoreboard.

The victory upped the Rams' record to 4-1, which they will put on the line this Friday evening against possibly the most talented team on their schedule, Martinsburg.

Jeremy Lear gave the Rams the lead for good against Preston when he broke loose for a 39-yard touchdown carry and crossed the goal line with 3:54 remaining in the first quarter. Jeremy Hayhurst kicked the extra point to make it 7-0.

A Ram drive in the second quarter was capped by a one-yard scoring plunge by Steve Skipper with 7:56 remaining in the second quarter, and Hayhurst's conversion put the Rams up 14-0.

Hayhurst then made it 20-0 with just 48 seconds left in the first half when he scored on a 15-yard carry through the middle of the Preston line. The kick for the conversion was no good.

The third quarter was scoreless, as the Rams began their "series" of three fumbles to halt additional scoring opportunities for themselves and give the Knights some good field position. The Ram defense kept them out of the end zone, however, until the fourth quarter.

The Knights finally capitalized on one of the turnovers, a fumble inside the five-yard line, as Matt Liston scored on a 14-yard carry with 11:17 remaining in the contest. Jay Kidder booted the extra point.

Another fumble was then scooped up by Preston's Ben Whetzel and returned 67 yards to inside the Rams' 10, which set up a three-yard touchdown run by Liston with 2:33 left. Shawn Shaffer's successful conversion pass to Jeremy Whetzel closed the gap to 20-15.

The Knights then tried an onside kick and the Rams recovered, but turned the ball over once again on their third fumble, giving the Knights one last opportunity. However, on the first play of Preston's final possession, Shaffer's pass was picked off by Josh Helbig and the Southern offense ran out the clock. It was the second interception of the evening by Helbig.

Josh Fitzwater paced the Ram defensive effort with seven tackles, while John Hayhurst finished with six.

"What hurt us in the second half as much as our fumbles was our poor field position," stated Southern coach Fred Gregg. "We were deep in our own territory most of the half and just couldn't get a long drive going.

"But it certainly wasn't just our mistakes that hurt us," he continued. "Preston has a fine defense. They are well coached and they never gave up. We were just tickled to come away with a win on the road."

The next road trip, this Friday to Martinsburg, will bring with it a huge test for the Rams, as the Bulldogs are 6-1. Among their victims are Keyser, who handed Southern its only loss, and Allegany, whom the Bulldogs hammered last Saturday, 42-14. Southern also defeated Allegany, but by a rather modest 14-7 spread.

"They are the most athletic team we will have faced, no question about it," Gregg said.

"They have the best passing game we have seen," he added.

The key to that passing game is junior quarterback Joey Yurish (6-0, 175), along with a couple of highly talented receivers in freshman Brandon Barrett (6-0, 165) and senior J.J. Bullett (6-1, 185).

"Barrett is the best freshman receiver I've ever seen," Gregg said. "We're all going to see his name in the collegiate ranks at least. He is fast, he has great hands, and he can jump like crazy. And Bullett, who is a cousin to professional Vicky Bullett, is also an outstanding athlete. The two of them would remind you of the old Steeler team that had John Stallworth and Lynn Swann. Barrett just puts the ball in the air, and one of them is there to haul it in."

The Bulldogs run primarily from the wing-T formation, and often use the shotgun set.

They also have a solid running game, which features backs like senior fullback Brandon Green (6-2, 215) and senior back Joe Jackson (5-11, 185).

"We literally have no one on our team who can catch either one of these guys," Gregg said, "so we are going to have to do all we can to not let them get outside on us.

"They have a lot of weapons, and they use all of them," he said.

Gregg said the Rams' game plan will be to possess the ball as much as possible and "run right at them" on offense. "We're not going to be able to run around them, so we will try to pound it out in the middle, gain three or four yards at a time, and keep the ball as long as possible," he said. "They can't score when we have the ball."

Gregg said that the Rams remain "generally healthy," with only the usual bumps and bruises, but no side-lining injuries.

"We will go down and play as hard as we can," he said, "and just try to do the best we can against a very, very good team."

Ram fans who plan to go to the game should follow U.S. 68 east to U.S. 70 east, take U.S. 81 south, take Exit 13 (King Street), turn left and cross a bridge, travel 1.2 miles and turn right onto Raleigh Street, travel ½ mile and turn left onto Bulldog Blvd, and look for the school on the right.

The kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Recess Over, NHS Ready To Host Spartans As Stretch Run Begins

For the third time in as many years, Northern High School's varsity football team is drawing a clear bead on the playoffs at the halfway mark of its regular season. The hunt resumes tomorrow night as Phil Carr's 4-0 troops are slated to take on a struggling Bishop Walsh team that brings a 1-6 record to NHS for a 7:30 p.m. contest. It will be the first Northern outing since Sept. 30th's 34-6 trashing of Turkeyfoot, and the Huskies have had two weeks to lick their wounds and prepare for the Spartans.

Last year's unbeaten Huskies kept their second-half playoff run alive by focusing on, and decimating, each opponent week after week, but the sustained intensity of that senior-dominated squad had come at a high price. A number of those players could recall all too well the debacle of the latter portion of the 1998 season, when a high-flying 4-1 NHS squad lost its focus and came crashing to earth by losing its last four games.

"Mark Wolf and Toby Gilpin, two of our three co-captains [along with Bill Rodeheaver], were on that 1998 team, and they remember what it was like," Carr commented yesterday. "They, along with our coaching staff, have talked to their teammates this year about what went wrong that season. We have a lot of young guys on the team who weren't around the varsity then, but we think the lesson has soaked in. The guys know they can't look ahead beyond their next opponent.

"We've had good practices this week, and with two weeks off the kids are itching to get back on the field and hit someone other than their teammates. They had a slight lull last week on the practice field, that can be expected—but they've bounced back in their intensity and preparation this week. We've been telling them again and again that if they don't keep on track Bishop Walsh can come in and knock us off, even if it is on our home field. The Spartans have nothing to lose."

Bishop Walsh will bring a veer formation offense to NHS tomorrow night, a look the Cove faithful have seen before. John Wilson, the Spartans' head coach, is a former Northern assistant under Tom Vent and Phil Carr, and he employs the same veer offense that was utilized by the Huskies during those years. The Spartans will sport a two-back set and an unbalanced line as part of their offensive strategy, and will likely keep the ball on the ground, according to Carr. The BW defense relies on a 5-3 formation, "but mixes things up a lot, moving guys around to take different gaps," Carr said.

Spartans to watch include senior fullback/linebacker Anthony Chambers (5-11, 175); senior tight end/linebacker Christian Barmoy (6-1, 175); junior offensive tackle/defensive tackle Danny Long (5-9, 240); and sophomore offensive guard/linebacker Mark O'Reilly (5-5, 190).

Northern used the past two weeks to recover from some injuries. Halfback/linebacker Wolf will play with a sore shin that sidelined him after the first quarter of the Turkeyfoot contest, and halfback Rob Dozier is rated at 90 percent with a sore ankle that he twisted for the second time in a recent practice.

Listed as "questionable" are two of the leading blockers along the offensive line: tackle Josh Swandol, who has a shoulder injury, and guard Tommy Menges, who has a knee injury. "Josh and Tommy are key to our option blocking scheme, because they pair up on the quick side of the line to move out and pave a path for the ballcarrier," Carr remarked. "If they're not ready, we'll be looking at using junior guard Jason Moore (5-11, 210) and sophomore tackle Eric Rodeheaver (6-0, 185) in their place. They've both worked exceptionally hard this week in practice.

"We're hoping for a big turnout tomorrow night," Carr said. "It's Autumn Glory weekend, and we know a lot of alumni will be in town, and the weather should be fantastic. Southern's on the road this week in Martinsburg, so if folks would like to see some football they're welcome to come out and cheer us on."

Ram Blitzkrieg Scores 87 Points Against Steelers

The Northern Steeler program of the Cumberland Area Youth Football League took a shellacking Sunday, as the Division I team dropped a 46-14 contest to the Ridgeley Rams, while the Division II squad fell to its Ridgeley counterparts by a 41-0 margin.

Husky Jayvees Fall To Westmar By 12-0 Margin

Despite a 90-yard rushing effort by sophomore Danny Ganoe, the Northern High School junior varsity football squad dropped a 12-0 contest to Westmar Monday night in Accident. The small (5-4, 130) halfback scampered for his yardage in a dusting of snow, but his teammates were unable to gain traction of their own as NHS fell victim to the shutout Wildcat effort.

Westmar quarterback Danny Duncan scored on a four-yard run in the first quarter to open the scoring, but after that both offenses bogged down. The score was still 6-0 when Duncan hit Johnny Shingler for a 30-yard touchdown pass in the final quarter. Duncan finished with 105 yards on the ground in addition to his two scores.

The Huskies are slated to travel to Allegany Monday evening.

Maddawgs Take On Hampshire To Conclude Year

The Northern Maddawgs traveled to Hampshire Saturday to take on the Hampshire Panthers for their final Tri State Area Pee-Wee Football League match-up of the season, and the C team concluded the year with an outstanding 7-0-1 record after overpowering the Panthers by a score of 21-6.

Scoring for the Maddawgs C team during the victory were Aaron Lapp with one rushing touchdown, Zack Watkins with one rushing touchdown and an extra point, and Kameron Kamp with one rushing touchdown.

The A and B team jumped out ahead with an impressive first quarter during its contest. The B team scored 25 points early, as Josh Duckworth ran for a pair of touchdowns, Kyle Meyr and Zack Fratz each carried ball the into the endzone for touchdowns, and Jared Rodeheaver scored one extra point.

The A team was unable to stop Hampshire in the second quarter, however, and gave up two touchdowns. The score stood 25-12 in the Maddawgs' favor as the third quarter opened, but the B squad was held scoreless and Hampshire scored another 13 points to pull into a tie. At the start of the fourth quarter the A unit held its own, but Hampshire managed to score again to account for the final margin of Hampshire 31, Maddawgs 25. The Maddawgs finished the A and B season with a 2-6 record.

The Maddawgs C team also participated in a 14-team C team tournament in Cumberland Sunday, and walked away with a 13-0 victory over the Raiders in their first contest. Aaron Lapp and Zack Watkins scored touchdowns on the ground, and Watkins added an extra point.

Later that afternoon the Maddawgs took on the Frostburg Cougars in search of a playoff position for the Super Bowl. The Cougars and Maddawgs went head to head for a competitive struggle, with the Maddawgs leading most of the 40 minutes, but the Cougars took a 19-18 lead with less than two minutes to play.

The Maddawgs embarked on a drive, without any timeouts, from their own 45-yard line with one minute on the clock. Aaron Lapp broke free on a long quarterback keeper before being tackled 15 yards from the endzone with only eight seconds left on the clock. The Maddawgs were unable to get another play off before the game ended, and were eliminated from the tournament by a one-point margin. Scoring during the contest for the Maddawgs were Aaron Lapp with one rushing touchdown and Zack Watkins with two rushing touchdowns.

"We had a successful season," first-year Maddawg head coach Jamie Rodeheaver commented afterward, expressing pride in his players and in the support the team received from the cheerleaders, parents, and business sponsors.

Husky Netters Drop A Pair

The varsity volleyball team of Northern High School stumbled twice this week, losing a 3-1 contest to Beall and a 3-0 sweep at the hands of undefeated Fort Hill. The action gives NHS a 3-8 record.

The Huskies gave the Mountaineers a bit of a fight Monday at the Cove. They fell in Game 1 by a 15-8 margin, narrowly went down to a 17-15 defeat in the second game, won Game 3 by a 15-8 score, then were hammered, 15-2, in the final contest. Sara Dotson paced the visitors with 12 kills. Bridget Frazee had 12 points and three kills for NHS, and teammate Nicole Sisler contributed six points and five kills.

Northern triumphed in the JV match, 2-1. After dropping the first contest by a 15-11 margin, the Huskies roared back for 15-4, 15-13 victories. Melissa Patterson scored 11 points for NHS, Valerie Miller tallied seven points and two kills, and Kristin Hoffman contributed seven points.

Last night in Cumberland the Sentinels demolished Northern in the first two games, 15-5 and 15-2, before the Huskies got on track to close the gap to a two-point margin in Game 3, which the hosts took by a 15-13 score. Jessica George and Jen Vance each scored 14 points for the hosts, while Karla Buckel and Amanda Frantz scored four points apiece for NHS.

The Huskies' JV squad took its contest 2-1, opening with a 15-6 loss before rebounding for a pair of clutch 16-14 victories. Tabitha Beitzel led Northern with eight points and Mary Beth Hershberger added seven. Fort Hill's Danielle Morozek paced her team with 17 points.

The Huskies are scheduled to host the Allegany Campers Monday evening. The junior varsity contest gets under way at 6 p.m., with the varsity match-up following thereafter.

SHS NETTERS RETURN HOME — After playing on the road for the first half of the season, the Southern High School varsity volleyball team returned to Oakland last night to play in its home opener in its recently renovated gym. The homecoming was slightly soured by a 3-0 loss to the Westmar Wildcats, but the final game went down to the wire. Shown above, sophomore setter Kristen Rollman (#15) launches a set for teammate Holly Harris (#5, in foreground. Rounding out the Rams' floor lineup are, from left, Aimee Parrack (#22), Laura Johnson (#24), Heather Boyce (#23), and Jessica Sharon (#3). SHS hosts unbeaten Fort Hill Wednesday evening.

Ram Netters Swept Twice

Southern High School's volleyball team continued its slide this week as the Rams fell in a pair of straight-set losses to Frankfort and Westmar.

Monday at Frankfort, Southern came up on the short end of 15-7, 15-9, and 15-12 scores. The Falcons were led by Stacey Mielecki's 13 points, while the Rams' Holly Harris had 12 points and teammate Aimee Parrack contributed eight points.

Frankfort took the junior varsity contest as well. The Falcons took Game 1 by a 15-12 margin, SHS rebounded for a convincing 15-2 triumph, then Frankfort rallied for a 15-3 victory in the decisive third game. Natalie Dalonges had 13 points for the Falcons and Stephanie Niner's 16 Ram points led all scorers.

Last night Southern hosted Westmar, but fell by scores of 15-8, 15-7, and 15-13. Angie Johnson scored 13 points for the guests, while Southern's Parrack tallied nine points, four aces, and five assists. Teammate Laura Johnson added four aces, two kills, and two blocks, and Erin Frantz had two blocks as well. The varsity squad's record fell to 2-7 as a result of the action.

Southern's junior varsity squad took its match. After dropping Game 1 by a 15-9 score, the Rams roared back for 15-3 and 15-13 victories. Niner and Brianna Byers each tallied nine points for SHS, as the JVs upped their record to 7-3.

The Rams are set to host Fort Hill Wednesday evening, and Bishop Walsh this coming Thursday evening, Oct. 19. Both matches get under way with 6 p.m. JV contests, and the varsity squads take the floor shortly after conclusion of junior varsity play.

NHS Alumni Game Set For Saturday

There is still time for former Northern High School volleyball players to register to play in an NHS alumni match this Saturday, Oct. 14, in the Northern High gymnasium. The match will get under way at 6:30 p.m.

The entry fee of $10 per person and all proceeds from the door will benefit the NHS volleyball program. For more information, persons may telephone Becky Harvey at 301-746-5075 or report to the high school Saturday evening.

GCC Netters Fall To Rockville; Down Essex, Penn St.-Fayette

Garrett Community College's volleyball team took two its three matches this week to up its record to 12-6. The Lakers opened with a 3-1 loss to Rockville, but rebounded to defeat Essex 3-1 and Penn State-Fayette in a 3-0 sweep.

GCC took the opening game Friday in Rockville by a 15-13 margin, but was handcuffed for the next three games in losing 15-5, 15-2, and 15-7. Crystal Kimble was 34-for-39 on sets, and Lauren Stillwagon was 33-for-45 with 11 assists. Stillwagon tallied 10 service points as well. Mimi Harvey went 15-for-15 from the service line and also had three kills. Melissa McKeever scored 12 points, Jessica Saturday was 11-for-13 on attacks and had four blocks, and Tameka Graves had seven kills.

Saturday in McHenry the Lakers dropped the first game against Essex by a 15-6 margin, but then roared back in convincing fashion with 15-7, 15-7, and 15-11 victories. Saturday and Graves had nine kills each and Mia Leone added six. On attacks, Saturday went 14-for-16, Graves went 12-for-18, and Leone went 11-for-14 with three service aces.

Stillwagon converted 27 of 33 sets and had 11 assists and two service aces. Kimble was 23-for-25 on sets and had eight assists and five service aces. Harvey was 7-for-7 on attacks with two kills, Shannon Robinson had three service aces and two kills, and Keri Niner tallied three service aces.

Garrett opened last night at home against Penn State-Fayette with a 15-13 victory, then ran off with the match by following up with 15-7 and 15-3 annihilations. In tallying six aces, Kimble went 16-for-16 on serves,

Children Witnessing Domestic Violence Inherit Painful Legacy

by Peggy Santamaria

It has been called second hand abuse. It has been referred to as witnessing abuse. For the children who are caught within a violent family, it is can mean fear, anxiety, low self-esteem, and emotional abandonment, according to therapists who have counseled these victims.

A Battering Home Means Living In Fear

A desperate whisper awakened Daniel in the darkness of night. "Get up. We have to get out of here." His mother fumbled on the floor for the 4-year-old boy's sneakers and jammed his bare feet into them. They stumbled through the hushed house and out into the cold autumn night.

"I remember that the moon was really bright and it was cold. I think I was only wearing a T-shirt and underwear," Daniel recalled. He and his mother began running across the fields that surrounded the house. They were putting distance between themselves and Daniel's violent father.

"There was tall grass and brambles. I remember them scratching my legs as we made our way through. I didn't understand what was happening. My mother said we could not move along the roads because he would find us," Daniel remembered.

Images of that night are clearly etched in Daniel's mind, even though more than 40 years have passed.

"I don't know what my emotions were, but I did trust my mother." The little boy believed that his mother would protect him. That belief would be short-lived.

Children Take On Adult Roles Prematurely

By the time Daniel was 6, he no longer saw himself as "just a normal kid." The fear created by his father's presence kept him always on edge, he remembered. He also was beginning to see himself as his mother's protector.

"One night I woke up and heard her pleading with him. She was pleading for her life. They were in their bedroom and he was holding a pillow over her face. I was only 6, but I knew I had to do something to stop this. He was going to kill her."

In terror, the little boy entered that bedroom and jumped onto his father's back. "I just kept trying to pull his arms back so he wouldn't smother her. Can you imagine a little 6-year-old kid taking on a 200-pound man?" Daniel asked with a grim chuckle.

Battering Creates Low Self-Esteem

Daniel said he spent a lot of time thinking about what was going on in his home. "I felt like we were freaks. Nobody else in the world had a family like this. I thought maybe I was doing something wrong that was causing this to happen. Or I was being punished for something. I just couldn't figure it out."

But what Daniel did figure out was that he didn't "measure up" to other people. He didn't fit in. And he felt constant shame. "I didn't want anyone to ever see my parents. I would walk for hours to get to a party at a friend's house rather than let my father drive me or come and pick me up. People would see him," he said, recalling the anxiety.

A Violent Home Means Feeling Powerless

When Daniel was about 10 he tried to run away from home. "I just couldn't stand it any more. I wanted to be away from it all. I ran as far as I could. My mother came after me. I told her I hated him and I wished he were dead."

Daniel said he asked his mother if they could leave — just move away. "She said we couldn't because we needed him to support us. We didn't have shelters around then. People didn't talk about these things. So I stayed and spent the rest of my childhood and adolescence trying to protect her and stop him, until I was old enough to move out."

Today, however, there are support services for people like Daniel, his mothern and his father, and shelters to assist in times of family crises, as well as counselors working in the community to stem the growth of such abuse. In Garrett County, the Dove Center offers a variety of resources to victims of domestic violence and sexual abuse.

For more information on the services provided by the Dove Center, persons may call 301-334-9000 or 301-895-4300.

Jones To Give Talk On Vision Loss Prevention

Dr. James V. Jones will host a presentation titled "Your Vision: The Second 50 Years" on October 18 at Regional Eye Center, located at 888 Memorial Drive, Oakland. The presentation will begin at 9 a.m. and will focus on how to prevent vision loss from macular degeneration, glaucoma, diabetic retinopathy, and cataracts.

"The presentation will cover the causes, symptoms, treatment, and new prevention approaches for the most common medical eye problems suffered by older Americans," said Jones.

Participants will view illustrative pictures and a slide presentation to aid in the understanding of these problems. They will also receive handouts to help in following the recommendations discussed. A vision screening to detect all of the discussed conditions will be offered at no charge to all attendees following the presentation until 11 a.m.

This presentation and screening are part of Garrett County Memorial Hospital's new Senior Wellness Program.

"I am delighted to have Dr. Jones as part of our program. He has an excellent teaching reputation," said Debora Nichols, Wellness coordinator for Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The Senior Wellness Program will be an ongoing series of presentations and screenings designed for the special needs and interests of this particular age group," Nichols said.

Epilepsy Group Slates Meetings

The support group offers information as well and encouragement to individuals with epilepsy, their families, and friends. For more information, persons may call 301-387-7723.

Olia Ortiz Confronting Breast Cancer With Proactive Approach

TAKING IT IN STRIDE - Olia Ortiz and her dog Pebbles share a special bond — both are cancer survivors. Building their physical and spiritual strength they walk together each day.

by Peggy Santamaria

"Early detection is extremely important. Everyone should get a mammogram."

There was no history of breast cancer in Olia Ortiz's family, so when a mammogram indicated a possible tumor in her breast, she said she was surprised. "Neither the doctor nor I could feel anything because it was so small," she said.

At age 61, Olia had mammograms regularly for many years, and took advantage of the free breast and cervical cancer screening (BCCS) program offered through the Garrett County Health Department.

The mammogram Olia had in July, however, was a critical one, because it pinpointed a potential problem long before other methods of checking would reveal it. A second mammogram, given to verify the results, confirmed the initial findings. "The appointment was made that day for a biopsy," she recalled.

It took about three weeks for the biopsy reports to be sent back to her doctor's office documenting that the small mass discovered through mammography had, indeed, proven to be malignant cancer.

Remedial action was swift. Surgery was scheduled and the cancerous tumor removed, along with a small amount of the tissue surrounding it.

And that was that, for Olia. She had decided that she did not want to pursue further avenues of medical treatment. She did not want to undergo chemotherapy or radiation, she explained. "I chose instead to work very hard at building my body. I might have it, but it doesn't have me," she said emphatically.

Exercise, rest, and nutrition became part of Olia's daily health regimen. "I walk about two miles each day, drink lots of water, and live as much as possible on fresh, uncooked vegetables," she said.

Olia's decisions to forego further medical treatment was supported by her husband but questioned by her seven children. "They thought I should take the chemo and radiation, until I explained to them that I'd rather have two years of doing exactly what I want than five years of feeling sicker and sicker," she stated, adding that if "worse comes to worst" there is always the chemo and radiation.

So life for Olia goes on much as it did before her diagnosis, she explained. She has given up none of her routines and she continues to run a personal care home. A vegetarian for some time, Olia has begun following her nutrition regimen more stringently than she did previously.

"But I don't deny myself. I used to buy myself a piece of candy when I would shop. Because I don't eat sugar now, I buy myself a flower instead. It reminds me that I am worth something. God created us, so we must all be worth something."

A deep spirituality has always been an integral part of Olia's life. She didn't need to reach for a sustaining faith — it was always there. "I stay under the umbrella," Olia said.

Reflecting on the impact of what she learned through mammography, Olia noted that she sometimes thinks that things happen for a reason. "I haven't cried over this and it doesn't frighten me, but it is good to slow down and look at where you are in life and what is going on," she said.

For more information on the BCCS program, persons may call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-895-3111 or 301-334-8111.

An all-you-can-eat breakfast is planned at the Aurora fire hall, along U.S. 50, on Sunday morning, Oct. 15, from 7 a.m. until 1 p.m. Adult donations are $6 and children under age 12 eat for $3. The menu includes both buckwheat cakes and pancakes, sausage, scrambled eggs, bacon, home fries, sausage gravy, and biscuits. The public is invited.

BUCKWHEAT DINNER

An annual buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be served at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, on Saturday evening, Nov. 4. Serving is from 4 until 8 p.m., with adults $5, children 6 to 12 $3, and those 5 and under may eat free.

BROOKSIDE REVIVAL

The Wamsleys will lead a revival at the Brookside Church of the Brethren on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, Oct. 19, 20, and 21. There will be special music each evening and meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

FALL FUN FEST

Dime pitch items are needed for the Fun Festival at Aurora School, and organizers are also looking for donations of 2 litre bottles of soft drinks, when the Aurora PTO hosts the event on Oct. 28. Persons may take or send them to the school, or call Sue Shillingburg at 735-3007 for further information. Potted house plants are also needed for the festival.

WVSWC CONFERENCE

The annual conference of West Virginia Soil and Water Conservation Partnerships was held Oct. 2-5 at the Marriott Town Center in Charleston. Hancell and Mildred Teets, Mary Lebnick, and Becky Montgomery, all supervisors from Preston County, and Don and Glendora Headley of Marion County, were in attendance, as well as all of the farmer winners for each of the Monongahela District counties: Preston, Ed and Bill Grose; Marion, Denzil Parker; and Monongalia, Ms. Pat Keith. Also attending were Mark Malone, Cathy Allen, and Bradley Durst, representing state and federal agencies. Brad Michaels of Monongahela Soil Conservation District, received awards for winners of two elementary school poster contests and a photo contest. A merit award went to The Friends of Decker's Creek, in recognition of their outstanding work in cleanup of Decker's Creek and of conservation activities within the Decker's Creek watershed.

The contractor's award went to Fred Bierer, who was the contractor for the new Glenmark Center, located just off I-68 at the Pierpont exit and owned by Glenmark Holding, Inc.

Named as state winners of the conservation "Farmer of the Year" was Monteroft Farms of Cranesville, owned and operated by Ed and Jean Grose, their son and daughter-in-law Bill and Patti Grose, and their sons. These state winners are eligible for the national competition and will receive a trip to the National Conference of Soil and Water Conservation Partnerships. Placing second was the Dr. John Spiker family of West Fork District, and third place went to a family from the northern panhandle.

Mr. Teets has resigned from his post as supervisor and was the recipient of a certificate noting his 22 years of service. He expressed his appreciation to the local farmers who have supported him for seven three-year terms. His wife Mildred will also be retiring from her post as WV Soil and Water Conservation auxiliary president which, under her leadership, has almost reached its goal of a $50,000 perpetual scholarship sponsoring two students.

AURORA CHURCH SETS REVIVAL SERVICES — The Brookside Church of the Brethren has slated a series of revival services from Thursday, Oct. 19, through Saturday, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p.m. each evening. Services will be conducted by the Wamsleys of Parsons, who, shown above from the left, are Mike, Kris, and Charles Wamsley. There will be special music at each service. The church is located beside the volunteer fire hall in Aurora.

GREEN VALLEY BOOKFAIR TRIP

The Aurora PTO is sponsoring a Shaffer Bus tour to Harrisonburg, Va., for the Green Valley Bookfair on Saturday, Nov. 25. Persons who would like to be a part of this opportunity to buy books of all types at 60-90% off retail, may do so by sending $10 for each seat reserved, and including the names and phone numbers of whom to contact, to the Aurora School. Plans are made to partake of a buffet lunch just prior to arriving at Green Valley for which the charge will be $4.99 for adults and half price for children 4-12. That and a stop for dinner on the way home will be in addition to the cost of a ticket. Reservations are due by Oct. 20.

OCTOBER 7 WEDDINGS

Five weddings in one day in Union District is a lot, but this past Saturday that is exactly what happened. Choosing the date of Oct. 7 were Michael Hartsell and Kimberly Shaffer, who were married at noon at the Aurora United Methodist Church. At 2 p.m. at Amboy, Stacy Snyder became the bride of Brad Goff, and they will be residing in Newburg. In 4 p.m. weddings, Beth Ann Hauser and Chad Bishop were married at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, and Teresa Peterson and Leroy Mallow were married at Mt. Grove Church. LIBRARY NEWS

Demonstration books from Books Are Fun are available for purchase at the library through Friday, Oct. 20. The demo books are written for several different age groups and for different interests within each age group. A selection of Discovery Toys, with similarly themed books, will be displayed beginning Monday, Oct. 16. The Books Are Fun company is based in California, and the Discovery Toys demonstration is presented by local resident Mary Martin.

The library's annual book sale will begin Wednesday, Nov. 1. This year's selection is the largest yet. The inexpensively priced books come from a variety of sources — pulled from the shelves, donated by patrons and friends, or extra copies of library holdings — and cover a wide range of reader age levels, from very young children to seniors. The book sale will run for two weeks.

The 4-H Club from Terra Alta celebrated National 4-H Week in different ways. One was the display club members set up in the library. Posters and crafts members had worked on and displayed at the Buckwheat Festival were on available for viewing, along with the ribbons that members had earned.

Nine pre-registered voters were handled this year at the library. Deadline was Oct. 10, and Election Day is Nov. 7. The Terra Alta Library will be open with regular hours.

Periodicals, books, and/or materials have been received from Ruth Sines, Jinn McConnell, Karen Spiker, Shirley Williams, Roberta Floyd, Rebecca Harriman, and Mary McLaughlin.

TO THE RESIDENTS OF LOCH LYNN

I am writing in regard to a newsletter mailed out to some of the citizens of Loch Lynn Heights. This letter was prepared and signed by Larry Friend, a candidate for mayor of Loch Lynn. I believe this letter was very misleading to the residents of our town since many of the actual candidates names were deleted from the names mentioned in it. I believe in campaigning and putting much effort into something you believe in like our small hometown of Loch Lynn. However, I believe the foremost and most important thing, as I feel most citizens in our town would agree, is honesty. This letter was not an excellent example of honesty. In fact, the candidates who appeared with the letter were chosen by Mr. Friend himself. I felt that was very disrespectful to all additional candidates equally as interested and qualified to fulfill the position of mayor, councilpersons, and treasurer. I feel that all of you are capable of casting your own votes, and making wise decisions given the opportunity to meet "all" of the candidates who are willing to put forth the effort essential to keep this community alive and a pleasant place to live. "All" of your choices for the position of mayor, councilperson, and for town treasurer deleted from that letter are as follows: candidate for mayor, Sheila O'Neill; candidates for the position of councilpersons include Jim Patton, Stanley Thomas, David Wildeson, and Scott Bittinger; candidate for position of town treasurer should have also included Robin Beckman. Hopefully this letter will be helpful to all residents and offer you the remaining options not mentioned in Mr. Friend's letter. Please, I urge you to vote in your primary election on Oct. 16, and your general election on Nov. 6. Remember that HONESTY has always been the best policy and good luck to ALL candidates. Thank You!

Wayne Graham Retires From Woodman Post

Garrett County native Wayne Graham, a resident of Omaha, Neb., recently announced his retirement as executive vice president of Woodman of the World/ Omaha Woodmen Life Insurance Society.

Graham followed the footsteps of his father, Spencer Graham, who was a Woodmen representative and later a state manager for Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia. Wayne became a Woodmen representative for Oakland in 1958, district manager in 1959, area manager in 1965, and state manager of the West Virginia and western Maryland marketing area in 1966.

Graham moved to the Woodmen home office in Omaha in 1975 when he was promoted to assistant field manager. He was named assistant vice president in 1976, and became associate field manager and field division office manager in 1980. In 1981, he was appointed field manager, and a year later was named a vice president. In January 1985, he was elected to the board of directors as national secretary, and in June 1987, Graham was named executive vice president, a position he held for the past 13 years. He will remain on the Woodmen board of directors as National Watchman.

"Wayne has done an outstanding job in his position as executive vice president," said National President John Bookout. "He is a lifelong Woodmen member who has built our fraternal program into one of the best in the nation. The entire society owes him a debt of gratitude for his untiring efforts."

During Graham's 13 years as executive vice president, he spearheaded a dramatic growth in fraternalism that saw Woodmen matching-fund fraternal projects increase from 1,465 in 1987 to 3,118 in 1999. Under his leadership, the company established market area corporations, the Fraternal Coordinator Program, the Fraternal Challenge Program, and Lodge Leader magazine and the Lodge Update newsletter.

According to Bookout, Graham was also involved in the creation of the senior camp program and youth and senior camp accreditation with the American Camping Association, and also instrumental in forming the historic Woodmen/ American Red Cross disaster relief partnership, which has offered members an opportunity to help those in need in their communities.

He served on numerous Woodmen committees, and was also president of the National Fraternal Congress of America (NFCA) in 1997. In Omaha, he is a member of the board of directors of the American Red Cross Heartland Chapter, the Visiting Nurse Foundation, and the Keep Omaha Beautiful and Omaha Downtown Rotary clubs. He is also a national board member of the Citizens Flag Alliance.

Graham and his wife Weasie plan to remain in Omaha. Their daughter Jennifer and husband, Mark Mauer, reside in Las Cruces, N.M., with their three daughters. Their son Jeff resides in Denver.

"In our career with Woodmen we have made hundreds of friends," Graham said, "and we intend to stay in touch."

Graham has a brother, Dr. William Graham, and two local sisters, Elaine Marple, Deep Creek Lake, and Janice Hutchinson, Oakland.

Friendsville To Host Bloodmobile

An American Red Cross bloodmobile will welcome donors at the Friendsville fire hall next Friday, Oct. 20, from noon to 6 p.m. The goal for the visit is 40 units.

The ARC continues with a national appeal for blood. In order to be eligible to donate blood, persons must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, be in generally good health, and not have donated within the last 56 days.

Application Deadline Noted For GED Exam

The application deadline for the Maryland high school diploma GED exam is Wednesday, Nov. 1. The exam itself will be given Saturday, Dec. 2, at Garrett Community College, and only persons 16 or older who are not currently enrolled in the public school system may apply to take the exam. The cost is $45, payable at the time of the application. Free classes are being offered to help prepare individuals for the exam. For further information on the prep classes, or to apply for the exam, interested persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304.

Distribution Of Seedlings Set By Forest Agencies

Two seedling distribution programs are available to landowners interested in planting young trees or shrubs on their property next spring. Seedling orders will be taken until Feb. 28, 2001, but seedlings are sold on a first-come, first-served basis, so early orders are encouraged.

The John S. Ayton State Forest Tree Nursery of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources is offering seedlings at cost to individuals and organizations wishing to plant trees on a minimum of 1/4 acre of land as stream buffers, windbreaks, and to improve wildlife habitat and erosion control. These seedlings are offered for sale in minimum quantities of 100. Conifers may be ordered in multiples of 50, and hardwood seedlings in multiples of 100.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is offering free tree and shrub seedlings to private landowners who have a forest plan for a riparian area that the landowner wants to reforest. The riparian buffer is generally limited to the 100-year floodplain or to the crests of hills surrounding steep valleys.

Persons interested in planting trees next spring are encouraged to contact the Maryland DNR Forest Service at 301-334-3296 for additional information and guidance in planning, because proper site preparation is extremely important, according to western Maryland forester Ernie Metz. The office also has information on the many incentive programs offered by the state or federal government to persons planning to plant more than one acre.

Landowners or groups interested in purchasing seedlings for planting this coming spring can also place their order by contacting the John S. Ayton Forest Tree Nursery at 1-800-TREES-MD (1-800-873-3763).

EVERY PRESCRIPTION IS A "MIRACLE" MEDICINE

When your physician writes a prescription for you, he has selected, form the many thousands of different medicines in our prescription department, the exact one he judges will help you most. That is why a prescription is usually more beneficial than any over-the-counter medicine.

The most important part of any treatment is your physician's ability to diagnose the cause of the trouble. That diagnosis is an extra ingredient which makes each prescription a "Miracle" medicine.

This phrase speaks of a decade dedicated to nature, peace, and simplicity. Though controversial, a generation of "baby boomers" was coming of age. They have now parented a new generation, complex and state-of-the-art; the leaders of a tomorrow which already has brilliantly dawned upon the new day.

As we separate the wheat from the chaff, let us remember those basic ideals of the simple life, the simplistic beauty of the gifts God has given us. The only price of admission is appreciation...something that money cannot buy. We can only hope that the young people of today will take the time to harvest enough wheat from our yesterdays to sustain their tomorrows.

Most importantly, may each generation take the opportunity to praise the Creator as we participate in worship each Sabbath, remembering that God's gifts to us are forever priceless.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DAVID'S LAMENT
October 15, 2000

Background Scripture:
1 Samuel 31:1 through 2 Samuel 1:27; 1 Chronicles 10.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 77:1-9.

You might think it strange that it is David who leads Israel in lamenting the death of Saul, Jonathan and their soldiers on Mount Gilboa. Although David and Saul had once been close, Saul's bitter jealousy of David had forced him to flee and hide for several years. Had Saul captured David it is likely he would have had him executed.

Still, Saul's animosity did not seem to evoke the same response from David, who refused to take Saul's life even when he had several opportunities (1 Sam. 24,26). Perhaps David's memories of their past friendship restrained. Maybe it was because of his strong friendship with Jonathan, Saul's son. Another reason is suggested in 2 Samuel 1:14,16, when, questioning the Amelekite sojourner, David calls Saul "the Lord's anointed." Despite everything, the Lord's choice of Saul as king was more important to David than the danger that Saul represented to him.

Relationships between people are often strained and ruined because of the malign or careless acts of one or more of the persons. Yet, often we ought not to write off these people. We need to remember the good times as well as the bad and try to rebuild the relationship on that basis. Sometimes, when people come to me for marital counseling, I find that they are focused only on the bad times in their marriage, not the good ones. I often ask them to tell me about an experience when they felt good and positive about their mate. These recollections often trigger warm feelings that have been long forgotten.

Some Good Things

Saul's death was tragic for several reasons. Despite all his failings, Saul had done some good things for Israel: "Ye daughters of Israel," says David, "weep over Saul, who clothed you daintily in scarlet, who put ornaments of gold upon your apparel" (2 Sam 1:24). For all his weaknesses, Saul had been a mighty military leader: "How are the mighty fallen!" (19,25). And, most important of all, Saul was the Lord's anointed. It was doubly sad because, despite the Lord's anointing, Saul had seldom risen to the occasion. His nagging self doubt was stronger than his trust in God, so SENIORS COMPLETE ACADEMY - The Friendsville Senior Center was the site of a recent Senior Citizen Crime Prevention Academy, sponsored by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and organized by Bill Heise, local SALT (Senior And Lawmen Together) coordinator. Speakers at the classes, which were held September 11-15, covered a broad range of topics including insurance after age 55, senior health needs, elder abuse, estate planning, investments, and wills and probate laws. Representatives from all segments of law enforcement in Garrett County as well as agencies and the private sector presented information during the session. "This was the first time the academy was held in Friendsville and the response was wonderful. We had 32 seniors register for the course. They all remarked on how informative and helpful these sessions were," Heise said. Lunches each day were provided by SALT. In the photo above are those seniors who completed the course and received certificates. Seated from left are Eleanor Teats, Arden Schnatterly, Helen Vitez, Mildred Friend, and Chauncey Friend. In the second row are Rosa Shelby, Pearl VanSickle, Genne Serio, Cathy Williams, Doris Friend, JoAnn Robinson, Helen Rodeheaver, Gladys Betley, Dolly Livingood, and Heise. In the back are Leroy Robinson, charles Hook, Irene Lester, Faye Humberson, and Ralph Humberson.

Enrollment Open For Md. Prepaid College Trust

The 2000-2001 open enrollment period for the Maryland Prepaid College Trust began this week and will continue through Feb. 28, 2001. The Prepaid College Trust is an independent state agency that provides Maryland and District of Columbia residents with a college education savings plan that locks in contract prices based on current costs at Maryland's public colleges.

The trust is open to all children, newborn to tenth graders, provided either the child or the contract purchaser resides in Maryland or D.C. Contract prices are fixed based upon the age or grade of the child. If the child attends a Maryland public college, the Trust will pay the full in-state undergraduate tuition and mandatory fees, regardless of how much these may have increased. If the child chooses to attend a private or an out-of-state college, the Trust will pay based on an average charged by Maryland public colleges that year.

When enrolling in the Trust, purchasers select a tuition plan from the following options: between one and five years at a four-year college; two years at a community college, or a combination of two years at a community college and two years at a four-year college. Purchasers also select a payment plan from the choices of lump sum, annual payments, a five-year plan, monthly payments until the child graduates from high school, or a down payment plan.

This year the Trust offers several improvements to its service, including the added security of a Maryland Legislative Guarantee. If in any future year the Trust anticipates a shortfall in the amount needed to pay college benefits for the children enrolled in the Trust, the government is required to include the amount needed to make up the shortfall in the Maryland state budget.

In addition to the new legislative guarantee, the Trust has made other enhancements. "We've expanded the way the Trust's benefits can be used if the child receives a scholarship, grant, or tuition remission," said executive director Joan Marshall. "Parents will now have more options on how they can spend their benefits when their children get scholarships or grants."

Marshall also cited other advantages offered by the Trust, including tax incentives and the potential for refunds if necessary, as well as the plan's affordable, portable, and flexible aspects.

For further information on the Maryland Prepaid College Trust, interested persons may call 1-888-4MD-GRAD (1-888-463-4723) or consult the Trust's web site at www.prepaid.usmd.edu.

Proactive Steps Used To Prevent, Reduce Crime

Maryland State Police, local law enforcement, and concerned community members will work together during the month of October to continue reducing crime through proactive efforts. At Barrack W in McHenry, the plan for October includes extending patrols in the communities on trick-or-treat nights to ensure the safety of the children and to forestall petty vandalism.

According to a report from the Maryland State Police, this makes the eighth consecutive year crime has fallen in the United States. Crime Prevention Month is held annually in October to demonstrate how much the community contributes to preventing and fighting crime.

"Millions of interested community members have participated in the past, and widespread support is anticipated this year," a police spokesman said.

Statistics show 1 out of 10 homes will be burglarized this year, and it will take no longer than 60 seconds for a burglar to gain entry into the home. Statistics also show that in almost half of the burglaries committed, the burglar entered through an unlocked door or window. In addition, 30 percent of vehicle thefts occur when keys are left in the vehicle.

State Police superintendent Col. David B Mitchell, a self-described "strong advocate of community programs," said he believes community policing and participation is an important part of the formula for reducing crime in Maryland.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the fourth year, The Republican is asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is The Republican Newspaper's WARM THE CHILDREN FUND?

The Republican newspaper's Warm the Children Fund is, basically, neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds will be used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administrates the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special core of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. Those selected for applications will be receiving them soon. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will soon be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Volunteers will take the families shopping either through the J.C. Penney catalog store in Oakland or at the Ames in Frostburg. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, jeans, long johns, boots, or other needed winter items, spending up to $80 per child. Bobby Andersen and Bobbie Henderson, along with members of the Civic Club of Oakland, are coordinating the Penney's volunteers. Lisa Broadwater, the office manager of the newspaper's Grantsville location, is coordinating those who will shop at Ames.

How can I help?

We need two things: volunteers and donations. To volunteer as a shopper at Penney's, please call Bobby Andersen at 301-334-4459. To volunteer as a shopper at Ames, please call Lisa Broadwater at 301-895-5827 or 301-746-8223. For general information, you may call Mary McEwen, program coordinator, at 301-334-3963.

THE REPUBLICAN

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children Fund.

Please make your donations before Nov. 30, 2000. Those collected after Nov. 30 will be saved for next year.

Bobbie Myers Receives GCMH Employee Award

Bobbie Myers was named Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Employee Choice winner for the month of September. An employee of the hospital for nearly 12 years, Myers works in the dietary department as a cook.

"I was really surprised to receive this award," she said. "I want to thank the people who voted for me. It makes me feel good to know that my co-workers thought I deserved this award."

Myers and her husband of 31 years, Chuck, have two children and two grandchildren. She spends her leisure time drawing with pencils and pastels, and painting in oils and acrylics.

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS
by Emily Cosner

The September meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held September 21 at Yough Glades Elementary School. Baby beef raffle tickets were passed out by Erica Green and should be returned at the October meeting.

We were reminded that record books are due February 1, with no exceptions. Susan Mayfield reported on the State Fashion Revue, where she won reserve champion in her class. Sarah and Jennifer Cosner gave reports on the state bicycle competition, where Jennifer placed second in the junior division and Sarah placed fourth in the intermediate division. We then approved our bylaws with only one change.

We were told that the window in downtown Oakland that we were supposed to have a display in during National 4-H Week will not be available this year because of renovations to the building. We were also reminded that the Livestock Association meeting will be held October 7 at the 4-H stage at the fairgrounds. We welcomed one new member, Jeremy Maxwell.

TOWN THANKS RESIDENTS - Two members of the Oakland Planning Commission, Bob Ault and Chester "Chippy" Mosser, as well as a member of the Oakland Zoning Appeals Board, Ann Englander, recently resigned or retired from their positions with the town. During a recent meeting of the mayor and town council, each of these members was presented with a certificate of appreciation for their "unselfish dedication" to the town for many years. "It's a thankless job. Their decisions are not always popular, but they have done a great job of helping to make Oakland the great place it is today," said Mayor Asa McCain. In the photo above from left are council president Mary Lou Stemple presenting the certificate to Englander, and Mosser receiving his certificate from McCain. Below, Bob Ault received his certificate from council member Peggy Jamison.

Susan Mayfield did a demonstration on forestry and woodworking. She showed us different types of wood and a chair that she made. After the meeting, Bev and Travis Sines showed us how to make a fall decorated flowerpot. All members then made a decorated flowerpot.

Our next meeting will be held October 19 at Yough Glades Elementary School beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in 4-H is invited to attend.

Petrocelli, a former teacher and coach, uses his high energy to empower and motivate all ages and walks of life with humor and message. He speaks to more than 100,000 students a year, and has appeared on "The 700 Club," "Hour of Power," "Geraldo," "Sally Jessy Raphael," and news programs in some 70 countries.

Trust Inviting Applications For Grant Program

The Maryland Historical Trust (MHT), an agency of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), is accepting applications for capital and non-capital historic preservation grants in Fiscal Year 2002. Available funding for the MHT Historic Preservation Grant Program and the Museum Assistance Program in current Fiscal Year 2001 is more than $2.85 million, and it is anticipated that a similar amount will be available for the FY 2002 grant rounds.

Nonprofit organizations, local jurisdictions, business entities, and individuals may apply for grants to fund capital projects. Eligible projects include the acquisition, rehabilitation, or restoration of historic property in Maryland. Only nonprofit organizations and local jurisdictions may apply for non-capital grants. Non-capital projects may include a wide array of historic preservation activities, ranging from research and survey work to the development of educational programs and planning documents.

The application deadline is December 15, 2000, for application cover sheets and January 31, 2001, for the full application. The project selection process will begin in February of 2001, and grant awards will be announced after July 1, 2001. The maximum grant amount is $50,000.

A 50 percent match is required of most applicants for capital projects and of all local jurisdictions for non-capital projects. Non-profit organizations are not required to provide a match; however, those that do include a match will be more competitive in the grant selection process.

Each application is ranked and evaluated using the Maryland Historical Trust's open project selection criteria. This includes, but is not limited to, the significance of the resource, the urgency of the project, the educational value of the project, and any other support for the project. This year's priorities for receiving DHCD funds include projects that incorporate or promote growth management strategies, neighborhood revitalization, and economic development through heritage tourism. Recipients of grants assisting the preservation of historic real property must convey a perpetual historic preservation easement to the trust prior to the release of funds.

The Maryland Historical Trust serves as the state's historic preservation office and is dedicated to preserving the legacy of Maryland's past. Through research, conservation, and education, the trust assists the people of Maryland in understanding their historical and cultural heritage.

For information, applications, and copies of the open project selection criteria, persons may contact Claudette Sherman at 410-514-7633 or via e-mail at sherman@dhcd.state.md.us (Capital Projects) or Nicole Diehlmann at 410-514-7625 or by e-mail at diehlmann @dhcd.state.md.us (Non-capital Projects). Persons may also write to the Maryland Historical Trust at the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023. Applications are available on the Internet at www.marylandhistoricaltrust.net under "documents" or at www.dhcd.state.md.us.

Arthritis Pain Mystery Solved

Horse Liniment is the secret!

OCALA, FL. -- An ingredient used to treat inflammation in thoroughbred racehorse legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx™ and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Scientists suggest that ARTH-Rx works by intercepting the pain messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain. Although the mechanism is not totally clear, pain is relieved in the affected area because the pain signal actually disappears.

ARTH-Rx is the only product on the market with Neurocaine and is available in a convenient, pleasant scented roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, ARTH-Rx is available in pharmacies, nutrition stores, and even some feed stores. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. ©2000 PGC

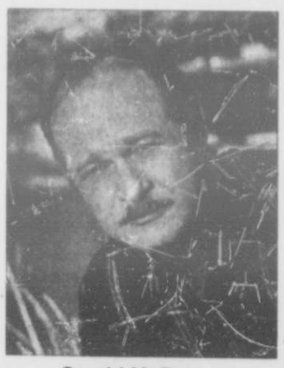
Promised Land has gone to rerun heaven

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate



Gerald McRaney

Q: Whatever happened to the show Promised Land? It hasn't been on in a long time, and I liked it a lot. –S.S. in Newfoundland, Canada.

A: I have to give you credit for patience. Gerald McRaney's series was canceled more than a year ago in the face of falling ratings. You may be able to find reruns.

Q: Please tell me anything you can about the PBS series Ballykissangel, including where I can find more information about this delightful program. –Pat McFarlane, Green Bay, Wis.

A: Other fans have pointed out that this gentle British comedy-drama, which premiered on the BBC in February 1996, strongly resembles Northern Exposure, as both shows have a "fish out of water" as the main character. Like Dr. Joel Fleischman in Exposure, English priest Peter Clifford wasn't sure what to expect when he was assigned to the tiny Irish village of the title, but he found the quirky locals a far cry from the quaint stereotypes he had anticipated.

The show has become a quiet cult hit in the States, spawning a series of books, including a cookbook of recipes from the fictional town. While hard to find domestically, most of the books are fairly readily available via the U.K. division of online sales giant Amazon.com.

Videos of episodes are available at many U.S. retail outlets.

The official Website, which contains tons more information, may be found at www.world-productions.com/ballykissangel. The site includes a touching tribute to series regular Tony Doyle (Brian Quigley), who died last January just before filming started on the sixth cycle of episodes.

Q: Back in the late '60s, I became hooked on a show called Coronet Blue. It was about a young man who had lost his memory and could only remember the words "coronet blue." What did that mean? –Lanny Okonek, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

A: Frank Converse played Michael Alden, who was mumbling that cryptic phrase when police fished him out of New York Harbor after someone tried to kill him. Sadly, the 1967 show was canceled without a conclusion being filmed, so we never found out what "coronet blue" meant.

Q: Game show mainstay Bill Cullen rarely was seen walking. What was his disability? Are he and Tom Kennedy related? –Mary Stewart, Coldwater, Mich.

A: Cullen, who died in 1990 of lung cancer at age 70, was partially disabled by childhood polio. He was related by marriage to both Tom Kennedy and Kennedy's brother, Jack Narz, yet another game show host.

GUARD TO TAKE PART IN AG EVENTS — The Maryland Army National Guard will participate in several Autumn Glory Festival events this year, including tonight's Firemen's Parade and Saturday's Grand Feature Parade. Det. One, Company B of the 121st Combat Engineer Battalion and Det. Two 243rd Heavy Equipment Engineer Battalion, both based out of the Oakland Armory, as well as the Company B 121st Engineer Battalion of Cumberland, will take part in the parades, and among the many pieces of equipment that will be traversing downtown Oakland during the parades will be this 11-ton Armored Personnel Carrier (M113). Guard members will also set up an educational "bunker" along Third Street from Thursday through Saturday that will display numerous pieces of equipment and vehicles, and on Saturday the soldiers will operate a mobile field kitchen at the bunker to give the public a chance to dine as troops do in the field. The Maryland Defense Force will also be manning a booth at the site that will provide information to any youth age 13-17 interested in becoming an MDDF cadet.

AGF Parade To Feature Kena Mini-Corvettes

The internationally famous Kena 500 Mini-Corvettes, from Kena Shriners, Fairfax, Va., will appear in the Autumn Glory Festival Parade for the fifth consecutive year. Donald E. Smith is the potentate of Kena Temple. The Kena 500 contingent is led by President Paul W. Wood in car no. 27. Wood and his wife Dolores are Oakland residents.

Kena 500 was formed in 1972 and is celebrating its 28th year during 2000. The cars appearing in the parade are the original cars built in 1972.

Kena 500 drivers have entertained millions of people on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean. These drivers in their orange cars have performed in two foreign countries, in 14 of the United States, and in the District of Columbia. They have won numerous awards for their crowd-pleasing, precision driving skills. They are the 1995 champions of the International Association of Shrine Motor Corps in precision driving and obstacle course, and are winners of the High Point Trophy for all four-wheel teams in competition. During 1999, they won first place in the drill competition of the South-Atlantic Association of Shrine Motor Corps. They have won this competition four years in a row.

Kena 500 drivers perform two kinds of driving: "fun" driving and "serious" driving. The "fun" driving is when Kena 500 participates in parades, competitions, and exhibitions. In a typical year, drivers will appear in 25 or more parades in several different states, traveling thousands of miles doing so. This is the 21st event they have appeared in this year. They perform more than a dozen different formations during a typical parade. Hand signals are used to overcome distances and engine noise, and some voice commands are aiso employed.

The "serious" driving these Shriners perform is as volunteers who transport children and their parents in hospital vans from Northern Virginia to the Shriners Hospital for Children in Philadelphia, Pa., for free medical care. Kena 500 drivers performed 62 round trips to the hospital during 1999, logging nearly 20,000 man-miles.

Shriners Hospitals for Children, the "world's greatest philanthropy," were begun 78 years ago. All patients are treated free of charge. There are 22 Shrine hospitals in North America, including 20 in the United States, and one each in Canada and Mexico. For information about the Shriner program, persons may call the toll-free patient referral number, 1-800-237-5055, or contact any Shriner.

Siblings Named To Who's Who

NATHAN MURPHY

Oakland siblings Sheena Adell Murphy and Nathan Allen Murphy, children of Dennis and Renota Murphy, have both been selected for the 1999-2000 edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students. Both students are multi-year Who's Who selectees, as Sheena Murphy, currently a freshman at Garrett Community College, has been selected for four consecutive years, and this marks the second straight year of recognition for Southern High School senior Nathan Murphy.

A 2000 Southern graduate, Sheena Murphy was a member of the National Honor Society during her junior and senior years, and a chorus member and a participant in the STEAM (Student Tobacco Elimination Among Minors) program for her freshman through junior years. She served as both vice president and secretary of the SHS Christian Club during her three-year membership in that organization.

She was also president of the youth group of the Oakland Church of the Nazarene for three years and served as worship leader for one year. She is currently pursuing a special education teacher's assistant certificate at GCC.

Nathan Murphy has received a Merit Science Award and several leadership awards at Southern High. Last year he was a member of the boys' varsity soccer and track teams. He intends to pursue a college major in business administration after graduating from high school.

Nat'l Business Women's Week Set Oct. 16-20

Garrett County Business and Professional Women/USA announces the 72nd annual National Business Women's Week (NBWW), October 16-20. NBWW offers communities, companies, and organizations an opportunity to celebrate the contributions of working women. It also offers a chance for local BPW organizations across the country to acknowledge companies and individuals that have made strides toward improving working women's lives in their communities.

NBWW was first celebrated in 1928 with the announced purpose of dramatizing the contributions of women in industry, government, and the professions. BPW/USA local organizations were asked to participate in daily programs designed to call attention to the purposes and achievements of BPW/USA. From this early effort, NBWW has grown to be a nationwide salute to all working women, as well as a spotlight on national federation programs and objectives.

"Though women have more business and professional opportunities today than in 1928, the program outlined for the first observance of NBWW is still relevant to our current challenges," said a BPW spokesperson. Reports tell of many successful observances throughout the country based on a national program that included: Legislative Day devoted to national, state, and local legislation of interest to women; Education Day devoted to emphasizing the need for equitable educational opportunities; Club Rally Day for prospective new members; Community Day honoring leaders in the community; and Goodwill Day devoted to working with other women's organizations.

As BPW/USA has grown, so too has the scope of NBWW. In 1928, BPW/USA had 50,000 members in 874 local organizations. Today, BPW/USA has over 70,000 members in 53 state federations and 2500 local organizations — the majority of which hold some event to observe NBWW. The celebration of NBWW has furthered the leadership roles of women and increased opportunities for their advancement professionally and personally.

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's organization will host the Woman of the Year and the Employer of the Year program at its next regular meeting on October 19 at 6:30 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp. The Woman of the Year award is designed to honor a woman who has distinguished herself in her career and community. The Employer of the Year award is designed to honor employers for their outstanding efforts and actions to promote and protect the rights of women employees or promote a family friendly work environment.

The public is welcome to attend the October 19 program at the Will O' the Wisp. Reservations can be made by calling Pam Glotfelty or Joanne Harsh at 301-334-0585 by Monday evening, Oct. 16.

Business and Professional Women/USA is a grassroots association with local organizations in every congressional district, as well as the District of Columbia, Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico. BPW/USA's mission is to achieve equity for women in the workplace through advocacy, education, and information.

For membership information, persons may contact Donna McClintock, president, 301-334-8253; Joanne Harsh, vice president, 301-334-0585; or Pam Glotfelty, membership chair, 301-334-0585.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT CONTRACTOR

Q. You often tell readers to hire a contractor for some home repairs, but not how to hire one. I've heard stories about shady repairmen, and I don't want to make a mistake. What's the best way to choose and deal with a contractor? — Edith W., Reading, Penn.

A. A license, references and a reputation — those are the three most important factors in choosing a contractor. If the repair contractor can't produce the required state license to operate, as well as a list of solid, current references, don't deal with him. If your friends, relatives or neighbors have never heard of the contractor before, proceed with caution — even if he does have a license.

In fact, get the name of a contractor from a neighbor or relative before starting your search — it could save you some time and trouble. Meet with the contractor and talk to him about the type of work you need done, and be certain to ask the following questions:

- Is the contractor or his firm licensed in your state?
- How much liability insurance does he or she have, in case any damage is done to your home?
- Does the contractor have a list of references? Get a copy and check them thoroughly.
- Is the work guaranteed?
- Get a written quote on the project. Make sure the contractor notes what work will be done, how long it will take, the total cost, and when payment is expected.

Finally, no matter how good his references or rates are, always go with your gut. If you don't have a good feeling about the contractor, don't hire him.

Antiques by Ralph and Terry Kovel

Formal dinner parties were an important part of the life of a well-to-do Victorian couple. The rules of etiquette and good taste dictated the dinner table's look. Collectors now find many pieces of silver serving dishes and large, carved furniture that were made for a Victorian feast.

The dining room had large furniture. There was often a sideboard with carvings of dead game birds, animals and symbols of the food to be served. The sideboard held large pieces of silver that were to be used during dinner. Examples of fine silver, crystal or china were also on display. The table was in the center of the room under a large, decorative chandelier. Ground-glass globes were preferred because they made the lighting more flattering. The long table was surrounded by matching carved chairs. The table was covered with a white damask cloth that was large enough to fall 20 inches from the floor at both ends. The cloth was ironed and the crease was placed exactly in the middle, going the length of the table. The center of the table held a flower arrangement.

Dinners often had 12 courses, so many dishes were used. Silverware, dishes and napkins were put in place for each course. Sometimes the place setting included an individual salt dish and spoon, plus a place card. Large, ornate serving pieces like tureens and platters were used, and serving pieces were made for every type of food, from asparagus to tomatoes. Most of the utensils can still be used. Never wash gold-trimmed dishes or hollow-handled silverware in the dishwasher. The heat can cause damage.

Q: My aunt recently saw that I have an old celluloid dresser set. She told me the pieces could burst into flames and suggested I get rid of them. My aunt tends to worry a lot, but I'm wondering if she's right.

A: Celluloid is a semi-synthetic plastic that was invented in the 19th century. It does not combust spontaneously; it will not burst into flames without some help. Celluloid can melt and burn easily, however. Never place your dresser set near a fireplace, candle or light source. This includes a light bulb or strong sunlight.

Paw's Corner
by Dodge the Wonder Cat

I know what you're thinking. What does a cat know about anything? Easy — cats are expert observers of the world around them. After all, what do we do all day but lie around watching life go by? That's why my owner, Samantha, allowed me to take over the column for this week — to offer up some tips that you humans may not have thought of. You know, from a cat's-eye view.

One of the little things I've noticed is that some cat owners don't pay attention to their pet's safety. Curling up underneath the family car is a common risk behavior of many outdoor cats (that's how my cousin Tiger met his end), but there are plenty of danger areas indoors, too.

Stove burners are my biggest peeve. Even a half hour after they're used, I can still burn my paws on them! Put a pot of cold water on the burner, and cover any open frying pans or pots of boiling water. Also, unplug the iron and put it out of my reach when you're done using it.

And while you're in the kitchen, close the cupboard doors! We love to explore, and household cleaners, antifreeze or medicines sure look interesting.

Don't leave candles burning unattended — flickering light is hypnotically attractive, and we might knock over the candle, starting a fire.

Be careful where you put houseplants, and what kind you grow. I, for one, love gnawing on the occasional leaf, but some plants are poisonous!

Finally, block access to areas where we might get stuck — like, behind the refrigerator. Trust me, your cat will thank you.

Dodge welcomes your cat tips and questions! Send them to Paw's Corner, c/o King Features Syndicate, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, Fla. 32803.

The Mountain Arts Cooperative, a local organization of Appalachian artisans, received the Best New Artisan Award at the Buckwheat Festival in Kingwood, W.Va., this past weekend. The cooperative is facilitated by the microbusiness program at Garrett County Community Action Inc. and has been operating since 1998. At this time there are more than 20 regular members who participate in the cooperative, making handmade artisan work that is decorative and/or functional.

A panel for a variety of awards judged all participants in the annual festival arts and crafts events. The Preston County Buckwheat Festival is host to more than 100,000 visitors.

Products on exhibit and for sale included: baskets, ironwork, primitive folkart, fine art, wooden furniture, prints, jewelry, soapmaking, woolen products, handcarved walking sticks and market sticks, birdhouses, and more. The cooperative is now engaged in the annual Autumn Show, located in the former Pritts Building along Liberty Street in Oakland, directly across the street from the Oakland train station. This exhibit will continue through Oct. 15.

The Mountain Arts Cooperative Autumn Show and Sale hours are 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. today through Saturday, and from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 15. Admission is free. Many artists will be demonstrating their work throughout the show. Funding support has been provided by the Appalachian Regional Commission and the arts councils of Garrett County and the state of Maryland. The use of the building and other special support has been provided by First United Bank & Trust.

Draft Regs For Timber Cutting Unveiled In Md.

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) and Department of Natural Resources (DNR) have unveiled a draft of upgraded standards for commercial and private timber cutting in Maryland forests. The draft is described as an effort to continue improving Maryland's water quality, stabilize streams, and preserve soil.

When adopted as part of the Code of Maryland Regulations (COMAR), the Maryland Standards and Specifications for Forest Harvest Operations will be a legal working document that will govern forest harvest operations in Maryland. It specifically outlines the technical requirements for sediment and erosion control for timber harvesting in the state, and also provides one-stop forest-harvest-specific guidance for waterway, non-tidal wetland, and Critical Areas permitting.

The draft document was developed by MDE's Water Management Administration and DNR's Forest Service over the last few years to update the Standard Erosion and Sediment Control Plan for Forest Harvest Operation and the Soil Erosion and Sediment Control Guidelines For Forest Harvest Operations in Maryland created more than 20 years ago. That standard plan and those guidelines have provided the basis for design and approval of sediment and erosion control plans for many years and are currently the criteria used by the industry and regulators.

Copies of the draft document have been distributed to a wide range of interested persons for informal review and comment. Other persons interested in reviewing and commenting on this document may find it on the Internet at www.mde.state.md.us and www.dnr.state.md.us. Internet viewing of the document is encouraged, but those not having access can obtain a printed copy of the draft document via mail by calling 410-631-3597, 410-260-8505, or 1-800-633-6101, ext. 3597.

Comments should be received no later than Tuesday, Oct. 31, and may be sent via e-mail to pstoner@mde.state.md.us, or via regular mail to Maryland Department of Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, MD 21224, Attn: Paul Stoner, Compliance Program.

Comments will be evaluated and may be included in subsequent drafts of the Maryland Standards and Specifications for Forest Harvest Operations. A summary of comments received during this informal period will be made available. A formal public comment period will be opened prior to the document being included in COMAR.

SOLD

Stephen and Tara Folickman:
On behalf of my wife Sandra and myself, I want to thank you both for all the hard work you have put into selling my townhome at Sunplace . . . Your professionalism appealed to us both from the start. When Tara first sold me my place at Deep Creek Lake, she know exactly what I was looking for, and didn't try to push something on us that wasn't of interest.
You both truly make an exceptional team. You assist with keeping communication between buyer and seller. You have always returned phone calls in a timely fashion. You both are very detailed, as I am, so probably that has appealed to me the most. I think in any business, if you are not detailed, and organized, the customer suffers. Well not with Team Folickman.
Your broker should be very pleased with you both, and both of us, without question, would recommend to any prospect, to use your services and expertise when buying or selling real estate . . .

Parent Education Course Offered At Family Center

Weekly topics will include behavior management and discipline, learning delays and the exceptional child, mental health disorders with school-aged children, infant and child care, lead poison/lice/home safety, and nutrition. Speakers from various area agencies will present this information.

These classes are offered as a free public service by the Salisbury Area Family Center and area agencies. One may attend any or all of these sessions. Light refreshments will be provided, and child care will be available.

"WE'RE GOING TO BE THERE!" says the Bosley Bunch Lifesavers, who are already looking forward to the 2001 Relay for Life, which raises funds for the American Cancer Society. They add that it's not too early for other teams and individuals to plan to participate in the event, which this year raised an incredible sum of just over $100,000 for the ACS. The third annual event is slated for June 8-9 at the Southern High School track, and different teams will be featured over the next several months to remind persons to begin making plans to participate. Members of the Bosley family pictured above are: Cory Bosley, front; in the second row from left, Jennifer, Juanita, and Jamie Bosley; and in the back, Mary Lynn, Dave, Lu-Jean, and Jim Bosley. The grandchildren of Juanita — Jamie, Jennifer, Nicole, and Cory — were responsible for getting the entire family involved in the relay since the disease claimed the life of their grandfather Ken. Mary Lynn Bosley described participation in the relay as "one of the most rewarding things we have ever done as a family." Some 35 members of the family were involved, forming two relay teams. The Bosleys raised money by sending letters to friends and relatives and via school projects such as "sneaker day" at Dennett Road School, where Mary Lynn is a teacher. Persons desiring more information about the relay may contact Doug Riley at 301-334-5684 or Renee Savage at 301-334-9558.

Local Actor To Play Lead In Preston Play

Matthew Sincell, Mtn. Lake Park, will be the guest actor in Preston High School's production of the Oscar-nominated drama Stand and Deliver, by Robert Bella, which will be presented on the school stage next week. Sincell, a senior scholarship acting major at West Virginia University, will portray the lead character, Jaime Escalante, in the compelling true story of a dedicated East Los Angeles math teacher who surmounts overwhelming odds in his quest to turn inner-city students into whiz kids.

The play, which is being directed by drama teacher Lynn Broderick, will be presented Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Oct. 19-21, at 8 p.m. each evening. The remainder of the cast will consist of Preston students, including Shanna Clark, Holli Royce, Brandon Stump, A.J. Delauder, Jessica Miller, Christopher Peters, Becca Muter, Meghan Broderick, Krista Prokopchuck, Robbie Griffith, Nick Kyle, Tom Larew, April Zinn, Deborah James, Liz Young, and Jamie Watkins.

"The play is an inspiring tribute to teachers," Broderick said. "I would love to see all area teachers, who work so hard, attend."

Sincell, a 1997 graduate of Southern High School and son of Don and Suzie Sincell, is an honor student at WVU and has performed numerous roles since his freshman year. He just finished playing the role of Gerry in seven performances of Dancing at Lughnasa at the WVU Creative Arts Center. This past spring he played Malcomb in Shakespeare's MacBeth, which was performed at both WVU and in Bamburg, Germany, and this summer portrayed Mercutio in the first West Virginia Shakespeare Festival's production of Romeo and Juliet.

Sincell, who is one of only 10 seniors selected for WVU's rigorous Studio Theatre program, has also performed lead roles in An Ideal Husband, Arcadia, The Seagull, and Snow Orchid, among others, during his collegiate years.

Tickets for Stand and Deliver, which are limited to 130 per performance, are $5 each and available by calling the Preston High School box office at 304-329-0400, extension 450.

Director Broderick stated that some of the language in the play is "rough," and may not be suitable for younger children.

Oakland Writer Publishes Novel On The Internet

Word Wrangler Inc., electronic publisher based in Livingston, Mont., recently announced the publication of Dance of the Double Axe by Oakland author Jay R. Kohut.

This novel, Kohut's first, was inspired by his visit to King Minos's palace at the ancient site of Knossos on the Greek island of Crete. The book is a mystery about a modern man caught up in the myths and legends of the distant past. Robert Craig, the main character, inherits an heirloom from his Scottish uncle that seems to turn his physical and spiritual lives upside down.

Kohut is a member of the Garrett County Arts Council and has contributed to the council's Ginseng publication. After studying writing techniques at Garrett Community College, he has had several stories published both in print and electronically, as well as a non-fiction piece about Swallow Falls State Park in a travel magazine.

Dance of the Double Axe is available in electronic format as either an e-book attachment or on disk or CD from http://www.wordwrangler.com/jayrkohut.html on Word Wrangler's Internet web site.

Md. Symphony Orchestra Will Perform At FSU

The Allegany Arts Council will present the Maryland Symphony Orchestra on Friday, Oct. 20, at 8:30 p.m. in Frostburg State University's Pealer Recital Hall.

Guest pianist Robert DeGaetano will perform the Schumann Concerto for Piano in A minor. The program will also include Brahms' "Tragic Overture," and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6 in B minor, "Pathetique."
